Fair Gates Swing Open In Petaluma

With a scurry of last minute music, 4-H club members from Sonoma and Marin prepared for the judging rituals in dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine. Judging will continue through Saturday.

Highlighting today's activity at the fair will be the 8 p.m. selection of a Miss Marin and a Miss Sonoma who will go on to represent their counties at the Maid of California contest at the state fair in Sacramento.

Marin candidates include Jo Ann Brady of Novato, Darleen Sawdo and Suzanne Nattress of San Rafael, Kathleen Hodge of San Quentin Village, Sharon Vitalie of Corte Madera and Susan Camiccia of Fairfax.

Seeking the title of Miss Sonoma are Mariann Orchard of Petaluma, Charlene Miles of Santa Rosa, Rolanda Osmon of Cloverdale, and Debbie Howard and Susan Garrison, both of Sebastopol.

Another Night Of Racial Unrest Leaves Omaha Buildings Gutted

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Business buildings along a six-block stretch were smoldering or in ruins today after a night of burning, looting and sniping in the predominantly Negro near north side of the city.

No serious injuries were reported.

It was the second consecutive night of disorder touched off by the fatal shooting of a 14-year-old Negro girl by a white policeman—James Loder, 30, identified in his city personnel file as an adopted son of film actress Hedy Lamarr.

Vandalism and looting were reported by police in an area 55 blocks long and 24 blocks wide.

Firemen who were the targets of bricks and bottles refused to fight flames in the business section until provided with a police escort. Police Lt. Lewis Ruberti said shots were fired at a number of his men.

Helmeted police armed with riot guns were stationed around the firemen and their rigs as the flames illuminated the muggy summer sky.

The central police station reported that at least 30 persons had been jailed on charges ranging from carrying concealed weapons to illegal entry of a building.

Major fires were confined to the main business street although minor ones broke out elsewhere in the area.

Vandalism, window-breaking and looting were widespread. "They just seem to be jumping around and hitting us everywhere," said Police Inspector Al Pattavina.

An officer of the Omaha unit of the Nebraska National Guard reported early today that his men were standing by—apparently at the request of Mayor Eugene Leahy.

All off-duty firemen were called in.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann flew back from South Dakota Wednesday night after being informed of the situation.

The shooting of the girl, Vivian Strong, occurred Tuesday night when police answered a call of a reported break-in at a low income housing area.

Loder was charged with manslaughter yesterday in Omaha Municipal Court. He pleaded innocent and was released under bond. He declined to discuss the incident with newsmen.

Loder has been suspended from the police force for 15 days.

Rocky Visit, Buenos Aires Fires Linked

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Ten supermarkets of a firm owned by the Rockefeller family were set ablaze here today, despite beefed-up security patrols to protect U.S. companies. Some of the buildings were destroyed.

The attacks apparently are linked to the scheduled visit of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is expected here Sunday on the fourth lap of his fact-finding Latin-American mission for President Nixon. From Argentina the New York governor will go to Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, Barbados and Guyana.

The supermarkets are owned by Minimax, which has set up 21 supermarkets in this city and its outskirts.

Ban On Voter Literacy Tests Sought By Nixon

Proposal Aimed At States In The South

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration proposed today a nationwide ban on voter literacy tests and on state residency requirements for presidential elections.

The administration also called for enforcement powers that would allow the attorney general to dispatch federal voting examiners and observers anywhere in the nation.

The package, submitted by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, would be a major expansion of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which primarily affected seven Southern states where more than 800,000 Negroes have been added to the voting rolls in the last four years.

"We have come to the firm conclusion that voting rights is no longer a regional issue," Mitchell told a House judiciary subcommittee considering an extension of the 1965 law.

"It is a national concern for every American and must be treated on a nationwide basis," he said.

Although much wider in scope than the current legislation, the administration proposals amount to a partial concession to the South since that region no longer would be singled for federal attention.

The package came after weeks of debate within the administration. Largely because no consensus could be reached, Mitchell canceled four previous scheduled appearances before the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Mitchell's proposal was attacked by a Negro civil rights leader, who called it "a sophisticated, calculated, incredible effort on the part of the chief lawyer of the United States to make it impossible for us to continue on the constructive course we have followed under the existing legislation."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Congress would never act on such a far-reaching bill as the administration is proposing by the August 1970 deadline for the existing law. Should Congress refuse to act, the result could be no law in this field.

With the proposals finally settled, Mitchell called for five amendments to the 1965 law. They would provide:

Authority for the Justice Department to start voting rights lawsuits and to ask for a freeze on discriminatory voting laws.

Pentagon Under Fire On 'Berets'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., today accused the Pentagon of subsidizing John Wayne — perhaps by as much as $1 million — in helping him produce "The Green Berets."

Rosenthal released a General Accounting Office (GAO) report revealing the Army charged Wayne's movie making company, Batjac Productions Inc., $18,623.64 for the assistance it provided him in making the film.

'ONE-SIDED VIEW'

The fee covered the use of parts of Fort Benning, Ga., for more than 100 days and uncounted troops, helicopters, weapons, bulldozers and other equipment.

Rosenthal labeled the movie "a glorified portrayal of the Vietnam War," and "a one-sided view" of a controversial issue. The film, made in 1967, supported U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

"The Green Berets" has grossed $10 million domestically in the year since it moved into American theaters and expects to gross another $6 million to $8 million from foreign showings. Production, distribution and other costs reportedly reached about $10 million.

WORTH $1 MILLION?

How much the government assistance to Wayne was actually worth has not been calculated by the GAO or anybody else, Rosenthal said.

"Some people have suggested $1 million," Rosenthal told a news conference. "Maybe it should be more than that."

Wayne's son, Mike, an executive of Batjac and the official producer of the movie, disagreed with Rosenthal's claim that the taxpayers were shortchanged.

He said yesterday in Los Angeles: "We put in $150,000 worth of improvement at Fort

Nixon Policy Called Deceitful

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnam denounced President Richard M. Nixon's Vietnam policy today as deceitful. They said he was following a dead-end road in trying to maintain the Saigon regime and to replace U.S. troops with South Vietnamese.

The Viet Cong's new provisional revolutionary government described Nixon's hopes as "sheer illusions." North Vietnam called the U.S. troop withdrawal statements "an act in a comedy played out to appease and deceive" public opinion.

The attack on the so-called U.S. de-Americanization policy was the major theme in speeches delivered at the 23rd full-scale session of the Vietnam peace talks by Mrs. Nguyen Thi Bihn, the Viet Cong representative, and Ha Van Lau, North Vietnamese negotiator.

U.S Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge replied that the other side's demands for the overthrow of President Nguyen Van Thieu "cannot be described as a sincere effort to find a common ground or to negotiate."

"It is an effort to predetermine the outcome of the negotiation before it has begun." he said. "It must be characterized as an unreasonable position which delays progress at these meetings. As President Nixon made clear in his press conference on June 19, we categorically reject your demand that we replace the legitimate government of the Republic of Vietnam."

Lodge accused the other side of distorting Nixon's position on troop withdrawals. He said the attack on the decision to withdraw 25,000 U.S. troops was "a complete and irresponsible misrepresentation of a major initiative" taken by Nixon and Thieu. He repeated that further withdrawals will depend upon the training and equipping of South Vietnamese forces, the military situation and progress in the peace talks.

The U.S. negotiator made no reference to Nixon's June 19 statement that he hoped to have all U.S. ground forces out of

Senate Sends Budget To Conference Room

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate wound up two days of legislative dramatics today by quietly sending Gov. Ronald Reagan's $6.19 billion budget to a two-house conference committee that will write a compromise version of the state's biggest spending program.

Three senators and three assemblymen will now meet and try to agree on a final budget before a crucial deadline—midnight Monday, the end of the current fiscal year. If there's no budget by then, the state won't be able to pay its bills beginning July 1.

A 33-1 vote rejected the Assembly version of the budget—a version that moved out of the lower house in exciting fashion late Wednesday when Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, made a painful trip to the Capitol from his sickbed to cast a key vote.

That vote crushed a Democratic budget roadblock that had held up the budget for two days.

There was no debate in the Senate over the routine move, in contrast to the fireworks in the Assembly where Democrats and Republicans have feuded angrily.

Differences between the Senate and Assembly budgets are substantial. The Senate cut Reagan's budget request by some $27 million. The Assembly boosted it by more than $2 million.

And even if the Senate and Assembly compromise their differences by the deadline, the budget still must win support of Assembly Democrats. They want more school aid and tax reform as the price of their budget vote.

A two-thirds vote of 54 is needed in a house that is Republican by only a narrow 41-39 margin.

California Tests On Literacy

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Nixon administration's proposal to ban voter literacy tests would not necessarily eliminate California's English literacy requirement, a state election official said today.

California requires voters to be able to read the state constitution in English. What this means in practice, Assistant Secretary of State H. P. Sullivan said, is that prospective registrants are asked to read aloud from a portion of the affidavit of registration.

He said the test is only applied when a deputy registrar doubts the registrant's ability to read English.

The Nixon administration today proposed banning literacy requirements in all 50 states and also proposed banning all state residency requirements for presidential elections.

Sullivan said that for the federal laws to invalidate California's constitutional requirements, the state provisions would first have to be challenged in court and struck down.

The Assembly approved June 3 a constitutional amendment enabling Spanish-reading citizens to vote, but the state Senate has rejected a similar plan.

Roberti said that under present residency laws, "a tremendous number of people are disenfranchised." He referred specifically to migrant farm workers who constantly move around within the state.

'OH HAPPY DAY'

Powell Visits House With Prayer, Talk

He leaned back in his chair in his congressional office yesterday and sang a bit of it. "Oh Happy Day! Jesus washed my sins away."

It was his first visit to the House since the Supreme Court ruled last week he never should have been excluded from the 90th Congress, and he was in an exaltant mood.

"I'm on cloud nine," he said. "My lawyers are on cloud nine If they ever come down we'll decide what to do next."

What Powell might do next has House leaders on edge. They don't like to imagine the consequences if he presses for back pay or restoration of his congressional seniority and the prerogatives that go with it.

The pay issue will have to be settled by the courts if Powell decides to pursue it. He regards the seniority question as already settled.

"That's what the Supreme Court decision meant," he said. "The seniority chain that was broken when the one link of the 90th Congress was taken out has been restored by the court."

If the House leaders accepted Powell's interpretation they would have to deal with the problem of his lost chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee. There is little chance of his getting it back, but to deny it to him if he is actually the senior member is to question the sanctity of the seniority system.

"The landmark decision of the court is the real victory," he said. "The rest is inconsequential. The history books may try to make me out a scoundrel but they'll have to put this in too."

Powell, who has been an infrequent visitor to the House this year, indicated he has no plans to change his ways. "I'm a parttime Congressman because I'm a parttime paid Congressman," he said, referring to the $25,000 the House fined him as a condition for seating him in this session.

Even if he should press his claim for back pay and win, he said, he would not keep any of the money. "I'd give it all to my lawyers," he said, "because they have all served without fee."

Powell delivered scores of addresses to college groups last year at an average fee of $1,750 each. He is already lining up speaking engagements for the next academic year. But now his price is up to $2,500 to $3,000 and he has acquired a professional booking agent.

Powell's mood was much more solemn shortly before he talked to newsmen in his office. The first anyone knew he was in town was when he appeared suddenly on the Capitol steps carrying a large bible to take part in an anti-Vietnam war demonstration by a Quaker group.

With bowed head and closed eyes he led a Quaker prayer of meditation and then delivered a short prayer that concluded the demonstration.

House Surtax Vote Scheduled Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic House chiefs have decided to call for a vote on President Richard M. Nixon's surtax extension Monday—a week or more earlier than expected—after receiving assurance Republican members have closed ranks behind the plan.

The House will take up tomorrow an emergency measure to extend present withholding rates through July 31. Otherwise, they would drop to presurtax rates at midnight Monday when the original 10 per cent income tax surcharge expires.

Even if the House passes the surtax Monday, the Senate still must act in committee and on the floor, so there is no chance of enactment by the midnight June 30 deadline.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said about 170 Republican votes for surtax extension are in sight after Nixon appealed for votes at a Republican conference yesterday.

This would mean only about 50 of the 245 Democrats would have to vote favorably to pass the measure. Some Republicans suggested, however, that Ford's count may be optimistic.

After headcounts showed substantial lack of firm Democratic support, leaders had postponed a vote scheduled for yesterday. Ford's report, however, caused them to reconsider plans to let the surtax lie over until after the July. 4 holiday.

The surtax issue became linked with legislation on the federal program for aid to dependent children. Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., blocked shortcut action on the withholding extension yesterday, demanding the House move on a bill to lift a freeze on the number of children who may be included in the program.

The freeze, voted more than a year ago, actually never has gone into effect. Congress suspended it for a year, which expires Monday. The Senate has voted for outright repeal, but that bill has not been acted on in the House.

After Burton's move, a Senate-House conference was set up and leaders expected to bring up legislation at least to continue the suspension tomorrow.

The old silver dollars were nine-tenths silver and one-tenth copper. The new silver dollars will consist of a copper-nickel sandwich.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Border Policy

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Klaus Scheutz said today West Germany should recognize the Oder-Neisse line as Poland's western border.

He was referring to the Oder and Neisse rivers, which were made Poland's temporary western border by the Potsdam Conference in 1945 pending a peace treaty between the two nations.

Poland was awarded temporary administration over several former German territories east of the Oder-Neisse line and this has been a sore point in Polish-West German relations.

Rehearsal Near

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 11 launch team today readied rocket and spaceship for a seven-day countdown rehearsal for next month's man-to-the-moon mission.

The rehearsal starts early tomorrow and involves all countdown steps planned for the launch, including loading tons of propellant aboard the 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket.

The first phase of the practice count is to end next Wednesday. The following day, with the fuel tanks emptied, the three astronauts are to participate in a practice of the final hours of the countdown.

Baptism Rule

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholic parents who do not practice their religion but want their children baptized out of habit or because it signifies some sort of "magic" may be refused by their parish priest, the Vatican weekly L'Osservators Della Domenica said today.

The article was signed by a leading theologian, Archbishop Ferdinand Lambruschina, the prelate Pope Paul VI chose to introduce his encyclical on birth control to the press.

The archbishop condemned the idea that baptism should be administered at an advanced age because of the "fear that the christening of the newlyborn represents a violation of individual freedom." He said this idea was spreading in English-speaking countries.

Liquor Stolen

Burglars who entered the garage at the home of Hans Randrup of 44 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys either Sunday or Monday took a great quantity of liquor, including four gallons of rum, three gallons of gin, a case each of burbon and wine and four half-gallon containers of wine, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Rioting Kills Four

ISTANBUL (AP) — Four persons were killed and 37 injured, many seriously, in fighting after a soccer match near Ankara, reports from area said today. Eleven persons were arrested.

The Turkish radio said the riots started yesterday afternoon in Kirikkale when two soccer teams, Kirikkale and Tarsus, ended a league match in a 1-1 draw.

Riot police fired into the air in an effort to quell the uprising, a broadcast said.

Moon Trip Costs

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Wernher von Braun says that in 30 or 40 years passengers will travel to the moon for the price of a transatlantic flight in spaceships looking much like present-day airliners but without wings.

Von Braun, head of the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., arrived yesterday for a space congress.

He said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is working on plans for spaceships that can be used up to a hundred times. He said the rocket would be refueled after landing and relaunched into orbit.

'OH HAPPY DAY'

Powell Visits House With Prayer, Talk

He leaned back in his chair in his congressional office yesterday and sang a bit of it. "Oh Happy Day! Jesus washed my sins away."

It was his first visit to the House since the Supreme Court ruled last week he never should have been excluded from the 90th Congress, and he was in an exaltant mood.

"I'm on cloud nine," he said. "My lawyers are on cloud nine If they ever come down we'll decide what to do next."

What Powell might do next has House leaders on edge. They don't like to imagine the consequences if he presses for back pay or restoration of his congressional seniority and the prerogatives that go with it.

The pay issue will have to be settled by the courts if Powell decides to pursue it. He regards the seniority question as already settled.

"That's what the Supreme Court decision meant," he said. "The seniority chain that was broken when the one link of the 90th Congress was taken out has been restored by the court."

If the House leaders accepted Powell's interpretation they would have to deal with the problem of his lost chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee. There is little chance of his getting it back, but to deny it to him if he is actually the senior member is to question the sanctity of the seniority system.

"The landmark decision of the court is the real victory," he said. "The rest is inconsequential. The history books may try to make me out a scoundrel but they'll have to put this in too."

Powell, who has been an infrequent visitor to the House this year, indicated he has no plans to change his ways. "I'm a parttime Congressman because I'm a parttime paid Congressman," he said, referring to the $25,000 the House fined him as a condition for seating him in this session.

Even if he should press his claim for back pay and win, he said, he would not keep any of the money. "I'd give it all to my lawyers," he said, "because they have all served without fee."

Powell delivered scores of addresses to college groups last year at an average fee of $1,750 each. He is already lining up speaking engagements for the next academic year. But now his price is up to $2,500 to $3,000 and he has acquired a professional booking agent.

Powell's mood was much more solemn shortly before he talked to newsmen in his office. The first anyone knew he was in town was when he appeared suddenly on the Capitol steps carrying a large bible to take part in an anti-Vietnam war demonstration by a Quaker group.

With bowed head and closed eyes he led a Quaker prayer of meditation and then delivered a short prayer that concluded the demonstration.

AWAITS RETURN—Singer Liza Minelli, daughter of the late Judy Garland, sits in a car in New York City last night prior to meeting the body of her mother which was returned early today from London where the singer-actress died Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Judy Garland Rites Set; Body Arrives In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of Judy Garland was returned to New York early today.

Except for the singer's daughter, Liza Minnelli, only police, newsmen and cargo handlers were present when the jetliner from London taxied up to Kennedy Airport's International Arrivals Building shortly before 1 a.m.

Liza waited in a heavily guarded limousine outside the building while Mickey Deans, the entertainer's fifth husband, and Rev. Peter Delaney, who married the couple three months ago, stepped from the plane.

Dean, looking pale, waited until the other passengers left and went to the rear of the plane to watch as the burlap-covered coffin was transferred to the hearse. Then he and Delaney left with Miss Minnelli.

The hearse drove to a Madison Avenue funeral chapel where a private funeral will be held tomorrow. The body will in a glass-covered coffin for public viewing today and tomorrow.

Miss Garland, 47, collapsed and died in the bathroom of her Chelsea home Sunday.

Israeli, Arab Jet Victories Are Boasted

TEL AVI (AP) — Israeli warplanes knocked out two Egyptian jet fighters in an air battle over the Gulf of Suez today, the army announced.

A spokesman said a group of Soviet-built MIG21s flying over the northern part of the gulf encountered patrolling Israeli fighters.

One MIG was seen plunging into Egyptian territory, he told reporters. In a later statement, the army said a second Arab plane was hit "and evidently destroyed."

It was the third Egyptian MIG 21 Israel has claimed shooting down in three days. A MIG was reported down in the same region — just south of the Suez Canal's southern outlet — Tuesday.

Israel says it has shot down 21 Soviet-made Egyptian warplanes since the 1967 Middle East war.

A communique from Cairo said Egyptian jets "hit" two Israeli fighters after they tried to violate Egyptian air space.

It was not immediately learned whether the two planes reported "hit" were shot down.

Elsewhere in the Middle East, the Israeli army said six of its soldiers were wounded, one seriously, when their vehicle ran over a mine 50 miles south of the Dead Sea last night.

"Egypt is the main enemy facing Israel today. Cairo's forces along the Suez Canal cease-fire line are going through a process of activization," he told a convention of farmers. Dayan said the situation on three fronts facing Israel shows increasing threats.

Deadly Siege Grips Vietnam Border Camp

By PETER ARNETT

BEN HET, Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners openly bombard this Special Forces camp from surrounding ridges. Prisoners released by North Vietnamese troops bring in letters from the enemy, boasting they intend to overrun it.

Ben Het is cut off by road and its airstrip is closed. The 700 South Vietnamese defenders, a small team of Green Berets and two American artillery batteries are sporadically supplied by airdrops and an occasional helicopter.

"Saigon keeps asking why we don't lift the siege," said one American officer. "I tell them why we can't. The troops are tired; the Vietnamese may have taken as many as 50 per cent casualties. We need more people, fresh people."

Ben Het, six miles from the Cambodian and Laotian borders and 280 miles northeast of Saigon, has become the focal point in a battle that began around Dak To early in May. Since June 6 the pressure on Ben Het has been severe, with more than 3,000 enemy surrounding the base.

"It is death to walk on the airstrip. They keep zapping it with 12.7 mm machine guns in the trees," said one of the U.S. Special Forces advisers.

The 10-mile road to the camp from the main base at Dak To is littered with burned and abandoned trucks, evidence of recent unsuccessful attempts to run convoys to the camp. Two small convoys rushed through Monday and Tuesday, but no more are planned in the immediate future.

Americans at Ben Het say that if the camp is the main target of the enemy push, then only the constant bombing strikes and enormous artillery support has averted it so far.

The North Vietnamese are hurling a dozen kinds of shells and projectiles at the camp—85mm guns fired from caves on both sides of the Cambodian border six miles to the west; 120mm mortars and 82mm mortars closer in; B40 rockets from as close as 300 yards in broad daylight; 122mm and 107mm rockets; 60mm mortars, and recoilless rifle fire.

The puffs of guns firing from a ridgeline three miles away were clearly visible in the camp today.

The North Vietnamese gunners are deadly accurate. This month alone, more than 100 Americans have been killed and wounded at Ben Het. More civilian irregular Montagnards than Americans have been killed.

Every helicopter that lands gets shot at by snipers on its way in and out, and by mortars when it is on the ground.

About nine battalions of Vietnamese regular army infantry and civilian irregulars—up to 5,000 men—have been deployed around the camp. The U.S. Command views the battle as a test of the South Vietnamese army against the North.

But high casualties among the government troops have worn down morale, according to Americans here.

The top U.S. officer, Lt. Col. Andrew Marquis said the prisoners who brought the North Vietnamese propaganda letters when they were released were government rangers captured late in May.

"You have no chance," one letter said. "We will overrun you. We will welcome you to our ranks, and bring your families. We don't want to kill women and children," referring was to dependents of the Montagnard soldiers in the camp.

Another in English and addressed to the Americans said: "Why die for the South Vietnamese? Give up your fight. President Nixon has already stated that he will withdraw all Americans, so why die in the last phases of the war."

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese troops briefly attacked U.S. Marines from the 9th Regiment early this morning. The regiment is being redeployed to Okinawa by the end of August.

A Marine F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down yesterday seven miles south of the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone. The two crewmen were rescued.

U.S. headquarters reported 247 Americans killed in the period ending at midnight Saturday, a decrease of 88 deaths from the previous week.

MEADERS agrees it may be easier for them to tag your cleaning with metal staples, or hang your skirts with shark-toothed clamps. But the old-fashioned safety pin won't leave a mark on your favorite dress. Or leave you with chipped nail polish. You won't even find a tag or a pin on your clothing by the time you get it back—Meaders removes them for you. A small thing?

AWAITS RETURN—Singer Liza Minelli, daughter of the late Judy Garland, sits in a car in New York City last night prior to meeting the body of her mother which was returned early today from London where the singer-actress died Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Judy Garland Rites Set; Body Arrives In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of Judy Garland was returned to New York early today.

Except for the singer's daughter, Liza Minnelli, only police, newsmen and cargo handlers were present when the jetliner from London taxied up to Kennedy Airport's International Arrivals Building shortly before 1 a.m.

Liza waited in a heavily guarded limousine outside the building while Mickey Deans, the entertainer's fifth husband, and Rev. Peter Delaney, who married the couple three months ago, stepped from the plane.

Dean, looking pale, waited until the other passengers left and went to the rear of the plane to watch as the burlap-covered coffin was transferred to the hearse. Then he and Delaney left with Miss Minnelli.

The hearse drove to a Madison Avenue funeral chapel where a private funeral will be held tomorrow. The body will in a glass-covered coffin for public viewing today and tomorrow.

Miss Garland, 47, collapsed and died in the bathroom of her Chelsea home Sunday.

Israeli, Arab Jet Victories Are Boasted

TEL AVI (AP) — Israeli warplanes knocked out two Egyptian jet fighters in an air battle over the Gulf of Suez today, the army announced.

A spokesman said a group of Soviet-built MIG21s flying over the northern part of the gulf encountered patrolling Israeli fighters.

One MIG was seen plunging into Egyptian territory, he told reporters. In a later statement, the army said a second Arab plane was hit "and evidently destroyed."

It was the third Egyptian MIG 21 Israel has claimed shooting down in three days. A MIG was reported down in the same region — just south of the Suez Canal's southern outlet — Tuesday.

Israel says it has shot down 21 Soviet-made Egyptian warplanes since the 1967 Middle East war.

A communique from Cairo said Egyptian jets "hit" two Israeli fighters after they tried to violate Egyptian air space.

It was not immediately learned whether the two planes reported "hit" were shot down.

Elsewhere in the Middle East, the Israeli army said six of its soldiers were wounded, one seriously, when their vehicle ran over a mine 50 miles south of the Dead Sea last night.

In Tel Aviv, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned Israel to prepare for a renewal of war by Egypt.

"Egypt is the main enemy facing Israel today. Cairo's forces along the Suez Canal cease-fire line are going through a process of activization," he told a convention of farmers. Dayan said the situation on three fronts facing Israel shows increasing threats.

Deadly Siege Grips Vietnam Border Camp

By PETER ARNETT

BEN HET, Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners openly bombard this Special Forces camp from surrounding ridges. Prisoners released by North Vietnamese troops bring in letters from the enemy, boasting they intend to overrun it.

Ben Het is cut off by road and its airstrip is closed. The 700 South Vietnamese defenders, a small team of Green Berets and two American artillery batteries are sporadically supplied by airdrops and an occasional helicopter.

"Saigon keeps asking why we don't lift the siege," said one American officer. "I tell them why we can't. The troops are tired; the Vietnamese may have taken as many as 50 per cent casualties. We need more people, fresh people."

Ben Het, six miles from the Cambodian and Laotian borders and 280 miles northeast of Saigon, has become the focal point in a battle that began around Dak To early in May. Since June 6 the pressure on Ben Het has been severe, with more than 3,000 enemy surrounding the base.

"It is death to walk on the airstrip. They keep zapping it with 12.7 mm machine guns in the trees," said one of the U.S. Special Forces advisers.

The 10-mile road to the camp from the main base at Dak To is littered with burned and abandoned trucks, evidence of recent unsuccessful attempts to run convoys to the camp. Two small convoys rushed through Monday and Tuesday, but no more are planned in the immediate future.

Americans at Ben Het say that if the camp is the main target of the enemy push, then only the constant bombing strikes and enormous artillery support has averted it so far.

The North Vietnamese are hurling a dozen kinds of shells and projectiles at the camp—85mm guns fired from caves on both sides of the Cambodian border six miles to the west; 120mm mortars and 82mm mortars closer in; B40 rockets from as close as 300 yards in broad daylight; 122mm and 107mm rockets; 60mm mortars, and recoilless rifle fire.

The puffs of guns firing from a ridgeline three miles away were clearly visible in the camp today.

The North Vietnamese gunners are deadly accurate. This month alone, more than 100 Americans have been killed and wounded at Ben Het. More civilian irregular Montagnards than Americans have been killed.

Every helicopter that lands gets shot at by snipers on its way in and out, and by mortars when it is on the ground.

Western Weekend's Profits Told

With four organizations yet to report, Novato's Western Weekend Country Fair was taken in $5,057 so far, according to fair president John Regan. Expenses to be paid out of the proceeds have not yet been totaled.

This income is $2,917 from the carnival; $1,582 from booths reporting to date; $518 from the candy wagon and $40 from the novelty stand.

The carnival grossed $13,741 of which Western Weekend gets 20 per cent of the first $10,000 and 25 per cent above that, he said. The booths which have reported so far have grossed $10,580 of which the fair gets 15 per cent.

The gross by organizations reporting was: De Molay, $420; Job's Daughters, $377; Beta Sigma Phi, $848; Kiwanis Club, $1,415; Novato Hostess Club, $630; Mariner's Club, $639; Marin Athletic League, $210; Golden Gate Mustang Club, $411; Novato Republican Women, $920; Novato High School Buzettes, $940; Lions Club, $569; Jaycees, $700; San Marin Lettermen, $664; Novatans for Racial Equality, $1,046; American Legion, $510, and Dervin Mustang, $480.

Benning. We used equipment as it was available. If it (the equipment) used gasoline, we paid for it."

But Rosenthal saw it otherwise.

"The purpose of this film apparently was, on the one hand purely commercial for Mr. John Wayne, whose company president said the film cost $10 million to produce and circulate," the congressman stated. "On the other hand, it became a useful and skilled device employed by the Pentagon to present a view of the war which was disputed in 1967, when the film was made, and is largely repudiated today."

The GAO also reported that Wayne contacted the White House in December of 1966 seeking government cooperation in producing the film and was referred to the Defense Department. The GAO did not specify to whom Wayne spoke at the White House nor at the Pentagon.

Novatan Second In State Contest

Douglas Waterhouse of Novato placed second in the statewide carpenter apprenticeship contest held last week in Los Angeles.

Waterhouse, of 1117 Ferris Drive, lost to a man he had beaten in the Carpenters Bay Counties District Council contest in May. James Kenney of Local 642 in Richmond placed first in the state after winning second in the Bay Area competition.

Waterhouse is a member of Marin Carpenters Local 35 and the third man in three years to win first in the bay district conztest.

Warrants Issued In Cycle Theft

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail last night on a warrant charging him with stealing a motorcycle in Fairfax March 29.

Cragi Champie, of 67 Raven Road, was held on bail of $902 to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fairfax police reported they stopped Champie and two other youths at 2 a.m. March 29 in a pickup truck carrying a motorcycle owned by Harold Buck of 75 Laurel Drive.

Warrants have also been issued for Edward Thompson III, 19, and James Callan, 23, both of 40 Coletta Avenue, San Anselmo.

Corte Madera Eyes Teen Center Plans

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission agreed last night that it would like to see teen-agers work on the town's proposed teen center and set 7:39 p.m., July 16 as a time for a discussion. No meeting place was set.

Commissioners discussed landscaping plans for the small island in Village Square but took no action, secretary Marian Tadlock reported. It was reported by Recreation Director Robert C. Bundy that there are 42 teen volunteers working in the summer recreation program.

sory commission to study voter discrimination "and other corrupt practices."

Contending the 1965 act had brought about "impressive results" in the South, Mitchell said so many Negroes have been registered that there are other states—unaffected by current legislation—where a smaller percentage of Negroes is on the voting rolls.

Therefore, he said, "I cannot support a simple five-year extension" of the 1965 law.

"I cannot support what amounts to regional legislation," he added. "While Congress may have had sufficient reason to pass regional legislation in the 1965 act, I do not believe that this justification exists any longer."

"Circumstances have changed," he said, "and I believe that our legislative approach must change."

TALKS

Vietnam by the end of 1970.

He appealed for the beginning of serious negotiations and said the United States is ready to examine every avenue that might lead to peace.

"It is unfortunate, therefore that your side persistently distorts the meaning of our words and our actions," he said. "It is unfortunate that, while we search for common ground, you reject, as you did last week, our efforts to build a base for progress in these negotiations."

After the five-hour session, Lodge told newsmen' "I regret to state that I could discern no willingness to negotiate."

Asked whether the other side seemed to feel that time was on their side, Lodge said, "I think they ought not to be sure about that."

South Vietnam's chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, accused the other side of systematically refusing to negotiate or to seek to reconcile their positions with those of Saigon and Washington.

Lam asserted that the South Vietnamese army is steadily growing stronger and in its determination to defend the lives and property of the South Vietnamese people.

Mrs. Binh, in a slashing attack on the Nixon administration, accused the United States of following a "warlike and deceitful" policy that can lead only to prolong fighting.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

A 22-year-old San Anselmo youth was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with possible internal injuries suffered in an accident in Fairfax at 9:50 a.m. today.

Police said John Frederick Tanzi of 50 Merced Avenue, San Anselmo, was riding a motorcycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a car driven by Rosalie Kelly, 44, of 2304 Sir Francis Drake, pulled from the curb in front of her home.

Tanzi's bike hit the front of the car and he sailed off, police said.

Homeowners Back Town Meeting

The San Anselmo Homes Association last night passed a retroactive motion saying that it was indeed one of the sponsors of the Town Meeting held May 17.

The action was taken following criticism by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue in a letter to the San Anselmo City Council, charging that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of about 20 citizens.

In other action, the newly reactivated organization unanimously urged the County Board of Supervisors to support flood control measures to preserve the Corte Madera Creek, urged elimination of double taxation of city dwellers and voted to contribute $20 to the Hans E. Fischel Memorial Fund.

Paul N. Brand was elected president; David Leach, vice president; Mrs. C. R. Letizell, recording secretary; Mrs. Dennis Moore, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. David Leach, treasurer.

Daylight Burglars Hit In Mill Valley

Daylight burglars who forced the front door of a Mill Valley home shortly after noon yesterday made off with $755 worth of loot, police said today.

Taken from the Sanuel Canter residence at 405 Marion Avenue were several bottles of liquor, a portable television set, a stereo receiver, a vacuum cleaner, various electrical tools and men's clothing.

Jury Absolves Officers In Teen's Slaying

MEDFORD, Ore. (UPI)—An inquest jury has absolved a dozen or so law enforcement officers of any criminal action in the death of a 17-year-old Californian, who was shot to death after a wild chase in two states.

The jury of four men and two women deliberated only 20 minutes yesterday before ruling "there is insufficient evidence to believe anyone is guilty of a crime" in the death of Robert Bolden San Jose.

Bolden was shot to death May 3 at the end of a 50-mile chase along Interstate Highway 5 from Weed, Siskiyou County, to Ashland, Ore. An autopsy showed he had taken a large amount of amphetamines.

Restaurant Wins A Second Sign

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night voted 4-2 approving a second sign for Alfred Barthel's restaurant, Senor Alfredo, at 115 San Anselmo Avenue.

Voting "no" were chairman James G. McDonald, who said the sign would make the building look more like a Mexican restaurant than a post office, and committee member Warren R. Perry, who felt the sign was unnecessary.

The restaurant, located in one corner of the former Safeway which is now the post office building, has a sign facing San Anselmo Avenue. The new sign will be on the side facing the parking lot.

Excavation Snaps Telephone Cable

Telephone service to about 70 customers was interrupted for nearly eight hours yesterday when an excavator cut through an underground cable in Paradise Cay in Tiburon.

A spokesman for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. said service was interrupted at 1:15 p.m. when the cable was snapped by an excavator belonging to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera at an excavation site at Antilles Way and Paradise Drive.

Service was restored at 9 p.m., the spokesman said.

Hub Pair Hurt In Petaluma Accident

Two San Anselmo residents were injured yesterday at 9:45 a.m. in a two-car accident on the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road near Highway 1.

Frederick Matlock, 26, of 1120 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and his wife, Juanita Matlock, 23, were reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts and chest injuries. The California Highway Patrol said ths car driven by Matlock collided at an intersection with a car driven by Emma Matteri, 62, of 8980 Roblar Road, Petaluma.

OBITUARIES

MRS. KLIMPEL

Mrs. Charlotte F. Klimpel, who lived with her husband, Herbert, at 1130 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died yesterday after being stricken at her home. She was 60.

Mrs. Klimpel, a native of Germany, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. She had suffered from a heart condition.

She had lived in Marin since 1963, when she moved here from Germany, and was a member of the German-American Redman's Club of San Rafael.

$75,000 Prison Study Is Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $75,000 legislative study of state prison and parole policies has been asked by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

Correctional expenditures "have risen steadily in recent years," more prisons have been proposed and the time served in California prisons has risen steadily for the last decade, Biddle said in a resolution proposing the study of why exisiting policies are proving inadequate.

Biddle said the study, to be done by a committee to be appointed by the Assembly Rules Commitee, should be completed by the 60th day of the 1970 legisalative session.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY
Quiet Beauty
for families of every faith

Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.

Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.

If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

Western Weekend's Profits Told

With four organizations yet to report, Novato's Western Weekend Country Fair was taken in $5,057 so far, according to fair president John Regan. Expenses to be paid out of the proceeds have not yet been totaled.

This income is $2,917 from the carnival; $1,582 from booths reporting to date; $518 from the candy wagon and $40 from the novelty stand.

The carnival grossed $13,741 of which Western Weekend gets 20 per cent of the first $10,000 and 25 per cent above that, he said. The booths which have reported so far have grossed $10,580 of which the fair gets 15 per cent.

The gross by organizations reporting was: De Molay, $420; Job's Daughters, $377; Beta Sigma Phi, $848; Kiwanis Club, $1,415; Novato Hostess Club, $630; Mariner's Club, $639; Marin Athletic League, $210; Golden Gate Mustang Club, $411; Novato Republican Women, $920; Novato High School Buzettes, $940; Lions Club, $569; Jaycees, $700; San Marin Lettermen, $664; Novatans for Racial Equality, $1,046; American Legion, $510, and Dervin Mustang, $480.

Benning. We used equipment as it was available. If it (the equipment) used gasoline, we paid for it."

But Rosenthal saw it otherwise.

"The purpose of this film apparently was, on the one hand purely commercial for Mr. John Wayne, whose company president said the film cost $10 million to produce and circulate," the congressman stated. "On the other hand, it became a useful and skilled device employed by the Pentagon to present a view of the war which was disputed in 1967, when the film was made, and is largely repudiated today."

The GAO also reported that Wayne contacted the White House in December of 1966 seeking government cooperation in producing the film and was referred to the Defense Department. The GAO did not specify to whom Wayne spoke at the White House nor at the Pentagon.

Novatan Second In State Contest

Douglas Waterhouse of Novato placed second in the statewide carpenter apprenticeship contest held last week in Los Angeles.

Waterhouse, of 1117 Ferris Drive, lost to a man he had beaten in the Carpenters Bay Counties District Council contest in May. James Kenney of Local 642 in Richmond placed first in the state after winning second in the Bay Area competition.

Waterhouse is a member of Marin Carpenters Local 35 and the third man in three years to win first in the bay district conztest.

Warrants Issued In Cycle Theft

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail last night on a warrant charging him with stealing a motorcycle in Fairfax March 29.

Cragi Champie, of 67 Raven Road, was held on bail of $902 to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fairfax police reported they stopped Champie and two other youths at 2 a.m. March 29 in a pickup truck carrying a motorcycle owned by Harold Buck of 75 Laurel Drive.

Warrants have also been issued for Edward Thompson III, 19, and James Callan, 23, both of 40 Coletta Avenue, San Anselmo.

Corte Madera Eyes Teen Center Plans

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission agreed last night that it would like to see teen-agers work on the town's proposed teen center and set 7:39 p.m., July 16 as a time for a discussion. No meeting place was set.

Commissioners discussed landscaping plans for the small island in Village Square but took no action, secretary Marian Tadlock reported. It was reported by Recreation Director Robert C. Bundy that there are 42 teen volunteers working in the summer recreation program.

Contending the 1965 act had brought about "impressive results" in the South, Mitchell said so many Negroes have been registered that there are other states—unaffected by current legislation—where a smaller percentage of Negroes is on the voting rolls.

Therefore, he said, "I cannot support a simple five-year extension" of the 1965 law.

"I cannot support what amounts to regional legislation," he added. "While Congress may have had sufficient reason to pass regional legislation in the 1965 act, I do not believe that this justification exists any longer."

"Circumstances have changed," he said, "and I believe that our legislative approach must change."

TALKS

Vietnam by the end of 1970.

He appealed for the beginning of serious negotiations and said the United States is ready to examine every avenue that might lead to peace.

"It is unfortunate, therefore that your side persistently distorts the meaning of our words and our actions," he said. "It is unfortunate that, while we search for common ground, you reject, as you did last week, our efforts to build a base for progress in these negotiations."

After the five-hour session, Lodge told newsmen' "I regret to state that I could discern no willingness to negotiate."

Asked whether the other side seemed to feel that time was on their side, Lodge said, "I think they ought not to be sure about that."

South Vietnam's chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, accused the other side of systematically refusing to negotiate or to seek to reconcile their positions with those of Saigon and Washington.

Lam asserted that the South Vietnamese army is steadily growing stronger and in its determination to defend the lives and property of the South Vietnamese people.

Mrs. Binh, in a slashing attack on the Nixon administration, accused the United States of following a "warlike and deceitful" policy that can lead only to prolong fighting.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

A 22-year-old San Anselmo youth was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with possible internal injuries suffered in an accident in Fairfax at 9:50 a.m. today.

Police said John Frederick Tanzi of 50 Merced Avenue, San Anselmo, was riding a motorcycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a car driven by Rosalie Kelly, 44, of 2304 Sir Francis Drake, pulled from the curb in front of her home.

Tanzi's bike hit the front of the car and he sailed off, police said.

Homeowners Back Town Meeting

The San Anselmo Homes Association last night passed a retroactive motion saying that it was indeed one of the sponsors of the Town Meeting held May 17.

The action was taken following criticism by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue in a letter to the San Anselmo City Council, charging that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of about 20 citizens.

In other action, the newly reactivated organization unanimously urged the County Board of Supervisors to support flood control measures to preserve the Corte Madera Creek, urged elimination of double taxation of city dwellers and voted to contribute $20 to the Hans E. Fischel Memorial Fund.

Paul N. Brand was elected president; David Leach, vice president; Mrs. C. R. Letizell, recording secretary; Mrs. Dennis Moore, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. David Leach, treasurer.

Daylight Burglars Hit In Mill Valley

Daylight burglars who forced the front door of a Mill Valley home shortly after noon yesterday made off with $755 worth of loot, police said today.

Taken from the Sanuel Canter residence at 405 Marion Avenue were several bottles of liquor, a portable television set, a stereo receiver, a vacuum cleaner, various electrical tools and men's clothing.

Jury Absolves Officers In Teen's Slaying

MEDFORD, Ore. (UPI)—An inquest jury has absolved a dozen or so law enforcement officers of any criminal action in the death of a 17-year-old Californian, who was shot to death after a wild chase in two states.

The jury of four men and two women deliberated only 20 minutes yesterday before ruling "there is insufficient evidence to believe anyone is guilty of a crime" in the death of Robert Bolden San Jose.

Bolden was shot to death May 3 at the end of a 50-mile chase along Interstate Highway 5 from Weed, Siskiyou County, to Ashland, Ore. An autopsy showed he had taken a large amount of amphetamines.

Restaurant Wins A Second Sign

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night voted 4-2 approving a second sign for Alfred Barthel's restaurant, Senor Alfredo, at 115 San Anselmo Avenue.

Voting "no" were chairman James G. McDonald, who said the sign would make the building look more like a Mexican restaurant than a post office, and committee member Warren R. Perry, who felt the sign was unnecessary.

The restaurant, located in one corner of the former Safeway which is now the post office building, has a sign facing San Anselmo Avenue. The new sign will be on the side facing the parking lot.

Excavation Snaps Telephone Cable

Telephone service to about 70 customers was interrupted for nearly eight hours yesterday when an excavator cut through an underground cable in Paradise Cay in Tiburon.

A spokesman for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. said service was interrupted at 1:15 p.m. when the cable was snapped by an excavator belonging to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera at an excavation site at Antilles Way and Paradise Drive.

Service was restored at 9 p.m., the spokesman said.

Hub Pair Hurt In Petaluma Accident

Two San Anselmo residents were injured yesterday at 9:45 a.m. in a two-car accident on the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road near Highway 1.

Frederick Matlock, 26, of 1120 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and his wife, Juanita Matlock, 23, were reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts and chest injuries. The California Highway Patrol said ths car driven by Matlock collided at an intersection with a car driven by Emma Matteri, 62, of 8980 Roblar Road, Petaluma.

$75,000 Prison Study Is Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $75,000 legislative study of state prison and parole policies has been asked by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

Correctional expenditures "have risen steadily in recent years," more prisons have been proposed and the time served in California prisons has risen steadily for the last decade, Biddle said in a resolution proposing the study of why exisiting policies are proving inadequate.

Biddle said the study, to be done by a committee to be appointed by the Assembly Rules Commitee, should be completed by the 60th day of the 1970 legisalative session.

Bridge District Limited Ferry Bill Passed Onto Senate Floor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation empowering the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to go into the ferry business, but limiting use of its revenue until it submits a "transportation facilities plan" to the Legislature, yesterday won unanimous endorsement by the Senate Transportation Committee and went to the upper house floor for a final vote.

An aide to the author of the bill (AB 584), Assemblyman John F. Foran, D—San Francisco, said after the vote "it's practically on the governor's desk and signed into law."

Ferry advocates long have been stymied by the 1923 act that created the bridge district, which failed to include ferryboats among the services the district could provide.

Preliminary findings of a study of ferries between Marin and San Francisco last month found ferryboats would be practical and financially feasible. The final report by consultants Arthur D. Little Inc. is due next month.

Foran's bill will limit the bridge district to spending not more than half of its net revenue for bus transit, or about $2 million a year, and to spending not more than 30 per cent for water, thansportation, or about $1.2 million a year.

The bill requires that the district submit its long-range plan to the Legislature by 1971, but does not bar it from submitting one sooner. It does not require that the plan be acted upon by the Legislature, however. Thus, the district would be free to act as it wished 120 days after it submitted its plans.

The plan according to the bill, must include a "definition of the district's future responsibilities," a proposal for how the district could be abolished, a timetable for setting up new transportation facilities changes in the district's organization, estimates of expenditures and revenues and "explicit consideration to the environmental and socual values of the communities involved."

The bill would authorize the district to study, construct, acquire, improve, maintain and operate "any and all modes of transportation," but specifically bars "any action designed to add a second deck" until after the plan is submitted.

It also would require the district to set the amount which counties served by the district must contribute to the operation of any land or water transportation system, and to get a commitment from the boards of supervisors in those counties to contribute the amount. Both conditions wuuld have to be met before any new transit system could be set up.

The 1971 deadline for the district's plan coincides with the final repayment of the district's bonds, thus the Legislature could dissolve the district if its plans did not satisfy in Sacramento.

Committee chairman Alan Short, D-Stockton , noting that the committee also had under consideration a Collier bill that gave the district power to get into all forms of transit, but without requiring a long-range plan, said, "I like this one a little more — it's more restrictive."

Collier has agreed to drop his bill after Foran's wins final legislative passage reported the lobbyist for the district, Gordon Garland.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, a member of the committee, which had a bare quorum, was absent.

The committee also approved a bill by Collier to double the pay of bridge district directors to $50 a meeting, and to delete the limitation that they be paid only for up to four meetings a month.

Also approved were resolutions by Senator McCarthy asking state highway officials to improve highways not part of the interstate system, and commending various state agencies for their efforts in reducing traffic fatalities.

Marinwood Youths To Form Commission

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District agreed last night to name a youth commission to recommend additional teen-age activities in the community.

The decision came on a recommendation from about 75 youths who attended the meeting of the district board. The youths had been invited last week to meet with the board after parents complained about rising vandalism and drug use.

At the outset of last night's session, directors made it clear that district recreational facilities were open to everyone in the community who obeyed laws and regulations.

Genevieve Bolding, district business manager-secretary, said one group of youths expressed a desire for additional organized activities such as dances, while other teen-agers said they preferred casual gatherings.

The youths then met separately while the board began its business session. Shortly, the youths returned and said they would like a youth commission formed.

Ten youths were chosen to nominate members of the commission at a board meeting July 2. The commission will be chosen at that time, too.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

WORK-STUDY — Renewed an agreement with College of Marin for students to work in the district under the work-study program.

BUDGET — Made minor revisions in the district's preliminary 1969-70 budget of $176,750.

RESOLUTION — Passed a resolution expressing condolences to the family of Ronald L. Sorbo of Marinwood, killed in Vietnam.

Curfew Cools Racial Tension

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A dusk-to-dawn curfew enforced by police with the assistance of black community leaders cooled racial strife in Pennsylvania's capital yesterday after two nights of disorders.

With cars and pedestrians off the streets, and businesses closed, the city of 80,000 appeared more like a ghost town.

The disturbances that began Monday night in the integrated Hill section has resulted in the fatal shooting of an 18-year-old Negro youth, 28 persons injured and at least 68 under arrest.

Police Chief Martin L. Watts said "the curfew worked well, and members of the black community did missionary work for us."

Novato Girls Tell Of Exposure Case

Three Novato girls, ages 13, 17 and 18 yesterday were the victims of indecent exposure, according to Novato police.

A young man stood naked in front of them at 2:30 p.m., in Novato Creek near Seventh Street, the girls reported to police.

The 1971 deadline for the district's plan coincides with the final repayment of the district's bonds, thus the Legislature could dissolve the district if its plans did not satisfy in Sacramento.

Committee chairman Alan Short, D-Stockton, noting that the committee also had under consideration a Collier bill that gave the district power to get into all forms of transit, but without requiring a long-range plan, said, "I like this one a little more — it's more restrictive."

Collier has agreed to drop his bill after Foran's wins final legislative passage reported the lobbyist for the district, Gordon Garland.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, a member of the committee, which had a bare quorum, was absent.

The committee also approved a bill by Collier to double the pay of bridge district directors to $50 a meeting, and to delete the limitation that they be paid only for up to four meetings a month.

Also approved were resolutions by Senator McCarthy asking state highway officials to improve highways not part of the interstate system, and commending various state agencies for their efforts in reducing traffic fatalities.

Rock's Band's Costly Instruments Stolen

Musical instrument valued at $2,700 were taken from the music building used by the Grateful Dead at 5498 Redwood Highway, Novato, sometime between 7 p.m. Monday and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, it was reported yesterday to Novato police.

Missing were four amplifiers valued at $500 each and a speaker and cabinet valued at $700, Leonard Hart of 69 Granada Paseo, San Rafael, reported.

Country Club Homes Plan Private Patrol

Problems of fire protection and numerous burglaries brought out about 75 Country Club area residents who decided last night to petition the city of San Rafael for fire protection and to establish their own patrol system on a six-month trial basis.

Robert M. Lee, moderator of the homeowners association, said in a meeting at Dominic's Restaurant that the number of burglaries and vandalisms in the Country Club area, just off San Pedro Road, is "rapidly increasing." He gave no statistics.

He suggested that if a patrolman were hired on a 24-hour baiss, persons would be discouraged from burglarizing the area.

Mrs. John Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court said that there is "strong evidence to believe that youngsters park on Highland Avenue and spot people leaving their homes, so they would also spot a patrolman."

She went on to suggest that additional lighting be provided.

One residence in the area has been burglarized 10 times. All were daytime incidents, according to Lee.

The club voted to establish the patrol system and to solicit the 74 residents of the area who are not dues-paying members of the organization, since they would also benefit from the patrol system.

In another key issue, the group authorized Lee to retain and attorney to draw up a petition to the City of San Rafael to seek fire protection.

The Country Club area falls under county fire protection, but, residents maintain that county fire department is not sufficiently equipped to handle structural fires. Members also pointed out the county station is too far away from their properties.

The possibility of the Country Club area being annexed by San Rafael in order to provide fire protection was mentioned. In an earlier poll, however, 47, members had voted against anexation with only 11 in favor.

State College Freedom Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco State College faces more student unrest unless it gains more independence from trustees, a group of Roman Catholic seminary students asserts.

The 16 students at St. Patrick's Seminary in Menlo Park to the south made public yesterday a 177-page report they had written after a classroom study of the seven-month series of strikes and confrontations at the college.

"There is hope for our state colleges if power to change and implement is restored to people in education and wrested from those who would use education to their own political advantage," the report said.

Adult, Teener Arrested In Petaluma

A stockton man and a teenage escapee from a youth camp were arrested yesterday in Petalumna on suspicion of burglary after an attempt was made to steal a car.

Roger H. Rossington, 35, was booked into Sonoma County Jail on the burglary charge as well as violation of parole from a drug conviction. Police said Rossington was treated for drug withdrawal symptoms at the jail and would be arraigned tomorrow in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Larry W. Blake, 17, of Stockton, was sent to juvenile hall in Santa Rosa to be held for the California Youth Authority as an escape and burglary suspect.

Police accused the pair of attempting to steal a car owned by Dr. Wayne Lewis from a parking lot on Fourth Street at 2:30 p.m. They were stopped a half hour later at D and Second streets where the doctor's stethoscope was found in their car.

Crucial Bay Control Bills Hearing Set For July 10

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The major hearing in the legislative batttle to keep controls over filling San Francisco Bay has been set at 9 a.m. on July 10 in Room 4203 in the Capitol.

An aide to the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said no other matter probably would be scheduled for the hearing, thus the four bills to extend the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission would be heard as soon as the committee convened.

The hearing, and the backstage maneuvering preceding it, are the last chance for opponents of the bills to defeat or emasculate the bills because the surviving bill will go to the upper house floor, where at least a majority is widely reported to favor a strong bill.

Bills by Sens. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, and Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, and Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, would extend the life of the commission and extend its jurisdiction to the shoreline. The fourth, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, only would extend the life of the BCDC, due to expire late this year under current law.

California Jet Forced To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — The United Air Lines jet forced to Cuba last night with 59 aboard was hijacked by "an individual armed with a pistol," Radio Havana reported today.

The Communist broadcast did not list the man's nationality or otherwise describe him. A witness at Havana's Jose Marti Airport, however, said the skyjacker was a man wearing a white sweater. He was taken into custody by Cuban officials.

The pilot veered southeast from a regular course on the scheduled Los Angeles-to-New York flight over Riverside, Calif., less than 16 minutes after he was airborne.

The DC8, United Flight 14, carried 51 passengers, including several United employes from New York, and a crew of eight. It boosted to 1,612 the number of persons detoured to Cuba this year on commercial liners.

Oceanic Properties Silent On Bolinas Bill

Oceanic Properties Inc. of San Francisco was incorrectly identified by the Independent-Journal on May 28 as one of the opponents of pending legislation to transfer jurisdiction over Bolinas Lagoon from the Bolinas Harbor District to the County of Marin.

Neither Oceanic Properties nor its parent company, Castle & Cooke, has made any representation either in writing or verbally to anyone in the Legislature concerning this measure. ure.

Condition Better

Sixteen-year-old Rodney W. Wick of Novato, injured Sunday in an automobile accident in Novato that claimed the life of a 16-year-old fellow passenger, was reported slightly improving today at Ross General Hospital, though he remains in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Massive Bay Filling, Higher Smog Linked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two meteorologists warn that massive filling of San Francisco Bay could produce radical changes in the region's weather, including an increase in smog.

The scientists, Albert Miller and C. A. Riegel, both professors at San Jose State College, told a news conference yesterday sponsored by the Save the Bay Committee that earlier opinion linking by fill and more smog were at least understated.

Miller said that if up to 25 per cent of bay waters were replaced by fill, the region would lose enough of its "thermostat" to alter average temperatures by five to six degrees.

The loss of that much Bay water would also significantly reduce wind speeds, the major force in dispersing air pollution, Miller said.

"It is necessary to maximize the surface area of all the waters of the Bay, not only to avoid displacing the center of sea breezes, but to avoid temperature inversions," Miller said.

Inversions occur when warm air near the ground is pressed downward by cold air above. Inversions in the Los Angeles Basin are a major cause of smog since polluted low level air is prevented from flowing out.

In the Bay Area, such inversions might result in thick, nearly motionless fogs which could be filled with pollutants, the scientists said. They called for regarding the Bay as "one package."

Holey Pipe May Improve Water Taste

Plans to try harder to improve the taste and odor of Marin Municipal Water District water were revealed yesterday during district budget discussions.

The project, small in relation to the district's planned overall expenditures of almost $4.7 million, will involve a full-time engineer to work on water quality control, some chemicals and a holey piece of pipe.

A budget of $26,700 was projected for the "water quality control, lakes" account, up from last year's $7,800.

Part of the money will go for a piece of plastic pipe, three-quarters of an inch in diameter and 75 feet long, with a lot of holes punched in it, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger reported.

The pipe will be placed in Bon Tempe Lake by the dam and air pumped through it in an effort to keep the water from stratifying. He explained that when hot weather heats water on top of the deeper cold water, it creates an algae problem.

The algae, in turn, is responsible for the sometimes foul tasting water which brings a rash of complaints and which stood as the sole reported black mark against the district in the 1968 Grand Jury report.

Seeger said the air bubble program is being used by other districts, including North Marin County Water District, and seems to be working, not only to improve the taste of water but also as an enhancement of the environment for fish.

The district board approved the program, along with the rest of the "fiscal plan" without comment after a 47-minute dissertation by Seeger.

The district uses a fiscal plan instead of a budget so money can be transfered from account to account if necessary without approval by the board.

Seeger said the district tries to remain within the amounts allotted to each department and when there are transferrals, the fact is noted in the monthly financial report to directors.

The fiscal plan calls for expenditures 3 per cent in excess of anticipated revenue with the difference to be drawn from existing funds, making total income and expenditures each $4,631,880, compared to the current amount of $3,876,200.

Capital work to be paid by the district was approved at $514,990. Seeger said staff requests had totaled $1.4 million.

A major line at Tamalpais Valley, estimated at $40,000; materials totaling $197,611; tank improvements and replacements of $150,000, and various water line extensions and enlargements are among the capital items included.

Seeger said he expected a 4 per cent increase in revenue and again warned the directors a rate increase is imminent.

Seeger also said he has begun reducing inventory to provide for more cash on hand.

He also reported several new employees, with annual salaries totaling about $80,000 were included in the budget.

About $100,000 was included for salary increases expected during the year. (The water district traditionally grants an across-the-board increase just before Christmas.)

Seeger reported the district is making a profit off the county schools bus maintenance agreement. The county is paying about $37,000 for care of the buses; the district estimated it will spend $27,000.

Board Prohibits Fires In Most Mount Tam Areas

Fires in most of the areas of Mount Tamalpais controlled by Marin Municipal Water District were prohibited yesterday by the district board.

The order, effective immediately, was made at the request of Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom who said heavy vegetation is a potentially dangerous fire hazard.

The district agreed to permit fires in the Lake Lagunitas and Phoenix log cabin areas because both are continually patrolled by district personnel. In addition, fire fighting equipment is located permanently at Lake Lagunitas, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger told the board.

Seeger said Bloom had originally recommended prohibiting all fires but modified the recommendation for the special situation at Lake Lagunitas.

Seeger said the state is expected to follow suit in the areas it controls.

Police Called To Quiet Noisy Meeting Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police reserves were called last night to quiet a board of education meeting concerning the transfer of administrators and plans for a school with a heavy Negro student body.

Because a noisy crowd of 1,000 turned out for the session, the police squad was enlarged from four to 25. There were no fights and nobody was hurt.

Many protesters opposed a $111.9 million budget which is under consideration.

Nearly 50 Negro youngsters were on hand to protest a plan to give Polytechnic High School more ethnic balance.

Deputy Inspects Marijuana Plot

Tiburon Deputy Sheriff Angelo J. Mecchi reported yesterday he discovered a neatly tended marijuana garden in a vacant lot in Tiburon yesterday.

Mecchi said about a dozen plants, ranging in size from 3 inches to 2 feet, were found in the "definitely cultivated" garden in an empty lot in a residential area on Silverado Drive near Stewart Drive.

A San Rafael engineer who had surveyed the lot for possible construction had first noticed the plants, Mecchi said, and had notified deputies because he was unsure what they were.

Anti-Drugs Medicine: A Stable Home Life

A stable home life is the "greatest bulwark against mental illness and emotional illness in the world," Dr. Patricia Hallinan, assistant health officer, Marin County, told the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilman last night.

Dr. Hallinan was one of four speakers in a four-pronged program on drug abuse.

Children who become involved in drugs can be placed in three categories, Dr. Hallinan said . . . the thrill seeker, the oblivion seeker "who wants to escape from responsibility," and "the kid who wants to change his basic personality."

These children are disturbed and a lot come from broken homes or homes where there is an alcoholic mother or father.

As for marijuana, the youths "smoke it, chew it, and make brownies out of it," she said.

Marijuana is becoming more expensive and more scarce in Marin but now a more powerful version is coming in from Mexico, a type that causes hallucination, she said.

"Young people are turning to heroin," she advised, noting eight youths under 17 have been treated for heroin and all wound up in institutions.

Youths are still using LSD and are still injecting drugs, she said.

On the ages of users, Dr. Hallinan reported that "we treated a boy, 13, for marijuana."

She also told of girls, as young as 13, being treated for venereal disease, and made a plea for sex education.

For the older groups, she warned that alcohol and tobacco are "the two greatest" sources of addiction in the world.

Law enforcement isn't the answer to the drug abuse problem, but it can deal with the supply, Dr. Hallinan commented. Others in the community will have to deal with the demand, she said.

Novato Police Chief Robert DiGrazia told of the work of the Marin County Drug Abuse* Bureau, which he emphasized doesn't supplant local police authority, but supplements it.

The intent of the bureau is to get the major drug sellers and drug producers with the cooperation of the district attorney's office.

During the period from February, 1968, through May 31, 1969, there were 804 adult arrests, "and that very easily could double in juveniles," he reported.

Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager and chairman of the centralized Police Services Council, reported on the disposition of drug arrests last year.

Usher explained that he was using tentative figures prepared by Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales that were "perhaps reflective."

During 1968 there were 531 adults arrests, with 133 still pending and disposition made on 398.

In 210 cases, 53 per cent, there wasn't any penalty, Usher reported. Of these 120 weren't brought to court, 19 were judged not guilty and 71 were dismissed.

There were 71 (18 per cent) confined either in county or state jail or medical facility, 64 (16 per cent) received probation, and 53 (13 per cent) (borderline cases between juvenile and adult) were certified to juvenile court, Usher reported.

Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instructional services, Marin County Schools Office, told of the drug abuse education program in schools.

Youths already out of school, and those who drop or "tune out" are more susceptible "to the drug abuse society," Lindberg said.

Drug abuse education requires the efforts of all segments of the community, he stressed.

28-Cent Extra Tax For City Dwellers

City taxpayers would get a cut in their tax rate, estimated at 28 cents per $100 assessed valuation, if they were relieved of paying county taxes for services they don't receive.

Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer, a strong opponent of "double taxation," gave this message last night to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera.

Eliminating the tax inequities would alleviate a "serious burden" on city taxpayers, Meyer said.

He referred to a letter from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, who estimated the city tax rate reduction of 28 cents if the unincorporated area alone paid for services which primarily serve them.

Mitchell estimated the cost of services in the 1969-70 county budget, primarily for the unincorporated area, would require $1,514,000 in property taxes and $342,000 in nonproperty tax revenue.

"For all practical purposes, the population and assessed valuation ratio for Marin County is approximately two-thirds in the 11 cities and one-third in the unincorporated area," he pointed out.

He listed the cost of services primarily for unincorporated areas at: sheriff's patrol, investigation and identification, $1,162,350; fire, $195,057; planning, $191,374; engineering, $179,540; building inspection, $86,840; indirect overhead, $36,422; and justice court, $4,417.

One of the major expenses is the operation of the sheriff's patrols and cities have been pushing for residents in unincorporated areas to pay for police services they receive beyond the responsibility of the county to provide.

Meyer said the Marin City-County Services Committee has been working on tax inequities "But too little has been accomplished."

"Twenty-eight cents in double taxation is a severe tax rate load for paying for people in unincorporated areas," Meyer asserted.

Meyer contended that the city-county services committee composed of two city councilmen and two supervisors should have a fifth member "to break the logjam."

He recommended that the fifth seat be assigned to the auditor-controller saying it would bring to the committee "an elected official who could be objective."

Councilmen then voted to ask supervisors to add the office of the auditor-controller to the committee.

After a short skirmish about voting procedures, the council elected Fairfax Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson as its delegate to the Association of Bay Area Governments Executive Committee by a 6-5 margin over Corte Madera Councilman Holmes S. Norville.

Mrs Wilson, who has been alternate delegate, was backed by Belvedere, Fairfax, Mill Valley, San Anselmo, Sausalito and Tiburon.

Voting for Norville were Corte Madera, Larkspur, Novato, Ross and San Rafael.

Mrs. Wilson will succeed Larkspur Councilman Earl J. O'Grady.

Norville was unanimously elected as alternate delegate after gaining nine votes in the first ballot, with San Anselmo backing one of its council members, James F. Reed, and Tiburon undecided. Reed moved that the vote be unanimous.

The cities also voted 9-2, with Ross and San Anselmo dissenting, to join in the countywide animal control program for one year.

Reed said the program would perpetuate double taxation since cities would be contributing to the county's share of the program as well as their own.

Brixon said the cities couldn't provide the enforcement program on their own and animal control in needed. Sausalito Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said the largest part of the animal control problem is in the cities.

With a two-month vacation schedule, the council adjourned until Sept. 24 in Fairfax. Corte Madera was the host city.

Mayors, Councilmen Rip Finance Disclosure Bill

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen by a voice vote last night unanimously opposed AB 325 which would require them to make public the full extent of their financial investments.

Ross Councilman Roy Farrington Jones said the proposed law extended to investments of the wives and children of public officials.

Jones said if he were subjected to such a law, he wouldn't be a candidate for office.

The bill, Jones reported, covered not only state officials, but also county, city and district officials of any subdivisions of these agencies, except advisory bodies.

The bill also would require financial disclosure by local officers, either elected or appointed, and civil service employees "who are of the highest civil service class employed by that agency."

It would require those covered by the proposed law to file by April 15 of each year "a statement describing the nature and extent of his investments and ownership of shares of any corporation."

Candidates for state or local public office would have to file a statement within 10 days after filing his delcaration of candidacy, and violation of the proposed law would be a felony.

Councilmen authorized a telegram to Gov. Ronald Reagan urging that he veto the bill if it passes the legislature, and a telegram to State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, urging that he oppose the bill, now before the Senate for a vote.

Safety Checks Of Buses Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Striking Greyhound Bus lines mechanics are asking the California Highway Patrol to make safety checks on Greyhound buses.

Maintenance was transferred to other garages in Northern California and Nevada, but union business representative Fred Martin said equipment has not been inspected.

Meantime, talks between company and union representatives continued today.

Savings Stolen

Two piggy banks were emptied of about $38 in change by a thief who apparently entered through an open bedroom window at the home of Marilyn Valmassoi, 724 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley sometime Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Anti-Drugs Medicine: A Stable Home Life

A stable home life is the "greatest bulwark against mental illness and emotional illness in the world," Dr. Patricia Hallinan, assistant health officer, Marin County, told the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilman last night.

Dr. Hallinan was one of four speakers in a four-pronged program on drug abuse.

Children who become involved in drugs can be placed in three categories, Dr. Hallinan said . . . the thrill seeker, the oblivion seeker "who wants to escape from responsibility," and "the kid who wants to change his basic personality."

These children are disturbed and a lot come from broken homes or homes where there is an alcoholic mother or father.

As for marijuana, the youths "smoke it, chew it, and make Brownies out of it," she said.

Marijuana is becoming more expensive and more scarce in Marin but now a more powerful version is coming in from Mexico, a type that causes hallucination, she said.

"Young people are turning to heroin," she advised, noting eight youths under 17 have been treated for heroin and all wound up in institutions.

Youths are still using LSD and are still injecting drugs, she said.

On the ages of users, Dr. Hallinan reported that "we treated a boy, 13, for marijuana."

She also told of girls, as young as 13, being treated for venereal disease, and made a plea for sex education.

For the older groups, she warned that alcohol and tobacco are "the two greatest" sources of addiction in the world.

Law enforcement isn't the answer to the drug abuse problem, but it can deal with the supply, Dr. Hallinan commented. Others in the community will have to deal with the demand, she said.

Novato Police Chief Robert DiGrazia told of the work of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, which he emphasized doesn't supplant local police authority, but supplements it.

The intent of the bureau is to get the major drug sellers and drug producers with the cooperation of the district attorney's office.

During the period from February, 1968, through May 31, 1969, there were 804 adult arrests, "and that very easily could double in juveniles," he reported.

Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager and chairman of the centralized Police Services Council, reported on the disposition of drug arrests last year.

Usher explained that he was using tentative figures prepared by Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales that were "perhaps reflective."

During 1968 there were 531 adults arrests, with 133 still pending and disposition made on 398.

In 210 cases, 53 per cent, there wasn't any penalty, Usher reported. Of these 120 weren't brought to court, 19 were judged not guilty and 71 were dismissed.

There were 71 (18 per cent) confined either in county or state jail or medical facility, 64 (16 per cent) received probation, and 53 (13 per cent) (borderline cases between juvenile and adult) were certified to juvenile court, Usher reported.

Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instructional services, Marin County Schools Office, told of the drug abuse education program in schools.

Youths already out of school, and those who drop or "tune out" are more susceptible "to the drug abuse society," Lindberg said.

Drug abuse education requires the efforts of all segments of the community, he stressed.

28-Cent Extra Tax For City Dwellers

City taxpayers would get a cut in their tax rate, estimated at 28 cents per $100 assessed valuation, if they were relieved of paying county taxes for services they don't receive.

Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer, a strong opponent of "double taxation," gave this message last night to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera.

Eliminating the tax inequities would alleviate a "serious burden" on city taxpayers, Meyer said.

He referred to a letter from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, who estimated the city tax rate reduction of 28 cents if the unincorporated area alone paid for services which primarily serve them.

Mitchell estimated the cost of services in the 1969-70 county budget, primarily for the unincorporated area, would require $1,514,000 in property taxes and $342,000 in nonproperty tax revenue.

"For all practical purposes, the population and assessed valuation ratio for Marin County is approximately two-thirds in the 11 cities and one-third in the unincorporated area," he pointed out.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

DDT Foe Planning Compromise Offer

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. John A. Nejedly, the Legislature's No. 1 prosecutor of DDT, is prepared to win his case by offering a compromise.

But it is clear the Senate Agriculture Committee doesn't completely agree.

So Nejedly, former Contra Costa County district attorney and the Senate's newest member, disclosed yesterday he plans to offer a compromise amendment proposing a 1971 cutoff date for use of DDT and other "hard" pesticides.

In the interim, alternatives to such pesticides must be developed and put into use, he said in an interview.

But Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, the committee chairman, said he believes it is unlikely the committee will accept a final cutoff.

Marler, while declining to predict what the committee will do with the proposal, said he preferred to see "the day to day regulatory power be with the Department of Agriculture under a strong legislative mandate to regulate, limit the use of and eliminate the use of hard pesticides as soon as possible."

The committee, which last week delayed a final vote on the bill and held it for additional study, meets again late today.

At a six-hour hearing, almost 30 witnesses—many of them scientists—warned of the dangers of DDT to the California environment, fish and wildlife. Other expert witnesses defended DDT and said it posed no threat to human health.

It became clear that Nejedly lacked the five votes necessary to win the endorsement of the nine-member committee, several of whom represent farming areas.

Later Nejedly discussed his bill with representatives of the University of California and the state departments of fish and game, agriculture, and public health.

He said he agreed to offer the amendment calling for a 1971 cutoff. But he said the modification must be accompanied by a declaration that hard pesticides shall be phased out as soon as alternatives are available.

In a related development, the state Department of Agriculture announced yesterday that two dangerous pesticides will be placed on its restricted list. That means a permit will be required for their use. One is dangerous to humans, while the other has killed birds.

They are the new bugkiller Temik and azodrin.

CIGARETTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The author of a Senate-passed bill to ban all cigarette advertising in California predicts the fate of the measure will be decided in an Assembly committee.

"If it gets out of committee, I think it has a pretty good chance." Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson said yesterday. "It should do alright on the Assembly floor.

Beilenson's comments came after the Senate voted 28-7 to pass his sweeping prohibition on the advertising of cigarettes.

Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, who assigns all bills for committee hearing, said he was unsure whether the measure would go to the health and welfare committee or the commerce committee.

Beilenson indicated the measure stood a better chance of gaining approval in health and welfare.

The far-reaching ban would apply to all newspapers and magazines published in California. National publications with regional editions would have to substitute ads in California.

Cigarette commercials on television or radio would also be forbidden. Local stations airing network programs would have to replace cigarette spots with local commercials.

SMUT LAWS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan climaxed a three-year legislative battle yesterday when he signed bills making it harder for smut merchants to peddle pornography to children.

The governor's signatures marked the first revision of the state's antismut laws since 1961 and the first major strengthening of obscenity laws since their original enactment in the gold rush days of 1858.

The two-bill package is a Legislative triumph for Reagan and is viewed as one of the major pieces of legislation to come from the 1969 session.

One law establishes a separate standard for judging what is obscene for youths under 18.

The second incorporates a "pandering" concept, so the method of advertising can be used as a legal tool to determine whether the material is obscene.

The new law will become effective sometime this Autumn, 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Shoplift Suspects

Two 13-year-old San Rafael youths were cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of shoplifting yesterday after the manager of the Purity Store in Northgate Shopping Center stopped them with a gallon of wine they had apparently not paid for, police said.

Guilty Plea To Desertion Of Mail

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 53-year-old San Rafael man who had worked almost 16 years as a mail carrier pleaded guilty yesterday to desertion of the mails in U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Bruno Simontacchi of 30 Novato Street was placed on three months probation on each charge.

Simontacchi had been accused of two counts of delaying the mail, a felony, after he dumped advertising circulars in his garbage can instead of in his customers' mail boxes last January.

The charges were reduced to two counts of desertion of the mails, a misdemeanor charge which can be used whenever a mailman fails to deliver the mail, according to Jerrold M. Ladar of Mill Valley, chief of the criminal division in the U.S. Attorney's office in San Francisco.

Simontacchi, who carried mail in the ridge area in west San Rafael for about 12 years, resigned Jan. 20 after postal inspectors caught him putting circulars in his garbage can.

Mill Valley Woman Denies Dope Count

Karen Elaine Gowel, 23, of 147 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing cocaine. A preliminary hearing was set for July 8.

Miss Gowel is accused of having the drug with her when she was booked into Marin County Jail May 5 on traffic warrants.

Drug Seller's Probation Revoked For New Arrest

A disgusted Marin Superior Court judged today revoked probation for a 24-year-old drug seller whom he said "had been given every consideration" and sent him to state prison for five years to life.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said that Jan Daniel DeBruyn of Tamalpais Valley "deserves as long a sentence as the law provides."

DeBruyn, who was convicted of two large sales of marijuana to narcotics agents in 1967 and 1968 after a trial before Judge Gardiner, had been placed on five years probation.

He served a 30-day sentence in the county jail and then the judge reduced the terms of his sentence from every weekend in jail for a year to one weekend a month.

In May, DeBruyn was arrested at his Tamalpais Valley home by federal narcotics agents who accused him of being a large scale heroin dealer.

In his home the agents said they found cocaine, hashish, LSD and 57 seconal capsules. He is also accused of selling an agent $400 worth of heroin, which would sell on the streets for as much as $7,000.

He is still awaiting trial in federal court in San Francisco on that charge.

DeBruyn's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, today said that if convicted for the heroin sale, he will face a five-year-to life sentence in federal prison.

Judge Gardiner today said he plans to write to federal authorities suggesting that such a sentence run consecutively with the state prison term. He stayed execution of the state term until the federal proceedings are concluded.

Poisoned River Cleanup Begins

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Millions of fish killed in the Rhine River over the weekend by what is believed to have been an insecticide are being burned and buried in a massive cleanup operation, health officials said today.

Reports from four river test stations say the river is now clear of poison and surviving fish are healthy.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

DDT Foe Planning Compromise Offer

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. John A. Nejedly, the Legislature's No. 1 prosecutor of DDT, is prepared to win his case by offering a compromise.

But it is clear the Senate Agriculture Committee doesn't completely agree.

So Nejedly, former Contra Costa County district attorney and the Senate's newest member, disclosed yesterday he plans to offer a compromise amendment proposing a 1971 cutoff date for use of DDT and other "hard" pesticides.

In the interim, alternatives to such pesticides must be developed and put into use, he said in an interview.

But Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, the committee chairman, said he believes it is unlikely the committee will accept a final cutoff.

Marler, while declining to predict what the committee will do with the proposal, said he preferred to see "the day to day regulatory power be with the Department of Agriculture under a strong legislative mandate to regulate, limit the use of and eliminate the use of hard pesticides as soon as possible."

The committee, which last week delayed a final vote on the bill and held it for additional study, meets again late today.

At a six-hour hearing, almost 30 witnesses—many of them scientists—warned of the dangers of DDT to the California environment, fish and wildlife. Other expert witnesses defended DDT and said it posed no threat to human health.

It became clear that Nejedly lacked the five votes necessary to win the endorsement of the nine-member committee, several of whom represent farming areas.

Later Nejedly discussed his bill with representatives of the University of California and the state departments of fish and game, agriculture, and public health.

He said he agreed to offer the amendment calling for a 1971 cutoff. But he said the modification must be accompanied by a declaration that hard pesticides shall be phased out as soon as alternatives are available.

In a related development, the state Department of Agriculture announced yesterday that two dangerous pesticides will be placed on its restricted list. That means a permit will be required for their use. One is dangerous to humans, while the other has killed birds.

They are the new bugkiller Temik and azodrin.

CIGARETTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The author of a Senate-passed bill to ban all cigarette advertising in California predicts the fate of the measure will be decided in an Assembly committee.

"If it gets out of committee, I think it has a pretty good chance." Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson said yesterday. "It should do alright on the Assembly floor.

Beilenson's comments came after the Senate voted 28-7 to pass his sweeping prohibition on the advertising of cigarettes.

Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, who assigns all bills for committee hearing, said he was unsure whether the measure would go to the health and welfare committee or the commerce committee.

Beilenson indicated the measure stood a better chance of gaining approval in health and welfare.

The far-reaching ban would apply to all newspapers and magazines published in California. National publications with regional editions would have to substitute ads in California.

Cigarette commercials on television or radio would also be forbidden. Local stations airing network programs would have to replace cigarette spots with local commercials.

SMUT LAWS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan climaxed a three-year legislative battle yesterday when he signed bills making it harder for smut merchants to peddle pornography to children.

The governor's signatures marked the first revision of the state's antismut laws since 1961 and the first major strengthening of obscenity laws since their original enactment in the gold rush days of 1858.

The two-bill package is a Legislative triumph for Reagan and is viewed as one of the major pieces of legislation to come from the 1969 session.

The second incorporates a "pandering" concept, so the method of advertising can be used as a legal tool to determine whether the material is obscene.

The new law will become effective sometime this Autumn, 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Shoplift Suspects

Two 13-year-old San Rafael youths were cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of shoplifting yesterday after the manager of the Purity Store in Northgate Shopping Center stopped them with a gallon of wine they had apparently not paid for, police said.

Guilty Plea To Desertion Of Mail

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 53-year-old San Rafael man who had worked almost 16 years as a mail carrier pleaded guilty yesterday to desertion of the mails in U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Bruno Simontacchi of 30 Novato Street was placed on three months probation on each charge.

Simontacchi had been accused of two counts of delaying the mail, a felony, after he dumped advertising circulars in his garbage can instead of in his customers' mail boxes last January.

The charges were reduced to two counts of desertion of the mails, a misdemeanor charge which can be used whenever a mailman fails to deliver the mail, according to Jerrold M. Ladar of Mill Valley, chief of the criminal division in the U.S. Attorney's office in San Francisco.

Simontacchi, who carried mail in the ridge area in west San Rafael for about 12 years, resigned Jan. 20 after postal inspectors caught him putting circulars in his garbage can.

Mill Valley Woman Denies Dope Count

Karen Elaine Gowel, 23, of 147 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing cocaine. A preliminary hearing was set for July 8.

Miss Gowel is accused of having the drug with her when she was booked into Marin County Jail May 5 on traffic warrants.

Drug Seller's Probation Revoked For New Arrest

A disgusted Marin Superior Court judged today revoked probation for a 24-year-old drug seller whom he said "had been given every consideration" and sent him to state prison for five years to life.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said that Jan Daniel DeBruyn of Tamalpais Valley "deserves as long a sentence as the law provides."

DeBruyn, who was convicted of two large sales of marijuana to narcotics agents in 1967 and 1968 after a trial before Judge Gardiner, had been placed on five years probation.

He served a 30-day sentence in the county jail and then the judge reduced the terms of his sentence from every weekend in jail for a year to one weekend a month.

In May, DeBruyn was arrested at his Tamalpais Valley home by federal narcotics agents who accused him of being a large scale heroin dealer.

In his home the agents said they found cocaine, hashish, LSD and 57 seconal capsules. He is also accused of selling an agent $400 worth of heroin, which would sell on the streets for as much as $7,000.

He is still awaiting trial in federal court in San Francisco on that charge.

DeBruyn's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, today said that if convicted for the heroin sale, he will face a five-year-to life sentence in federal prison.

Judge Gardiner today said he plans to write to federal authorities suggesting that such a sentence run consecutively with the state prison term. He stayed execution of the state term until the federal proceedings are concluded.

Poisoned River Cleanup Begins

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Millions of fish killed in the Rhine River over the weekend by what is believed to have been an insecticide are being burned and buried in a massive cleanup operation, health officials said today.

Reports from four river test stations say the river is now clear of poison and surviving fish are healthy.

DEAD MAN'S VOTE

Congress Demands Answer On Mistake In Roll Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman is listed in the Congressional Record Thursday the day of his funeral—as having voted on a bill three days after his death.

The measure carried by a vote of 204-195.

Bates died Sunday. He was buried today in Salem, Mass.

The office of the tally clerk, which calls the roll, blamed the error on the Government Printing Office, which prints the Record.

The office said Bates's name was removed from the official roll call shortly after his death, and that his name was not read during either of yesterday's two roll calls.

The clerk's office asked the printing office for an official explanation to be inserted in the Record tomorrow.

Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H., sponsor of a bill calling for installation of an elecronic voting system, said the error is incredible.

"This is absolute proof we need reform," he said.

The error was made exactly one week after the House ethics committee reported it found no evidence of complicity in a series of roll-call errors disclosed last September.

The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct called the errors the result of physical strain on the tally clerk and of the roll-call system itself.

Those discrepancies involved listing on roll calls the names of members who were known to have been absent or out of town at the time. The committee staff said the errors had no effect on legislative results because the results were one-sided.

Their report called for a modernized voting system to minimize the possibilities of human error inherent in the present system.

The House Administration Committee is currently studying several proposals, but hasn't come up with any recommendations.

Fulbright Raps Nixon East-West Trade Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said today he understands the Nixon administration favors tightening restrictions on trade with Communist Eastern Europe. And he asserted this will add regrettably to East-West tensions.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said there had been a consensus between the Senate and previous administrations to relax trade rules with such nations as Romania and Bulgaria.

"I thought it was a matter of course until I heard recently it would not be continued by this administration," Fulbright said. "I regret it. I think it adds to suspicions and tensions."

Fulbright's comments came during committee questioning of President Richard M. Nixon's nominee for assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, Phillip H. Trezise.

Trezise said he personally believes trade limitations should be eased in the future but the timing "is very much a political issue" which should be left to the President.

Present East-West limitations under the Export Control Act state the administration must decide, before granting export licenses, whether the trade would help Communist nations economically and militarily to the detriment of the United States.

Congress is considering legislation which would drop the economic consideration and require only judgment on the military consequences of East-West trade.

Trezise said he thinks restrictions could be relaxed because the size of the Soviet Union's economy and the limited United States control over Western European nations make the regulations largely ineffectual.

"We can do only limited economic harm to the countries of Eastern Eruope," he said.

The comment irritated Fulbright, who asked, "Why should we want to injure the Eastern European economy even if we could?"

Trezise did not give a direct answer. He said that attitude was conveyed in the Export Control Act passed by Congress in the early 1950s and reflected the judgment of the then president.

"Regardless of policies in the 1950s," said Fulbright, "what is the justification now?"

Trezise said only that changing the policy should be at a time politically advantageous to the United States.

"But is it in the interest of the country to continue a policy I gather you say is futile anyway?" asked Fulbright, adding "Russia is happy to have us treat countries in Eastern Europe harshly."

Fulbright said Romania is urgently requesting closer relations with the West and particularly with the United States, and the Soviet Union strongly opposes this.

"I regret the obsession with ideological aspects that interferes with our national interests," Fulbright said.

Stolen Tuesday from a cabin on Lucas Valley Road belonging to Rexford Benson were an old oak ice box, two kerosene stoves and a lantern, sheriff's deputies said today.

Sacramento Schools Sued On Race Violence Injuries

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two couples—including former State Treasurer Bert A. Betts and his wife—have filed lawsuits asking $7 million in damages because of reported beatings of their sons at Sacramento High School.

The school has been the scene of intermittent violence and incidents among white and black students in recent years.

The suit names Gov. Ronald Reagan, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, state schools chief Max Rafferty, the State Board of Education and city school officials.

Mrs. Betts said the main purpose of the suit is to make "Sacramento High School once again a safe place for both black and white students."

Her son by a former marriage, J. Chauncey Hayes, 15, suffered head injuries in a gang attack May 24, they said.

The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Biggers, said their son, Calvin, 17, was so severely beaten June 4 that his heart and breathing stopped and he had to be revived by a school nurse.

The suit said school officials failed to provide a safe campus and "no one of any race can attend school without being subjected to verbal obscenities and abuses."

The Biggers seeks $6 million in damages and the Betts seek $1 million. The couples also filed a third suit asking for at least six trained guards at the school, fencing the campus and locking out nonstudents and suspended students.

The suits listed several incidents, including:

The plaintiffs also said the school officials permitting writing in the school newspaper "advocating revolution, violence and inciting racial strife;" permitted assemblies honoring "Malcolm X, Huey Newton and Eldridge Cleaver" and "urging the blacks to arm themselves with guns; ... Allowing faculty and school administrators to lay their lives on the line every day as 'guards' without any means to provide protection for themselves."

Color TV Stolen

Toivo Panttaja of 38 Loring Avenue, Homestead Valley, reported to sheriff's officers Tuesday that someone had stolen a color television set from his home, officers said today.

San Anselmo Schools Budget, Tax Rate Up

The San Anselmo School District board last night approved a preliminary 1969-70 budget of $1,902,471 and noted that the tax rate may be increased between 9 and 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The board also approved non-teaching salary increases ranging from 6.66 to 8.33 per cent.

The tax rate, now $3.295, is expected to increase by 9 cents, mainly to pay for increased costs for the seventh and eighth grade program and for medical and dental benefits, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

He said the added tax for the junior high program is estimated at 8 cents but that the board has requested him to submit figures on a possible additional 5 cents for the program.

Library teachers aides will be increased 8.33 per cent on the salary schedule, receiving a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase and 3.33 per cent increase for a two-range increase on the schedule.

All other nonteaching personanel, except kindergarten teacher aides and educationally handicapped teacher aides, will receive a 5 per cent pay hikes plus an increase of one range placement on the salary schedule, or 1.77 per cent increase.

Nonteaching employees were also granted an increase in medical hospital benefits from $11.69 to $13.79 per month and initial dental benefits of $6.12 per month and were given the day before Thanksgiving as a board-declared holiday, Parodi said.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Keith C. McPherson, former principal of Beard School in Modesto, as principal of Isabel Cook and Yolansdale Schools at $15,794 and Albert H. Nelson, former Hanford Elementary Schools director of instruction, as district director of instruction at $16,357.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Russell L. Reade, Red Hill science teacher who cited inadequate salary and fringe benefits and Margaret Herbert, Brookside School teacher aide.

ADJOURNED MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, at Red Hill School to organize the board for 1969-70.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two couples—including former State Treasurer Bert A. Betts and his wife—have filed lawsuits asking $7 million in damages because of reported beatings of their sons at Sacramento High School.

The school has been the scene of intermittent violence and incidents among white and black students in recent years.

The suit names Gov. Ronald Reagan, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, state schools chief Max Rafferty, the State Board of Education and city school officials.

Mrs. Betts said the main purpose of the suit is to make "Sacramento High School once again a safe place for both black and white students."

Her son by a former marriage, J. Chauncey Hayes, 15, suffered head injuries in a gang attack May 24, they said.

The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Biggers, said their son, Calvin, 17, was so severely beaten June 4 that his heart and breathing stopped and he had to be revived by a school nurse.

The suit said school officials failed to provide a safe campus and "no one of any race can attend school without being subjected to verbal obscenities and abuses."

The Biggers seeks $6 million in damages and the Betts seek $1 million. The couples also filed a third suit asking for at least six trained guards at the school, fencing the campus and locking out nonstudents and suspended students.

The suits listed several incidents, including:

The plaintiffs also said the school officials permitting writing in the school newspaper "advocating revolution, violence and inciting racial strife;" permitted assemblies honoring "Malcolm X, Huey Newton and Eldridge Cleaver" and "urging the blacks to arm themselves with guns; . . . Allowing faculty and school administrators to lay their lives on the line every day as 'guards' without any means to provide protection for themselves."

Color TV Stolen

Toivo Panttaja of 38 Loring Avenue, Homestead Valley, reported to sheriff's officers Tuesday that someone had stolen a color television set from his home, officers said today.

San Anselmo Schools Budget, Tax Rate Up

The San Anselmo School District board last night approved a preliminary 1969-70 budget of $1,902,471 and noted that the tax rate may be increased between 9 and 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The board also approved non-teaching salary increases ranging from 6.66 to 8.33 per cent.

The tax rate, now $3.295, is expected to increase by 9 cents, mainly to pay for increased costs for the seventh and eighth grade program and for medical and dental benefits, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

He said the added tax for the junior high program is estimated at 8 cents but that the board has requested him to submit figures on a possible additional 5 cents for the program.

Library teachers aides will be increased 8.33 per cent on the salary schedule, receiving a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase and 3.33 per cent increase for a two-range increase on the schedule.

All other nonteaching personanel, except kindergarten teacher aides and educationally handicapped teacher aides, will receive a 5 per cent pay hikes plus an increase of one range placement on the salary schedule, or 1.77 per cent increase.

Nonteaching employees were also granted an increase in medical hospital benefits from $11.69 to $13.79 per month and initial dental benefits of $6.12 per month and were given the day before Thanksgiving as a board-declared holiday, Parodi said.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Keith C. McPherson, former principal of Beard School in Modesto, as principal of Isabel Cook and Yolansdale Schools at $15,794 and Albert H. Nelson, former Hanford Elementary Schools director of instruction, as district director of instruction at $16,357.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Russell L. Reade, Red Hill science teacher who cited inadequate salary and fringe benefits and Margaret Herbert, Brookside School teacher aide.

ADJOURNED MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, at Red Hill School to organize the board for 1969-70.

Bootzin House Will Go To His Keepers

Two young women who lived with a Mill Valley octogenarian for four and a half years before he died will be able to keep the house and property he gave to one of them, a Marin Superior Court judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson took under submission, however, the women's requests for additional money from the estate of Max Bootzin for services, companionship and household expenditures.

Winners after a trial lasting 26 days were Charmaine Klenman, now 36, and Joan Saylor, 30, who still live at the house at 8 Robertson Terrace.

FILED IN 1965

The suit to regain the property and cash he claimed he gave them following a four-year campaign to gain his affections was filed in 1965 by Bootzin.

Bootzin died in 1966 at the age of 83 after asking his attorney, Vincent Hallinan to drop the suit. Hallinan did not do so however, and later as executor of the estate, continued the case on behalf of Bootzin's three children.

Bootzin's daughter, Mrs. Adeline Rodriguez of San Francisco, yesterday was led from the courtroom by her husband, when she cried out to the judge, "You're going to believe them (the women) and not me!"

Mrs. Rodriguez had testified during the trial that her father had believed that Miss Klenman was going to marry him.

Judge Wilson said yesterday that it was a matter of "which witnesses to believe" of the 33 persons who presented the great deal of conflicting testimony.

FIT OF PIQUE

He concluded, however, he said that Bootzin's relationship to the women had been one of uncle and boarder and that he had filed the suit in a fit of pique after an argument in the Mill Valley home.

He also decided, he said, that testimony had shown Bootzin to be a man not capable of being fooled for four years.

Miss Klenman and Miss Saylor testified at length how they had remodeled the house, mixing cement, carrying flagstones, tearing down walls and ripping out plumbing.

They claim that Bootzin's estate owes Miss Klenman $56,574, of which $25,000 is for companionship and the remainder for her labor and money she put out for household expenditures and materials.

Miss Saylor has asked for $53,651, also with $25,000 for companionship.

The judge indicated yesterday that he would probably not grant them any money for companionship.

Burglary Reported

Jerry D. Crews of 8 Doris Avenue, Novato, reported to sheriff's deputies that someone broke into his home and walked off with a stereo and radio combination valued at $40. He said the theft took place between Friday and Sunday.

Set Fires Plague Sleepy Hollow

San Anselmo firemen fought four grass fires Tuesday all of which, according to Fire Chief Francis A. Sousa, were believed to have been deliberately set.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the Sleepy Hollow area to attempt to find the incendiarists, but no one was found, said Sousa.

The fires were at 1:25 p.m. when an acre of grass burned behind Sleepy Hollow Stables, at 2:32 p.m. when another acre of grass burned but a short distance from the first fire; at 6:53 p.m. at the end of Hidden Valley Lane burning two acres and at 9:08 p.m. at the end of Butterfield Road, burning three acres.

The chief said that the last fire was called in while firemen were still out on the third one. In addition, firemen assisted the Marin County and Fairfax fire departments in the Oak Manor grass and brush fire.

Five Months Savings Bond Sales Tallied

U.S. Savings Bonds sales in Marin County for the first five months of this year were $768,293, according to William P. Murray Jr., county savings bond chairman.

California sales for the same period were $30,407,658 and Murray says increases in sales are predicted during the remainder of the year.

Commute Buses Given Franchise

Chartered commute bus service, operated in Marin by the East Shore Lines of San Francisco, has been granted a permanent route franchise by the state Public Utilities Commission.

William Billings, secretary-treasurer of the bus lines, said that the Marin-San Francisco routes they approved yesterday have already been in use on a temporary permit.

The line has operated a commute bus out of Terra Linda and Marinwood since 1967. The San Marin Improvement Association commute committee, headed by Wayne Bulette, organized a commute club and the service was started on Nov. 1 of last year. Bulette said that the bus has been filled to its 41 passenger capacity and that there is a waiting list of 20 persons for a second bus, which may be put into operation.

Marin Women

SECOND SECTION Thursday, June 26, 1969 13

GALLEY PROOFS of her newest book, "I Didn't Come Here to Argue" require Peg Bracken's concentration in the recently completed studio office which affords the writer a well arranged work center in her Bolinas home.

Just Why She 'Hates To Cook'

By BETTY FROST

"That's why I hate to cook," Peg Bracken sputtered. "The dog-goned timer stopped!"

The author, who attained national and international fame with "The I Hate to Cook Book" was in her own kitchen in her Bolinas home. In the oven was an experiment — coffee can bread. Even as you and I, she was trying out a recipe she had clipped from a magazine.

Actually, the bread, baked in a two pound coffee can, was delicious, and such an interesting shape, exactly like a chef's hat, that our I-J photographer immortalized the near-failure in his photograph.

"I HADN'T MADE BREAD in over 14 years, and now this!" Peg Bracken exclaimed. The amusing results of baking a loaf in a coffee can created a bread shaped exactly like the chef's hat on the dust cover of the Marin woman's famous "The I Hate To Cook Book." The cooking spree took place in her own kitchen in Bolinas.

THE SPACIOUS modern kitchen of the "I Hate to Cook" author is accented by one wall displaying her collection of hand-painted plates. It is a busy center of family living and contains the normal amount of clutter of any kitchen where a baking project is underway and a friendly pot of coffee is ready for sharing with guest or neighbor. The slender brunette, who went on to further confessions of a casual housekeeper in "The I Hate to Housekeep Book," does have a lived-in home, with a large cheerful living room oriented to the ocean view off Bolinas.

However, her own recently completed office, while it features decorative earth tones spiked with bright gold, and convenient appointments, is a no-nonsense sanctuary. In the work center bordered by open book shelves, she has three work levels. The highest is "so I can stand up and ponder"; she does her writing on the comfortable mid-level, and typing at the low desk, sitting in a comfortable leather arm chair. Light from the skylight is reinforced by controlled lighting from panels over the working area. In this studio-office in her home she is now occupied with the galley proofs of her newest book, "I Didn't Come Here To Argue," which will be released Oct. 21.

WHAT IS the new book about? "It concentrates on what I have been saying between the lines of my other books," Miss Bracken said. "It's about sin, sex, the little town where I live, men and women, women's role today. . . ."

The approach of Betty Frieden in "The Feminine Mystique" urging women to assert themselves, Peg Bracken considers too harsh. "More and more this is a woman's, not a man's world," the author, who is the wife of Parker Edwards, an illustrator, asserted. "Women have more freedom and less ultimate responsibility. Society still looks to the man to keep the ship afloat. It's the man who gets the blame if things go badly. Men, for instance, get an unfortunate deal in alimony.

"If a woman does not work today and marries a man who can provide adequately for the family, the woman has a more carefree and therefore more frustrating existence. In essence she can 'retire' at the age of 30."

TO PREVENT A boring and non-productive existence, she suggests that women "have to set their own standards and their own deadlines." Her books, with their light-hearted approach to domesticity, she hopes will free them from "a kind of compulsion, an ultra-perfectionism around the house and in preparing for parties. Sometimes a can of salted peanuts is adequate. You don't have to put out hors d'oeuvres that would surpass the chef at the Waldorf."

Taking away the guilt feelings of women who find themselves falling short of their goals in the "day-to-day coping" she thinks is important. She felt highly complimented when she learned that a New York mental institution gave women patients copies of her "Hate to Housekeep," and "Hate to Cook" books when they were released.

PEG BRACKEN grew up in St. Louis, Mo., and was graduated from Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio. She received her degree in literature, and began a career of free-lance humorous writing. She disclaims any preparation in home economics other than practical experience. "I always had a house to keep." She had many articles, stories and verse published in national magazines. For 14 years she had a syndicated feature published in 75 newspapers six days a week. The feature involved "a cheerless cherub named Petunia," she said. "I would get Petunia into trouble, then get her out of it, giving readers some little hint on household or personal conduct by this device."

Her real ambition was to be a verse writer in the humorous vein. "But then I discovered Phyllis McGinley, whom I admire greatly, had done it all."

THE "HATE TO" books were followed by "I Try to Behave Myself" an up-dated etiquette emphasizing both a kind and a light heart.

The speaker's role has been added to that of the writer for Miss Bracken, who has just returned from addressing the American Association of Booksellers in Washington, D. C. Four times a year she goes to Hollywood for five days of filming commercials.

Now it looks as though Peg isn't the only author in the household. Her daughter, Johanna, 13, who will enter San Domenico Upper School in the fall, finished her first novel this spring. Jo's 63 page effort, "Many Roads to Travel" was not for publication, but for her an "A" grade in her last semester at Marin Country Day School.

Wedding Travels And Surprise Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Rice of Corte Madera and their daughter Shelley have returned from a driving trip to Colorado and Kansas. Their daughter Sandra was married in Pueblo, Colo., to Ronald Gene Myers of Pueblo on June 14.

The Rices attended the nuptials at Monte Vista Christian Church and the reception there afterward. Mrs. Kenneth Whitney of San Rafael was matron of honor for Sandra, who attended Redwood High School and College of Marin. She is working as a dental assistant in Pueblo and her husband is attending Southern Colorado State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Myers of Pueblo.

After the wedding the Rices drove to Kansas to visit Mr. Rice's family. The two Rice sons, David and Stephen, remained in Corte Madera.

Guests who brought their culinary specialties were Messrs. and Mmes. George Borgman, Howard Behle, William Huckaby, Byron Leonard and Merlyn Johnson, the Rev. Thomas Burns, Mmes. A. A. Alcorn, Annabelle Pryal, Maria Kalms, E. W. Cole and Misses Jean McDonald and Amy Fuidge.

A FAREWELL champagne reception at the Tiburon Peninsula Club will honor Mrs. Howard Blethen. Janet Blethen has been club manager for the past five years. Club members and friends in the community will attend the reception from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. Anthony Wiechers entertained 100 guests at a poolside cocktail party on Sunday. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormack of San Jose, formerly of Marin County, who have been houseguests of the Wiecherses at their Marin Country Club Estates home in Novato.

CHRISTOPHER BAYLEY Donery was born June 11 at University of California Hospital in San Francisco. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Donery of San Anselmo, and his brothers are Peter and David Donery. He is the grandson of Mrs. Clark Cole of Kentfield.

VISITING THE Robert M. Gunns in Sausalito are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Berry of Brisbane, Australia. They are on their way home from a European tour.

VISITING HER mother, Mrs. Marie Jamison in Bridgeville, Pa., is Mrs. Conrad Bremner of Novato.

MRS. GEORGE Hall hosted a dinner Saturday evening for several friends, with whom she is planning a trip to Hawaii.

The party will leave July 16 by plane for a 12-day trip. Mmes. Esther McClelland, Ruth Sullivan, Rose Solari and Hall will include in their trip visits in many islands.

LT. AND MRS. John Michael Roake (Jo Anne Danielle Parente) are enroute to his first Marine Corps post, Quantico, Va.

Jo Anne is the daughter of Mrs. Lois Ritter Parente of San Anselmo and Joseph F. Parente of Sonoma. She is a graduate of Katharine Branson School in Ross. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roake of Hillsborough and attended Sierra High School in San Mateo. The couple are both graduates of Stanford University.

At a recent award ceremony, Lieutenant Roake received the scimitar as the outstanding Marine cadet in the Stanford ROTC program.

KATHLEEN CROCKER of San Rafael, a sophomore at the University of Pacific, will leave for Europe in September to attend the University of Grenoble in France for the year. A 1967 Marin Ball debutante, Kathleen is the daughter of Herbert A. Crocker and Mrs. Eugene Robinson II.

Glenn McChesney Is Engaged To Peter Slaughter

The engagement of their daughter Glenn to Peter Davies Slaughter has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. McChesney of Tiburon and the Sea Ranch.

Glenn has a brother, Doug, and a sister, Donna. Peter is the son of the Glen K. Slaughters of San Francisco and the Sea Ranch, and has a sister, Sally. Both families are former residents of Los Altos.

Glenn and Pete are graduates of Awalt High School in Los Altos and have just been graduated from the University of California at Santa Barbara.

CRAIG WILSON DREIER claimed Constance Carter as his bride in a ceremony at Stewart Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. His parents are Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Mervin Dreier of San Rafael and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carter also of San Rafael. (Solso Berge photo)

Moss-Watt Vows Said

Kenneth C. Moss of Concord claimed Roeanne Barbara Watt of San Anselmo as his bride at a Saturday ceremony at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Elaine Ilderton of Santa Venetia was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Connie Bonner of Atherton and Maria Klopfer of Kentfield.

First Lt. Philip Moss of Ft. Bragg, N.C., served as best man for Kenneth. Ushering the guests were Robert Perry of Oakland and Paul Sekins of Berkeley.

The reception followed at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax, and the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Carmel and Southern California. They will live in Oakland.

Roeanne is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and Laney College in Oakland. She is employed with Golden Arch Beauty Salon in San Anselmo. She is the sister of Mrs. Jay D. Folger and David N. Watt, both of Larchmont, N.Y. Their parents are Col. and Mrs. David A. Watt Jr. of Sleepy Hollow.

Kenneth, who is employed with the Gazette Press in Berkeley, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Moss of Concord. He is a graduate of Clayton Valley High School and Laney College.

This is a Monday skinny dress.

You know how it is about weight. Stays where it should until the week-end. Then it climbs. Lots of outdoors. Lots of appetite. Sandwiches instead of salads. Desserts instead of grapefruit. Cocktails before lunch. Cocktails before dinner. Wine with. Marvelous weekend. Not so marvelous Monday, when you're three pounds over and everything feels it. Well, we not only understand—we've done something about it. We've put together a special group of dresses that we call Monday skinny dresses. And what they do is suggest your figure without making a big point of it. And what this does is make you look pounds skinnier than you are. In other words, the Monday skinny dress tides you over til Wednesday, by which time the cottage cheese has done its job and all is back to normal. If you identify, come let us find the exactly right Monday skinny dress for you. On Monday, of course. The only day you can be sure.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Students Narcotic League Shows Support Nationwide

DEAR HELEN:

I am an eighth grader in north New Jersey. And I want to tell you more about SLANT (Students League Against Narcotic Temptation).

This organization recently had a former drug addict tell the parents here about this type of life, with its prostitution, stealing and misery.

She made such a big impression, that the parents asked SLANT to have her talk to students. She told us the true facts and they weren't sweet or nice. She made drugs look stupid.

This is the first step our township has ever taken in this direction. In fact, up till now, if reproduction was mentioned in a classroom the board of education is informed by upset mothers who don't want their babies to learn about reality.

I'm really bursting with pride that our town is finally waking up. This is the kind of education program kids need, because we sure hear a lot from the sellers about how great drugs are!

Up with SLANT! Down with the "high" society! — FAYE

DEAR HELEN:

After reading about SLANT in your column, we want to start a chapter in our town. I have a personal reason. I was on durgs all last year. I started for curiosity and kicks, and I kept on because they make you float away from your problems. But you can't stay "high" all the time, and when you crash, you get a glimpse of where you're going . . . and you see your straight friends turning away . . . and you know you've got to make a choice.

Several others are coming down. We figure we can keep a lot of kids from trying drugs with an organization like SLANT. Can we have more information about it? — JERRY, CALIFORNIA

DEAR JERRY:

For a packet of information on SLANT (Students League Against Narcotics Temptation), write to Len Ford, SLANT coordinator, Hudson County Court House, 596 Newark Avenue, Jersey City, N.J.

This organization has 10,000 members in North New Jersey schools alone, and is catching on all over the country. It assembles latest research and true facts about illegal drugs, distributes informational brochures, arranges for speakers who inform more than they frighten, and generally deflates the "high" society.

Good luck to your west coast league! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I was 14 I made a terrible mistake. I thought if I "proved my love" to the boy I liked I could hold him. Boy, was I wrong! He dropped me so fast I didn't know what happened. It took me a long time to get over it.

I'm 17 now and I've been dating a great boy for the past few weeks. He seemed to like me a lot until a few days ago. When I asked him what was wrong, he said he had heard about me. He wouldn't tell me what, but from the way he was acting, I'm pretty sure.

How can I get things straight between us and keep his friendship? — UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY:

Tell him ancient history should be kept in its place, and no one deserves two punishments for the same long-ago "crime." If your guy can't accept this, he isn't so "great" after all. — H.

Diane Marie Hoyes Becomes Mrs. Robert Roy Miller

The marriage of Diane Marie Hoyes and Robert Roy Miller, Sunday at Stewart Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, was performed by the bridegroom's brother-in-law, the Rev. Thomas Plummer of Anderson.

Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hoyes, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Miller. All are residents of San Rafael.

Julie Hoyes was maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids were Marianne Stephan of Corte Madera and Carolyn Lastreto of San Rafael.

Michael Miller of San Rafael was best man for his cousin. Another cousin of the bridegroom, James Miller, and Ronald Giomi, both of San Rafael, ushered.

A reception at Alexander Hall at the seminary followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin.

The bridegroom's schools are San Rafael High School, College of Marin, Polk Junior College in Florida and San Antonio College in Texas. He is serving in the Air Force and will be stationed at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, where the couple will live.

Robert is the brother of Mrs. James Eldridge of Corvallis, Ore., and Mrs. Plummer. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Miller and Mrs. Robert Cole, all of San Rafael.

HELEN HELP US!

Students Narcotic League Shows Support Nationwide

DEAR HELEN:

I am an eighth grader in north New Jersey. And I want to tell you more about SLANT (Students League Against Narcotic Temptation).

This organization recently had a former drug addict tell the parents here about this type of life, with its prostitution, stealing and misery.

She made such a big impression, that the parents asked SLANT to have her talk to students. She told us the true facts and they weren't sweet or nice. She made drugs look stupid.

This is the first step our township has ever taken in this direction. In fact, up till now, if reproduction was mentioned in a classroom the board of education is informed by upset mothers who don't want their babies to learn about reality.

I'm really bursting with pride that our town is finally waking up. This is the kind of education program kids need, because we sure hear a lot from the sellers about how great drugs are!

Up with SLANT! Down with the "high" society! — FAYE

DEAR HELEN:

After reading about SLANT in your column, we want to start a chapter in our town. I have a personal reason. I was on durgs all last year. I started for curiosity and kicks, and I kept on because they make you float away from your problems. But you can't stay "high" all the time, and when you crash, you get a glimpse of where you're going . . . and you see your straight friends turning away . . . and you know you've got to make a choice.

Several others are coming down. We figure we can keep a lot of kids from trying drugs with an organization like SLANT. Can we have more information about it? — JERRY, CALIFORNIA

DEAR JERRY:

For a packet of information on SLANT (Students League Against Narcotics Temptation), write to Len Ford, SLANT coordinator, Hudson County Court House, 596 Newark Avenue, Jersey City, N.J.

This organization has 10,000 members in North New Jersey schools alone, and is catching on all over the country. It assembles latest research and true facts about illegal drugs, distributes informational brochures, arranges for speakers who inform more than they frighten, and generally deflates the "high" society.

Good luck to your west coast league! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I was 14 I made a terrible mistake. I thought if I "proved my love" to the boy I liked I could hold him. Boy, was I wrong! He dropped me so fast I didn't know what happened. It took me a long time to get over it.

I'm 17 now and I've been dating a great boy for the past few weeks. He seemed to like me a lot until a few days ago. When I asked him what was wrong, he said he had heard about me. He wouldn't tell me what, but from the way he was acting, I'm pretty sure.

DEAR UNHAPPY:

Tell him ancient history should be kept in its place, and no one deserves two punishments for the same long-ago "crime." If your guy can't accept this, he isn't so "great" after all. — H.

Mrs. Arrigoni Is Installed President Of Alumnae Group

Vacationing at the beach, travel and meeting interesting people are what the new president of the Marin Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association, Mrs. Peter R. Arrigoni, enjoys most.

Patricia Arrigoni has been a member of the alumnae for 10 years. The sorority is celebrating its centennial this year.

Nationally the alumnae benefits work in rehabilitation, and will award $500,000 in scholarships to women interested in working and training in that field.

A college of Marin scholarship is awarded locally, and members will participate in the Grape Festival and the Panhellenic fashion-luncheon of the Northgate Group series this summer at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Mrs. Arrigoni is a member of the board of trustees of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. She is also active in the museum guilds and has served as director of guilds and president of the Fairfax guild.

An eleven-year-old resident of Marin, Patricia and her husband, a stockbroker and a member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, representing the second district, have two sons: Jimmy, 8, and Bobby, 5. She is on the Parents' Board of Marin Country Day School and is a Cub Scout Den Mother for Den 2, Pack 7 in Fairfax, where the family lives.

Tennis, modeling, art, writing and adult education classes are favorite pastimes for the former University of Arizona student.

Other new officers for the alumnae association are Mmes. John C. Abney, secretary and Austin Forward, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Mmes. Robert A. Mills community services; John W. Nixon, Panhellenic; John Marr, publicity; Benjamin R. Ostlind, hospitality; Paul Ogden, magazines; and Thomas L. Shaw, nominating.

ON THE AGENDA

Project 'Give A Damn' Cause For July 4 Sausalito Fair

The Mill Valley branch of the American Association of University Women will participate in the O'GAD Fair to be held on July 4 at the Martin Luther King School in Sausalito.

Participation will be in the form of a used book booth to be maintained between noon and 6 p.m. at the school. Coordinator for the project is Mrs. Quinn Millar of Sausalito. It was brought to the attention of the branch by Mrs. J. Bruce McCubbery, community problems area representative for the branch.

Members wishing to donate books may take them to the home of Mrs. Robert Alexander at 75 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, or that of Mrs. William Wallace at 121 Sunnyside Avenue, Mill Valley.

O'GAD is an acronym for "Operation Give a Damn," derived from the frustrated expression of those concerned who say that someone has got to "give a damn" about black children on the verge of giving up on life.

One approach to the problem is to find those who can share a meaningful relation with these children. A young black man or woman who is "making it" in society shares meals, home work, ball games and other activities with the children, and small amounts of money are needed to allow these companions to do things together and to give minimal compensation to the helping persons.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the newly organized O'GAD.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coletto in Tiburon will be the scene of the annual cocktail party hosted by the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. Mrs. Donald Stephens is chairman of the annual event for members and their husbandsor escorts set for 7 p.m. tomorrow.

MARIN ALUMNAE of Scripps College will be assisting at the Palace Antique Show and Sale being presented by the Northern California chapters of the Scripps College Alumnae Association noon to 10 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

The event will benefit a scholarship fund for Bay Area students. The weekend display and sale will begin with a preview brunch at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Gold Ballroom.

Mrs. Gerald Gunn of Mill Valley is Marin chairman and reservations chairman; Mrs. Peter H. Empey of Mill Valley, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Gilbert Powers of Ross, hostess chairman.

"THE DEVELOPMENT of Marin Transportation" will be the topic discussed by Joseph A. Casoly at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program on Friday.

The cocktail hour begins at 6 p.m.; dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program at 9 p.m. John Cutler is chairman.

Berkeley To Be Home For Tom Pattersons

Marriage vows were exchanged by Christie Alaire Bellingall and Thomas C. Patterson at noon on June 14.

MRS. T. C. PATTERSON

The wedding ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric L. Bellingall in Belvedere, and was followed by a reception in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Leigh Elizabeth Bellingall of Belvedere was her sister's maid of honor. Nancy Donnell of Sonoma and Marie Eckstein of Ontario were the bridesmaids.

Robert Patterson of Belvedere was best man for his brother. The bridegroom's two other brothers, George A. Patterson of Palo Alto and Mac Kenzie C. Patterson Jr. of Berkeley, were the ushers. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Kenzie C. Patterson of Belvedere.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. John J. Burleigh of San Francisco. She is a graduate of San Domenico Upper School and completed her junior year at Scripps College in Claremont.

Tom was graduated from Redwood High School and is attending the University of California, where he will continue his studies one more year.

After a wedding trip to Mendocino, the couple will live in Berkeley.

Weekend Food Shoppers Given Hints On Most Abundant Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good supplies of meat and poultry and some choices in fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets this last weekend in June.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the most abundant meats. Good supplies of beef are roasts, steaks, and ground. Pork items in best supply include bacon, roasts, and smoked picnics. Some areas may feature chops, fresh and smoked hams, and spareribs.

BEST BUYS IN fish include fish sticks and portions, Maine sardines, and fish fillets, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in best supply are cabbage, corn, lettuce of all kinds, onions and potatoes. Cantaloups and watermelons should be abundant in all areas.

USDA's official plentiful foods list for June features milk and dairy products, canned and frozen sweet corn, canned tomatoes and tomato products, turkeys, and rice.

IN THE WEST:

Most choice beef cuts are generally down in all markets. Eggs and butter remain unchanged.

Ham is higher in California markets, but bacon is lower in all markets.

Calf and veal are largely unchanged, except for San Francisco, where veal is higher. Spring lamb is higher in California.

In San Francisco, broiler-fryer chickens weighing 2½ pounds and over are higher.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: apples, apricots, bananas, cherries, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, cabbage, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, potatoes.

O'GAD is an acronym for "Operation Give a Damn," derived from the frustrated expression of those concerned who say that someone has got to "give a damn" about black children on the verge of giving up on life.

One approach to the problem is to find those who can share a meaningful relation with these children. A young black man or woman who is "making it" in society shares meals, home work, ball games and other activities with the children, and small amounts of money are needed to allow these companions to do things together and to give minimal compensation to the helping persons.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the newly organized O'GAD.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coletto in Tiburon will be the scene of the annual cocktail party hosted by the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. Mrs. Donald Stephens is chairman of the annual event for members and their husbandsor escorts set for 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The event will benefit a scholarship fund for Bay Area students. The weekend display and sale will begin with a preview brunch at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Gold Ballroom.

Mrs. Gerald Gunn of Mill Valley is Marin chairman and reservations chairman; Mrs. Peter H. Empey of Mill Valley, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Gilbert Powers of Ross, hostess chairman.

"THE DEVELOPMENT of Marin Transportation" will be the topic discussed by Joseph A. Casoly at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program on Friday.

The cocktail hour begins at 6 p.m.; dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program at 9 p.m. John Cutler is chairman.

Berkeley To Be Home For Tom Pattersons

Marriage vows were exchanged by Christie Alaire Bellingall and Thomas C. Patterson at noon on June 14.

MRS. T. C. PATTERSON

The wedding ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric L. Bellingall in Belvedere, and was followed by a reception in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Leigh Elizabeth Bellingall of Belvedere was her sister's maid of honor. Nancy Donnell of Sonoma and Marie Eckstein of Ontario were the bridesmaids.

Robert Patterson of Belvedere was best man for his brother. The bridegroom's two other brothers, George A. Patterson of Palo Alto and Mac Kenzie C. Patterson Jr. of Berkeley, were the ushers. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Kenzie C. Patterson of Belvedere.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. John J. Burleigh of San Francisco. She is a graduate of San Domenico Upper School and completed her junior year at Scripps College in Claremont.

Tom was graduated from Redwood High School and is attending the University of California, where he will continue his studies one more year.

After a wedding trip to Mendocino, the couple will live in Berkeley.

Weekend Food Shoppers Given Hints On Most Abundant Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good supplies of meat and poultry and some choices in fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets this last weekend in June.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the most abundant meats. Good supplies of beef are roasts, steaks, and ground. Pork items in best supply include bacon, roasts, and smoked picnics. Some areas may feature chops, fresh and smoked hams, and spareribs.

BEST BUYS IN fish include fish sticks and portions, Maine sardines, and fish fillets, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in best supply are cabbage, corn, lettuce of all kinds, onions and potatoes. Cantaloups and watermelons should be abundant in all areas.

USDA's official plentiful foods list for June features milk and dairy products, canned and frozen sweet corn, canned tomatoes and tomato products, turkeys, and rice.

IN THE WEST:

Most choice beef cuts are generally down in all markets. Eggs and butter remain unchanged.

Ham is higher in California markets, but bacon is lower in all markets.

Calf and veal are largely unchanged, except for San Francisco, where veal is higher. Spring lamb is higher in California.

In San Francisco, broiler-fryer chickens weighing 2½ pounds and over are higher.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: apples, apricots, bananas, cherries, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, cabbage, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, potatoes.

Puppets Turn On Stanford Festival

By LEIF ERICKSON

Baird's troopers, transplanted for the first time to the West Coast from their Greenwich Village home base, opened the sixth Stanford Summer Festival Tuesday night in Stanford's Memorial Auditorium.

Their show is called "People is the Thing That the World is Fullest Of." It is a revue of fast-paced sketches embracing all techniques of puppetry.

Some are as pungent as the one-liners on television's Laugh-in. They identify the writing and directing of Burt Shevelove, creator of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The changes in popular music and social dancing climaxes in a brilliant conception of rock by two writhing fluorescent skeleton figures.

A mask of Abraham Lincoln ponders whether the center can long endure to prove the proposition that all men are created art-lovers.

London's famous Pall Mall was named for a form of croquet called Paille Maille played in France more than 300 years ago.

Former Ambassador In Africa To Talk

Robert L. Payton, U.S. ambassador to the Federal Republic of Cameroon from 1967 to June 1969, will speak Monday at 7:30 p.m. on "How Africa Feels about the United States' Problems," in the Guzman Lecture Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Payton, who holds a Masters of Arts Degree from the University of Chicago, has also been editor of the Burlington, Iowa, Herald and the National Real Estate Journal.

The mighty Colorado River has taken 600 million years to chisel the Grand Canyon's 4,000-foot cliffs. Water wears through the stone at an average of less than an inch a century.

Hospital Dedicates New Units

Petaluma's Hillcrest Hospital yesterday dedicated its new intensive care and coronary care unit and honored Mrs. David B. Strauss for whom the unit is named.

Mrs. Strauss's son, Leon, donated $99,000 in stocks toward construction of the new unit that will provide four intensive care beds and three private rooms for coronary cases.

The donation was made in 1967 in honor of Mrs. Strauss' 99th birthday. On Sept. 28 she will be 101. Spry and alert, Mrs. Strauss yesterday unveiled the dedicatory plaque and was the first to tour the new wing. She was a Petaluma resident from 1869 to 1906 when she moved to San Francisco.

Guided tours were offered during the afternoon and evening. Patients are expected to be admitted early next month.

Why is rubber called rubber? The International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers, Inc. points out that in 1770 Dr. Joseph Priestley, an English scientist, used hardened latex (liquid rubber) to rub pencil marks off paper and joined the name "rubber."

Story Hours Set For Larkspur

Summer story hours are underway at the Larkspur Library for children aged 4 to 6 with the next story hour to be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with both a nature talk and walk.

The story hours, which began yesterday with an informal talk on police by officer Raymond DeLeon, start at the library, then usually are followed by a field trip. They are sponsored by the Larkspur Friends of the Library, chairman Joi Losee reported.

Themes of the upcoming story hours which are held each Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. are: the seashore, July 16; high school volunteers story hour, July 23; Lark Theater tour, July 30; musical instrument demonstration, Aug. 6; visit to Larkspur Lumber Co., Aug. 13; pet learning, Aug. 20; and finger play stories, Aug. 27.

Fairfax Sing Along

A sing-along, featuring the Red Garter Band of San Francisco, will be held July 18 in the Fairfax Pavilion. The event is sponsored by the Patchwork Players of Fairfax, a Marin little theater group which is now rehearsing its first production.

Puppets Turn On Stanford Festival

By LEIF ERICKSON

Baird's troopers, transplanted for the first time to the West Coast from their Greenwich Village home base, opened the sixth Stanford Summer Festival Tuesday night in Stanford's Memorial Auditorium.

Their show is called "People is the Thing That the World is Fullest Of." It is a revue of fast-paced sketches embracing all techniques of puppetry.

Some are as pungent as the one-liners on television's Laugh-in. They identify the writing and directing of Burt Shevelove, creator of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The changes in popular music and social dancing climaxes in a brilliant conception of rock by two writhing fluorescent skeleton figures.

A mask of Abraham Lincoln ponders whether the center can long endure to prove the proposition that all men are created art-lovers.

London's famous Pall Mall was named for a form of croquet called Paille Maille played in France more than 300 years ago.

Former Ambassador In Africa To Talk

Robert L. Payton, U.S. ambassador to the Federal Republic of Cameroon from 1967 to June 1969, will speak Monday at 7:30 p.m. on "How Africa Feels about the United States' Problems," in the Guzman Lecture Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Payton, who holds a Masters of Arts Degree from the University of Chicago, has also been editor of the Burlington, Iowa, Herald and the National Real Estate Journal.

The mighty Colorado River has taken 600 million years to chisel the Grand Canyon's 4,000-foot cliffs. Water wears through the stone at an average of less than an inch a century.

Hospital Dedicates New Units

Petaluma's Hillcrest Hospital yesterday dedicated its new intensive care and coronary care unit and honored Mrs. David B. Strauss for whom the unit is named.

Mrs. Strauss's son, Leon, donated $99,000 in stocks toward construction of the new unit that will provide four intensive care beds and three private rooms for coronary cases.

The donation was made in 1967 in honor of Mrs. Strauss' 99th birthday. On Sept. 28 she will be 101. Spry and alert, Mrs. Strauss yesterday unveiled the dedicatory plaque and was the first to tour the new wing. She was a Petaluma resident from 1869 to 1906 when she moved to San Francisco.

Guided tours were offered during the afternoon and evening. Patients are expected to be admitted early next month.

Why is rubber called rubber? The International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers, Inc. points out that in 1770 Dr. Joseph Priestley, an English scientist, used hardened latex (liquid rubber) to rub pencil marks off paper and joined the name "rubber."

Session Set With Clausen On Hamilton

A meeting of Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and Marin County officials has been quietly arranged to discuss the future of Hamilton Air Force Base.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Room 400 of the Civic Center.

The congressman's office in Santa Rosa said it did not want to publicize the meeting because the discussion was intended to be informal. Also, Clausen may be called back to Washington for a vote on the surcharge tax and the meeting may have to be canceled, said Raymond Paschke, Clausen's admininstrative assistant.

Members of the board of supervisors, county aviation commission and county admininistrative staff will meet with Clausen "for an informal briefing on the status of Hamilton Air Force Base," Paschke said.

"As far as we're concerned, it's a public meeting," said Mario Balestrieri, deputy director of public works and budget officer for the aviation commission.

The Pentagon announced recently it will move the headquarters of the Fourth Air Force and the Western Region of the North American Air Defense Command from Hamilton this fall. Benjamin R. Ostlind, a former member of the aviation commission, has repeatedly advocated civilian preparation for use of Hamilton Field in anticipation of reduced military use.

Balestrieri said David B. Vail, chairman of the aviation commission, has called a meeting of that group following the session with Clausen to discuss staffing at Gnoss Field, the Marin County air port at Novato.

Teacher Accused Of Misdemeanor

Only a misdemeanor charge or resisting arrest was filed Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court against George Lee Hilton, 44, a Novato school teacher who was arrested Monday.

Teen Retreat Will Probe Issues Of Law And Order

Issues of law and order will be discussed at a three-day teen-age retreat on the grounds of the Christ the Victor Lutheran Church in Fairfax beginning tomorrow at 6:30 p.m.

"Law and Order: in the Ghetto" will be discussed at 8 p.m. tomorrow by Thomatra N. Scott, a Negro who works with teen-agers in the Western Addition of San Francisco.

Louis S. Nelson, warden at San Quentin, will speak at 9 a.m. Saturday on "Law and Order: the Prison," and Rick Davis, fieldman for KNXT television, Los Angeles, will speak at 11 a.m. on "Law and Order: the News Media."

Four law officers will speak Saturday afternoon on "Law and Order: the Police Officer."

Wayne Bartels, associate warden of San Quentin, will lead a panel discussion at 7 p.m. Saturday consisting of two male and one female parolee on "Law and Order: Life of the Criminal Offender."

"Law and Order: The Role of Discipline in the Christian Life" will be discussed Sunday at 9 a.m. by Bob Shoup, football coach at California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks. This will be the regular Sunday service for the church.

Geodesic Dome For Housing Library Eyed

The possibility of a geodesic dome to house a new school library for the Bolinas-Stinson school district was discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of District Supt. C. B. Larison, two school trustees-elect and four other citizens, Larison said today.

The meeting at Bolinas School was to discuss various ways of providing space for a new library, Larison said. The geodesic dome was considered an inexpensive and attractive way to house a library that would fit into the present campus as well as a redesigned campus in the future, he said.

Trustees-elect Warren Fairbanks and Eric Lund attended the meeting, according to Larison.

Another meeting for all interested citizens will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Balinas School.

Lawyer Faces Suit On Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A wrongful death suit has been filed against Harold W. Tobin, a San Francisco lawyer convicted in Mexico of using excessive force in self defense.

The action in Superior Court asks $2 million in the death of Miguel Cibrian Rodriguez, who died of gunshot wounds in July 1968 after a dispute in a Chapala bar.

Plaintiffs are the victim's mother, widow and four children.

Hearing Slated

A preliminary hearing has been st in Marin Municipal Court for July 24 for Robert Alfred Porter, 19, of San Francisco, who is accused of possessing marijuana when arrested in a stolen car April 22, 1968 on Shoreline Highway.

Hearing Will Open Tuesday On Houseboats

A hearing, expected to last three days, has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Marin Superior Court in the continuing battle between Gate Five houseboat dwellers and the County of Marin.

Under discussion in the courtroom of Judge E. Warren McGuire will be two requests for preliminary injunctions by landscape architect Piro Caro, leader of the houseboat residents, who lives on the ferry boat San Rafael.

Caro has filed a new suit asking that the county be restrained from demolishing, destroying, relocating, removing, changing or abating any buildings, houses, houseboats, wharfs, pilings and debris at Waldo Point.

LAND QUESTION

He said in the suit that he considers his ferryboat an "antique with historical interest" and that the county plans to remove it to clear rights-of-way through the Arques property.

Tuesday the board of supervisors rejected the only bid recived for the work when it was more than double the $50,000 estimate Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest had attributed the high bid in large part to threats made against any contractors seeking the work.

Yesterday Forest said that Tuesday the supervisors will consider plans for having county employees do the job possibly using rented equipment. The county's contract to clear the underwater streets expires Aug. 25.

LIGHTING ISSUE

Also to be considered by Judge McGuire next week will be a request for a preliminary injunction to stop the county from shutting off electricity at Gate Five. The houseboat dwellers already have an order stopping the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. from disconnecting the electricity but this order did not preclude the county from stopping electrical service.

The county has maintained that wiring to the houseboats is faulty and dangerous and that residents have not obeyed orders to repair it.

The injunction issued against P. G. and E. by Judge McGuire earlier is only until the case is heard on its merits.

Dumping Of Poisons Into Sea Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have recommended the Army destroy 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical munitions on government installations rather than haul the material across the country for burial at sea.

A 12-man committee of the National Academy of Sciences said yesterday some of the agents could be dumped into the sea if there were no better means. However, it suggested chemical means, burning or demolition as better methods.

The recommendations should be carefully studied by the Army and "appropriate action" should be taken, said Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. An aide said this means Laird wants the Army to follow the committee's suggestions.

A storm of congressional opposition was raised when it was learned the Army had planned to transport nerve gas and other chemical warefare agents by rail from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado to the Naval ammunition depot in Earle, N.J., then ship it out for burial in the Atlantic Ocean.

The committee said the government should set an example "to private organizations and individuals of minimizing risks to humans and damage to the environment, even though this may complicate and make more costly its own operations."

The scientists recommended a study of methods of disposing of chemical warfare material on military installations, "involving no hazards to the general population and no pollution to the environment," should be undertaken by the Pentagon.

They added: "It should be assumed that all such agents and munitions will require eventual disposal and that dumping at sea should be avoided."

Federal Help For Mentally Sick Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An expert in the field says mental illness among U.S. children has jumped 150 per cent in the last 10 years, pointing up an urgent need for action by the President and Congress.

Michael Gorman, executive director of the National Committee Against Mental Illness, said the nation has at least four million emotionally disturbed children.

He told a meeting sponsored by the city's health department yesterday at least a fourth of the mentally ailing children need treatment. But, Gorman said, 15 states have no facilities, public or private, for treating mentally troubled juveniles and another 24 states have no public institutions to take in children from low- and middle-income groups.

He said two-thirds of all afflicted youngsters "are quite literally lost, bounced around from training schools to reformatories, to jails, and whipped through all kinds of understaffed agencies until they vanish."

Gorman previewed a report prepared by the Joint Commission on Mental Health of Children, representing 53 national organizations, for presentation soon to Congress.

A study showed that admission of teen-agers to state hospitals has risen one and a half times in the last decade, he said.

Second Son Is Sentenced For Refusing Draft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A second son of Mrs. Evelyn Whitehorn has been sentenced to prison for refusing induction into the military.

The mother was in tears May 28 when her son, Eric, 18, was ordered behind bars. But she was calm as Robert, 23, was sentenced yesterday to two years in prison.

Mrs. Whitehorn had argued in Eric's case that he was legally too young to be allowed to make some decisions without parental consent—such as marriage—so she had decided for him that he shouldn't go into service. Eric was sentenced to an indeterminate term, not to exceed six years.

Democrat Panel Members Resign

Healy, a psychologist with the Mill Valley School District, resigned because he is moving from the county to take a position in Napa, according to S. Robert Politzer, committee chairman.

Jack Felson of Forest Knolls, director of Forest Farms Camp, was named to replace Healy.

The committee also made plans for a cocktail party for Rep. John V. Tunney, D-30th District, on July 20. Time and place will be announced later.

Hearing Will Open Tuesday On Houseboats

A hearing, expected to last three days, has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Marin Superior Court in the continuing battle between Gate Five houseboat dwellers and the County of Marin.

Under discussion in the courtroom of Judge E. Warren McGuire will be two requests for preliminary injunctions by landscape architect Piro Caro, leader of the houseboat residents, who lives on the ferry boat San Rafael.

Caro has filed a new suit asking that the county be restrained from demolishing, destroying, relocating, removing, changing or abating any buildings, houses, houseboats, wharfs, pilings and debris at Waldo Point.

Silverthorne Held Guilty Of 'No Crime'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Carlos Silverthorne, who headed the now-defunct San Francisco National Bank used his personal account as a "clearing account" but is guilty of no crime, his defense maintains.

Silverthorne, 69-year-old Tiburon resident is being retried in U. S. District Court on charges of illegally diverting $200,000 of the bank's funds for his own use.

George Martinez, his attorney yesterday said Silverthorne sometimes used "extremely bad judgment" and followed practices "not accepted by the banking community, but "had no intention of diverting bank funds to his own use."

Silverthorne, who headed the bank when it folded in 1965, is named in an 11-count embezzlement indictment. He was found guilty of similar charges on Feb. 18, 1966, but a federal appellate court overturned the verdict, saying publicity prejudiced the outcome.

Construction company operator Douglas Christensen told the court yesterday he paid the bank a $65,000 fee for a $500,000 loan. He said he arranged the loan through William S. Bennett, who he "assumed" was the bank's loan procurer.

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A request by Black Panther Warren Wells for a writ of habeas corpus was denied yesterday by a 4-3 vote of the California Supreme Court.

However, the three dissenting judges said the court should issue a writ of mandate ordering the superior court in Oakland to "give trial preference" to Wells and show cause why his case was not tried yesterday.

Wells, 22, San Francisco, is being held on two counts of attempted murder and two assault with a deadly weapon on police officers in connection with a 1968 shootout between Oakland police and Black Panthers.

Meeting Canceled

The Marin City Council has canceled its meeting scheduled tonight because chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. is out of the state today. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday, at Manzanita Center, when the council will discuss details of its application for a federal planning grant for development of Marin City.

Senate To Nixon: Let Congress Share Military Commitments

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A message to the President of the United States: The Senate wants Congress to share with you the decision to make military and monetary commitments to foreign powers

Please.

Frustrated by the Vietnam War and seeking to assert its constitutional role in foreign affairs, the Senate yesterday adopted a "sense of the Senate" resolution asking affirmative action by Congress before commitments or promises of commitments are made.

The resolution was passed by a bipartisan vote of 70-16.

But the resolution—strongly opposed by President Richard M. Nixon—is in no way legally binding on the Chief Executive. He can, if he wishes, ignore Senate sentiment and go ahead with commitments on his own.

The resolution defines a national commitment as "the use of the armed forces on foreign territory, or a promise to assist a foreign country, government, or people by the use of the armed forces or financial resourses of the United States, either immediately or upon the happening of certain events."

A last-minute effort engineered by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen to make the resolution more palatable to Nixon failed.

The Senate defeated 40-36 a substitute resolution that would have limited it to only "hot war" situations with exemptions when there was a threat to the national security; when armed forces were needed to repel an attack; or to protect American lives and property.

There was no question the Vietnam War was an underlying motive for the resolution. Other agreements—notably the negotiations for U.S. bases in Spain—also were cited in arguments for passage of the resolution.

$1 Million Is Asked In Slaying

BOSTON (UPI)—The estate of a Boston College student killed last August filed suit yesterday for $1 million against the parents of two youths found guilty in the killing.

The body of Robert D. Phelps, 20, of Wethersfield, Conn., was found beside a highway in Middleboro, Mass. He had been stabbed 23 times.

The suit in superior court charges that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Simoni of Birmingham, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. George Whitthoeft of Beverly Hills, Mich., failed to "properly supervise and discipline" their sons.

The Simoni's 17-year-old son, Craig, originally charged with murder in the Phelps killing, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison. The Whitthoefts' son, Ross, also 17, was sentenced to 5 to 10 years as an accessory.

Silverthorne Held Guilty Of 'No Crime'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Carlos Silverthorne, who headed the now-defunct San Francisco National Bank used his personal account as a "clearing account" but is guilty of no crime, his defense maintains.

Silverthorne, 69-year-old Tiburon resident is being retried in U. S. District Court on charges of illegally diverting $200,000 of the bank's funds for his own use.

George Martinez, his attorney yesterday said Silverthorne sometimes used "extremely bad judgment" and followed practices "not accepted by the banking community, but "had no intention of diverting bank funds to his own use."

Silverthorne, who headed the bank when it folded in 1965, is named in an 11-count embezzlement indictment. He was found guilty of similar charges on Feb. 18, 1966, but a federal appellate court overturned the verdict, saying publicity prejudiced the outcome.

Construction company operator Douglas Christensen told the court yesterday he paid the bank a $65,000 fee for a $500,000 loan. He said he arranged the loan through William S. Bennett, who he "assumed" was the bank's loan procurer.

In Tonga, each youth receives 8.25 acres of land when he turns 16.

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A request by Black Panther Warren Wells for a writ of habeas corpus was denied yesterday by a 4-3 vote of the California Supreme Court.

However, the three dissenting judges said the court should issue a writ of mandate ordering the superior court in Oakland to "give trial preference" to Wells and show cause why his case was not tried yesterday.

Wells, 22, San Francisco, is being held on two counts of attempted murder and two assault with a deadly weapon on police officers in connection with a 1968 shootout between Oakland police and Black Panthers.

Meeting Canceled

The Marin City Council has canceled its meeting scheduled tonight because chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. is out of the state today. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday, at Manzanita Center, when the council will discuss details of its application for a federal planning grant for development of Marin City.

Senate To Nixon: Let Congress Share Military Commitments

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A message to the President of the United States: The Senate wants Congress to share with you the decision to make military and monetary commitments to foreign powers

Please.

Frustrated by the Vietnam War and seeking to assert its constitutional role in foreign affairs, the Senate yesterday adopted a "sense of the Senate" resolution asking affirmative action by Congress before commitments or promises of commitments are made.

The resolution was passed by a bipartisan vote of 70-16.

But the resolution—strongly opposed by President Richard M. Nixon—is in no way legally binding on the Chief Executive. He can, if he wishes, ignore Senate sentiment and go ahead with commitments on his own.

The resolution defines a national commitment as "the use of the armed forces on foreign territory, or a promise to assist a foreign country, government, or people by the use of the armed forces or financial resourses of the United States, either immediately or upon the happening of certain events."

A last-minute effort engineered by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen to make the resolution more palatable to Nixon failed.

The Senate defeated 40-36 a substitute resolution that would have limited it to only "hot war" situations with exemptions when there was a threat to the national security; when armed forces were needed to repel an attack; or to protect American lives and property.

There was no question the Vietnam War was an underlying motive for the resolution. Other agreements—notably the negotiations for U.S. bases in Spain—also were cited in arguments for passage of the resolution.

$1 Million Is Asked In Slaying

BOSTON (UPI)—The estate of a Boston College student killed last August filed suit yesterday for $1 million against the parents of two youths found guilty in the killing.

The body of Robert D. Phelps, 20, of Wethersfield, Conn., was found beside a highway in Middleboro, Mass. He had been stabbed 23 times.

The suit in superior court charges that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Simoni of Birmingham, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. George Whitthoeft of Beverly Hills, Mich., failed to "properly supervise and discipline" their sons.

The Simoni's 17-year-old son, Craig, originally charged with murder in the Phelps killing, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison. The Whitthoefts' son, Ross, also 17, was sentenced to 5 to 10 years as an accessory.

Soon-To-Be Centenarian Finds Long Lives Common Among Kin

By PATRICK SULLIVAN

Arthur Palmer of Terra Linda will be 100 years old July 3. Except for "working hard" and "being temperate," he really did not have much to do with reaching the milestone. Long lives sort of run in his family.

The first thing the alert resident of the Northgate Convalescent Center shows a visitor is a neatly folded year-old clipping from a new Haven, Conn., newspaper. Pictured is his brother, Frank, sitting behind a cluttered desk. He is 103.

"He was a railroad man. Station agent for the New Haven Railroad for 47 years. His son became president of the New Haven for 14 years," Palmer said.

Born in 1869 on a farm in East Sumner, Oxford County, Maine, Palmer took over the operation ("a little bit of everything") in his early 20s, after his father was incapacitated.

He remembers the oxen teams used for plowing and the kerosene lanterns and tallow candles that lit the farmhouse.

In 1901, at the age of 31, Palmer suffered a leg injury while working with the oxen. He had to give up farmwork, but won an appointment as postmaster of East Sumner.

He held the government post until 1919 when, because of the injury, he and his wife left Maine and its hard winters for Mountain View. It took six days to make the cross-country rail trip.

Gov. Ronald Reagan was 8 years old then, and President Richard M. Nixon 6.

Palmer became Mountain View's city librarian and was elected city-treasurer in 1920. He held both posts until his retirement June 1, 1944. He and his wife lived with their son, Chester, now 68, in Southern California for eight years, but moved to San Rafael in 1952.

Palmer has been at the convalescent home about five and one-half years, where his son is able to visit from his home, now in Sonoma. The younger Palmer formerly worked at the Sausalito laboratory of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

As a hobby over the years, Palmer has traced his geneology back to the Pilgrims and beyond.

In his browsings he discovered he had relatives who lived to be 83, 92, 94, 95 and three who came within weeks of 97.

Would he like to start all over again?

"No," he grinned. "Once is enough." Even if he did, he said, he would have no formula for a long life.

"I have never used tobacco or liquor in any form —or any of my folks that I know of," he said.

"Of course I don't know if that had anything to do with it."

100 YEARS YOUNG — Arthur Palmer, a Terra Linda resident who will be 100 on July 3, comes from a family which boasts of several members over 90, including a brother who is now 103. Palmer came to California from Maine in 1919 when it took him six days to make the rail trip.

Pistol Among Items Taken By Burglars

San Rafael police yesterday reported three thefts and three burglaries.

Police said items including a short wave radio, a transistor radio, a .45-caliber pistol and holster and $50 in cash were stolen yesterday from the home of Paul J. Girard of 77 Highland Avenue. A rear window was broken and the screen removed to enter the home, police reported.

Three gas engines, a water pump, other equipment valued at $450 and 30-foot lengths of canvas firehose valued at $50 were reported stolen between Sunday and yesterday from the storage barn of the Peacock Country Club, 333 Biscayne Drive. Police said the building was entered after boards were removed from the door on the west side of the barn.

Police reported the following items stolen between Saturday and today from the Installation Shop at 509 Francisco Boulevard: a large drill valued at $85, small drill valued at $20, 10 screwdrivers at $10, soldering gun, $20, and about 100 other small tools valued at $150.

Police also said $50 was stolen yesterday afternoon from the shelf behind the counter at the Walden Book Store, 505 Northgate Mall.

Stolen Monday were two bicycles, one taken from Steven Sanders' home at 182 Belvedere Street and the other from Eric Newlin of 134 Alder Avenue, San Anselmo, while at 5 Shaver street.

Permit Approved

The Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday approved a variance application for Gary V. Dye to permit him to build a carport within 18 inches of his property line the carport to have an eave overhang within six inches of his property line at his home at 28 Monte Vista Avenue.

TOPPING THE TALL CORN

June is bustin' out all over, and so is the tall corn planted two months ago by 3-year-old Chrisi Davalos and David Hax, 5. Big Chrisi, as he's known to David, needs a boost from his buddy to check the corn's progress. David, son of Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, who caught the action yesterday, is four feet, one inch tall. Chrisi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Davalos of Novato is a commanding three feet. Combined, they muster just enough height for the time being, to see what's going on.

Reprinting Book On Span: $37,500

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District proposed today that up to $37,500 be spent reprinting a 1938 book about the building of the bridge.

The book "has great public relations value," said district director Lowell Edington of Napa County, sitting as a member of the district legislation-public relations committee. He noted that in the past, before the original printing of 6,000 was exhausted, that the district always sent copies to all newly elected public officials in the six-county district.

The $37,500 price tag would be for 5,000 copies at $7.50 each, directors were told by Richard Clark, district administrative assistant. The original lithographic negatives are still available at the Diamond National Corp. in San Francisco, he said.

Several directors suggested that copies be sold at $20 a piece to help offset the printing costs, but the district's attorney, Jerome B. White, said, "The merchandising business is not part of our charter."

The 10 directors present all clearly favored the proposal, which was kept in committee temporarily so that the details of a contract for the printing could be worked out.

The committee, also without dissent, recommended that the district again appropriate during the 1969-70 fiscal year $25,000 to the Redwood Empire Association, $8,500 to the San Francisco Visitors and Convention Bureau, $25,000 for lobbying in Sacramento and $5,000 for direct mail and display advertising.

Edington, supporting the REA appropriation, said REA had been a "great help to us for over 30 years." The REA's total budget is about $140,000 a year.

Director Dean N. Meyer said he had "strong misgivings" about the lobbying appropriation and that he would oppose the annual hiring in December of a Sacramento lobbyist.

The recommendations will go to the full board when it meets at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in district offices at the toll plaza.

Does Mass Transit Hold Real Key?

A deputy state highway engineer declined today to accept fully the belief that mass transit is an alternate solution to more freeways.

Speaking in San Rafael, engineer Sam Helwer said there was a need for some form of mass transit in some of the state's larger cities, but added:

"Unfortunately, some people, especially some public officials, are being panicked into believing that mass transit is an alternate solution to the need for more freeways."

He said that unless additional sources of revenue are found, it was only a matter of time before voters are asked to vote for diversion of highway user funds to other forms of transportation.

Helwer's remarks were delivered at a seminar conducted by Citizens for Freeways and Highways at the Holiday Inn and co-sponsored by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

Another speaker, Arthur L. Elliott, a bridge engineer for the state Division of Highways, said, "Without spending an unreasonable amount of money we have adopted good appearance and reasonable beautification into our highway planning."

Landscaping and grading have improved and a lot has been done to make structure more interesting and attractive, he added.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer of the Division of Highways, reported on progress of state highway construction in Marin.

He reported that property was being purchased for the $13 million Highway 101 bypass at Novato, with construction expected to start in two years. Highway 17 plans are on the shelf, he said, while the state awaits the results of Marin County's balanced transportation study.

Marin City Told How Help Is Due

By ALAN JONES

The governmental ins and outs of a proposed development planning program in Marin City were presented to the Marin City Council yesterday by state, federal and county officials.

Council members hammered at the point that the program must be under council control rather than outsiders.

"The concern of the Marin City Council literally is to do its own thing," chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. said. The community has had disunity in the past because of programs run from outside, he said.

"The community elected us," Collie B. Gaines said. "We should do it."

The council has received a $76,500 planning grant from Marin County and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for a two-year program to seek out available funds for Marin City development of jobs, commercial facilities, recreation, home improvement and similar matters.

The program is to revise the Marin City master plan, survey the community's economic potential and present resources, and develop community improvement programs. A full-time coordinator will be hired to advise the council.

Planning will be done by the county planning department, which will also pay the council's coordinator.

Council members objected this would make planning subject to county supervisors' wishes instead of the council's, but Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the planners will serve as consultants to the council without interference from the supervisors.

"We report only to the council, not to the county," Zucker said. " . . . . all I can say is that my history with the board is not one of knuckling under."

Federal law requires the program funds be funneled through the county, Zucker said, but the supervisros intend to let the Marin City Council develop the program without interference.

As outlined by Zucker, candidates for coordinator would be screened by Zucker, the county redevelopment agency, and the Marin City Community Services District, with the council choosing a final candidate for ratification by the supervisors.

Zucker was blunt when councilmen objected to the red tape involved in the grant.

"We all recognize there's a lot of crap in the regulations," Zucker said. "You can't get rid of it overnight. . . . What do we do? We play the game to get the money."

Banks said the community is fighting for its existence and development is needed "So the people can have hope we are part of the mainstream of the county."

Representatives from housing and urban development, the Association of Bay Area Governments and the state intergovernmental agency outlined their departments' roles in the program.

Auto Stolen

A 1962 red and white Pontiac, license CHE 551, was stolen yesterday while it was parked at 11 Tiburon Street, San Rafael, the owner Armand Louis A. Elizondo of 528 Boxwood, Petaluma, told police.

Bearded Robbers Raid Sausalito Restaurant

Two bearded young men last night robbed the Tortilla Tree carry-out restaurant at 815 Bridgeway, taking approximately $90, Sausalito police said.

Clerk Deborah F. Perry told police the two men came in at 5:50 p.m. When she had her back turned filling their order, the taller of the pair told her, "turn around alowly and don't make a sound or I will blow your mind."

She turned and found he had one hand under a coat carried over his arm, as if he had a pistol pointed at her. He then reached over and opened the cash register.

Spotting a canvas money bag under the counter, he ordered her to put the bills in it. When she complied, he put the bag in a white paper sack and handed it to his accomplice. They crossed Bridgeway and headed south on foot.

Police said the pair got $63 in bills and about $30 in coin rolls.

One robber was described as approximately six feet tall, 20 to 25 years old, and wearing a bushy full beard.

The other was described as five feet eight to nine inches tall, 20 to 25 years old, with a full beard. Both were Caucasians.

Grass Fires Continue To Plague Marin City

Incindiarism continued for the third straight day in Marin City yesterday as 12 grass fires were set in the afternoon and evening, sheriff's deputies said.

Eight grass fires were set Tuesday and about 20 on Monday night.

Today the Marin County Fire Department began a controlled grass burn in the community to get rid of the dry grass hazard.

Fires were set yesterday afternoon at 1:16 p.m. near St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church and at 2:14 p.m. on a hill near Guy Circle.

Fires were then set at 7:37 p.m. in 200 block of Drake Avenue, at 9:14 p.m. at the ball park and at Hayden's Market, at 9:29 p.m. at the ball park and at 68 Cole Drive, 9:34 p.m. at the ball park, 9:37 p.m. in the 400 block of Drake Avenue, 10:25 p.m. at 69 Cole Drive, 10:32 on Drake Avenue, 10:59 p.m. at Donahue and Park Circle, 11:12 p.m., 301 Drake Avenue and at 11:41 p.m. in the 400 block of Drake Avenue.

Louis Bloom, Marin County fire chief, said the Marin City station will have three firemen on duty throughout the summer season instead of the usual two. There are two fire trucks at the station.

Messy Vandal Invades Home

A San Rafael dentist returned yesterday from a short vacation to find his home at 192 San Marino Drive thoroughly vandalized.

Theodore Nciholas Preovolos told police he and his family had been away since Friday.

Officers said tomato sauce had been poured into the piano, a tape player, a television and on rugs; soap powder and liquids were dumped on rugs; a flour sack stabbed repeatedly, walls stained with shoe polish; a sink plugged and the water left running, overflowed onto carpeting; and electric toothbrush left running, and other damage done.

Man Awakens To Burglar In Bedroom

Cybuiski, of 40 Sonoma Street, told police he awoke at 3:15 a.m. and saw a man prowling his bedroom. He said he first in his bedroom. He said he first noticed the bedroom had been ransacked and heard a second person in another room.

Joyce A. Thompson, owner of Marin Metal Salvage, reported yesterday that $330 worth of autmotive equipment had been stolen from the firm at 718 Francisco Boulevard Monday an Tuesday nights.

Thompson reported burglars had pried a tin door and had taken transmissions, linkages, valve covers, a set of tools and other equipment.

John Ernest Slovak of 23 Brandcliff Court reported $20 in change from piggy banks and two six-packs of beer were taken from his home during the day yesterday.

Bolinas Board Hires Secretary

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board emerged from a closed hiring session last night and picked Jane Phillips as secretary to replace Katherine Martin, who is on a six-month leave for illness. Mrs. Phillips, who has been acting secretary for three months, will receive $445 a month.

The board also held a working budget session on the 1969-70 budget. Mrs. Phillips reported, but a budget total will not be available until the next board meeting July 9.

The 1968-69 budget was $94,565 with a district tax rate of $1.755 per $100.

The July 9 meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 270 Elm Road.

Fire Commission Cuts Tax Rate For Novatans

A $485,550 budget for fiscal 1969-70 was adopted last night by the Novato Fire Protection District board, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

This budget is $8,175 less than the $493,925 preliminary budget.

Changes in the budget include an increase of $10,449 in salaries and a decrease of $19,000 in capital outlay, eliminating a tanker and expansion of the fire alarm system.

The tax rate will decrease from 53 to 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, Kidder said.

The Novato Fire District board also:

POSITIONS —The board approved the creation of two more captain positions for a total of three, and two more lieutenant positions for a total of seven; promoted Lt. James Berthinier to captain in charge of trainging; set July 25 for examinations for lieutenant positions and Aug. 25 for examinations for the captain positions. These will be filled from district personnel, Kidder said.

ASSISTANT CHIEF — Capt. Richard Beyer who was severely burned in a fire in Marinwood last July 19 and who has since been promoted to assistant chief, will return to work Tuesday, Kidder reported.

COUNTY CONTRACTS — Approved contracts with Marin County for radio maintainence and the purchase of gasoline next fiscal year.

Pool Victims Still Critical

Two tiny residnets of Rancho Olompali who fell into a swimming pool there Monday were reported still in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Under care in the hospital's intensive care unit were Nika Carter, 2, and Audrey Keller, 3.

Inspector Bowen Bridges of the Marin sheriff's department said today that investigation of the accident is continuing.

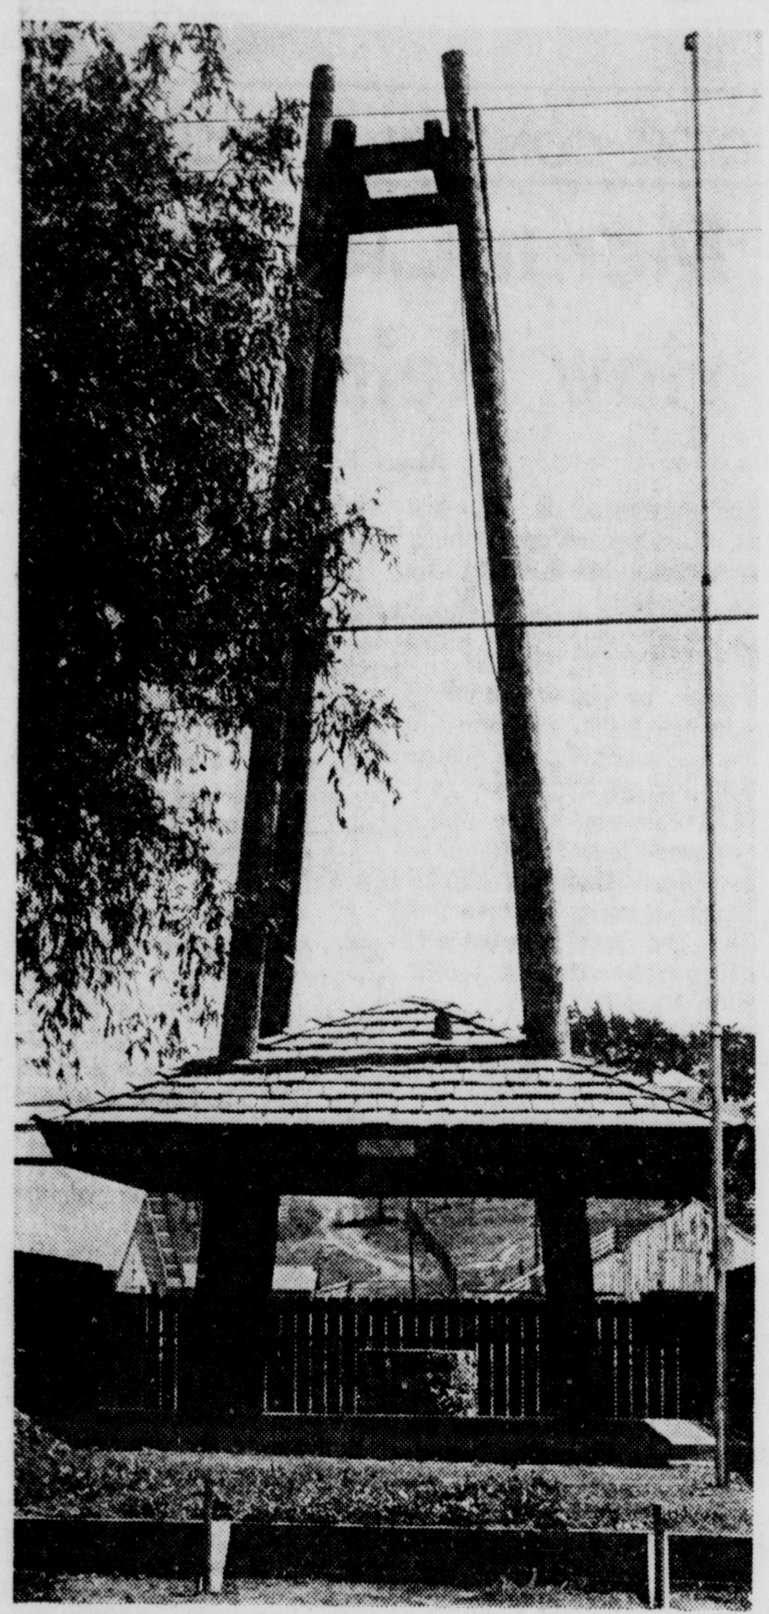
BLOOMFIELD'S BELL

Ding-Dong Feud Over



WAITING FOR BELL — The bell tower in Bloomfield, near the Marin-Sonoma line, which has been standing empty for more than a year, will be housing the cast iron bell, center of a community feud, but nobody is sure just when.

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A tiny hamlet of 80 or so souls, Bloomfield nestles a few hundred yards north of the Sonoma-Marin line amongst steep, smooth hills interrupted by clutches of trees that seem to huddle together against the wind.

Bloomfield is the kind of town where people wave to each other as their cars pass, and the people like it that way.

It has a tavern, a firehouse, a Masonic hall and an abandoned schoolhouse and a cemetery on the hill.

Its streets — lined by only a few houses — are neatly laid out, attesting to greater pretensions for the future held by earlier residents than those held by today's residents.

Bloomfield also has a tower without a bell. It's that tower-and that bell that's not there that has sparked a new era of harmony among the community's once bitterly divided residents.

At least most of the people in and around Bloomfield are hoping that the battle over the bell —which has given the community much more notoriety than it ever desired — is over.

The battle started five years ago when the Bloomfield School was absorbed by the Tomales Bay School Distirct. The district claimed ownership of the bell, which was brought around Cape Horn late in the last century and was used in a church for many years before it called Bloomfield youngsters to school.

But the bell had disappeared. Although missing, its ownership was disputed by the Bloomfield Community Club, which insisted it belonged to the whole community, and by the volunteer fire department, which wanted it for the firehouse.

During the dispute, which skipped in and out of the courts and inflamed bitter feelings, the bell remained hidden — one story has it that the 24-inch, 190-pound cast iron relic lay hidden in a farmer's well while the battle raged on.

The community club said it had possession of the bell but only one man knew where it was. And he wasn't telling.

Last April, faced with court action, the community club delivered the bell and the same week, the school board gave it to the fire department which agreed it would be hung in the community-built bell tower which has stood empty for exactly a year now.

The agreement apparently has left most people happy, a sampling of sentiment shows.

Mrs. Ellen Blankenship, a friendly woman whose bouffant hair-do is dyed jet black, runs Stormy's Tavern. She is called Stormy, she says, because of her temper and because she was a tomboy in her youth.

"The whole thing was just a misunderstanding," she says of the origin of the battle which few villagers care to talk about but apparently stemmed from a very personal feud among a very few persons on either side of the fight.

Mrs. Blankenship, a member of both the community club and the volunteer firemen as most other Bloomfield citizens are, thinks it unfortunate that the tower, across from her tavern, has stood idle for so long. "It should have been up all the time so everyone could enjoy it. That's what the tower was built for."

The tower, which she, her teen-aged son and most of the other residents built with labor and material, is situated in a vest pocket park which also has a wishing well and eventually will have picnic tables. "It was all donated," she said as she sat on the curbing in front of it. "It took a lot of money but also a lot of good will, more than anything."

She also thinks the less said about the fight, the better. "It's best to let sleeping dogs lie."

As she talked, Malcolm Pierce, the ruddy-faced, gray-haired husband of the head of the community club, stopped by the tower. Pierce is the kind of man who talks at you like he's talking from a pulpit and his gospel is community togetherness. He puts his face close to his listener's when he talks.

"You can do a lot of things if everyone works together to get our little old village fixed up" he said, his arms raised in a Nixon-like gesture. "It's the grass roots . . . we the people."

Pointing to the bell tower, then to another community park being built down the street, he continued: "All of us feel this way about it." He tells of donations from area merchants for the parks and of the many hours of work donated by the townspeople, waving about invoices without prices on them to back himself up.

"Not a one of them is interested just in self," he lectures. "They're all interested in community. Nobody's unhappy.

Down the street at their home, Mrs. Pierce, a pleasant but tired looking woman who looks like a Midwestern farm woman, was less evangelical about the community's spirit than her husband, but also convinced the community is now pulling together.

Asked if there were lingering hard feelings, she began thoughfully, "I don't know whether I should say it or not . . ."

"I don't think we should talk about that," Malcolm Pierce interrupted. "After all, everyone is feeling good, now."

"The last few weeks we've been seeing a different attitude on the part of everybody," Mrs. Pierce continued after the interruption. "People are looking at it more sensibly. It was more or less a private feud anyway . . ."

Her husband chimed in again, cutting off the sentence, "The bell is going to be hung and that is the main thing."

At the other end of the city's main street, Richard Irvin, a swarthy man who thinks long before talking, then talks so slow you think he is taciturn, also talks of new harmony among the townspeople.

Emphasizing that he is a member of both the community club and the volunteer firemen but is speaking for neither, Irvin said, "Past grievances have been put aside. We're starting to work together instead of being a community divided."

Observing that Bloomfield townspeople took the controversy much more seriously than glib reporters writing in city newspapers, Irvin thought long again and said: "Feelings have been soothed. Things are working out to where there will be harmony in the community.

"All of us want that. We want the community to progress and it can't with two factions. People realize that."

Other residents, from both sides of the original division, agreed with Stormy, the Pierces and Irvin. "It's over," said one, "And let's leave it at that."

It will be over within a "reasonable time," which is the time given the fire department by the truce to put it up in the year-old belltower. It could be a week, a month or a year.

The bell currently is in storage in Santa Rosa and no one is quite sure when it will be hung, but when it is, as one of the participants in the battle put it. "It will toll for all of Bloomfield, not just part of it."

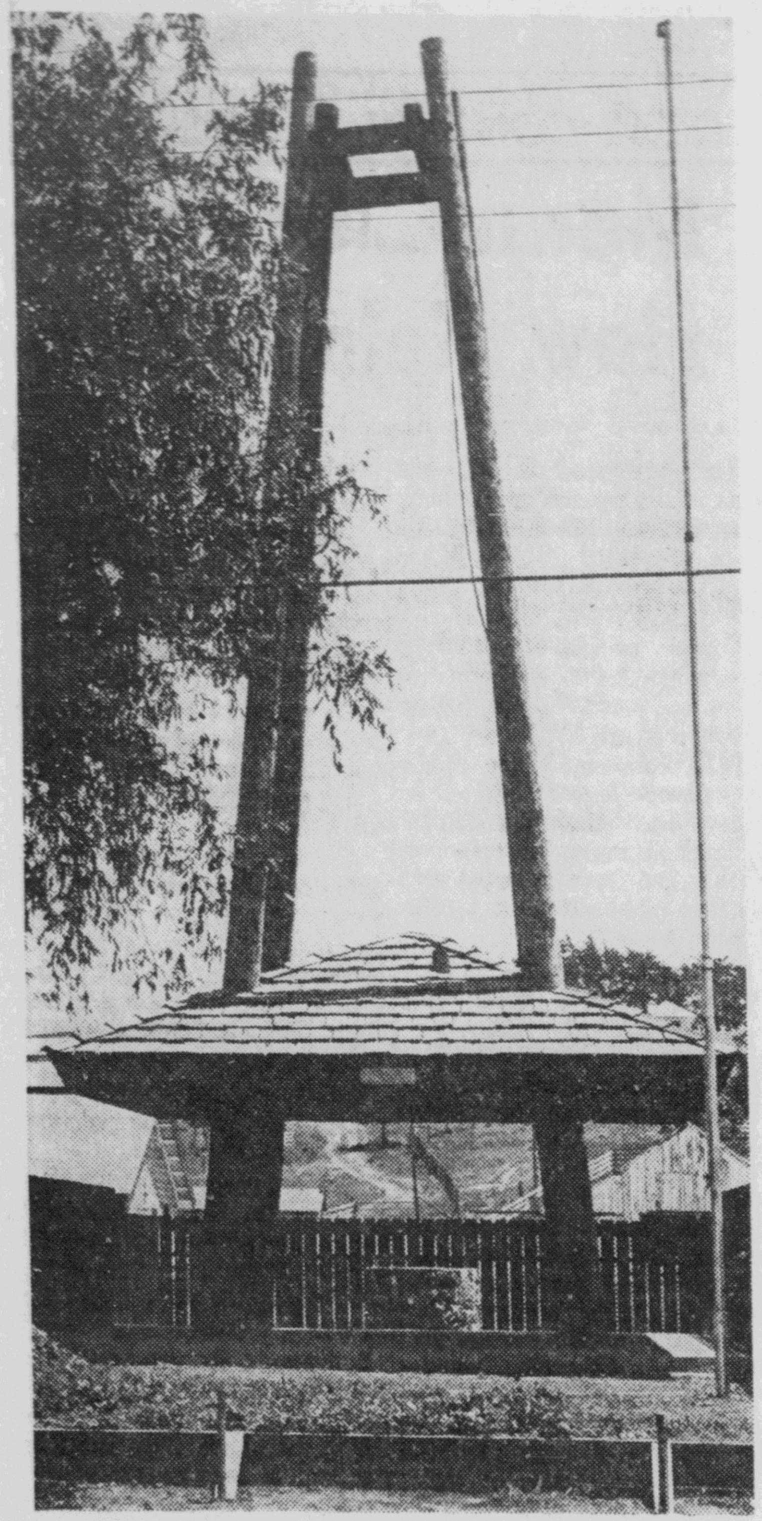
BLOOMFIELD'S BELL

Ding-Dong Feud Over

By LARRY D. HATFIELD



WAITING FOR BELL — The bell tower in Bloomfield, near the Marin-Sonoma line, which has been standing empty for more than a year, will be housing the cast iron bell, center of a community feud, but nobody is sure just when.

A tiny hamlet of 80 or so souls, Bloomfield nestles a few hundred yards north of the Sonoma-Marin line amongst steep, smooth hills interrupted by clutches of trees that seem to huddle together against the wind.

Bloomfield is the kind of town where people wave to each other as their cars pass, and the people like it that way.

It has a tavern, a firehouse, a Masonic hall and an abandoned schoolhouse and a cemetery on the hill.

Its streets — lined by only a few houses — are neatly laid out, attesting to greater pretensions for the future held by earlier residents than those held by today's residents.

Bloomfield also has a tower without a bell. It's that tower-and that bell that's not there that has sparked a new era of harmony among the community's once bitterly divided residents.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969 PROJECT NO. 69-017 CITY OF NOVATO MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Finance Director, City of Novato, California, until 4:00 o'clock p.m., on Monday, July 7, 1969, for the furnishing of all plant, labor, materials, tools, equipment and machinery necessary for the construction of SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969, PROJECT 69-017

The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the office of the Finance Director on the date and at the time mentioned above. Plans and Specifications (but not including City Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and proposal forms, may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer upon payment of a printing and service charge in the amount of Three Dollars ($3.00) which amount shall not be refunded. All checks shall be made payable to the City of Novato, and should be mailed to the Public Works Department, City of Novato.

The work to be done includes, but is not necessarily limited to: Slurry Seal resurfacing of existing streets and all appurtenances necessary for the successful completion of the project as shown on the plans and specifications.

Notice is hereby given that on May 13, 1969, the City Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done, which shall be the minimum rates paid on this project, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in a bid, and to make award as the interests of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Novato, California.

No bid will be received unless it is made on proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the price stated in the proposal. In addition to the above, and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this reqiurement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

The contractor shall complete the construction of the total project within fourteen (14) calendar days, the first day of which shall be July 14, 1969.

DATED: June 25, 1969.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ladder Accidents Can Cause Long Period Of Recuperation

VAN DELLEN

"My brother fell off a ladder and injured both legs. The real blow came when his doctor told him he would be off work for more than six months. Isn't this a long time to be disabled from this type of accident?" No, this is par for the course. A survey made in the United States of 3,157 ladder accidents revealed that the average duration of disability following these mishaps was 195 days.

Many thousands have fallen in this way without sustaining serious injuries. But, the situation is different when bones are broken or joints are crushed. A fractured heel, for example, takes months to mend and is tender for some time thereafter making walking difficult. The same can be said of an impacted hip or crushed vertebrae.

FALLING FROM a ladder usually is caused by thoughtlessness or foolishness. The victim often tells of using an unsafe structure with missing or loose rungs. The fact is, he was aware of these imperfections before he used it. Now and then the victim was weary from overwork or distracted by a noise. Or perhaps the ladeer was not strong enough to carry the worker or his load.

The janitor or homeowner exercises poor judgment if he climbs a high ladder without having someone hold the bottom securely. In addition, it is risky to reach too far to the left or right when atop the structure. Climb down and move the device.

WHEN WORKMEN are doing home repairs indoors or outside, caution the children against walking or playing beneath the ladder. This has nothing to do with superstition. Many youngsters have been injured when tools or other objects are inadvertently dropped.

There is no substitute for a good ladder. It is much safer than standing on a box or a kitchen chair. Make sure it is firmly placed and braced at the foot.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SUSCEPTIBLE TO CARIES

Mrs. B. writes: What do you mean by caries-prone children?

REPLY

Some youngsters develop more than the average number of cavities. While the exact cause is not known, dentists have found that many of these boys and girls have more than their share of acid-producing germs (lactobacilli) in the mouth. These organisms act on carbohydrates eaten, to form lactic acid, which in turn dissolves the cementing substance of the teeth. Other children have softer enamel that is more susceptible to the cavity producing acids. Fluoridation is most helpful in these boys and girls.

AGE NO BARRIER

E. P. writes: I consulted an ear specialist about a new hearing aid and he thinks he can restore my hearing through an operation. Could surgery for otosclerosis be done successfully in a 68-year-old man?

REPLY

If your ear specialist made tests that show you to be a suitable candidate for this operation, take his advice or ask for a consultation with another specialist. No one can guarantee good results but if there is a chance that your hearing will be improved, your age should be no barrier.

DERMOID CYSTS DEFINED

A. A. writes: Can men have dermoid cysts?

REPLY

Yes, except those that develop on female organs such as the ovary. These cysts are congenital in origin but may not mainfest themselves or grow until later in life. They occur on the skin, in the mouth, and on other organs. Some contain cheesy material; others have bits of hair or a tooth.

Council, Board To Meet Again On Courthouse

The San Rafael City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet for the second time in less than a month Monday to discuss disposition of the courthouse square.

The meeting, also called to consider South San Pedro Road widening, will begin at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The city has expressed renewed interest in buying or leasing the courthouse square from the county. Appraiser Edward P. Morphy has estimated the land to be worth $750,000.

The city and county are jointly financing the South San Pedro Road widening project. The next phase will be from Lochinvar Road at Knight Drive. Threatened cuts in the county contribution were dropped after strong resident opposition.

Official Clarifies Brown Act Issue

The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in quoting Deputy County Counsel Thomas Hendricks as saying the unannounced special meeting of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board, Monday would violate the Ralph M. Brown Act. Actually, Hendricks said the meeting could violate the act.

He said the violation could occur in the absence of 24-hour notification to the Independent-Journal which has previously filed a request for such notification.

As to whether or not actions taken would be invalidated if the meeting is found to be in violation, Hendricks said, "The law is not clear on that point." Yesterday's story implied that Hendricks declared a violation had taken place.

Two Drunken Drivers Fined

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has sentenced two persons for drunken driving and placed both on one year probation.

Violet Lillian Lenschmidt, 48, of 17 Circle Drive, San Rafael was also fined $240. She was arrested May 22 on Highway 101.

Alexander M. Young, 59, of San Francisco, who was arrested June 4 in Sausalito, was fined $302.

Realty Board Asks Shoreline Road Study

The Marin County Real Estate Board has asked the board of supervisors to reactivate studies of a new route for Shoreline Highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Sonoma County line.

The realty men, in a letter to the board, said that realignment of Shoreline Highway was delayed in 1963 until the West Marin master plan was adopted. Now that the plan has been approved, the letter said, the county should promptly ask the state division of highways that plans and studies be "immediately reactivated."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969 PROJECT NO. 69-017 CITY OF NOVATO MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Finance Director, City of Novato, California, until 4:00 o'clock p.m., on Monday, July 7, 1969, for the furnishing of all plant, labor, materials, tools, equipment and machinery necessary for the construction of SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969, PROJECT 69-017

The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the office of the Finance Director on the date and at the time mentioned above. Plans and Specifications (but not including City Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and proposal forms, may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer upon payment of a printing and service charge in the amount of Three Dollars ($3.00) which amount shall not be refunded. All checks shall be made payable to the City of Novato, and should be mailed to the Public Works Department, City of Novato.

The work to be done includes, but is not necessarily limited to: Slurry Seal resurfacing of existing streets and all appurtenances necessary for the successful completion of the project as shown on the plans and specifications.

Notice is hereby given that on May 13, 1969, the City Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done, which shall be the minimum rates paid on this project, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in a bid, and to make award as the interests of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Novato, California.

No bid will be received unless it is made on proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the price stated in the proposal. In addition to the above, and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

The contractor shall complete the construction of the total project within fourteen (14) calendar days, the first day of which shall be July 14, 1969.

DATED: June 25, 1969.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ladder Accidents Can Cause Long Period Of Recuperation

VAN DELLEN

"My brother fell off a ladder and injured both legs. The real blow came when his doctor told him he would be off work for more than six months. Isn't this a long time to be disabled from this type of accident?" No, this is par for the course. A survey made in the United States of 3,157 ladder accidents revealed that the average duration of disability following these mishaps was 195 days.

Many thousands have fallen in this way without sustaining serious injuries. But, the situation is different when bones are broken or joints are crushed. A fractured heel, for example, takes months to mend and is tender for some time thereafter making walking difficult. The same can be said of an impacted hip or crushed vertebrae.

FALLING FROM a ladder usually is caused by thoughtlessness or foolishness. The victim often tells of using an unsafe structure with missing or loose rungs. The fact is, he was aware of these imperfections before he used it. Now and then the victim was weary from overwork or distracted by a noise. Or perhaps the ladeer was not strong enough to carry the worker or his load.

The janitor or homeowner exercises poor judgment if he climbs a high ladder without having someone hold the bottom securely. In addition, it is risky to reach too far to the left or right when atop the structure. Climb down and move the device.

WHEN WORKMEN are doing home repairs indoors or outside, caution the children against walking or playing beneath the ladder. This has nothing to do with superstition. Many youngsters have been injured when tools or other objects are inadvertently dropped.

There is no substitute for a good ladder. It is much safer than standing on a box or a kitchen chair. Make sure it is firmly placed and braced at the foot.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SUSCEPTIBLE TO CARIES

Mrs. B. writes: What do you mean by caries-prone children?

REPLY

Some youngsters develop more than the average number of cavities. While the exact cause is not known, dentists have found that many of these boys and girls have more than their share of acid-producing germs (lactobacilli) in the mouth. These organisms act on carbohydrates eaten, to form lactic acid, which in turn dissolves the cementing substance of the teeth. Other children have softer enamel that is more susceptible to the cavity producing acids. Fluoridation is most helpful in these boys and girls.

AGE NO BARRIER

E. P. writes: I consulted an ear specialist about a new hearing aid and he thinks he can restore my hearing through an operation. Could surgery for otosclerosis be done successfully in a 68-year-old man?

REPLY

If your ear specialist made tests that show you to be a suitable candidate for this operation, take his advice or ask for a consultation with another specialist. No one can guarantee good results but if there is a chance that your hearing will be improved, your age should be no barrier.

DERMOID CYSTS DEFINED

A. A. writes: Can men have dermoid cysts?

REPLY

Yes, except those that develop on female organs such as the ovary. These cysts are congenital in origin but may not manifest themselves or grow until later in life. They occur on the skin, in the mouth, and on other organs. Some contain cheesy material; others have bits of hair or a tooth.

Today's Health Hint —Life is precious; make the most of it.

Council, Board To Meet Again On Courthouse

The San Rafael City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet for the second time in less than a month Monday to discuss disposition of the courthouse square.

The meeting, also called to consider South San Pedro Road widening, will begin at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The city has expressed renewed interest in buying or leasing the courthouse square from the county. Appraiser Edward P. Morphy has estimated the land to be worth $750,000.

The city and county are jointly financing the South San Pedro Road widening project. The next phase will be from Lochinvar Road at Knight Drive. Threatened cuts in the county contribution were dropped after strong resident opposition.

Official Clarifies Brown Act Issue

The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in quoting Deputy County Counsel Thomas Hendricks as saying the unannounced special meeting of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board, Monday would violate the Ralph M. Brown Act. Actually, Hendricks said the meeting could violate the act.

He said the violation could occur in the absence of 24-hour notification to the Independent-Journal which has previously filed a request for such notification.

As to whether or not actions taken would be invalidated if the meeting is found to be in violation, Hendricks said, "The law is not clear on that point." Yesterday's story implied that Hendricks declared a violation had taken place.

Two Drunken Drivers Fined

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has sentenced two persons for drunken driving and placed both on one year probation.

Violet Lillian Lenschmidt, 48, of 17 Circle Drive, San Rafael was also fined $240. She was arrested May 22 on Highway 101.

Alexander M. Young, 59, of San Francisco, who was arrested June 4 in Sausalito, was fined $302.

Realty Board Asks Shoreline Road Study

The Marin County Real Estate Board has asked the board of supervisors to reactivate studies of a new route for Shoreline Highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Sonoma County line.

The realty men, in a letter to the board, said that realignment of Shoreline Highway was delayed in 1963 until the West Marin master plan was adopted. Now that the plan has been approved, the letter said, the county should promptly ask the state division of highways that plans and studies be "immediately reactivated."

Reds Beaten By Laos Units

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Government forces drove off six Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese battalions after a two-day battle for an important government-held outpost in northern Laos, Army Chief of staff Oudone Sananikone said today.

General Oudone said government troops began sweep operations around the outpost at Muong Suoi, 55 miles southeast of Luang Prabang. He estimated the enemy suffered 350 dead. No government casualty figures were reported.

Oudone said heavy bombing helped scatter the enemy forces.,

Blood Bank To Be Closed For Holiday

The Marin Blood Center at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will be open July 3 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and closed July 4. Usual hours will be observed Mondays and Wednesdays.

By joint announcement of the American Association of Blood Banks and the American National Red Cross, Americans in good health can be blood donors until their 66th birthday. The California Health and Safety Code, however, stipulates that blood donors over 60 must have written authorization from their personal physician.

New Members Of Grand Jury Seated

Two of the members of the 1969 Marin County Grand Jury have resigned and been replaced by other persons whose names were drawn from the original proposed list, according to County Clerk George H. Gnoss.

Noel O'Connell, who resigned because of illness, was replaced by Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of Sausalito. Irving Links, who left the panel because he was going abroad, was replaced by Mrs. June Weden of San Anselmo.

Decides Against Using A Wildcat

DENVER (AP) — Merle Bernhardt rented a caged wildcat to advertise a brand of tires at his filling station. He considered turning the wildcat loose in the station office at night to discourage burglars.

But he changed his mind, explaining the cat might not know "the difference between burglars and Bernhardt."

Admitted Weed Smuggler Takes Werber Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An admitted marijuana smuggler has testified that Frank N. Werber, former Kingston Trio manager, was one of his customers who demanded "quality stuff that would be sold to quality people."

Werber, whose home is on DaSilva Island on Richardson Bay where he was arrested Oct. 15, is on trial on charges of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana from Mexico into Marin County.

Stanley Mulligan, 35, Sausalito, said that before he flew to Laredo, Tex., to pick up a quantity of smuggled marijuana Werber told him he "didn't want garbage to be sold in the Haight-Ashbury," a San Francisco district once filled with hippie-types.

Mulligan admitted yesterday he agreed to testify for the prosecution for "some consideration."

Originally he and Charles Barrett, 45, who are co-owners of the Lattitude 38 bar in Sausalito, were charged with conspiracy, but that charge has been dismissed and they now face only smuggling charges.

Barrett is scheduled to testify later.

Reds Beaten By Laos Units

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Government forces drove off six Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese battalions after a two-day battle for an important government-held outpost in northern Laos, Army Chief of staff Oudone Sananikone said today.

General Oudone said government troops began sweep operations around the outpost at Muong Suoi, 55 miles southeast of Luang Prabang. He estimated the enemy suffered 350 dead. No government casualty figures were reported.

Oudone said heavy bombing helped scatter the enemy forces.,

Blood Bank To Be Closed For Holiday

The Marin Blood Center at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will be open July 3 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and closed July 4. Usual hours will be observed Mondays and Wednesdays.

By joint announcement of the American Association of Blood Banks and the American National Red Cross, Americans in good health can be blood donors until their 66th birthday. The California Health and Safety Code, however, stipulates that blood donors over 60 must have written authorization from their personal physician.

New Members Of Grand Jury Seated

Two of the members of the 1969 Marin County Grand Jury have resigned and been replaced by other persons whose names were drawn from the original proposed list, according to County Clerk George H. Gnoss.

Noel O'Connell, who resigned because of illness, was replaced by Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of Sausalito. Irving Links, who left the panel because he was going abroad, was replaced by Mrs. June Weden of San Anselmo.

Decides Against Using A Wildcat

DENVER (AP) — Merle Bernhardt rented a caged wildcat to advertise a brand of tires at his filling station. He considered turning the wildcat loose in the station office at night to discourage burglars.

But he changed his mind, explaining the cat might not know "the difference between burglars and Bernhardt."

Admitted Weed Smuggler Takes Werber Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An admitted marijuana smuggler has testified that Frank N. Werber, former Kingston Trio manager, was one of his customers who demanded "quality stuff that would be sold to quality people."

Werber, whose home is on DaSilva Island on Richardson Bay where he was arrested Oct. 15, is on trial on charges of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana from Mexico into Marin County.

Stanley Mulligan, 35, Sausalito, said that before he flew to Laredo, Tex., to pick up a quantity of smuggled marijuana Werber told him he "didn't want garbage to be sold in the Haight-Ashbury," a San Francisco district once filled with hippie-types.

Mulligan admitted yesterday he agreed to testify for the prosecution for "some consideration."

Originally he and Charles Barrett, 45, who are co-owners of the Lattitude 38 bar in Sausalito, were charged with conspiracy, but that charge has been dismissed and they now face only smuggling charges.

Barrett is scheduled to testify later.

Pay Hike Ends Utility Strike

OAKLAND (AP) — East Bay Municipal Utilities District workers received wage and fringe benefit increases totaling 7.4 per cent and have returned to work.

They were on the job yesterday, ending a strike that began June 13.

The agreement raised the lowest salaries from $486 per month to $518 and the highest from $1,665 to $1,788 monthly.

Peace Restored Between King, Mays

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — All was peaceful today between Willie Mays and his manager, Clyde King of the San Francisco Giants.

Mays apologized to King for his stormy dugout actions prior to the game between the Giants and the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

King accepted the apology and levied no fine against the star outfielder. Although peace was restored, the Giants still lost to the Astros 3-2, last night.

Mays and King had engaged in a shouting match after Mays discovered his name was not on the starting line-up Tuesday.

"Willie called me and said he wanted to talk," King said last night. "He apologized and said he was sorry for what he did and what he said.

"I told him that if he was big enough to apologize, I was big enough to accept his apology. I'm very happy the incident has been resolved peaceably and amicably."

King said he and Mays had a "friendly talk after that.

"Naturally, we talked baseball. This incident could bring us all closer together for a drive to the top. The teams at the top now are sputtering around ready to be caught."

The Giants, who have been the also-rans of the National League for many years, moved to Cincinnati for tonight's game, with Bob Bolin, 3-4, facing the Reds' Tony Cloninger, 4-9.

After last night's effort, Mays now stands in 17th place on the all-time hit list with 2,877. His single and a double put him ahead of Mel Ott on the list.

Mays also played in his 2,504th game — good for 10th place, one ahead of Babe Ruth.

Mays earlier had said the incident was a spur of the moment thing and said it could happen on any ball club.

"As soon as we start back winning, everything will be all right," Mays said.

King had said Tuesday he planned to "let it sit for a day" before deciding about the possibility of a fine.

Mays, at 38, plays when he feels in condition and King said this policy will continue.

"Once again," King said, "I made it clear to Willie that I won't push him when he feels tired and unable to play. Hereafter I will check with him daily."

JOE AND HIS FANS

Joe Namath stopped to sign autographs for young fans at Monticello Raceway where he was helping raise money for a seminary yesterday. Joe is scheduled to meet with pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle this week to discuss his retirement from football. Rozelle told Joe to sell his interest in a New York bar which has drawn "undesirable characters" and Joe said no. (UPI Telephoto)

Thief Makes Return To Scene Of Crime

The thief has returned to the scene of the crime. But, more importantly, if paradoxically, to the Dodgers, the statue in the team shrine is stealing second again.

For Dodger believers, it was as if St. Francis were back feeding birds, Joan of Arc were back leading the troops, St. Christopher were carrying travelers across a raging stream.

The Dodgers were sniffing penant again. It was like 1959 all over when a next-to-last-place team suddenly was making noises like a real live contender, and the front office sent down to Spokane for a punch hitter who had spent so many years in the deep minors, he gawked at two-story buildings.

Today, whenever Dodgers fans gather to discuss the good old days, they get teary-eyed when they talk of "Zack," or "Jackie," or "Sandy," or "Dazzy," or "Duke," "Newk," "Campy" or "Pee Wee."

Then They Have Good Cry

And then someone says, "Remember 'The Mouse'?" And then they have a real good cry.

When Maurice Morning Wills first led the Dodgers to a pennant in '59 after a lackluster minor league career, there were those who thought he was Mickey Mouse in cleats. They kept telling each other, the first time they saw a tiny girl with wings and a wand flying around his shoulders, they would protest to the league. But when he stole 104 bases in 1962, they thought he was even less mortal than that.

It's hard to say trading Maury Mills was the biggest mistake ever made. But it ranks somewhere between Russia selling Alaska and the Red Sox selling Babe Ruth.

The pennant and the playoffs and the world championships rolled with Maury — '59, '62, '63, '65, '66. When you went to the ballpark and someone said, "Which one's Wills?" You said, "You see that cloud of dust over there?" Maury's legs were a strawberry patch. You could tell it was September because Maury was sliding headfirst. He slid headfirst because he didn't want to get blood on the bags. They tagged him so hard you cold read "Warren Giles, Official National League Baseball" backwards on his forehead.

Hard To Defend Against

If they played him deep, he bunted. If they played him in, he slapped the ball just over their reach. They used to say of Babe Ruth, "He hit home runs where nobody went in the next county. Maury's went clear to the left field tarpaulin. A bunt single was the equivalent of a home run, anyway.

It wasn't entirely that he was so fast. It was just that he knew how to cut the distance between bases from 90 feet to 75. Maury could run the first five yards faster than a kid who hears a noise in the cemetery. There wasn't a pitcher in the league could hold him on. If he got back safely by a yard on a pickoff attempt, he took 35 inches more on his second lead.

They used to criticize Maury for stealing when his team led 8-0. But Maury felt, like every good thief, that when the lights were out, that was the time to

Joe Louis Collapses On Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Louis, the former world heavyweight boxing champion, collapsed on a street today of an apparent heart attack and was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

Louis collapsed shortly before noon in front of 51 Williams Street in downtown Manhattan. He was taken to Beekman-Downtown Hospital for treatment.

His condition is described as "good."

55 YEARS OLD

Louis, 55, was in New York yesterday to announce the formation of the Joe Louis Food Franchise Corporation; an interracial fast-food company of which Billy Conn, former world Light-heavyweight champ, is vice-president.

The Brown Bomber won the heavyweight title in 1937 by knocking out James J. Braddock and held it until he retired in 1949. He made a comeback after retiring and was beaten by Ezzard Charles in 1950 and knocked out by Rocky Marciano in 1951, his last regular fight.

25 TIMES

Louis successfully defended the title 25 times, the most of any champion in the long history of the ring. In all, he appeared in 27 championship matches, including the night he beat Braddock to win the crown and his comeback attempt against Charles. The Marciano fight was not a title match.

LEACH TIES FOR NCAA GOLF LEAD

Ray Leach of Novato, representing the Brigham Young University team, was one of four golfers tied for the lead in the NCAA golf tournament after yesterday's first round.

Leach, former star for the Novato High School golf team and a sophomore at Brigham Young, fired a four-over-par 74 on the wind-swept Broadmoor West Course at Colorado Springs.

Annex Nine Gives Toby's First Loss

Toby's Truckers lost their first game of the season last night in Marin area Joe DiMaggio League action, falling to Annex Motors, 8-6.

Jack Burman with four hits and Steve Pond with a pair of doubles paced the Annex attack. Tom Olson had a two-run homer for Toby's.

In other games, Herb's Pool Service tied Italian Club, 6-6 (game to be replayed if it would have bearing on final standings), Holiday Magic downed Presidio 12-4 paced by Bruce D'Ambra's three-run triple, and San Anselmo nipped Healdsburg 2-1, with Joe Blum hitting a double and single and scoring both runs for the winners. Mill Valley had a bye.

Moffat Wins Tennis Match In State Meet

Andy Moffat of Mill Valley won his match yesterday in the 69th annual California State Junior Tennis Championships, but two Marin County girls were knocked out of competition.

Moffat defeated Joe Wade of New York, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1 in Boys 18 action of the tourney, being played at the San Jsse Swim and Racquet Club.

In girls 16, Bee Kilgore of Tiburon lost to Barbara Downs of Alamo, 6-1, 6-0, and in girls 14, Leslie Airola of Tiburon lost to Susan Mehmedbasich of El Cerrito, 6-1, 6-3.

Track Meet Slated For Lake Tahoe

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — An international track meet called the Indian Summer Games will be held here Sept. 13, city officials announced yesterday.

The national AAU team to be selected this weekend will be invited, along with teams from Kenya and Canada, as well as individual NCAA and foreign stars.

FOR CATFISH

It's Long Time Between Wins

OAKLAND (AP) — "I've never gone this long between victories," Jim "Catfish" Hunter said after beating the Kansas City Royals 3-1 last night.

It was the first victory for the Oakland pitcher since May 11, when he beat the New York Yankees. Hunter had a no-hitter until the seventh, but left the game when Kansas City collected three hits and its only run in the eighth.

WORRIED

"I thought I might lose this one too," Hunter said. "When Taylor hit the ball in the eighth, I thought it was gone for a home run."

The hit Hunter was talking about was a long drive by pinch-hitter Bob Taylor that Oakland left-fielder Tommy Reynolds caught against the fence.

There were two Royal runners on base at the time.

The A's concluded their series with Kansas City this afternoon when Chuck Dobson, 8-5, was to pitch against the Royals' Roger Nelson, 4-6.

ENCOURAGED

Manager Hank Bauer was encouraged by Hunter's performance last night but didn't want to wait six more weeks for "Catfish" to win again. "He has to win if we are going anywhere," Bauer said.

Bauer was pleased with the relief pitching of Rollie Fingers, who hurled the final 1 2-3 innings in his fifth relief appearance in the last six games. He earned his fifth save of the season.

"It's a lot to ask of a 22-year-old kid," Bauer said of Fingers' relief work. "Our bullpen went haywire, but Fingers has straightened it out."

UNEARNED

The A's scored two unearned runs off losing pitcher Wally Bunker. Reggie Jackson continued his unusual season with a pair of doubles. He now has 27 homers, 16 doubles, two triples and only 18 singles among his 63 hits.

Sal Bando drove in a run for Oakland with a double in the first inning and Larry Haney scored one with an infiel dout in the second.

Gonzales, Ralston Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP — Pancho Gonzales, showing no ill effects from his 112-game victory over Charlie Pasarell yesterday, returned to the Wimbledon tennis courts today and scored a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 second round victory over Ove Bengtsson of Sweden.

In another match, Gonzales' protege, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, also gained the third round by beating Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-2, 6-4.

The fourth day of the All-England Tennis Championships began in overcast, muggy weather. No rain was forecast.

Bengtsson, who won the Kent County title a couple of weeks before Wimbledon, had little in his armory to trouble Gonzales except a booming service.

The 41-year-old Los Angeles pro had a certain amount of trouble collecting Bengtsson's service in the opening game, and was within a couple of points of dropping his own. But he took a 2-1 lead and never from then on looked in trouble.

A service break in the first set and another in the second put him way ahead, and he clinched the match by taking Bengtsson's service for a 5-3 lead in the third and then holding his own.

Peace Restored Between King, Mays

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — All was peaceful today between Willie Mays and his manager, Clyde King of the San Francisco Giants.

Mays apologized to King for his stormy dugout actions prior to the game between the Giants and the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

King accepted the apology and levied no fine against the star outfielder. Although peace was restored, the Giants still lost to the Astros 3-2, last night.

"Willie called me and said he wanted to talk," King said last night. "He apologized and said he was sorry for what he did and what he said.

"I told him that if he was big enough to apologize, I was big enough to accept his apology. I'm very happy the incident has been resolved peaceably and amicably."

King said he and Mays had a "friendly talk after that.

"Naturally, we talked baseball. This incident could bring us all closer together for a drive to the top. The teams at the top now are sputtering around ready to be caught."

The Giants, who have been the also-rans of the National League for many years, moved to Cincinnati for tonight's game, with Bob Bolin, 3-4, facing the Reds' Tony Cloninger, 4-9.

After last night's effort, Mays now stands in 17th place on the all-time hit list with 2,877. His single and a double put him ahead of Mel Ott on the list.

Mays also played in his 2,504th game — good for 10th place, one ahead of Babe Ruth.

Mays earlier had said the incident was a spur of the moment thing and said it could happen on any ball club.

"As soon as we start back winning, everything will be all right," Mays said.

King had said Tuesday he planned to "let it sit for a day" before deciding about the possibility of a fine.

Mays, at 38, plays when he feels in condition and King said this policy will continue.

"Once again," King said, "I made it clear to Willie that I won't push him when he feels tired and unable to play. Hereafter I will check with him daily."

JOE AND HIS FANS

Joe Namath stopped to sign autographs for young fans at Monticello Raceway where he was helping raise money for a seminary yesterday. Joe is scheduled to meet with pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle this week to discuss his retirement from football. Rozelle told Joe to sell his interest in a New York bar which has drawn "undesirable characters" and Joe said no. (UPI Telephoto)

Thief Makes Return To Scene Of Crime

The thief has returned to the scene of the crime. But, more importantly, if paradoxically, to the Dodgers, the statue in the team shrine is stealing second again.

For Dodger believers, it was as if St. Francis were back feeding birds, Joan of Arc were back leading the troops, St. Christopher were carrying travelers across a raging stream.

The Dodgers were sniffing penant again. It was like 1959 all over when a next-to-last-place team suddenly was making noises like a real live contender, and the front office sent down to Spokane for a punch hitter who had spent so many years in the deep minors, he gawked at two-story buildings.

Today, whenever Dodgers fans gather to discuss the good old days, they get teary-eyed when they talk of "Zack," or "Jackie," or "Sandy," or "Dazzy," or "Duke," "Newk," "Campy" or "Pee Wee."

Then They Have Good Cry

And then someone says, "Remember 'The Mouse'?" And then they have a real good cry.

When Maurice Morning Wills first led the Dodgers to a pennant in '59 after a lackluster minor league career, there were those who thought he was Mickey Mouse in cleats. They kept telling each other, the first time they saw a tiny girl with wings and a wand flying around his shoulders, they would protest to the league. But when he stole 104 bases in 1962, they thought he was even less mortal than that.

It's hard to say trading Maury Mills was the biggest mistake ever made. But it ranks somewhere between Russia selling Alaska and the Red Sox selling Babe Ruth.

The pennant and the playoffs and the world championships rolled with Maury — '59, '62, '63, '65, '66. When you went to the ballpark and someone said, "Which one's Wills?" You said, "You see that cloud of dust over there?" Maury's legs were a strawberry patch. You could tell it was September because Maury was sliding headfirst. He slid headfirst because he didn't want to get blood on the bags. They tagged him so hard you cold read "Warren Giles, Official National League Baseball" backwards on his forehead.

Hard To Defend Against

If they played him deep, he bunted. If they played him in, he slapped the ball just over their reach. They used to say of Babe Ruth, "He hit home runs where nobody went in the next county. Maury's went clear to the left field tarpaulin. A bunt single was the equivalent of a home run, anyway.

It wasn't entirely that he was so fast. It was just that he knew how to cut the distance between bases from 90 feet to 75. Maury could run the first five yards faster than a kid who hears a noise in the cemetery. There wasn't a pitcher in the league could hold him on. If he got back safely by a yard on a pickoff attempt, he took 35 inches more on his second lead.

They used to criticize Maury for stealing when his team led 8-0. But Maury felt, like every good thief, that when the lights were out, that was the time to

Joe Louis Collapses On Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Louis, the former world heavyweight boxing champion, collapsed on a street today of an apparent heart attack and was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

Louis collapsed shortly before noon in front of 51 Williams Street in downtown Manhattan. He was taken to Beekman-Downtown Hospital for treatment.

55 YEARS OLD

Louis, 55, was in New York yesterday to announce the formation of the Joe Louis Food Franchise Corporation; an interracial fast-food company of which Billy Conn, former world Light-heavyweight champ, is vice-president.

The Brown Bomber won the heavyweight title in 1937 by knocking out James J. Braddock and held it until he retired in 1949. He made a comeback after retiring and was beaten by Ezzard Charles in 1950 and knocked out by Rocky Marciano in 1951, his last regular fight.

25 TIMES

Louis successfully defended the title 25 times, the most of any champion in the long history of the ring. In all, he appeared in 27 championship matches, including the night he beat Braddock to win the crown and his comeback attempt against Charles. The Marciano fight was not a title match.

Moffat Wins Tennis Match In State Meet

Andy Moffat of Mill Valley won his match yesterday in the 69th annual California State Junior Tennis Championships, but two Marin County girls were knocked out of competition.

Moffat defeated Joe Wade of New York, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1 in Boys 18 action of the tourney, being played at the San Jose Swim and Racquet Club.

In girls 16, Bee Kilgore of Tiburon lost to Barbara Downs of Alamo, 6-1, 6-0, and in girls 14, Leslie Airola of Tiburon lost to Susan Mehmedbasich of El Cerrito, 6-1, 6-3.

LEACH TIES FOR NCAA GOLF LEAD

Ray Leach of Novato, representing the Brigham Young University team, was one of four golfers tied for the lead in the NCAA golf tournament after yesterday's first round.

Leach, former star for the Novato High School golf team and a sophomore at Brigham Young, fired a four-over-par 74 on the wind-swept Broadmoor West Course at Colorado Springs.

Annex Nine Gives Toby's First Loss

Toby's Truckers lost their first game of the season last night in Marin area Joe DiMaggio League action, falling to Annex Motors, 8-6.

Jack Burman with four hits and Steve Pond with a pair of doubles paced the Annex attack. Tom Olson had a two-run homer for Toby's.

In other games, Herb's Pool Service tied Italian Club, 6-6 (game to be replayed if it would have bearing on final standings), Holiday Magic downed Presidio 12-4 paced by Bruce D'Ambra's three-run triple, and San Anselmo nipped Healdsburg 2-1, with Joe Blum hitting a double and single and scoring both runs for the winners. Mill Valley had a bye.

FOR CATFISH

It's Long Time Between Wins

OAKLAND (AP) — "I've never gone this long between victories," Jim "Catfish" Hunter said after beating the Kansas City Royals 3-1 last night.

It was the first victory for the Oakland pitcher since May 11, when he beat the New York Yankees. Hunter had a no-hitter until the seventh, but left the game when Kansas City collected three hits and its only run in the eighth.

WORRIED

"I thought I might lose this one too," Hunter said. "When Taylor hit the ball in the eighth, I thought it was gone for a home run."

The hit Hunter was talking about was a long drive by pinch-hitter Bob Taylor that Oakland left-fielder Tommy Reynolds caught against the fence.

There were two Royal runners on base at the time.

The A's concluded their series with Kansas City this afternoon when Chuck Dobson, 8-5, was to pitch against the Royals' Roger Nelson, 4-6.

ENCOURAGED

Manager Hank Bauer was encouraged by Hunter's performance last night but didn't want to wait six more weeks for "Catfish" to win again. "He has to win if we are going anywhere," Bauer said.

Bauer was pleased with the relief pitching of Rollie Fingers, who hurled the final 1 2-3 innings in his fifth relief appearance in the last six games. He earned his fifth save of the season.

"It's a lot to ask of a 22-year-old kid," Bauer said of Fingers' relief work. "Our bull pen went haywire, but Fingers has straightened it out."

UNEARNED

The A's scored two unearned runs off losing pitcher Wally Bunker. Reggie Jackson continued his unusual season with a pair of doubles. He now has 27 homers, 16 doubles, two triples and only 18 singles among his 63 hits.

Sal Bando drove in a run for Oakland with a double in the first inning and Larry Haney scored one with an infiel dout in the second.

Gonzales, Ralston Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP — Pancho Gonzales, showing no ill effects from his 112-game victory over Charlie Pasarell yesterday, returned to the Wimbledon tennis courts today and scored a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 second round victory over Ove Bengtsson of Sweden.

In another match, Gonzales' protege, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, also gained the third round by beating Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-2, 6-4.

The fourth day of the All-England Tennis Championships began in overcast, muggy weather. No rain was forecast.

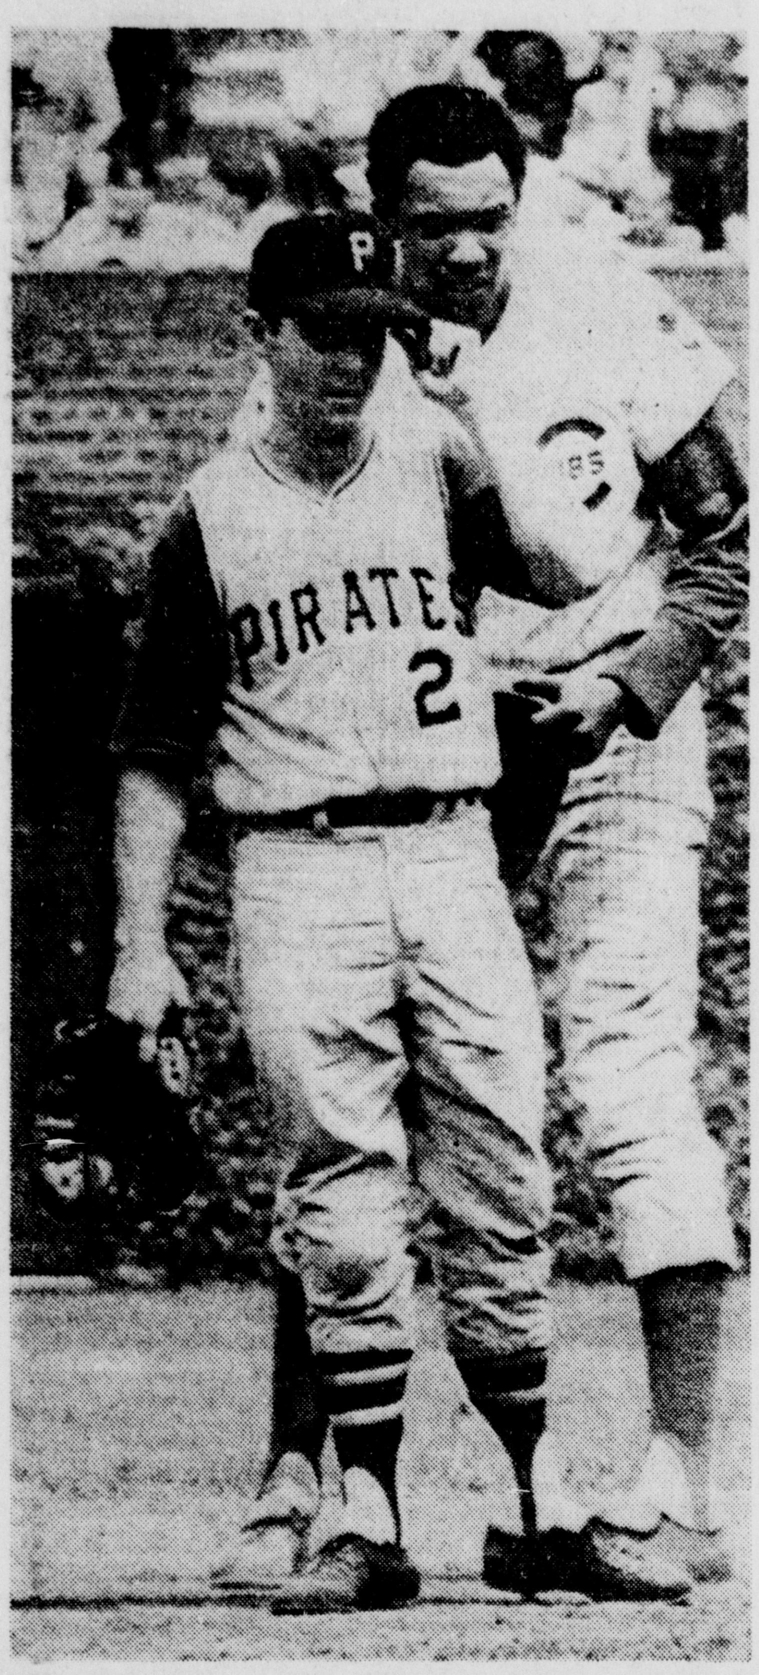
Astros Continue Hot Pace



BIG AND LITTLE—Pitcher Ferguson Jenkins (6-foot-5) of the Cubs towered over Pittsburgh's shortstop Freddie Patek, the smallest man in the majors at 5-foot-4 during this scene at second base yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Houston Hard To Beat On Its Home Grounds

The Astros, playing at their dome home which is cooled by 6,600 tons of air conditioning, edged San Francisco 3-2 last night and extended their various marks to:

—Nine straight victories, eight of them at home.

OTHER SCORES

In other National League games, Cincinnati handed San Diego its 11th straight defeat 4-0, Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 5-2, Atlanta stopped Los Angeles 5-3, Philadelphia edged New York 6-5 in 10 innings and St. Louis swept Montreal 8-1 and 8-3.

Jim Wynn was the hottest Astro last night, rapping a two-run homer in the fifth inning that provided the margin of victory.

"This team never gave up on itself, not even when we were 4-20 the first month," said Wynn, in the cool Astrodome. "Now we're two games over .500, and I say we've got a chance to win our division."

The Astros' division is the West, and they currently are in fifth place but just 5½ games behind the first-place Braves.

LAUDS PITCHING

"Our pitching staff has done a great job," Wynn continued. "That's why we're winning. All they've got to do is keep us close, within one to three runs of the opposition, and we've got a good chance."

The Astro pitchers have been particularly brilliant in the ing allowed just 11 runs.

Tom Griffin had the Giants blanked on four hits through eight innings, but San Francisco rallied for two runs in the ninth and reliever Fred Gladding had to halt the threat.

George Culver was even tougher on San Diego for the first six innings, holding the hapless Padres hitless. San Diego eventually got two hits—but no runs. Alex Johnson homered for the Reds in the sixth.

Ferguson Jenkins stopped Pittsburgh on two hits and struck out 10 for his ninth victory. The Cubs were aided by Bob Veale's run-scoring wild pitch and errors by Jose Martinez and Fred Patek.

TO FIRST

Atlanta jumped over Los Angeles into first place in the West Division as Hank Aaron snapped a 3-3 tie with his 19th homer in the eighth. The hit made Phil Niekro the majors' first 12-game winner even though the Dodgers battered him for 10 hits.

Philadelphia, without Richie Allen again, stopped the Mets' four-game winning string. Rookie Dave Watkins tied the Mets 5-5 in the eighth with his first major league homer, then tripled in the 10th and scored as John Briggs singled.

FOUR HITS

Tim McCarver collected four hits and drove in three runs as St. Louis whipped Montreal in the opener of their doubleheader for Bob Gibson's 10th victory against four defeats.

Then in the second game McCarver scored the tie-breaking run on Phil Gagliano's double in the eighth. The Cardinals added four runs in the ninth, one on Lou Brock's homer and three on Mike Shannon's.

The Expos pulled off the league's second triple play of the season in the second inning of the nightcap. Vada Pinson lined into it.

Brodie, The Golfer, Wins In State Play

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Everybody is used to watching John Brodie play quarterback for football's San Francisco 49ers.

On the Monterey Peninsula, people are watching Brodie the golfer. He battled his way into the second round of the California State Amateur Golf championship yesterday by beating Richard Dick of Long Beach with one-over-par golf.

(None of four Marin County hopefuls made it through the 36 holes of qualifying to advance to the match play competition.)

FAVORITE

The burly Brodie today is only a slight favorite over fiftyish, balding, stoop-shouldered Bob Roos of San Francisco, although the 49er star could probably throw his opponent over the football crossbars.

Roos is a magician with his putter and dropped three difficult par putts on the final three holes to outlast young Jim Bradford of Downey in a 19-hole win during opening-round play.

BEST GOLF

Best golf in the initial round was played by Los Angeles attorney Dick Runkle, twice a finalist in this event, who was one-under-par while beating Steve Cook, Long Beach, 3 and 2.

Also advancing to today's second round were medalist Ted Lyford, and three former champions—Ernie Pieper Jr., San Jose; Verne Callison, Sacramento, and John Richardson, Long Beach.

SCORES

Redland's Lyford bested Bill Daugherty, Woodland, 4 and 3; Pieper outlasted W. A. Monahan, Manhattan Beach, 20th; Callison sidelined Rob Ashman, Bellevue, Wash., 2 up, and Richardson beat W. H. King, San Mateo, 4 and 2.

It was Pieper who made the shot of the day when he tanked a two iron shot for an eagle two on the 425-yard, eighth hole.

Novato Nine Wins; Crucial Tilt On Tap

Novato, now 7-2 in standings, takes on league leading Napa (8-1) hoping to tie for the first half title Saturday on the field at Yountville Veterans' home.

Russ Dillon, who hit a 425-foot home run last night against Vallejo, will do the pitching Saturday for Novato. Other big hitters for Novato last night were first baseman Barry Berringer, a triple and two singles, catcher Wally Campbell and second baseman Mark Newsom, each with three hits, and shortstop Dee Fedrick with a pair.

Steve McNally, with some late inning relief help from Dillon, was the winning pitcher

Thrown Out Stealing Home

Maury stole on his own. That finally was the trouble. He got thrown out for stealing home — by Walter O'Malley for stealing home from Japan in 1967.

It was as melancholy as the Vatican cutting Santa Claus adrift, or giving an Old Master to the mailman. What they got for Maury couldn't lead the 1927 Yankees to a pennant.

Walter O'Malley went scouring through the attics and trashcans of baseball for his petulantly-discarded treasure this month. He has found it, dusted it off, restored it, put No. 30 back on it, and has it in its fitting showcase, the Louvre of Baseball, Dodger Stadium.

Not everyone is an art connoisseur. "What's he want him for?" grumbled the newer fans. They said that in 1959, too.

Palmer Fires 64 In Tuneup

By BOB GREEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Well," Arnold Palmer said, "I can't say I'm satisfied. You're never satisfied unless you're winning. But maybe, just maybe, I'm on the way to being satisfied. Maybe so. Maybe."

The muscular man with the putty face made the comments after shooting a six-under-par 64 in the amateur event preceding today's first round in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course.

The 39-year-old idol of the galleries needs a victory perhaps more than ever before.

NEEDS VICTORY

It's not that he needs the money. He's the game's first millionaire. He's made more out of it than any other person. But he needs a victory—in the worst way.

For the first time since 1955 he does not hold a title.

His last one went by the boards last week in the Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C., where he was the defending champion.

Now it's been more than a year since he won and his defeat last week marked the first time since he won the Canadian Open in 1955 that he didn't hold a championship somewhere.

"I've been working on my game quite a lot," he said.

WITH DAD

"My father and I worked o some things before the National Open in Houston two weeks ago.

"It helped. I played better, but not good enough.

"Then last week at Charlotte, I played pretty well, but I didn't putt at all for the first three rounds. A friend of mine there, Dick Tiddy, helped me a little on my putting.

"The last round I started getting some putts to drop. But I still had 30 putts. That's not good."

He closed with a final 66, six under par, in the Kemper but it wasn't enough and he finished in a tie for fifth behind winner Dale Douglass.

PUTTING WOES

"I'm driving the ball well," he said. "I think I led the Kemper in greens hit in regulation, and I missed only two fairways today. It's been the putting. But that seems to be improving.

"You have to be encouraged after a 66 and 64."

The 64 was even more remarkable because the four-time Masters champ took a double bogey 6 on his first hole. He pushed his tee shot into the woods at the right, chipped back to the fairway then three-putted from 25 feet.

He missed a two-footer on his second putt, tapped in, turned his back to the gallery and muttered, "that's not it. That's not it at all."

RIMS CUP

He rimmed the cup on a 15-foot birdie putt on the second and said, "Well, at least I hit it."

He hit the back of the cup with an 18-foot bird on the third hole, retrieved the ball and said, "That's a little more like it."

He got another from 23 feet on the next hole and was off and running, finishing with eight birdies.

"It's better," he said. "But I'm not satisfied. I won't be satisfied until I'm winning."

Red Sox Pitchers Give Away Runs To Indians

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Mike Nagy and Vicente Romo are music lovers, you can bet that Walkin' My Baby Back Home isn't on their personal Hit Parade.

The two Boston pitchers issued four consecutive bases-loaded walks last night that helped Cleveland to a 7-3 victory after the Red Sox won the afternoon portion of a day-night doubleheader 3-1.

Despite the split, the second-place Sox gained one-half game on Baltimore, which lost to Washington 11-8, and trail the Orioles by 9½ games in the American League East.

Elsewhere in the A.L. Detroit whipped the New York Yankees 6-1, Minnesota edged California 3-2, Oakland beat Kansas City 3-1 and Seattle topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Boston and Cleveland were locked in a 1-1 tie in their night game when Nagy walked Duke Sims with one out in the third. Singles by Tony Horton and Ken Harrelson loaded the bases before the giveaway began in earnest.

Lou Klimchock walked. Russ Snyder walked. Mike Nagy walked—to the showers. Enter Vicente Romo. Ken Suarez walked. Stan Williams walked. Jose Cardenal, the spoil sport, ended the inaction with a sacrifice fly for the final run of the inning.

"The first couple of innings were so slow, I found myself getting lazy," said Williams, who pitched a five-hitter.

Siebert, who hurled his first complete game of the season, yielded a leadoff homer to Cardenal in the day game. Larry Brown singled and the Indians didn't get another hit until Horton singled in the ninth.

Lee Gets Chance

Pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, called up by the Boston Red Sox from their farm club in Pittsfield, Mass., just Tuesday, got his first chance on the mound yesterday in the second game of a doubleheader against Cleveland. He pitched four innings and gave up two hits and one run, walked three and struck out five.

Astros Continue Hot Pace

BIG AND LITTLE—Pitcher Ferguson Jenkins (6-foot-5) of the Cubs towered over Pittsburgh's shortstop Freddie Patek, the smallest man in the majors at 5-foot-4 during this scene at second base yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Houston Hard To Beat On Its Home Grounds

The Astros, playing at their dome home which is cooled by 6,600 tons of air conditioning, edged San Francisco 3-2 last night and extended their various marks to:

— Nine straight victories, eight of them at home.

OTHER SCORES

In other National League games, Cincinnati handed San Diego its 11th straight defeat 4-0, Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 5-2, Atlanta stopped Los Angeles 5-3, Philadelphia edged New York 6-5 in 10 innings and St. Louis swept Montreal 8-1 and 8-3.

Jim Wynn was the hottest Astro last night, rapping a two-run homer in the fifth inning that provided the margin of victory.

"This team never gave up on itself, not even when we were 4-20 the first month," said Wynn, in the cool Astrodome. "Now we're two games over .500, and I say we've got a chance to win our division."

The Astros' division is the West, and they currently are in fifth place but just 5½ games behind the first-place Braves.

LAUDS PITCHING

Palmer Fires 64 In Tuneup

By BOB GREEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Well," Arnold Palmer said, "I can't say I'm satisfied. You're never satisfied unless you're winning. But maybe, just maybe, I'm on the way to being satisfied. Maybe so. Maybe."

The muscular man with the putty face made the comments after shooting a six-under-par 64 in the amateur event preceding today's first round in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course.

The 39-year-old idol of the galleries needs a victory perhaps more than ever before.

NEEDS VICTORY

It's not that he needs the money. He's the game's first millionaire. He's made more out of it than any other person. But he needs a victory—in the worst way.

For the first time since 1955 he does not hold a title.

His last one went by the boards last week in the Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C., where he was the defending champion.

Now it's been more than a year since he won and his defeat last week marked the first time since he won the Canadian Open in 1955 that he didn't hold a championship somewhere.

"I've been working on my game quite a lot," he said.

WITH DAD

"My father and I worked o some things before the National Open in Houston two weeks ago.

"It helped. I played better, but not good enough.

"Then last week at Charlotte, I played pretty well, but I didn't putt at all for the first three rounds. A friend of mine there, Dick Tiddy, helped me a little on my putting.

"The last round I started getting some putts to drop. But I still had 30 putts. That's not good."

He closed with a final 66, six under par, in the Kemper but it wasn't enough and he finished in a tie for fifth behind winner Dale Douglass.

PUTTING WOES

"I'm driving the ball well," he said. "I think I led the Kemper in greens hit in regulation, and I missed only two fairways today. It's been the putting. But that seems to be improving.

"You have to be encouraged after a 66 and 64."

The 64 was even more remarkable because the four-time Masters champ took a double bogey 6 on his first hole. He pushed his tee shot into the woods at the right, chipped back to the fairway then three-putted from 25 feet.

He missed a two-footer on his second putt, tapped in, turned his back to the gallery and muttered, "that's not it. That's not it at all."

RIMS CUP

He rimmed the cup on a 15-foot birdie putt on the second and said, "Well, at least I hit it."

He hit the back of the cup with an 18-foot bird on the third hole, retrieved the ball and said, "That's a little more like it."

He got another from 23 feet on the next hole and was off and running, finishing with eight birdies.

"It's better," he said. "But I'm not satisfied. I won't be satisfied until I'm winning."

Red Sox Pitchers Give Away Runs To Indians

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Mike Nagy and Vicente Romo are music lovers, you can bet that Walkin' My Baby Back Home isn't on their personal Hit Parade.

The two Boston pitchers issued four consecutive bases-loaded walks last night that helped Cleveland to a 7-3 victory after the Red Sox won the afternoon portion of a day-night doubleheader 3-1.

Despite the split, the second-place Sox gained one-half game on Baltimore, which lost to Washington 11-8, and trail the Orioles by 9½ games in the American League East.

Elsewhere in the A.L. Detroit whipped the New York Yankees 6-1, Minnesota edged California 3-2, Oakland beat Kansas City 3-1 and Seattle topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Boston and Cleveland were locked in a 1-1 tie in their night game when Nagy walked Duke Sims with one out in the third. Singles by Tony Horton and Ken Harrelson loaded the bases before the giveaway began in earnest.

Lou Klimchock walked. Russ Snyder walked. Mike Nagy walked—to the showers. Enter Vicente Romo. Ken Suarez walked. Stan Williams walked. Jose Cardenal, the spoil sport, ended the inaction with a sacrifice fly for the final run of the inning.

"The first couple of innings were so slow, I found myself getting lazy," said Williams, who pitched a five-hitter.

Siebert, who hurled his first complete game of the season, yielded a leadoff homer to Cardenal in the day game. Larry Brown singled and the Indians didn't get another hit until Horton singled in the ninth.

Lee Gets Chance

Pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, called up by the Boston Red Sox from their farm club in Pittsfield, Mass., just Tuesday, got his first chance on the mound yesterday in the second game of a doubleheader against Cleveland. He pitched four innings and gave up two hits and one run, walked three and struck out five.

Linzy Admits He's Not Doing Job This Season

HOUSTON — Frank Linzy is described in the Press-Radio-TV guide of the Giants as a relief ace who gets the job done "in tight situations when the game is in balance."

During the past four seasons Linzy did get the job done in tight ball games. His record of 32 games won, plus 50 saves, from 1965 through 1968 is the best evidence of that.

"I HAVEN'T been doing the job this year," Linzy frankly acknowledged following two losses to the Braves at Atlanta in the four-game series that opened the current road trip of the Giants.

"I haven't been doing my job and Jim Ray Hart hasn't been doing his," said Linzy. "If we had we'd be in first place now."

Linzy pinpointed with refreshing honesty the two primary reasons the Giants are not leading the western division of the National League. When he was complimented for his objective analysis of the situation and particularly for not trying to cover up his early season failures with alibis, Linzy said:

"I WOULDN'T be kidding anybody, least of all myself. It is quite apparent that if Hart had been hitting and I had been pitching effectively, we'd be on top."

Linzy is 4-4, with six saves, at this stage of the 1969 campaign. The six saves seem impressive but this season a relief pitcher is credited with a save just for finishing a game and maintaining a lead which could be 10-0. Heretofore a relief pitcher was credited with a save only when he faced a winning or tying run and prevented it from scoring.

THREE OF LINZY'S four losses have been to the Braves in Atlanta. In addition to losing the opening and closing games of the four-game set last weekend in Atlanta Stadium, Linzy lost the opening game of the season there.

In the season opener Marichal had been lifted for a pinch hitter during a three-run seventh inning rally that put the Giants in front 4-3. But Linzy failed to save the win for Marichal. In the ninth the Braves rapped him for single, triple, single and a 5-4 decision.

THE SINGLE, triple, single in the opener off Linzy were solid shots. So was a 12th inning homer last Friday night by Bob Billman off Linzy for a 4-3 decision.

In the nightcap of last Sunday's doubleheader, the Braves roughed up Linzy for the third time. Three singles, three walks of which one was intentional and a wild pitch added up to four runs in the eighth inning.

NATURALLY, Linzy isn't happy with the way things have been going for him. But he isn't about to panic. Anybody who takes an objective look at his work as Linzy does without albiing has half the problem licked. The other half for Linzy? To get his sinker working the way it did the past four seasons.

Louis Praises Joe Frazier

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, Cassius Clay need not bother getting back in the ring—he is no match for Joe Frazier, the current champ in six states, Mexico and Argentina.

"Frazier is too strong for everybody," Louis said yesterday. "Clay has been out too long. It would be no contest."

Louis, announcing he has entered in the chain restaurant business with former boxer Billy Conn, said Frazier also could beat Jimmy Ellis, recognized by the World Boxing Association as the heavyweight titlist.

"Frazier would break him in two," Louis said. "Ellis can't stand the pressure in the ring. Frazier is the best heavyweight in boxing today."

New Head Man At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Robert S. (Bob) Gunderson yesterday was named vice president and general manager of Bay Meadows Race Track, succeeding Joe Cohen, who is retiring at the age of 76.

Cohen, associated with the track since it opened in 1934, will remain a director of the California Jockey Club, which operates the course.

Gunderson has been general manager of Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan for the past several years.

Aaron Rising Fast On Home Run List

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has closed to within only four of 600 career homers, but the player who has made the most rapid advance near the top of the all-time home run list this season is Atlanta's Hank Aaron.

Aaron, 35 and in his 16th big league campaign, has walloped 19 homers in 1969, lifting his career total to 529. Since the start of the season, he has moved past Mel Ott, who hit 511, Ed Mathews, a former teammate, who had 512, and Ted Williams, 521.

Aaron is second among the active players, behind only Mays, and fifth on the lifetime listings. Mays, San Francisco's star outfielder, has nine homers this year and a total of 596. He is 38 and in his 18th year in the majors.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs is third among the actives with 486 homers, followed by Frank Robinson of Baltimore with 435 and Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, 414.

Banks, 38 and in his 17th season with the Cubs, has climbed into 10th place on the all-time list. His 12 homers this year have moved him past Stan Musial, the former St. Louis Cardinals' standout, who slipped to 11th place with 475.

Robinson, 33, a 14-year big league veteran, holds 12th place among the all-timers. He has 17 homers so far in 1969. Killebrew, who will be 33 next Sunday, has 17 homers and they enabled him to move up one place to 13th in the career rankings. Duke Snider, the one-time Dodger slugger, dropped to 14th at 407.

Babe Ruth heads the home run sluggers with 714. In third place behind Mays comes Mickey Mantle, whose uniform No. 7 was officially retired by the New York Yankees earlier this month, 536. Jimmy Foxx, who starred for the Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox, is fourth with 534.

Mays has led the National League in homers four times. His one-season career high was 52 circuit blows in 1965. Aaron has also paced the N.L. four times. His top figure was 46 in 1959.

The lifetime home run leaders:

1. Babe Ruth	714
x2. Willie Mays	596
3. Mickey Mantle	536

BOWLING TIPS

Hockey League Talks Expansion

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Hockey League's board of governors, buoyed by the significant progress shown in talks held the last two days, will meet again in Chicago Aug. 13 to further contemplate expansion of the present two, six-team divisions.

Vancouver, Baltimore and Buffalo are high on the list of cities which are being considered for NHL franchises with the target date the 1970-71 season.

In a joint statement, William Wirtz, chairman of the board's expansion committee, and League President Clarence Campbell said "We have been authorized by the board to say meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday produced excellent and encouraging results after many long hours of deliberation on the many problems which are involved in any further expansion of the NHL."

The league formed a West Division of six expansion teams to join the six established teams in the East for the 1967-68 season. Of the new franchises only Oakland and Pittsburgh were not doing as well as expected. Several attempts were made to move the Oakland team to Vancouver but opposition from Montreal, Toronto and Los Angeles, which felt the Seals provided a natural West Coast rivalry, blocked the move.

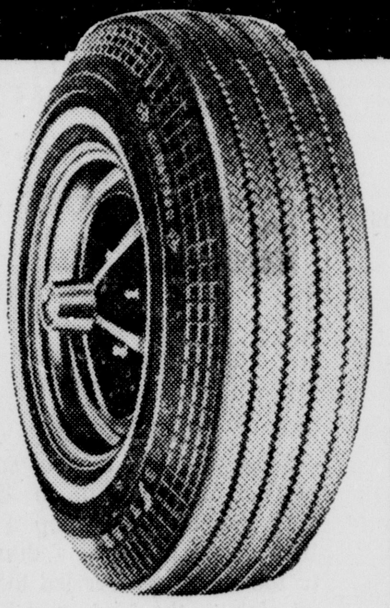
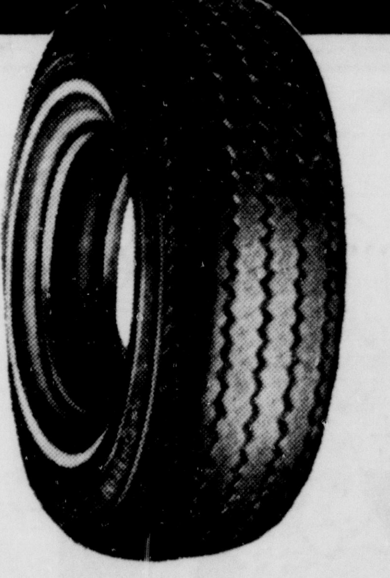
Which is Best??

GOODYEAR POLYGLAS
and all it's many cousins

or

The MICHELIN X Steel Radial Tire





Cain's has been selling the Goodyear Polyglas and the Jetzon Fiberglas Belted Tire, made by GOODYEAR thru a subsidiary, for a year and a half or since they came out. Cain's, as you know, is one of the largest Michelin dealers in the Bay Area. So, since we sell both, we have been able to observe both on our customers' cars with no bias in our minds.

Sincerely, people, the Michelin X is so superior to Polyglas that in our observation Polyglas won't even come close to Michelin X mileage. As for the handling characteristics, the difference is even greater. Michelin is so superior in stopping, cornering and generally stabilizing your car. The rubber companies who are pushing Polyglas tell their distributors to sell their customers hard on the fact that the Radial tire is not made for American cars and rides too rough for them.

HERE IS THE TRUTH ON THAT: ANY TIRE that is belted will ride firmer than a non-belted tire. It makes no difference whether it's Polyglas or one of the other 14 brands of Goodyear's Polyglas base they make under another label — or if it's Pirelli - Dunlop - Michelin Radial — they all firm-up your ride, which most people feel is an asset.

What Really makes MICHELIN X so much a better deal than Goodyear Polyglas is the fact that THEY COST NO MORE.

Size	Goodyear Polyglas	MICHELIN X Steel Ply Radial
6.50-13, 7.00-13	$36.00	$36.00
6.95-14	38.00	38.00

9.00-15	54.00	54.00
9.15-15	58.00	58.00

But only Michelin X will add 10% to your gas mileage. Talk to anyone who has had them and they will tell you about it everytime.

The simple fact is — Michelin X will out-perform, out-ride and out-wear a Goodyear Polyglas by such a wide margin, that it's still NO contest!! But, nice try Goodyear.

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, Cassius Clay need not bother getting back in the ring—he is no match for Joe Frazier, the current champ in six states, Mexico and Argentina.

"Frazier is too strong for everybody," Louis said yesterday. "Clay has been out too long. It would be no contest."

Louis, announcing he has entered in the chain restaurant business with former boxer Billy Conn, said Frazier also could beat Jimmy Ellis, recognized by the World Boxing Association as the heavyweight titlist.

"Frazier would break him in two," Louis said. "Ellis can't stand the pressure in the ring. Frazier is the best heavyweight in boxing today."

New Head Man At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Robert S. (Bob) Gunderson yesterday was named vice president and general manager of Bay Meadows Race Track, succeeding Joe Cohen, who is retiring at the age of 76.

Cohen, associated with the track since it opened in 1934, will remain a director of the California Jockey Club, which operates the course.

Gunderson has been general manager of Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan for the past several years.

Football Trade

Aaron Rising Fast On Home Run List

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has closed to within only four of 600 career homers, but the player who has made the most rapid advance near the top of the all-time home run list this season is Atlanta's Hank Aaron.

Aaron, 35 and in his 16th big league campaign, has walloped 19 homers in 1969, lifting his career total to 529. Since the start of the season, he has moved past Mel Ott, who hit 511, Ed Mathews, a former teammate, who had 512, and Ted Williams, 521.

Aaron is second among the active players, behind only Mays, and fifth on the lifetime listings. Mays, San Francisco's star outfielder, has nine homers this year and a total of 596. He is 38 and in his 18th year in the majors.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs is third among the actives with 486 homers, followed by Frank Robinson of Baltimore with 435 and Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, 414.

Banks, 38 and in his 17th season with the Cubs, has climbed into 10th place on the all-time list. His 12 homers this year have moved him past Stan Musial, the former St. Louis Cardinals' standout, who slipped to 11th place with 475.

Robinson, 33, a 14-year big league veteran, holds 12th place among the all-timers. He has 17 homers so far in 1969. Killebrew, who will be 33 next Sunday, has 17 homers and they enabled him to move up one place to 13th in the career rankings. Duke Snider, the one-time Dodger slugger, dropped to 14th at 407.

Babe Ruth heads the home run sluggers with 714. In third place behind Mays comes Mickey Mantle, whose uniform No. 7 was officially retired by the New York Yankees earlier this month, 536. Jimmy Foxx, who starred for the Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox, is fourth with 534.

Mays has led the National League in homers four times. His one-season career high was 52 circuit blows in 1965. Aaron has also paced the N.L. four times. His top figure was 46 in 1959.

The lifetime home run leaders:

1. Babe Ruth	714
x2. Willie Mays	596
3. Mickey Mantle	536
4. Jimmy Foxx	534
x5. Hank Aaron	529
6. Ted Williams	521

Hockey League Talks Expansion

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Hockey League's board of governors, buoyed by the significant progress shown in talks held the last two days, will meet again in Chicago Aug. 13 to further contemplate expansion of the present two, six-team divisions.

Vancouver, Baltimore and Buffalo are high on the list of cities which are being considered for NHL franchises with the target date the 1970-71 season.

In a joint statement, William Wirtz, chairman of the board's expansion committee, and League President Clarence Campbell said "We have been authorized by the board to say meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday produced excellent and encouraging results after many long hours of deliberation on the many problems which are involved in any further expansion of the NHL."

The league formed a West Division of six expansion teams to join the six established teams in the East for the 1967-68 season. Of the new franchises only Oakland and Pittsburgh were not doing as well as expected. Several attempts were made to move the Oakland team to Vancouver but opposition from Montreal, Toronto and Los Angeles, which felt the Seals provided a natural West Coast rivalry, blocked the move.

Which is Best??
GOODYEAR POLYGLAS and all it's many cousins or The MICHELIN X Steel Radial Tire
Cain's has been selling the Goodyear Polyglas and the Jetzon Fiberglas Belted Tire, made by GOODYEAR thru a subsidiary, for a year and a half or since they came out. Cain's, as you know, is one of the largest Michelin dealers in the Bay Area. So, since we sell both, we have been able to observe both on our customers' cars with no bias in our minds.
Sincerely, people, the Michelin X is so superior to Polyglas that in our observation Polyglas won't even come close to Michelin X mileage. As for the handling characteristics, the difference is even greater. Michelin is so superior in stopping, cornering and generally stabilizing your car. The rubber companies who are pushing Polyglas tell their distributors to sell their customers hard on the fact that the Radial tire is not made for American cars and rides too rough for them.
HERE IS THE TRUTH ON THAT: ANY TIRE that is belted will ride firmer than a non-belted tire. It makes no difference whether it's Polyglas or one of the other 14 brands of Goodyear's Polyglas base they make under another label — or if it's Pirelli - Dunlop - Michelin Radial — they all firm-up your ride, which most people feel is an asset.
What Really makes MICHELIN X so much a better deal than Goodyear Polyglas is the fact that THEY COST NO MORE.

Size	Goodyear Polyglas	MICHELIN X Steel Ply Radial
6.50-13, 7.00-13	$36.00	$36.00
6.95-14	38.00	38.00
7.35-14	39.50	39.50

9.00-15	54.00	54.00
9.15-15	58.00	58.00

But only Michelin X will add 10% to your gas mileage. Talk to anyone who has had them and they will tell you about it everytime.
The simple fact is — Michelin X will out-perform, out-ride and out-wear a Goodyear Polyglas by such a wide margin, that it's still NO contest!! But, nice try Goodyear.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Desperate Discard Is Used Only In A Desperate Situation

A certain kind of throw-in play works in the averag game because the average defender cannot bring himself to make a desperate discard without giving himself away. A strong opponent learns from experience that desperate situations call for desperate measures.

DUCKS CLUB

South took the king of spades and ducked a club to East's jack, hoping to develop a club trick. East returned a diamond to the ace. Declarer led his other club to the king, and East's spade discard told him the bad news. Now South led a heart from dummy, trying a finesse with the jack.

West won with the king of hearts (trying to conceal his queen) and returned the jack of diamonds, which held the trick. Now West shifted back to spades, and South won with the ace. When South next led the king of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 break, West discarded a spade. South promptly led a spade to dummy's queen.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Seeing no farther than his nose, West discarded a club. This made things easy for declarer. He cashed the ace of clubs and put West in with the queen of clubs. Down to two cards, West had to lead from the Q-5 of hearts, giving South the last two tricks with the ace-ten.

West should have seen this coming. His only chance was to discard the five of hearts instead of a club when South led the third spade to dummy's queen. Then South would be unable to stage the throw-in since West would take two club tricks.

SOUTH'S QUESTION

South would have to choose whether to take another heart finesse or play the ace of hearts in the hope that West had blanked the queen. South would have a difficult choice if West made his heart discard casually and without undue hesitation. But if West agonized over throwing the low heart, South might well suspect what was going on.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened one heart, partner has responded one spade, and it is up to you again (opponents are silent), holding:

♠ A K 3
♥ A J 10 4
♦ A K 9 2
♣ 5 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. If partner bids 2-no-trump, you will raise to three, if he bids two hearts, you will then bid two spades. If partner passes two diamonds you probably don't have a game and have not missed anything. The alternative is to jump at once to three spades, which is a slight overbid and should promise four-card support for spades. Many experts would prefer this, especially with a conservative partner.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James A. McDivitt hung up his space suit yesterday and moved behind a desk—the fourth veteran of the Apollo program to end active space flying.

McDivitt, an Air Force colonel who commanded the flight of Apollo 9 in March, quit active space flying to assume the managership of Lunar Landing Operation Studies at the Manned Spacecraft Center here.

In his new duties, the two-time space flight veteran will be responsible for decisions connected with lunar landing missions following the first planned moon touchdown next month.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Seeing no farther than his nose, West discarded a club. This made things easy for declarer. He cashed the ace of clubs and put West in with the queen of clubs. Down to two cards, West had to lead from the Q-5 of hearts, giving South the last two tricks with the ace-ten.

West should have seen this coming. His only chance was to discard the five of hearts instead of a club when South led the third spade to dummy's queen. Then South would be unable to stage the throw-in since West would take two club tricks.

SOUTH'S QUESTION

South would have to choose whether to take another heart finesse or play the ace of hearts in the hope that West had blanked the queen. South would have a difficult choice if West made his heart discard casually and without undue hesitation. But if West agonized over throwing the low heart, South might well suspect what was going on.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened one heart, partner has responded one spade, and it is up to you again (opponents are silent), holding:

♠ A K 3
♥ A J 10 4
♦ A K 9 2
♣ 5 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. If partner bids 2-no-trump, you will raise to three, if he bids two hearts, you will then bid two spades. If partner passes two diamonds you probably don't have a game and have not missed anything. The alternative is to jump at once to three spades, which is a slight overbid and should promise four-card support for spades. Many experts would prefer this, especially with a conservative partner.

Four New Shops Planned For Sausalito's Lincoln Apartments

Extensive remodeling now going on at the Lincoln Apartments, 589-595 Bridgeway, Sausalito, by York Construction Co. should see four new shops occupying the ground floor here by the middle or latter part of July.

Planned are a Spanish gift shop; a women's apparel store called Rondi; another men's and women's shop, with some antiques, called Chelsea Gear — a branch of a San Francisco store, and a mod clothes shop.

Remodeling of upstairs apartments will be done later.

TWO SAN RAFAEL BROTHERS, George and Sinclair Moeno, who went to work for Bank of America on the same day, are celebrating their 45th anniversaries with the bank this month. Actually they went to work on a part-time basis on the same day in 1921, and both became full-time employees three years later.

Sinclair

Moreno

For the past nine years George has been manager of the Clay-Montgomery branch in San Francisco. Sinclair entered the Timeplan administration in 1955 and became a vice president in 1962.

T. G. AND Y. DEPARTMENT STORE in Rohnert Park has reported May sales 25 per cent higher than for the same month a year ago. It was the largest percentage increase of any T. G. and Y. store throughout the country. The Rohnert Park store has the third largest growth rate of any store in the chain in California, according to manager John S. Kaufman.

OPPORTUNITY for a tax deduction on an unused piece of property is being suggested by the Atheneum Arts Foundation which must give up occupancy of the old Robert Dollar Estate in San Rafael by Sept. 1. So far, the foundation has not found another address it can take over after that date — and it is still looking.

The foundation does not need 14 rooms and the extensive grounds it now has at the Dollar mansion, but it does require accommodations for a staff of three, meeting rooms for the Marin Civic Ballet, Shakespeare Festival, Marin Symphony Guild, Junior Theater and other non-profit groups without a home — and storage space for its many props.

The idea, of course, is that the foundation would like to have quarters that are rent-free, and believes that this could be used as a tax deduction by the owner of some old mansion not now being occupied. In return for this the foundation would furnish the house, provide labor for the maintenance of the property and make certain repairs.

JIRI HERRMAN of Kentfield, founder and retiring president of Baby News children's department stores, has been cited for more than two decades leadership of the franchised group. He opened the first Baby News store in San Francisco in 1948 and published the first Baby News catalog the same year. He still owns and operates stores in San Francisco and Westlake.

Herrmann

Blake

LEROY J. BLAKE of Sleepy Hollow, regional director for Career Academy, national occupational organization, has returned from a three-day conference in Milwaukee, participating in simulated classes in post-high school training offered by the company.

MICHAEL A. BURKE of San Rafael has joined the San Francisco investment securities firm, Edelstein, Campbell and Co. He was previously with the International Business Machines Corp.

New Center

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Mental Retardation Centers Inc. has announced plans to build a $3.5 million residential treatment center in Menomonee Falls, Wis. Mental Retardation is a subsidiary of Computer Research Inc., which intends to change its name to Health Service, Inc.

Wall Street Stalls For Tax Vote

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks declined today, but volume lagged as many investors moved to the sidelines to await congressional action on the surtax extension. The House is expected to vote on the measure Monday.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 0.31 per cent on 1,535 issues on the tape. There were 787 declines and 501 advances.

Motors showed scattered weakness following an unfavorable industry report.

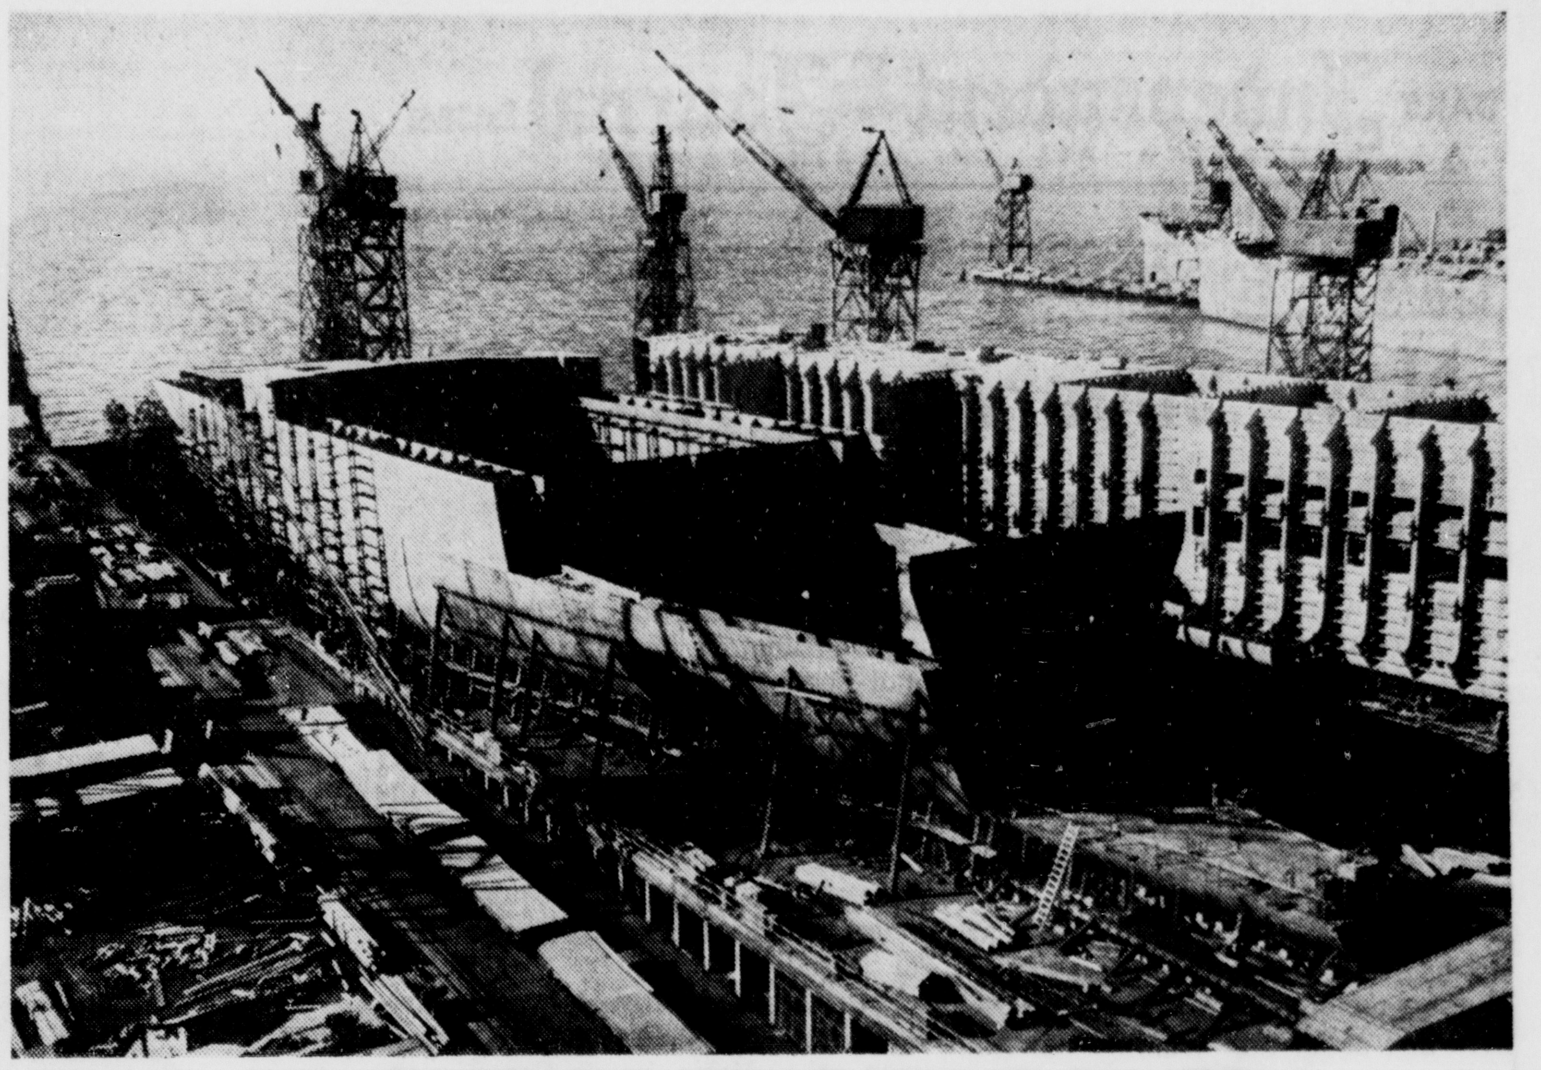
Conglomerates gave ground in many instances, but generally in fractions. Chemicals and steels moved in both directions and in rather narrow ranges.

Aircrafts also trended irregularly, while KLM worked lower in the softer airlines.

Electronics were mixed, with IBM on the upswing after sliding 5 in the previous session. Burroughs also gained.

There were several point-sized movers in both directions among the oils.

Among the most active issues were Martin-Marietta, Mead Corp., Raytheon Co., Benguet, Thiokol Chemical, Scientific Resources, and Natomas.



CONTAINER SHIPS TAKING SHAPE

The embryo of the first of two 33,000-ton, 23-knot container ships being built for Matson Lines intermodal freight services in the Pacific takes shape at Bethlehem Steel Corp. shipyard at Sparrows Point, Md. First vessel is scheduled to be launched next spring for delivery in December. Keel for the second ship was laid Feb. 1 with completion scheduled for March of next year. Cost of the two ships is extimated at $40 million.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Is Best Choice When Safety Important

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a paid-up insurance retirement program with a cash value of $5,000. Starting at age 65 it will pay me $50 a month. Until that time it will earn only 4 per cent interest. I believe I would be better off to take the money out and invest it in a sound mutual fund. I want something secure as I am alone and don't want to take any chances. — P.T.

A. Since you do not say how soon you will be 65, it is difficult to assess the possibility of your being able to increase your capital sufficiently to achieve the kind of return your policy guarantees. Unless you have at least 10 years prior to retiring, I would not advise making the change.

A recent study of 200 mutual funds reveals that on a $10,000 original investment with all distributions reinvested, at the end of 10 years the value of only 50 per cent has reached $20,000.

Q. I am just a housewife starting to invest. I have a small sum that I would like to use buying stocks. Could you suggest a stock for me? — S.W.

A. Hamilton Cosco, trading over the counter, has through acquisitions expanded its product line to include lighting fixtures, kitchen and bathroom wares and small appliances, as well as its original extensive line of metal furniture for home and office. Sales have expanded regularly in the past five years but earnings trended lower until last year when a substantial rebound was achieved.

Four New Shops Planned For Sausalito's Lincoln Apartments

Extensive remodeling now going on at the Lincoln Apartments, 589-595 Bridgeway, Sausalito, by York Construction Co. should see four new shops occupying the ground floor here by the middle or latter part of July.

Planned are a Spanish gift shop; a women's apparel store called Rondi; another men's and women's shop, with some antiques, called Chelsea Gear — a branch of a San Francisco store, and a mod clothes shop.

Remodeling of upstairs apartments will be done later.

TWO SAN RAFAEL BROTHERS, George and Sinclair Moreno, who went to work for Bank of America on the same day, are celebrating their 45th anniversaries with the bank this month. Actually they went to work on a part-time basis on the same day in 1921, and both became full-time employees three years later.

Sinclair

Moreno

For the past nine years George has been manager of the Clay-Montgomery branch in San Francisco. Sinclair entered the Timeplan administration in 1955 and became a vice president in 1962.

T. G. AND Y. DEPARTMENT STORE in Rohnert Park has reported May sales 25 per cent higher than for the same month a year ago. It was the largest percentage increase of any T. G. and Y. store throughout the country. The Rohnert Park store has the third largest growth rate of any store in the chain in California, according to manager John S. Kaufman.

OPPORTUNITY for a tax deduction on an unused piece of property is being suggested by the Atheneum Arts Foundation which must give up occupancy of the old Robert Dollar Estate in San Rafael by Sept. 1. So far, the foundation has not found another address it can take over after that date — and it is still looking.

The foundation does not need 14 rooms and the extensive grounds it now has at the Dollar mansion, but it does require accommodations for a staff of three, meeting rooms for the Marin Civic Ballet, Shakespeare Festival, Marin Symphony Guild, Junior Theater and other non-profit groups without a home — and storage space for its many props.

The idea, of course, is that the foundation would like to have quarters that are rent-free, and believes that this could be used as a tax deduction by the owner of some old mansion not now being occupied. In return for this the foundation would furnish the house, provide labor for the maintenance of the property and make certain repairs.

JIRI HERRMAN of Kentfield, founder and retiring president of Baby News children's department stores, has been cited for more than two decades leadership of the franchised group. He opened the first Baby News store in San Francisco in 1948 and published the first Baby News catalog the same year. He still owns and operates stores in San Francisco and Westlake.

Herrmann

Blake

LEROY J. BLAKE of Sleepy Hollow, regional director for Career Academy, national occupational organization, has returned from a three-day conference in Milwaukee, participating in simulated classes in post-high school training offered by the company.

MICHAEL A. BURKE of San Rafael has joined the San Francisco investment securities firm, Edelstein, Campbell and Co. He was previously with the International Business Machines Corp.

New Center

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Mental Retardation Centers Inc. has announced plans to build a $3.5 million residential treatment center in Menomonee Falls, Wis. Mental Retardation is a subsidiary of Computer Research Inc., which intends to change its name to Health Service, Inc.

Wall Street Stalls For Tax Vote

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks declined today, but volume lagged as many investors moved to the sidelines to await congressional action on the surtax extension. The House is expected to vote on the measure Monday.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 0.31 per cent on 1,535 issues on the tape. There were 787 declines and 501 advances.

Motors showed scattered weakness following an unfavorable industry report.

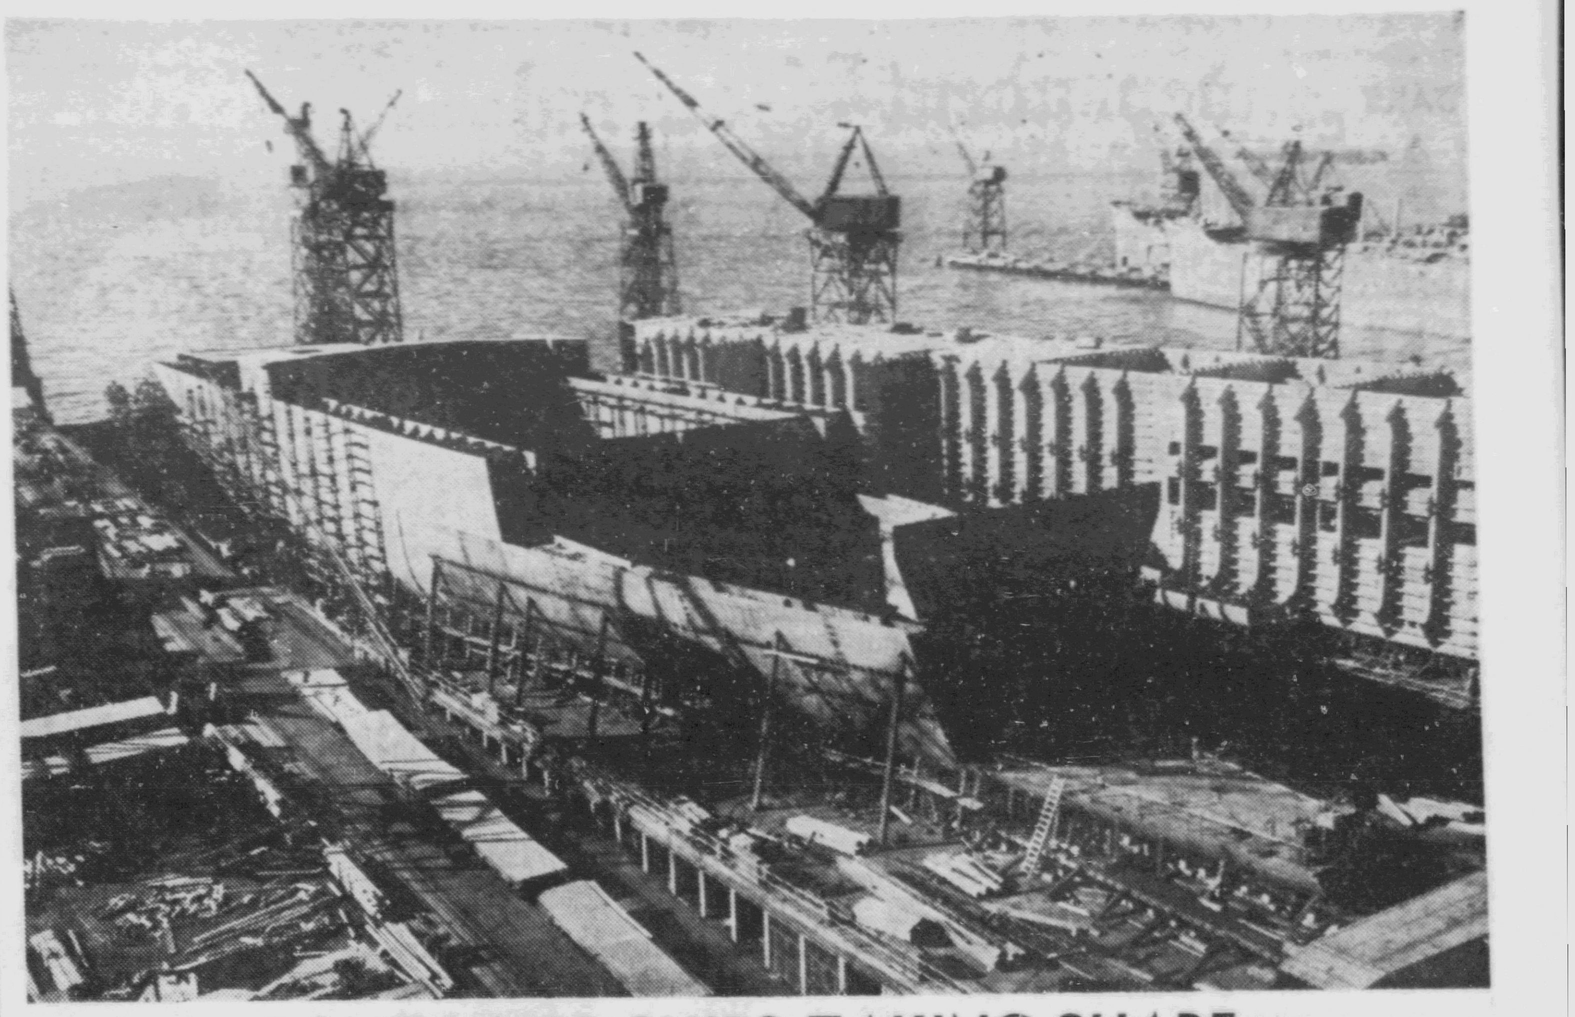
Conglomerates gave ground in many instances, but generally in fractions. Chemicals and steels moved in both directions and in rather narrow ranges.

Aircrafts also trended irregularly, while KLM worked lower in the softer airlines.

Electronics were mixed, with IBM on the upswing after sliding 5 in the previous session. Burroughs also gained.

There were several point-sized movers in both directions among the oils.

Among the most active issues were Martin-Marietta, Mead Corp., Raytheon Co., Benguet, Thiokol Chemical, Scientific Resources, and Natomas.



CONTAINER SHIPS TAKING SHAPE

The embryo of the first of two 33,000-ton, 23-knot container ships being built for Matson Lines intermodal freight services in the Pacific takes shape at Bethlehem Steel Corp, shipyard at Sparrows Point, Md. First vessel is scheduled to be launched next spring for delivery in December. Keel for the second ship was laid Feb. 1 with completion scheduled for March of next year. Cost of the two ships is extimated at $40 million.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Is Best Choice When Safety Important

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a paid-up insurance retirement program with a cash value of $5,000. Starting at age 65 it will pay me $50 a month. Until that time it will earn only 4 per cent interest. I believe I would be better off to take the money out and invest it in a sound mutual fund. I want something secure as I am alone and don't want to take any chances. — P.T.

A. Since you do not say how soon you will be 65, it is difficult to assess the possibility of your being able to increase your capital sufficiently to achieve the kind of return your policy guarantees. Unless you have at least 10 years prior to retiring, I would not advise making the change.

A recent study of 200 mutual funds reveals that on a $10,000 original investment with all distributions reinvested, at the end of 10 years the value of only 50 per cent has reached $20,000.

Q. I am just a housewife starting to invest. I have a small sum that I would like to use buying stocks. Could you suggest a stock for me? — S.W.

A. Hamilton Cosco, trading over the counter, has through acquisitions expanded its product line to include lighting fixtures, kitchen and bathroom wares and small appliances, as well as its original extensive line of metal furniture for home and office. Sales have expanded regularly in the past five years but earnings trended lower until last year when a substantial rebound was achieved.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

New Supervisors Take Middle-Road Approach

Marin County's new Board of Supervisors has gone through its baptism of fire, including a long and tedious budget hearing climaxing six months of decision-making.

The verdict after the first half year of work: Not bad, particularly by a board which many predicted would be split into two battling camps.

When the three new members of the board took their seats at the Civic Center in January, there was considerable talk about the "leanings" of the various supervisors and speculation on how the board may line up over one of the paramount issues in the county — conservation vs. development.

COMMENTATORS WONDERED out loud how new Supervisor Louis H. Baar of San Rafael might align himself with his former colleague on the San Rafael City Council, John F. McInnis, and vote the straight anti-conservation line.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. were tabbed as conservation oriented, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss as the swing vote.

The voting record of the supervisors during the first six months of the new board, however, does not fall into that pattern. There have been one or two instances when "swing vote" Gnoss found himself in the middle, but in the vast majority of cases, the votes have criss-crossed the conservation-development categories in which the individual supervisors had been cast.

Furtunately for Marin, there has not been, at least so far, a hard and fast polarization into two opposing camps. Each supervisor is apparently judging each issue on the merits of the evidence presented before them.

You find Baar leading a delegation from Marin to fight for acquisition of more land for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

In the long struggle by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, the Marin Youth Commission, and the Probation Officer to have a youth coordinator stationed in the probation department, it was Baar who broke the ice by moving to accede to the requests of the three groups.

On yet another issue, the county's supplement to welfare aid, it was Supervisor Michael Wornum who took the hard-line and moved for rejection of any increase in the county supplement. His reasoning (and his colleagues fully agreed) was that the county should not be burdened with increased taxes to support the influx of transient welfare seekers who were freed from the residency requirement by federal courts.

Thus far, the collective decisions of the supervisors indicate, not a drift to opposing poles, but a converging toward the center.

As long as they hew to the center and moderation, county government will be in good hands.

Chinese Houses And Owl Clover

On the hills overlooking Paradise Drive in Corte Madera this June, Chinese houses and owl clover are blooming in large numbers. Both have highly imaginative names and require a little fanciful thinking to see how they got them.

Owl clover is quite small, about six inches tall. Its very profuse yellow or pink blossoms grow on a stalk and some persons see in them a series of very tiny owl heads. The blossoms are very beautiful and complex when studied with a magnifying glass.

The Chinese house also is a stalk plant, growing about a foot tall with many white blossoms which can be seen to resemble pagodas with a little stretch of the imagination.

Both are common late spring wildflowers in Marin.

Computer Technology Could Speed Up Legislative Function

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — California's legislature was another step toward modernization today with the approval of a sub-committee report of the joint committee on legislation, which contained a recommendation to implement the California legislative information program.

Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, R-Cool, is chairman of this committee, and Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, the chairman of the sub-committee, which has had a program under study for some years contemplating application of electronic data processing to many legislative functions.

The application of computer technology to legislative business," said Teale, "will expedite the flow of essential information, and also cut costs."

THE PROGRAM will provide, he said, for immediate searching of statutory documents, improvement of bill drafting procedures, and instantaneous access to the status of any bill moving through the legislative process.

Also, according to Andrew R. Lolli, driector of general services, the program will improve the service of the state printing plant, and cut costs significantly.

The department of general services, Lolli said, presently is taking bids for the installation of photo composition devices in the printing plant which can utilize the advantages of electronic data processing by accepting automatically the output of the legislative program of information for offset printing.

Senator Teale explained that the computer program recommended will permit the legislature to utilize the vast information data banks already accumulating through the use of computers in various state departments.

THE COMPUTERS would produce millions of immediately accessible facts which would be programmed into the machines, and thus provide a system whereby legislation could be based on fact rather than fancy.

As a side observation, it might also be supposed that time of debate might be reduced materially in both houses of the legislature, as members of the senate and assembly, with this vast set of facts available on an instant's notice, might be constrained to limit arguments to facts, instead of dreaming up matters which do not pertain to the measure being debated.

When the system gets working, which by its very nature is a long time in the future, the legislature might also shorten the sessions a great deal, thereby saving taxpayers a large amount of money now spent in expenses and other outlays necessary to keep the 120, $16,000-a-year lawmakers on the job, as the facts they need to pass laws would be immediately available rather then a subject of long research.

USE OF COMPUTERS for legislative information, as Chappie explained, is not a new idea. In fact, it is more than four years ago that experts in the computer field first started studying ways and means to put this development to work for the legislature.

But with the usual legislative disregard for new innovations, the state's solons have dallied on the subject, and even at this time, electronic data processing is far distant from becoming a part of the legislative process.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Do Not Establish A State Religion

"Readers Say" had an interesting letter on June 19 entitled "Catholic Schools Offer Examples."

This letter is a perfect example of superficial thinking upon one of the most important subjects facing us today — the training of our children. The primary and admitted reason the Roman Catholic Church maintains its own schools is to make its students believers in Catholism.

The First Amendment forbids the establishment of religion. Can you think of a better way to establish Catholism as a state religion than to educate our children as Catholic? Public education has its faults, to be sure. But let us work to eradicate the faults, and not to destroy our priceless Constitution.

Teachers Deserve Some Benefits

John Cascone's letter on teacher pay raises would be absurd if it were not a tragic symptom of what is wrong with our society. During the years I have lived in Terra Linda and San Rafael, I have had many opportunities to observe teachers in and out of action, and on the job teaching kids. Not math, French or history, but kids. A more dedicated lot of professionals probably can be found in other school districts in Marin County.

On June 16 to 20, there was a conference at Dominican college: The Community and the Contemporary Arts. Among my classmates are teachers from San Rafael schools and from other parts of the county as well as from other counties. The total enrollment is well over three hundred.

"Oh, but they are there because they get an increase in pay for attending," you might say. Or, "oh, they are there because they have nothing better to do during the week before the start of summer school." Nonsense.

The teachers are there to draw pictures and inferences, they are there to knit, to listen, to think, to read, to discuss, and to exchange opinions and ideas. They are there to learn. Teachers I know are not in teaching because of the munificence of the salary schedules. As an observer, a parent, a taxpayer and a volunteer on community projects, I resent Mr. Cascone's implication that the school board is putting something over on each taxpayer.

Teachers pay taxes.

Teachers get sick.

Why should they not obtain some of the benefits accorded to many workers in private as well as public industry? Why should they not get salaries commensurate with their ability to teach, so they can continue to afford to take courses to stimulate professional growth?

Tiburon Tardy In Budget Discussion

Ever since Tiburon incorporated (on June 24, our city was five years old), the annual salary schedule and the budget have been presented and discussed at the last minute. It has never been discussed before the summer vacation period and has always been at the end of a very long agenda.

Last year, the salary schedule was adopted on June 10. This year, on May 26, a special last minute "Urgency Ordinance No. 32 N.S." (not on the agenda) extended the June 15 deadline until July 31. I assume the discussion of the rest of the budget will not start until some time after that date. This will mean that, as usual, the entire county will be waiting until the last minute for Tiburon to adopt its budget before all the tax rates can be established. What should have been several leisurely public meetings on the budget will become the normally rushed through "HAVE TO-GET-IT-PASSED-TONIGHT" session. There will be very little, if any, time for the local tax payers (those who are not on vacation) to comment or ask questions.

It seems to follow a definite pattern:

The later it comes, the fewer the meetings.

The fewer the meetings, the fewer the questions.

And, the fewer the questions, the easier it slides through.

In contrast, I read in the I-J that many of the cities and other taxing bodies have had some, if not most, of their scheduled sessions at this time.

I do not think this situation is the fault of the city council. They can not discuss publicly what they have not seen privately. During the May 12 meeting, one council member noted that the consideration of the budget was three meetings or six weeks behind. This makes it over twelve weeks behind, as of today.

TRY AND STOP ME

THERE GOES THE MAYOR OF DUBLIN
26

A lady from Brooklyn was watching a big parade on Fifth Avenue. "There goes the Mayor of Dublin," a friend told her, "and beieve it or not, he's Jewish." The Brooklyn lady nodded with approval. "Where else could such a thing happen?" she exclaimed. "Only in America!"

How many of you remember Harry Houdini, the incomparable lock picker and escape artist? His good friend Fulton Oursler steadfastly maintainted that Houdini was the slowest man in history to pick up a luncheon or dinner tab. Just one time, however, Oursler and two other gentlemen outfumbled him. "Houdini," said Oursler, "we have a brand new trick to show you. Just put both your hands on the table, palms down." Houdini, intrigued, obeyed the order just as the waiter hove into view with the bill for the dinner.

On the back of each of Houdini's hands, Oursler now set two glasses of water, filled to the brim. Then, as Houdini scowled helplessly, his friends rose from the table, proposing, "Let's see you get away without paying THIS check!" — and exited contentedly.

Clark Clifford 'Confessional' Spurs Vietnam De-Escalation

WASHINGTON — No one could have been more surprised by President Nixon's hot-and-cold reaction to Clark Clifford's proposal for phasing out America's ground forces in the Vietnam War than Clifford himself. It can nevertheless be said that Clifford has made a major contribution to de-escalation.

He had thought of the article written for Foreign Affairs magazine as a confessional — an account of how one man had moved from a fixed belief that the war had to be fought to a conclusion to the conviction that the Americanization of the conflict was no longer either feasible or morally defensible. There was not the slightest intention to cast aspersions on the cautious policy of the Nixon administration.

A careful reading of the article bears this out. It was, above all, put forward as an objective analysis of the profound change in the circumstances that had led the Johnson administration to make such a massive commitment to a small war.

In 1965 the regime in South Vietnam was on the point of collapse. The training and equipment of the army of the south had been sadly neglected. The choice put up to Lyndon Johnson was between withdrawal and acceptance of defeat and a communist take over or the addition of large numbers of American fighting men to hold the line.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES in South Asia supported the theory that the collapse of South Vietnam would touch off Communist triumphs elsewhere. In Indonesia the communists with the sanction, if not the encouragement of the mercurial Sukarno were consolidating their hold. To divert attention from his failures at home Sukarno was whipping up fervor for a war against Malaysia. Such a war could only serve the cause of chaos and communism.

Events have moved so swiftly in the intervening four years that the most profound change seems an emprobable piece of history. In 1965 Red China and the Soviet Union were to all intents and purposes united in support of Hanoi and the communists. The warning signs of a possible break were so small as to be irrelevant. Soviet material for Hanoi was flowing across China without serious interruption.

Today the two communist giants are at each other's throats.

At the same time the non-communist nations of Asia have shown definite gains. Having wiped out the communists in a fearful blood bath, Indonesia is struggling to find a way out of the mess left behind by Sukarno. Japan has become the world's No. 3 producing nation in an upsurge with few precedents. Taiwan and Korea, the former in particular, are making impressive strides toward economic independence.

In short, the nation's security is no longer involved in the outcome of the war in South Vietnam. India Ideally Suited To Peace-Maker Role

BY PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A spurt of Indian diplomatic activity has led to speculation that India may be about ready to attempt a peace-maker role in Vietnam as she once did in Korea.

This week Mrs. Indira Gandhi is to hold important meetings with Japanese leaders in Tokyo and goes on from there to Indonesia.

Enroute, she is to receive in Bangkok a report from India's foreign affairs secretary, T. N. Kaul, on his just-completed mission to Hanoi.

Lending further weight to the speculation is the fact that in recent weeks Mrs. Gandhi has conferred in Afghanistan with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and in New Delhi with U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The subject of Vietnam is believed to have been high in all these meetings.

INDIA IS in a particularly good position to play an arbiter's role.

She has relations with both North and South Vietnam, and is said on occasion to have acted as a transmission line between the United States and Hanoi.

She also is chairman of the International Control Commission set up to police the 1954 Geneva agreement dividing former French Indo China into independent states.

The commission has been largely inactive in recent years, partly because support money has dwindled and because of a Communist veto on inspection of treaty violations.

Nonetheless it remains in existence, with Poland and Canada as its other members.

A NEW FACTOR is believed to be a changed attitude on the part of the Soviet Union.

In Afghanistan Kosygin discussed with Mrs. Gandhi an Asian security plan to include the nations ringing Red China, a plan also brought up by party leader Leonid Brezhnev at the Moscow conference of 75 world Communist leaders.

At the same meeting, he is said to have given Mrs. Gandhi the go-ahead to take soundings on a possible peace role in Vietnam.

Politically, India would find it difficult to join in any Asian security plan or to permit stationing of foreign bases on her soil.

Japan's no-war constitution also would bar her from any such set up. But both Japan and India have a vital interest in Asian peace and stability.

So it will be more than simple economics that Mrs. Gandhi and Japan's Premier Eisaku Sato will be discussing. And it will be more than U.S. aid to India that Indian Foreign Affairs Minister Dinesh Singh will be discussing when he goes to Washington next month.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

New Supervisors Take Middle-Road Approach

Marin County's new Board of Supervisors has gone through its baptism of fire, including a long and tedious budget hearing climaxing six months of decision-making.

The verdict after the first half year of work: Not bad, particularly by a board which many predicted would be split into two battling camps.

When the three new members of the board took their seats at the Civic Center in January, there was considerable talk about the "leanings" of the various supervisors and speculation on how the board may line up over one of the paramount issues in the county — conservation vs. development.

COMMENTATORS WONDERED out loud how new Supervisor Louis H. Baar of San Rafael might align himself with his former colleague on the San Rafael City Council, John F. McInnis, and vote the straight anti-conservation line.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. were tabbed as conservation oriented, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss as the swing vote.

The voting record of the supervisors during the first six months of the new board, however, does not fall into that pattern. There have been one or two instances when "swing vote" Gnoss found himself in the middle, but in the vast majority of cases, the votes have criss-crossed the conservation-development categories in which the individual supervisors had been cast.

Furtunately for Marin, there has not been, at least so far, a hard and fast polarization into two opposing camps. Each supervisor is apparently judging each issue on the merits of the evidence presented before them.

You find Baar leading a delegation from Marin to fight for acquisition of more land for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

In the long struggle by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, the Marin Youth Commission, and the Probation Officer to have a youth coordinator stationed in the probation department, it was Baar who broke the ice by moving to accede to the requests of the three groups.

On yet another issue, the county's supplement to welfare aid, it was Supervisor Michael Wornum who took the hard-line and moved for rejection of any increase in the county supplement. His reasoning (and his colleagues fully agreed) was that the county should not be burdened with increased taxes to support the influx of transient welfare seekers who were freed from the residency requirement by federal courts.

Thus far, the collective decisions of the supervisors indicate, not a drift to opposing poles, but a converging toward the center.

As long as they hew to the center and moderation, county government will be in good hands.

Chinese Houses And Owl Clover

On the hills overlooking Paradise Drive in Corte Madera this June, Chinese houses and owl clover are blooming in large numbers. Both have highly imaginative names and require a little fanciful thinking to see how they got them.

Owl clover is quite small, about six inches tall. Its very profuse yellow or pink blossoms grow on a stalk and some persons see in them a series of very tiny owl heads. The blossoms are very beautiful and complex when studied with a magnifying glass.

The Chinese house also is a stalk plant, growing about a foot tall with many white blossoms which can be seen to resemble pagodas with a little stretch of the imagination.

Both are common late spring wildflowers in Marin.

Computer Technology Could Speed Up Legislative Function

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — California's legislature was another step toward modernization today with the approval of a sub-committee report of the joint committee on legislation, which contained a recommendation to implement the California legislative information program.

Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, R-Cool, is chairman of this committee, and Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, the chairman of the sub-committee, which has had a program under study for some years contemplating application of electronic data processing to many legislative functions.

The application of computer technology to legislative business," said Teale, "will expedite the flow of essential information, and also cut costs."

THE PROGRAM will provide, he said, for immediate searching of statutory documents, improvement of bill drafting procedures, and instantaneous access to the status of any bill moving through the legislative process.

Also, according to Andrew R. Lolli, driector of general services, the program will improve the service of the state printing plant, and cut costs significantly.

The department of general services, Lolli said, presently is taking bids for the installation of photo composition devices in the printing plant which can utilize the advantages of electronic data processing by accepting automatically the output of the legislative program of information for offset printing.

Senator Teale explained that the computer program recommended will permit the legislature to utilize the vast information data banks already accumulating through the use of computers in various state departments.

THE COMPUTERS would produce millions of immediately accessible facts which would be programmed into the machines, and thus provide a system whereby legislation could be based on fact rather than fancy.

As a side observation, it might also be supposed that time of debate might be reduced materially in both houses of the legislature, as members of the senate and assembly, with this vast set of facts available on an instant's notice, might be constrained to limit arguments to facts, instead of dreaming up matters which do not pertain to the measure being debated.

When the system gets working, which by its very nature is a long time in the future, the legislature might also shorten the sessions a great deal, thereby saving taxpayers a large amount of money now spent in expenses and other outlays necessary to keep the 120, $16,000-a-year lawmakers on the job, as the facts they need to pass laws would be immediately available rather then a subject of long research.

USE OF COMPUTERS for legislative information, as Chappie explained, is not a new idea. In fact, it is more than four years ago that experts in the computer field first started studying ways and means to put this development to work for the legislature.

But with the usual legislative disregard for new innovations, the state's solons have dallied on the subject, and even at this time, electronic data processing is far distant from becoming a part of the legislative process.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Do Not Establish A State Religion

"Readers Say" had an interesting letter on June 19 entitled "Catholic Schools Offer Examples."

This letter is a perfect example of superficial thinking upon one of the most important subjects facing us today — the training of our children. The primary and admitted reason the Roman Catholic Church maintains its own schools is to make its students believers in Catholism.

The First Amendment forbids the establishment of religion. Can you think of a better way to establish Catholism as a state religion than to educate our children as Catholic? Public education has its faults, to be sure. But let us work to eradicate the faults, and not to destroy our priceless Constitution.

Teachers Deserve Some Benefits

John Cascone's letter on teacher pay raises would be absurd if it were not a tragic symptom of what is wrong with our society. During the years I have lived in Terra Linda and San Rafael, I have had many opportunities to observe teachers in and out of action, and on the job teaching kids. Not math, French or history, but kids. A more dedicated lot of professionals probably can be found in other school districts in Marin County.

On June 16 to 20, there was a conference at Dominican college: The Community and the Contemporary Arts. Among my classmates are teachers from San Rafael schools and from other parts of the county as well as from other counties. The total enrollment is well over three hundred.

"Oh, but they are there because they get an increase in pay for attending," you might say. Or, "oh, they are there because they have nothing better to do during the week before the start of summer school." Nonsense.

The teachers are there to draw pictures and inferences, they are there to knit, to listen, to think, to read, to discuss, and to exchange opinions and ideas. They are there to learn. Teachers I know are not in teaching because of the munificence of the salary schedules. As an observer, a parent, a taxpayer and a volunteer on community projects, I resent Mr. Cascone's implication that the school board is putting something over on each taxpayer.

Teachers pay taxes.

Teachers get sick.

Why should they not obtain some of the benefits accorded to many workers in private as well as public industry? Why should they not get salaries commensurate with their ability to teach, so they can continue to afford to take courses to stimulate professional growth?

Tiburon Tardy In Budget Discussion

Ever since Tiburon incorporated (on June 24, our city was five years old), the annual salary schedule and the budget have been presented and discussed at the last minute. It has never been discussed before the summer vacation period and has always been at the end of a very long agenda.

Last year, the salary schedule was adopted on June 10. This year, on May 26, a special last minute "Urgency Ordinance No. 32 N.S." (not on the agenda) extended the June 15 deadline until July 31. I assume the discussion of the rest of the budget will not start until some time after that date. This will mean that, as usual, the entire county will be waiting until the last minute for Tiburon to adopt its budget before all the tax rates can be established. What should have been several leisurely public meetings on the budget will become the normally rushed through "HAVE TO-GET-IT-PASSED-TONIGHT" session. There will be very little, if any, time for the local tax payers (those who are not on vacation) to comment or ask questions.

It seems to follow a definite pattern:

The later it comes, the fewer the meetings.

The fewer the meetings, the fewer the questions.

And, the fewer the questions, the easier it slides through.

In contrast, I read in the I-J that many of the cities and other taxing bodies have had some, if not most, of their scheduled sessions at this time.

I do not think this situation is the fault of the city council. They can not discuss publicly what they have not seen privately. During the May 12 meeting, one council member noted that the consideration of the budget was three meetings or six weeks behind. This makes it over twelve weeks behind, as of today.

A lady from Brooklyn was watching a big parade on Fifth Avenue. "There goes the Mayor of Dublin," a friend told her, "and beleive it or not, he's Jewish." The Brooklyn lady nodded with approval. "Where else could such a thing happen?" she exclaimed. "Only in America!"

How many of you remember Harry Houdini, the incomparable lock picker and escape artist? His good friend Fulton Oursler steadfastly maintainted that Houdini was the slowest man in history to pick up a luncheon or dinner tab. Just one time, however, Oursler and two other gentlemen outfumbled him. "Houdini," said Oursler, "we have a brand new trick to show you. Just put both your hands on the table, palms down." Houdini, intrigued, obeyed the order just as the waiter hove into view with the bill for the dinner.

On the back of each of Houdini's hands, Oursler now set two glasses of water, filled to the brim. Then, as Houdini scowled helplessly, his friends rose from the table, proposing, "Let's see you get away without paying THIS check!" — and exited contentedly.

Clark Clifford 'Confessional' Spurs Vietnam De-Escalation

WASHINGTON — No one could have been more surprised by President Nixon's hot-and-cold reaction to Clark Clifford's proposal for phasing out America's ground forces in the Vietnam War than Clifford himself. It can nevertheless be said that Clifford has made a major contribution to de-escalation.

He had thought of the article written for Foreign Affairs magazine as a confessional — an account of how one man had moved from a fixed belief that the war had to be fought to a conclusion to the conviction that the Americanization of the conflict was no longer either feasible or morally defensible. There was not the slightest intention to cast aspersions on the cautious policy of the Nixon administration.

A careful reading of the article bears this out. It was, above all, put forward as an objective analysis of the profound change in the circumstances that had led the Johnson administration to make such a massive commitment to a small war.

In 1965 the regime in South Vietnam was on the point of collapse. The training and equipment of the army of the south had been sadly neglected. The choice put up to Lyndon Johnson was between withdrawal and acceptance of defeat and a communist take over or the addition of large numbers of American fighting men to hold the line.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES in South Asia supported the theory that the collapse of South Vietnam would touch off Communist triumphs elsewhere. In Indonesia the communists with the sanction, if not the encouragement of the mercurial Sukarno were consolidating their hold. To divert attention from his failures at home Sukarno was whipping up fervor for a war against Malaysia. Such a war could only serve the cause of chaos and communism.

Events have moved so swiftly in the intervening four years that the most profound change seems an emprobable piece of history. In 1965 Red China and the Soviet Union were to all intents and purposes united in support of Hanoi and the communists. The warning signs of a possible break were so small as to be irrelevant. Soviet material for Hanoi was flowing across China without serious interruption.

Today the two communist giants are at each other's throats.

At the same time the non-communist nations of Asia have shown definite gains. Having wiped out the communists in a fearful blood bath, Indonesia is struggling to find a way out of the mess left behind by Sukarno. Japan has become the world's No. 3 producing nation in an upsurge with few precedents. Taiwan and Korea, the former in particular, are making impressive strides toward economic independence.

THE MOST IMPORTANT change of all is in South Vietnam itself. Discounting the claims made for the army of the south by half, the difference between 1965 and 1969 is tremendous. One of Clifford's contributions in his year as secretary of defense was to push the equipment of the South Vietnamese with the M-16 rifle and other modern weapons, as well as to spur their training. I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Kids Stand On Their Heads, Grownups Turn Kids On July 4

There's something going on these days in Larkspur and Corte Madera which makes small kids stand on their heads and grownups turn into kids. It's called Independence Day.

Scoutmaster George Daum has borrowed a cannon from Robert Keefe to set off at flag raising ceremonies at the Corte Madera Town Hall. The cannon is 10 inches tall and, by lanyard, fires a 10-gauge blank shot. "I hope I can wake a few people up," says Daum.

Less cacophonous will be the church bell rings of four churches, exactly at 9 a.m. July 4. How will the bells be coordinated? "We go by the clock," said Father Howard Rasmussen of St. Sebastian's in Kentfield. No ropes to pull, he said he simply pushes a button.

PARADE MARSHAL Al Kogler said that he started running the parade — which this year has 61 entries — four years ago. Though it has grown a lot, he is proud that it remains very local.

Three Lions Club men, Bill Thomas, John McDermott and Al Jones work at the starting line to see that units don't crowd together and don't march out of turn. Kogler shoots up and down and stops off at reviewing stands to solve problems. "I love a parade!" he said.

The annual firemen's ball game will be at Joe Wagner Field, Larkspur, and Fire Capt. Richard Benz won't play this year. "I'm on duty. Somebody has to fight fires," he said. Benz said men in their 60s always show up to play ball, that Larkspur won last year and is also going to win again this year.

FOURTH OF July general chairman Don Beacock says he has watched the two towns "come alive" as a total community and said "you can feel the excitement." "It seems to be going in the way of a real family type celebration," he added.

Many people will be bringing picnic lunches, he said, and spending the day.

Charles Bradley of the Optimist Club says the best deal in food is the free pancake breakfast and that it's the best place to get pancakes in shapes of doughnuts, hot dogs and flowers.

Larkspur's street fair will have a French cafe in addition to craftsmen who make their own wares such as candles, wedding trousseaus and things of leather.

AT THE CORTE Madera Recreation Center will be the Lions' Club spaghetti feed and the food is good, according to Vince Mulligan. "It's a Dago's recipe," he said, "made by Bob Artegiani."

Rock band manager Rick Crandall of Tiburon is getting bands for the street dance in Corte Madera's Village Square. He gets them free.

Crandall can do this, he explained, for two reasons. One, he's been around for a while and has come to know band people on a close basis. Secondly, while most bands need and want money for performances, they also exist to play for people, said the promoter. This year he has "Glass Thunder"—basically a Marin group —and hopes to get the Phananganang and Beefy Red groups too.

HAROLD KELLY, volunteer fireman and a licensed pyrotechnician, has been the fireworks man for 10 years. As a kid, he said, he used to be able to go to a store and pick out any kind of fireworks — cherry bombs, torpedoes or a package of fire crackers for a nickel. "It was one of the most fascinating things in a boy's life," Kelly said.

From Piper Park, Larkspur, Kelly will aim just this side of Corte Madera Creek, he said. His favorites: "The salutes, all they do is shake the ground and go off."

"It's one of the greatest things in the world the way two communities get together and put this on out of the goodness of their hearts," said Barbara Packard, committee secretary. "I love it," she added.

ART BUCHWALD

J. Edgar Would Never Wire-Tap Unless He Got Written Order

WASHINGTON — I have been trying to make head or tail of the Martin Luther King-FBI fire-tapping controversy. There are still many unanswered questions, but as one of J. Edgar Hoover's greatest admirers I am sure that the FBI director would never undertake a wire-tapping job unless he was forced to do it.

No one knows the anguish that Hoover has gone through every time a new attorney general has been sworn in. I can see the scene now:

"Mr. Hoover, I have decided that Raquel Welch must be wire tapped. I am giving you authorization to do the job."

"Oh, sir, please don't make me do it. The thought of listening in on someone else's conversation fills me with despair."

"I'm not interested in your personal feelings, Mr. Hoover. As attorney general, I have to worry about the security of this country; if it means tapping Raquel Welch, then we must do it."

"BUT IT'S SUCH a nasty business. Why can't we live and let live?"

"Don't go soft on me now, Mr. Hoover. We're in a tough business, and we can't allow emotion to enter into it."

"It isn't just me, sir, it's my agents. They just cringe when they have to wire tap an American citizen. If the person says something personal that we're not supposed to hear, it will be on our consciences for the rest of our lives."

"I admire your ethical stand, Mr. Hoover, but there are times when the Justice Department must be kept informed as to what is going on in this country, and the FBI is the only organization equipped to do the job."

"That's true, but we have to think of other factors. Suppose Life magazine or the newspapers got hold of our wire taps? Wouldn't we be violating the person's constitutional rights?"

"HOW COULD Life magazine or the newspapers have access to the FBI wire taps? After all, we're not going to let them out of our hands, are we?"

"But you don't know how persistent the press can be. They just keep calling and calling, asking for the transcripts of people we've tapped, and after a while it's hard for us to say no."

"I admit it is a hazard, but I should think that after all your years as head of the FBI, you'd know how to keep the wire taps confidential."

"I can see why you would think that. But sometimes I get so mad at something written about me that I just lose my temper and release the taps to Life magazine."

"I WOULDN'T ask you to tap anyone, Mr. Hoover, but we have to find out what Miss Welch is up to. And while I am sympathetic to everything you say, I must insist that you follow my orders."

"Oh the shame of it. What have I done to be forced into such a distasteful assignment.

"Now please, Mr. Hoover, don't get overwrought. I'll tell you what. I'll sign the authorization for the wire tapping so that you can keep it in your files, and then in later years if anyone accuses you of wrongdoing, you can blame it on me."

"I'd be so grateful if you would, sir. I want to go down in history as a man who never tapped another person's phone unless ordered to do so from above."

"You're a good man J. Edgar, a good, good man."

Park Preservation Deadline Is Near

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Campers who want to reserve summer space at state park campgrounds must have their applications in the mail by June 30, the Department of Parks and recreation said today.

After that date no more reservations will be made until 1970.

Applications must go directly to the park where space is desired, and must be accompanied by the correct fees, the department said.

Capital Charter Plan Is Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Voters of the state capital yesterday rejected overwhelmingly a new city charter proposing a pay raise for councilmen and direct election of a mayor.

The plan went down to defeat 11,918 in favor to 18,785 against in the final unofficial tabulation. Nearly 29 per cent of Sacramento's 107,000 eligible voters went to the polls.

Council salaries would have been hiked from $100 to $550 a month under the plan. The mayor would be paid $825 monthly.

The proposal also would have replaced the current at-large system by splitting the city into 10 council districts. The voters would have selected the mayor who currently is chosen by the council.

Athletic League Gets Run's Funds

The $210 proceeds from the ridge run have been given to the Marin Athletic League which sponsored the run, John Regan, president of Western Weekend Country Fair, announced yesterday.

A statement on the financial outcome of the celebration is expected from Treasurer Casey Van Gronigan by the first of next week, Regan said.

A committee was named to see if future celebrations should have a parade or not, he said. The committee members are Lavonne Lewis, Terry Bonner, Jackie Monestier, and Edward W. Adams.

Dear Hugh:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thank for the wonderful job that K T I M is doing in broadcasting the license numbers of vehicles stolen in the City of San Rafael. I think this public service is a tremendous asset to local law enforcemnt agencies who are benefited by this service.

We have had several reports that people have heard this broadcast and advised us that these vehicles were abandoned at certain locations. On Sunday, May 11th K T I M broadcast the license number UYS 141, a 1962 white, Chevrolet Impala. A lady driving in Marin County was listening to K T I M when this stolen vehicle was broadcast. To her surprise she noticed the vehicle in front of her was the vehicle in question. She followed this vehicle and it stopped at a residence in Marin County and a young fellow got out of the car. She noted the description of the young fellow and the address of the residence into which he entered and reported this information to our office. With this information Officer Brobeck of this Department was able to clear this case with a minimum of investigation and the suspect was apprehended. This suspect had been involved in other similar incidents.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Kids Stand On Their Heads, Grownups Turn Kids On July 4

There's something going on these days in Larkspur and Corte Madera which makes small kids stand on their heads and grownups turn into kids. It's called Independence Day.

Scoutmaster George Daum has borrowed a cannon from Robert Keefe to set off at flag raising ceremonies at the Corte Madera Town Hall. The cannon is 10 inches tall and, by lanyard, fires a 10-gauge blank shot. "I hope I can wake a few people up," says Daum.

Less cacophonous will be the church bell rings of four churches, exactly at 9 a.m. July 4. How will the bells be coordinated? "We go by the clock," said Father Howard Rasmussen of St. Sebastian's in Kentfield. No ropes to pull, he said he simply pushes a button.

PARADE MARSHAL Al Kogler said that he started running the parade — which this year has 61 entries — four years ago. Though it has grown a lot, he is proud that it remains very local.

Three Lions Club men, Bill Thomas, John McDermott and Al Jones work at the starting line to see that units don't crowd together and don't march out of turn. Kogler shoots up and down and stops off at reviewing stands to solve problems. "I love a parade!" he said.

The annual firemen's ball game will be at Joe Wagner Field, Larkspur, and Fire Capt. Richard Benz won't play this year. "I'm on duty. Somebody has to fight fires," he said. Benz said men in their 60s always show up to play ball, that Larkspur won last year and is also going to win again this year.

FOURTH OF July general chairman Don Beacock says he has watched the two towns "come alive" as a total community and said "you can feel the excitement." "It seems to be going in the way of a real family type celebration," he added.

Many people will be bringing picnic lunches, he said, and spending the day.

Charles Bradley of the Optimist Club says the best deal in food is the free pancake breakfast and that it's the best place to get pancakes in shapes of doughnuts, hot dogs and flowers.

Larkspur's street fair will have a French cafe in addition to craftsmen who make their own wares such as candles, wedding trousseaus and things of leather.

AT THE CORTE Madera Recreation Center will be the Lions' Club spaghetti feed and the food is good, according to Vince Mulligan. "It's a Dago's recipe," he said, "made by Bob Artegiani."

Rock band manager Rick Crandall of Tiburon is getting bands for the street dance in Corte Madera's Village Square. He gets them free.

Crandall can do this, he explained, for two reasons. One, he's been around for a while and has come to know band people on a close basis. Secondly, while most bands need and want money for performances, they also exist to play for people, said the promoter. This year he has "Glass Thunder"—basically a Marin group—and hopes to get the Phananganang and Beefy Red groups too.

HAROLD KELLY, volunteer fireman and a licensed pyrotechnician, has been the fireworks man for 10 years. As a kid, he said, he used to be able to go to a store and pick out any kind of fireworks — cherry bombs, torpedoes or a package of fire crackers for a nickel. "It was one of the most fascinating things in a boy's life," Kelly said.

From Piper Park, Larkspur, Kelly will aim just this side of Corte Madera Creek, he said. His favorites: "The salutes, all they do is shake the ground and go off."

"It's one of the greatest things in the world the way two communities get together and put this on out of the goodness of their hearts," said Barbara Packard, committee secretary. "I love it," she added.

ART BUCHWALD

J. Edgar Would Never Wire-Tap Unless He Got Written Order

WASHINGTON — I have been trying to make head or tail of the Martin Luther King-FBI fire-tapping controversy. There are still many unanswered questions, but as one of J. Edgar Hoover's greatest admirers I am sure that the FBI director would never undertake a wire-tapping job unless he was forced to do it.

No one knows the anguish that Hoover has gone through every time a new attorney general has been sworn in. I can see the scene now:

"Mr. Hoover, I have decided that Raquel Welch must be wire tapped. I am giving you authorization to do the job."

"Oh, sir, please don't make me do it. The thought of listening in on someone else's conversation fills me with despair."

"I'm not interested in your personal feelings, Mr. Hoover. As attorney general, I have to worry about the security of this country; if it means tapping Raquel Welch, then we must do it."

"BUT IT'S SUCH a nasty business. Why can't we live and let live?"

"Don't go soft on me now, Mr. Hoover. We're in a tough business, and we can't allow emotion to enter into it."

"It isn't just me, sir, it's my agents. They just cringe when they have to wire tap an American citizen. If the person says something personal that we're not supposed to hear, it will be on our consciences for the rest of our lives."

"I admire your ethical stand, Mr. Hoover, but there are times when the Justice Department must be kept informed as to what is going on in this country, and the FBI is the only organization equipped to do the job."

"That's true, but we have to think of other factors. Suppose Life magazine or the newspapers got hold of our wire taps? Wouldn't we be violating the person's constitutional rights?"

"HOW COULD Life magazine or the newspapers have access to the FBI wire taps? After all, we're not going to let them out of our hands, are we?"

"But you don't know how persistent the press can be. They just keep calling and calling, asking for the transcripts of people we've tapped, and after a while it's hard for us to say no."

"I admit it is a hazard, but I should think that after all your years as head of the FBI, you'd know how to keep the wire taps confidential."

"I can see why you would think that. But sometimes I get so mad at something written about me that I just lose my temper and release the taps to Life magazine."

"I WOULDN'T ask you to tap anyone, Mr. Hoover, but we have to find out what Miss Welch is up to. And while I am sympathetic to everything you say, I must insist that you follow my orders."

"Oh the shame of it. What have I done to be forced into such a distasteful assignment.

"Now please, Mr. Hoover, don't get overwrought. I'll tell you what, I'll sign the authorization for the wire tapping so that you can keep it in your files, and then in later years if anyone accuses you of wrongdoing, you can blame it on me."

"I'd be so grateful if you would, sir. I want to go down in history as a man who never tapped another person's phone unless ordered to do so from above."

"You're a good man J. Edgar, a good, good man."

Park Preservation Deadline Is Near

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Campers who want to reserve summer space at state park campgrounds must have their applications in the mail by June 30, the Department of Parks and recreation said today.

After that date no more reservations will be made until 1970.

Applications must go directly to the park where space is desired, and must be accompanied by the correct fees, the department said.

Tools Stolen

Jules E. Chorre of 31 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow reported to the sheriff's department Monday that while he was on his vacation someone stole a propane torch, $3, a hammer and a wrench from his home, officers said yesterday.

Capital Charter Plan Is Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Voters of the state capital yesterday rejected overwhelmingly a new city charter proposing a pay raise for councilmen and direct election of a mayor.

The plan went down to defeat 11,918 in favor to 18,785 against in the final unofficial tabulation. Nearly 29 per cent of Sacramento's 107,000 eligible voters went to the polls.

Council salaries would have been hiked from $100 to $550 a month under the plan. The mayor would be paid $825 monthly.

The proposal also would have replaced the current at-large system by splitting the city into 10 council districts. The voters would have selected the mayor who currently is chosen by the council.

Athletic League Gets Run's Funds

The $210 proceeds from the ridge run have been given to the Marin Athletic League which sponsored the run, John Regan, president of Western Weekend Country Fair, announced yesterday.

A statement on the financial outcome of the celebration is expected from Treasurer Casey Van Gronigan by the first of next week, Regan said.

A committee was named to see if future celebrations should have a parade or not, he said. The committee members are Lavonne Lewis, Terry Bonner, Jackie Monestier, and Edward W. Adams.

Algae are the dominant plants in the ocean. One of the 6,000 species, the giant kelp, grows to a length of 100 feet.

Dear Hugh:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thank for the wonderful job that K T I M is doing in broadcasting the license numbers of vehicles stolen in the City of San Rafael. I think this public service is a tremendous asset to local law enforcemnt agencies who are benefited by this service.

We have had several reports that people have heard this broadcast and advised us that these vehicles were abandoned at certain locations. On Sunday, May 11th K T I M broadcast the license number UYS 141, a 1962 white, Chevrolet Impala. A lady driving in Marin County was listening to K T I M when this stolen vehicle was broadcast. To her surprise she noticed the vehicle in front of her was the vehicle in question. She followed this vehicle and it stopped at a residence in Marin County and a young fellow got out of the car. She noted the description of the young fellow and the address of the residence into which he entered and reported this information to our office. With this information Officer Brobeck of this Department was able to clear this case with a minimum of investigation and the suspect was apprehended. This suspect had been involved in other similar incidents.

Again thank you for your cooperation and excellent service to this community.

Ban On Voter Literacy Tests Sought By Nixon

Proposal Aimed At States In The South

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration proposed today a nationwide ban on voter literacy tests and on state residency requirements for presidential elections.

The administration also called for enforcement powers that would allow the attorney general to dispatch federal voting examiners and observers anywhere in the nation.

The package, submitted by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, would be a major expansion of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which primarily affected seven Southern states where more than 800,000 Negroes have been added to the voting rolls in the last four years.

"We have come to the firm conclusion that voting rights is no longer a regional issue," Mitchell told a House judiciary subcommittee considering an extension of the 1965 law.

"It is a national concern for every American and must be treated on a nationwide basis," he said.

Although much wider in scope than the current legislation, the administration proposals amount to a partial concession to the South since that region no longer would be singled for federal attention.

The package came after weeks of debate within the administration. Largely because no consensus could be reached, Mitchell canceled four previous scheduled appearances before the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Mitchell's proposal was attacked by a Negro civil rights leader, who called it "a sophisticated, calculated, incredible effort on the part of the chief lawyer of the United States to make it impossible for us to continue on the constructive course we have followed under the existing legislation."

Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Congress would never act on such a far-reaching bill as the administration is proposing by the August 1970 deadline for the existing law. Should Congress refuse to act, the result could be no law in this field.

With the proposals finally settled, Mitchell called for five amendments to the 1965 law. They would provide:

A nationwide ban on literacy tests until at least Jan. 1, 1974.

Authority for the Justice Department to start voting rights lawsuits and to ask for a freeze on discriminatory voting laws.

Appointment by the President of a national voting advi-

Pentagon Under Fire On 'Berets'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., today accused the Pentagon of subsidizing John Wayne — perhaps by as much as $1 million — in helping him produce "The Green Berets."

Rosenthal released a General Accounting Office (GAO) report revealing the Army charged Wayne's movie making company, Batjac Productions Inc., $18,623.64 for the assistance it provided him in making the film.

'ONE-SIDED VIEW'

The fee covered the use of parts of Fort Benning, Ga., for more than 100 days and uncounted troops, helicopters, weapons, bulldozers and other equipment.

Rosenthal labeled the movie "a glorified portrayal of the Vietnam War," and "a one-sided view" of a controversial issue. The film, made in 1967, supported U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

"The Green Berets" has grossed $10 million domestically in the year since it moved into American theaters and expects to gross another $6 million to $8 million from foreign showings. Production, distribution and other costs reportedly reached about $10 million.

WORTH $1 MILLION?

How much the government assistance to Wayne was actually worth has not been calculated by the GAO or anybody else, Rosenthal said.

"Some people have suggested $1 million," Rosenthal told a news conference. "Maybe it should be more than that."

Wayne's son, Mike, an executive of Batjac and the official producer of the movie, disagreed with Rosenthal's claim that the taxpayers were short-changed.

He said yesterday in Los Angeles: "We put in $150,000 worth of improvement at Fort

PEACE TALK CHARGE

Nixon Policy Called Deceitful

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnam denounced President Richard M. Nixon's Vietnam policy today as deceitful. They said he was following a dead-end road in trying to maintain the Saigon regime and to replace U.S. troops with South Vietnamese.

The Viet Cong's new provisional revolutionary government described Nixon's hopes as "sheer illusions." North Vietnam called the U.S. troop withdrawal statements "an act in a comedy played out to appease and deceive" public opinion.

The attack on the so-called U.S. de-Americanization policy was the major theme in speeches delivered at the 23rd full-scale session of the Vietnam peace talks by Mrs. Nguyen Thi Bihn, the Viet Cong representative, and Ha Van Lau, North Vietnamese negotiator.

U.S Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge replied that the other side's demands for the overthrow of President Nguyen Van Thieu "cannot be described as a sincere effort to find a common ground or to negotiate."

"It is an effort to predetermine the outcome of the negotiation before it has begun," he said. "It must be characterized as an unreasonable position which delays progress at these meetings. As President Nixon made clear in his press conference on June 19, we categorically reject your demand that we replace the legitimate government of the Republic of Vietnam."

Lodge accused the other side of distorting Nixon's position on troop withdrawals. He said the attack on the decision to withdraw 25,000 U.S. troops was "a complete and irresponsible misrepresentation of a major initiative" taken by Nixon and Thieu. He repeated that further withdrawals will depend upon the training and equipping of South Vietnamese forces, the military situation and progress in the peace talks.

The U.S. negotiator made no reference to Nixon's June 19 statement that he hoped to have all U.S. ground forces out of

California Tests On Literacy

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Nixon administration's proposal to ban voter literacy tests would not necessarily eliminate California's English literacy requirement, a state election official said today.

California requires voters to be able to read the state constitution in English. What this means in practice, Assistant Secretary of State H. P. Sullivan said, is that prospective registrants are asked to read aloud from a portion of the affidavit of registration.

He said the test is only applied when a deputy registrar doubts the registrant's ability to read English.

The Nixon administration today proposed banning literacy requirements in all 50 states and also proposed banning all state residency requirements for presidential elections.

Sullivan said that for the federal laws to invalidate California's constitutional requirements, the state provisions would first have to be challenged in court and struck down.

The Assembly approved June 3 a constitutional amendment enabling Spanish-reading citizens to vote, but the state Senate has rejected a similar plan.

Assemblyman David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, author of the Assembly bill, today called the Nixon proposal "outstanding."

Roberti said that under present residency laws, "a tremendous number of people are disenfranchised." He referred specifically to migrant farm workers who constantly move around within the state.

Another Night Of Racial Unrest Leaves Omaha Buildings Gutted

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Business buildings along a six-block stretch were smoldering or in ruins today after a night of burning, looting and sniping in the predominantly Negro near north side of the city.

No serious injuries were reported.

It was the second consecutive night of disorder touched off by the fatal shooting of a 14-year-old Negro girl by a white policeman—James Loder, 30, identified in his city personnel file as an adopted son of film actress Hedy Lamarr.

Vandalism and looting were reported by police in an area 55 blocks long and 24 blocks wide.

Firemen who were the targets of bricks and bottles refused to fight flames in the business section until provided with a police escort. Police Lt. Lewis Ruberti said shots were fired at a number of his men.

Helmeted police armed with riot guns were stationed around the firemen and their rigs as the flames illuminated the muggy summer sky.

The central police station reported that at least 30 persons had been jailed on charges ranging from carrying concealed weapons to illegal entry of a building.

Major fires were confined to the main business street although minor ones broke out elsewhere in the area.

Vandalism, window-breaking and looting were widespread. "They just seem to be jumping around and hitting us everywhere," said Police Inspector Al Pattavina.

An officer of the Omaha unit of the Nebraska National Guard reported early today that his men were standing by—apparently at the request of Mayor Eugene Leahy.

All off-duty firemen were called in.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann flew back from South Dakota Wednesday night after being informed of the situation.

The shooting of the girl, Vivian Strong, occurred Tuesday night when police answered a call of a reported break-in at a low income housing area.

Loder was charged with manslaughter yesterday in Omaha Municipal Court. He pleaded innocent and was released under bond. He declined to discuss the incident with newsmen.

Loder has been suspended from the police force for 15 days.

Rocky Visit, Buenos Aires Fires Linked

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Ten supermarkets of a firm owned by the Rockefeller family were set ablaze here today, despite beefed-up security patrols to protect U.S. companies. Some of the buildings were destroyed.

The attacks apparently are linked to the scheduled visit of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is expected here Sunday on the fourth lap of his fact-finding Latin-American mission for President Nixon. From Argentina the New York governor will go to Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, Barbados and Guyana.

The supermarkets are owned by Minimax, which has set up 21 supermarkets in this city and its outskirts.

Fair Gates Swing Open In Petaluma

With a scurry of last minute music, 4-H club members from Sonoma and Marin prepared for the judging rituals in dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine. Judging will continue through Saturday.

Highlighting today's activity at the fair will be the 8 p.m. selection of a Miss Marin and a Miss Sonoma who will go on to represent their counties at the Maid of California contest at the state fair in Sacramento.

Marin candidates include Jo Ann Brady of Novato, Darleen Sawdo and Suzanne Nattress of San Rafael, Kathleen Hodge of San Quentin Village, Sharon Vitalie of Corte Madera and Susan Camiccia of Fairfax.

Seeking the title of Miss Sonoma are Mariann Orchard of Petaluma, Charlene Miles of Santa Rosa, Rolanda Osmon of Cloverdale, and Debbie Howard and Susan Garrison, both of Sebastopol.

Senate Sends Budget To Conference Room

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate wound up two days of legislative dramatics today by quietly sending Gov. Ronald Reagan's $6.19 billion budget to a two-house conference committee that will write a compromise version of the state's biggest spending program.

Three senators and three assemblymen will now meet and try to agree on a final budget before a crucial deadline—midnight Monday, the end of the current fiscal year. If there's no budget by then, the state won't be able to pay its bills beginning July 1.

A 33-1 vote rejected the Assembly version of the budget—a version that moved out of the lower house in exciting fashion late Wednesday when Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, made a painful trip to the Capitol from his sickbed to cast a key vote.

That vote crushed a Democratic budget roadblock that had held up the budget for two days.

There was no debate in the Senate over the routine move, in contrast to the fireworks in the Assembly where Democrats and Republicans have feuded angrily.

Differences between the Senate and Assembly budgets are substantial. The Senate cut Reagan's budget request by some $27 million. The Assembly boosted it by more than $2 million.

And even if the Senate and Assembly compromise their differences by the deadline, the budget still must win support of Assembly Democrats. They want more school aid and tax reform as the price of their budget vote.

A two-thirds vote of 54 is needed in a house that is Republican by only a narrow 41-39 margin.

'OH HAPPY DAY'

Powell Visits House With Prayer, Talk

He leaned back in his chair in his congressional office yesterday and sang a bit of it. "Oh Happy Day! Jesus washed my sins away."

It was his first visit to the House since the Supreme Court ruled last week he never should have been excluded from the 90th Congress, and he was in an exaltant mood.

"I'm on cloud nine," he said. "My lawyers are on cloud nine. If they ever come down we'll decide what to do next."

What Powell might do next has House leaders on edge. They don't like to imagine the consequences if he presses for back pay or restoration of his congressional seniority and the prerogatives that go with it.

The pay issue will have to be settled by the courts if Powell decides to pursue it. He regards the seniority question as already settled.

"That's what the Supreme Court decision meant," he said. "The seniority chain that was broken when the one link of the 90th Congress was taken out has been restored by the court."

If the House leaders accepted Powell's interpretation they would have to deal with the problem of his lost chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee. There is little chance of his getting it back, but to deny it to him if he is actually the senior member is to question the sanctity of the seniority system.

"The landmark decision of the court is the real victory," he said. "The rest is inconsequential. The history books may try to make me out a scoundrel but they'll have to put this in too."

Powell, who has been an infrequent visitor to the House this year, indicated he has no plans to change his ways. "I'm a parttime Congressman because I'm a parttime paid Congressman," he said, referring to the $25,000 the House fined him as a condition for seating him in this session.

Even if he should press his claim for back pay and win, he said, he would not keep any of the money. "I'd give it all to my lawyers," he said, "because they have all served without fee."

Powell delivered scores of addresses to college groups last year at an average fee of $1,750 each. He is already lining up speaking engagements for the next academic year. But now his price is up to $2,500 to $3,000 and he has acquired a professional booking agent.

Powell's mood was much more solemn shortly before he talked to newsmen in his office. The first anyone knew he was in town was when he appeared suddenly on the Capitol steps carrying a large bible to take part in an anti-Vietnam war demonstration by a Quaker group.

With bowed head and closed eyes he led a Quaker prayer of meditation and then delivered a short prayer that concluded the demonstration.

Rabbi To Conduct Sunday Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Jewish rabbi will officiate at religious services at the White House Sunday.

Dr. Louis Kinkelstein, chancellor of Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City, will preside at 11 a.m. services in the East Room.

The choir from Christ Lutheran Church in Washington will provide the music.

This will be the eighth in a series of religious services President Richard M. Nixon has had in the White House since becoming President.

House Surtax Vote Scheduled Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic House chiefs have decided to call for a vote on President Richard M. Nixon's surtax extension Monday—a week or more earlier than expected—after receiving assurance Republican members have closed ranks behind the plan.

The House will take up tomorrow an emergency measure to extend present withholding rates through July 31. Otherwise, they would drop to pre-surtax rates at midnight Monday when the original 10 per cent income tax surcharge expires.

Even if the House passes the surtax Monday, the Senate still must act in committee and on the floor, so there is no chance of enactment by the midnight June 30 deadline.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said about 170 Republican votes for surtax extension are in sight after Nixon appealed for votes at a Republican conference yesterday.

This would mean only about 50 of the 245 Democrats would have to vote favorably to pass the measure. Some Republicans suggested, however, that Ford's count may be optimistic.

After headcounts showed substantial lack of firm Democratic support, leaders had postponed a vote scheduled for yesterday. Ford's report, however, caused them to reconsider plans to let the surtax lie over until after the July. 4 holiday.

The surtax issue became linked with legislation on the federal program for aid to dependent children. Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., blocked shortcut action on the withholding extension yesterday, demanding the House move on a bill to lift a freeze on the number of children who may be included in the program.

The freeze, voted more than a year ago, actually never has gone into effect. Congress suspended it for a year, which expires Monday. The Senate has voted for outright repeal, but that bill has not been acted on in the House.

After Burton's move, a Senate-House conference was set up and leaders expected to bring up legislation at least to continue the suspension tomorrow.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Border Policy

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Klaus Scheutz said today West Germany should recognize the Oder-Neisse line as Poland's western border.

He was referring to the Oder and Neisse rivers, which were made Poland's temporary western border by the Potsdam Conference in 1945 pending a peace treaty between the two nations.

Poland was awarded temporary administration over several former German territories east of the Oder-Neisse line and this has been a sore point in Polish-West German relations.

Rehearsal Near

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 11 launch team today readied rocket and spaceship for a seven-day countdown rehearsal for next month's man-to-the-moon mission.

The rehearsal starts early tomorrow and involves all countdown steps planned for the launch, including loading tons of propellant aboard the 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket.

The first phase of the practice count is to end next Wednesday. The following day, with the fuel tanks emptied, the three astronauts are to participate in a practice of the final hours of the countdown.

Baptism Rule

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholic parents who do not practice their religion but want their children baptized out of habit or because it signifies some sort of "magic" may be refused by their parish priest, the Vatican weekly L'Osservatore Della Domenica said today.

The article was signed by a leading theologian, Archbishop Ferdinand Lambruschina, the prelate Pope Paul VI chose to introduce his encyclical on birth control to the press.

The archbishop condemned the idea that baptism should be administered at an advanced age because of the "fear that the christening of the newlyborn represents a violation of individual freedom." He said this idea was spreading in English-speaking countries.

Liquor Stolen

Burglars who entered the garage at the home of Hans Randrup of 44 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys either Sunday or Monday took a great quantity of liquor, including four gallons of rum, three gallons of gin, a case each of burbon and wine and four half-gallon containers of wine, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Rioting Kills Four

ISTANBUL (AP) — Four persons were killed and 37 injured, many seriously, in fighting after a soccer match near Ankara, reports from area said today. Eleven persons were arrested.

The Turkish radio said the riots started yesterday afternoon in Kirikkale when two soccer teams, Kirikkale and Tarsus, ended a league match in a 1-1 draw.

Riot police fired into the air in an effort to quell the uprising, a broadcast said.

Moon Trip Costs

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Wernher von Braun says that in 30 or 40 years passengers will travel to the moon for the price of a transatlantic flight in spaceships looking much like present-day airliners but without wings.

Von Braun, head of the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., arrived yesterday for a space congress.

He said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is working on plans for spaceships that can be used up to a hundred times. He said the rocket would be refueled after landing and relaunched into orbit.

AWAITS RETURN—Singer Liza Minelli, daughter of the late Judy Garland, sits in a car in New York City last night prior to meeting the body of her mother which was returned early today from London where the singer-actress died Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Judy Garland Rites Set; Body Arrives In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of Judy Garland was returned to New York early today.

Except for the singer's daughter, Liza Minnelli, only police, newsmen and cargo handlers were present when the jetliner from London taxied up to Kennedy Airport's International Arrivals Building shortly before 1 a.m.

Liza waited in a heavily guarded limousine outside the building while Mickey Deans, the entertainer's fifth husband, and Rev. Peter Delaney, who married the couple three months ago, stepped from the plane.

Dean, looking pale, waited until the other passengers left and went to the rear of the plane to watch as the burlap-covered coffin was transferred to the hearse. Then he and Delaney left with Miss Minnelli.

The hearse drove to a Madison Avenue funeral chapel where a private funeral will be held tomorrow. The body will in a glass-covered coffin for public viewing today and tomorrow.

Miss Garland, 47, collapsed and died in the bathroom of her Chelsea home Sunday.

Israeli, Arab Jet Victories Are Boasted

TEL AVI (AP) — Israeli warplanes knocked out two Egyptian jet fighters in an air battle over the Gulf of Suez today, the army announced.

A spokesman said a group of Soviet-built MIG21s flying over the northern part of the gulf encountered patrolling Israeli fighters.

One MIG was seen plunging into Egyptian territory, he told reporters. In a later statement, the army said a second Arab plane was hit "and evidently destroyed."

It was the third Egyptian MIG 21 Israel has claimed shooting down in three days. A MIG was reported down in the same region — just south of the Suez Canal's southern outlet — Tuesday.

Israel says it has shot down 21 Soviet-made Egyptian warplanes since the 1967 Middle East war.

A communique from Cairo said Egyptian jets "hit" two Israeli fighters after they tried to violate Egyptian air space.

It was not immediately learned whether the two planes reported "hit" were shot down.

Elsewhere in the Middle East, the Israeli army said six of its soldiers were wounded, one seriously, when their vehicle ran over a mine 50 miles south of the Dead Sea last night.

In Tel Aviv, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned Israel to prepare for a renewal of war by Egypt.

"Egypt is the main enemy facing Israel today. Cairo's forces along the Suez Canal cease-fire line are going through a process of activization," he told a convention of farmers. Dayan said the situation on three fronts facing Israel shows increasing threats.

Deadly Siege Grips Vietnam Border Camp

By PETER ARNETT

BEN HET, Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners openly bombard this Special Forces camp from surrounding ridges. Prisoners released by North Vietnamese troops bring in letters from the enemy, boasting they intend to overrun it.

Ben Het is cut off by road and its airstrip is closed. The 700 South Vietnamese defenders, a small team of Green Berets and two American artillery batteries are sporadically supplied by airdrops and an occasional helicopter.

"Saigon keeps asking why we don't lift the siege," said one American officer. "I tell them why we can't. The troops are tired; the Vietnamese may have taken as many as 50 per cent casualties. We need more people, fresh people."

Ben Het, six miles from the Cambodian and Laotian borders and 280 miles northeast of Saigon, has become the focal point in a battle that began around Dak To early in May. Since June 6 the pressure on Ben Het has been severe, with more than 3,000 enemy surrounding the base.

"It is death to walk on the airstrip. They keep zapping it with 12.7 mm machine guns in the trees," said one of the U.S. Special Forces advisers.

The 10-mile road to the camp from the main base at Dak To is littered with burned and abandoned trucks, evidence of recent unsuccessful attempts to run convoys to the camp. Two small convoys rushed through Monday and Tuesday, but no more are planned in the immediate future.

Americans at Ben Het say that if the camp is the main target of the enemy push, then only the constant bombing strikes and enormous artillery support has averted it so far.

The North Vietnamese are hurling a dozen kinds of shells and projectiles at the camp—85mm guns fired from caves on both sides of the Cambodian border six miles to the west; 120mm mortars and 82mm mortars closer in; B40 rockets from as close as 300 yards in broad daylight; 122mm and 107mm rockets; 60mm mortars, and recoilless rifle fire.

The puffs of guns firing from a ridgeline three miles away were clearly visible in the camp today.

The North Vietnamese gunners are deadly accurate. This month alone, more than 100 Americans have been killed and wounded at Ben Het. More civilian irregular Montagnards than Americans have been killed.

Every helicopter that lands gets shot at by snipers on its way in and out, and by mortars when it is on the ground.

About nine battalions of Vietnamese regular army infantry and civilian irregulars—up to 5,000 men—have been deployed around the camp. The U.S. Command views the battle as a test of the South Vietnamese army against the North.

But high casualties among the government troops have worn down morale, according to Americans here.

The top U.S. officer, Lt. Col. Andrew Marquis said the prisoners who brought the North Vietnamese propaganda letters when they were released were government rangers captured late in May.

"You have no chance," one letter said. "We will overrun you. We will welcome you to our ranks, and bring your families. We don't want to kill women and children," referring was to dependents of the Montagnard soldiers in the camp.

Another in English and addressed to the Americans said: "Why die for the South Vietnamese? Give up your fight. President Nixon has already stated that he will withdraw all Americans, so why die in the last phases of the war."

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese troops briefly attacked U.S. Marines from the 9th Regiment early this morning. The regiment is being redeployed to Okinawa by the end of August.

A Marine F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down yesterday seven miles south of the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone. The two crewmen were rescued.

U.S. headquarters reported 247 Americans killed in the period ending at midnight Saturday, a decrease of 88 deaths from the previous week.

Western Weekend's Profits Told

With four organizations yet to report, Novato's Western Weekend Country Fair was taken in $5,057 so far, according to fair president John Regan. Expenses to be paid out of the proceeds have not yet been totaled.

This income is $2,917 from the carnival; $1,582 from booths reporting to date; $518 from the candy wagon and $40 from the novelty stand.

The carnival grossed $13,741 of which Western Weekend gets 20 per cent of the first $10,000 and 25 per cent above that, he said. The booths which have reported so far have grossed $10,580 of which the fair gets 15 per cent.

The gross by organizations reporting was: De Molay, $420; Job's Daughters, $377; Beta Sigma Phi, $848; Kiwanis Club, $1,415; Novato Hostess Club, $630; Mariner's Club, $639; Marin Athletic League, $210; Golden Gate Mustang Club, $411; Novato Republican Women, $920; Novato High School Buzettes, $940; Lions Club, $569; Jaycees, $700; San Marin Lettermen, $664; Novatans for Racial Equality, $1,046; American Legion, $510, and Dervin Mustang, $480.

Benning. We used equipment as it was available. If it (the equipment) used gasoline, we paid for it."

But Rosenthal saw it otherwise.

"The purpose of this film apparently was, on the one hand purely commercial for Mr. John Wayne, whose company president said the film cost $10 million to produce and circulate," the congressman stated. "On the other hand, it became a useful and skilled device employed by the Pentagon to present a view of the war which was disputed in 1967, when the film was made, and is largely repudiated today."

The GAO also reported that Wayne contacted the White House in December of 1966 seeking government cooperation in producing the film and was referred to the Defense Department. The GAO did not specify to whom Wayne spoke at the White House nor at the Pentagon.

Novatan Second In State Contest

Douglas Waterhouse of Novato placed second in the statewide carpenter apprenticeship contest held last week in Los Angeles.

Waterhouse, of 1117 Ferris Drive, lost to a man he had beaten in the Carpenters Bay Counties District Council contest in May. James Kenney of Local 642 in Richmond placed first in the state after winning second in the Bay Area competition.

Waterhouse is a member of Marin Carpenters Local 35 and the third man in three years to win first in the bay district conztest.

Warrants Issued In Cycle Theft

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail last night on a warrant charging him with stealing a motorcycle in Fairfax March 29.

Cragi Champie, of 67 Raven Road, was held on bail of $902 to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fairfax police reported they stopped Champie and two other youths at 2 a.m. March 29 in a pickup truck carrying a motorcycle owned by Harold Buck of 75 Laurel Drive.

Warrants have also been issued for Edward Thompson III, 19, and James Callan, 23, both of 40 Coletta Avenue, San Anselmo.

Corte Madera Eyes Teen Center Plans

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission agreed last night that it would like to see teen-agers work on the town's proposed teen center and set 7:39 p.m., July 16 as a time for a discussion. No meeting place was set.

Commissioners discussed landscaping plans for the small island in Village Square but took no action, secretary Marian Tadlock reported. It was reported by Recreation Director Robert C. Bundy that there are 42 teen volunteers working in the summer recreation program.

Contending the 1965 act had brought about "impressive results" in the South, Mitchell said so many Negroes have been registered that there are other states—unaffected by current legislation—where a smaller percentage of Negroes is on the voting rolls.

Therefore, he said, "I cannot support a simple five-year extension" of the 1965 law.

"I cannot support what amounts to regional legislation," he added. "While Congress may have had sufficient reason to pass regional legislation in the 1965 act, I do not believe that this justification exists any longer."

"Circumstances have changed," he said, "and I believe that our legislative approach must change."

TALKS

Vietnam by the end of 1970.

He appealed for the beginning of serious negotiations and said the United States is ready to examine every avenue that might lead to peace.

"It is unfortunate, therefore that your side persistently distorts the meaning of our words and our actions," he said. "It is unfortunate that, while we search for common ground, you reject, as you did last week, our efforts to build a base for progress in these negotiations."

After the five-hour session, Lodge told newsmen' "I regret to state that I could discern no willingness to negotiate."

Asked whether the other side seemed to feel that time was on their side, Lodge said, "I think they ought not to be sure about that."

South Vietnam's chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, accused the other side of systematically refusing to negotiate or to seek to reconcile their positions with those of Saigon and Washington.

Lam asserted that the South Vietnamese army is steadily growing stronger and in its determination to defend the lives and property of the South Vietnamese people.

Mrs. Binh, in a slashing attack on the Nixon administration, accused the United States of following a "warlike and deceitful" policy that can lead only to prolong fighting.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

A 22-year-old San Anselmo youth was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with possible internal injuries suffered in an accident in Fairfax at 9:50 a.m. today.

Police said John Frederick Tanzi of 50 Merced Avenue, San Anselmo, was riding a motorcycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a car driven by Rosalie Kelly, 44, of 2304 Sir Francis Drake, pulled from the curb in front of her home.

Tanzi's bike hit the front of the car and he sailed off, police said.

Homeowners Back Town Meeting

The San Anselmo Homes Association last night passed a retroactive motion saying that it was indeed one of the sponsors of the Town Meeting held May 17.

The action was taken following criticism by Mrs. Sarah Nome of 77 Alder Avenue in a letter to the San Anselmo City Council, charging that the town meeting was planned and conducted by a closed group of about 20 citizens.

In other action, the newly reactivated organization unanimously urged the County Board of Supervisors to support flood control measures to preserve the Corte Madera Creek, urged elimination of double taxation of city dwellers and voted to contribute $20 to the Hans E. Fischel Memorial Fund.

Paul N. Brand was elected president; David Leach, vice president; Mrs. C. R. Letizell, recording secretary; Mrs. Dennis Moore, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. David Leach, treasurer.

Daylight Burglars Hit In Mill Valley

Daylight burglars who forced the front door of a Mill Valley home shortly after noon yesterday made off with $755 worth of loot, police said today.

Taken from the Sanuel Canter residence at 405 Marion Avenue were several bottles of liquor, a portable television set, a stereo receiver, a vacuum cleaner, various electrical tools and men's clothing.

Jury Absolves Officers In Teen's Slaying

MEDFORD, Ore. (UPI)—An inquest jury has absolved a dozen or so law enforcement officers of any criminal action in the death of a 17-year-old Californian, who was shot to death after a wild chase in two states.

The jury of four men and two women deliberated only 20 minutes yesterday before ruling "there is insufficient evidence to believe anyone is guilty of a crime" in the death of Robert Bolden San Jose.

Bolden was shot to death May 3 at the end of a 50-mile chase along Interstate Highway 5 from Weed, Siskiyou County, to Ashland, Ore. An autopsy showed he had taken a large amount of amphetamines.

Restaurant Wins A Second Sign

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night voted 4-2 approving a second sign for Alfred Barthel's restaurant, Senor Alfredo, at 115 San Anselmo Avenue.

Voting "no" were chairman James G. McDonald, who said the sign would make the building look more like a Mexican restaurant than a post office, and committee member Warren R. Perry, who felt the sign was unnecessary.

The restaurant, located in one corner of the former Safeway which is now the post office building, has a sign facing San Anselmo Avenue. The new sign will be on the side facing the parking lot.

Excavation Snaps Telephone Cable

Telephone service to about 70 customers was interrupted for nearly eight hours yesterday when an excavator cut through an underground cable in Paradise Cay in Tiburon.

A spokesman for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. said service was interrupted at 1:15 p.m. when the cable was snapped by an excavator belonging to Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. of Corte Madera at an excavation site at Antilles Way and Paradise Drive.

Service was restored at 9 p.m., the spokesman said.

Hub Pair Hurt In Petaluma Accident

Two San Anselmo residents were injured yesterday at 9:45 a.m. in a two-car accident on the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road near Highway 1.

Frederick Matlock, 26, of 1120 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and his wife, Juanita Matlock, 23, were reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts and chest injuries. The California Highway Patrol said ths car driven by Matlock collided at an intersection with a car driven by Emma Matteri, 62, of 8980 Roblar Road, Petaluma.

OBITUARIES

MRS. KLIMPEL

Mrs. Charlotte F. Klimpel, who lived with her husband, Herbert, at 1130 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died yesterday after being stricken at her home. She was 60.

Mrs. Klimpel, a native of Germany, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. She had suffered from a heart condition.

She had lived in Marin since 1963, when she moved here from Germany, and was a member of the German-American Redman's Club of San Rafael.

$75,000 Prison Study Is Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $75,000 legislative study of state prison and parole policies has been asked by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

Correctional expenditures "have risen steadily in recent years," more prisons have been proposed and the time served in California prisons has risen steadily for the last decade, Biddle said in a resolution proposing the study of why exisiting policies are proving inadequate.

Biddle said the study, to be done by a committee to be appointed by the Assembly Rules Commitee, should be completed by the 60th day of the 1970 legisalative session.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY
Quiet Beauty
for families of every faith

Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.

Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.

If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

Bridge District Limited Ferry Bill Passed Onto Senate Floor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation empowering the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to go into the ferry business, but limiting use of its revenue until it submits a "transportation facilities plan" to the Legislature, yesterday won unanimous endorsement by the Senate Transportation Committee and went to the upper house floor for a final vote.

An aide to the author of the bill (AB 584), Assemblyman John F. Foran, D—San Francisco, said after the vote "it's practically on the governor's desk and signed into law."

Ferry advocates long have been stymied by the 1923 act that created the bridge district, which failed to include ferryboats among the services the district could provide.

Preliminary findings of a study of ferries between Marin and San Francisco last month found ferryboats would be practical and financially feasible. The final report by consultants Arthur D. Little Inc. is due next month.

Foran's bill will limit the bridge district to spending not more than half of its net revenue for bus transit, or about $2 million a year, and to spending not more than 30 per cent for water, thansportation, or about $1.2 million a year.

The bill requires that the district submit its long-range plan to the Legislature by 1971, but does not bar it from submitting one sooner. It does not require that the plan be acted upon by the Legislature, however. Thus, the district would be free to act as it wished 120 days after it submitted its plans.

The plan according to the bill, must include a "definition of the district's future responsibilities," a proposal for how the district could be abolished, a timetable for setting up new transportation facilities changes in the district's organization, estimates of expenditures and revenues and "explicit consideration to the environmental and socual values of the communities involved."

The bill would authorize the district to study, construct, acquire, improve, maintain and operate "any and all modes of transportation," but specifically bars "any action designed to add a second deck" until after the plan is submitted.

It also would require the district to set the amount which counties served by the district must contribute to the operation of any land or water transportation system, and to get a commitment from the boards of supervisors in those counties to contribute the amount. Both conditions wuuld have to be met before any new transit system could be set up.

The 1971 deadline for the district's plan coincides with the final repayment of the district's bonds, thus the Legislature could dissolve the district if its plans did not satisfy in Sacramento.

Committee chairman Alan Short, D-Stockton, noting that the committee also had under consideration a Collier bill that gave the district power to get into all forms of transit, but without requiring a long-range plan, said, "I like this one a little more — it's more restrictive."

Collier has agreed to drop his bill after Foran's wins final legislative passage reported the lobbyist for the district, Gordon Garland.

Collier and Bagley last week joined Foran as co-authors of the his bill.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, a member of the committee, which had a bare quorum, was absent.

The committee also approved a bill by Collier to double the pay of bridge district directors to $50 a meeting, and to delete the limitation that they be paid only for up to four meetings a month.

Also approved were resolutions by Senator McCarthy asking state highway officials to improve highways not part of the interstate system, and commending various state agencies for their efforts in reducing traffic fatalities.

Rock's Band's Costly Instruments Stolen

Musical instrument valued at $2,700 were taken from the music building used by the Grate*ful Dead at 5498 Redwood Highway, Novato, sometime between* 7 p.m. Monday and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, it was reported yesterday to Novato police.

Missing were four amplifiers valued at $500 each and a speaker and cabinet valued at $700, Leonard Hart of 69 Granada Paseo, San Rafael, reported.

Marinwood Youths To Form Commission

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District agreed last night to name a youth commission to recommend additional teen-age activities in the community.

The decision came on a recommendation from about 75 youths who attended the meeting of the district board. The youths had been invited last week to meet with the board after parents complained about rising vandalism and drug use.

At the outset of last night's session, directors made it clear that district recreational facilities were open to everyone in the community who obeyed laws and regulations.

Genevieve Bolding, district business manager-secretary, said one group of youths expressed a desire for additional organized activities such as dances, while other teen-agers said they preferred casual gatherings.

The youths then met separately while the board began its business session. Shortly, the youths returned and said they would like a youth commission formed.

Ten youths were chosen to nominate members of the commission at a board meeting July 2. The commission will be chosen at that time, too.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

WORK-STUDY — Renewed an agreement with College of Marin for students to work in the district under the work-study program.

BUDGET — Made minor revisions in the district's preliminary 1969-70 budget of $176,750.

RESOLUTION — Passed a resolution expressing condolences to the family of Ronald L. Sorbo of Marinwood, killed in Vietnam.

Curfew Cools Racial Tension

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A dusk-to-dawn curfew enforced by police with the assistance of black community leaders cooled racial strife in Pennsylvania's capital yesterday after two nights of disorders.

With cars and pedestrians off the streets, and businesses closed, the city of 80,000 appeared more like a ghost town.

The disturbances that began Monday night in the integrated Hill section has resulted in the fatal shooting of an 18-year-old Negro youth, 28 persons injured and at least 68 under arrest.

Police Chief Martin L. Watts said "the curfew worked well, and members of the black community did missionary work for us."

Novato Girls Tell Of Exposure Case

Three Novato girls, ages 13, 17 and 18 yesterday were the victims of indecent exposure, according to Novato police.

A young man stood naked in front of them at 2:30 p.m., in Novato Creek near Seventh Street, the girls reported to police.

Country Club Homes Plan Private Patrol

Problems of fire protection and numerous burglaries brought out about 75 Country Club area residents who decided last night to petition the city of San Rafael for fire protection and to establish their own patrol system on a six-month trial basis.

Robert M. Lee, moderator of the homeowners association, said in a meeting at Dominic's Restaurant that the number of burglaries and vandalisms in the Country Club area, just off San Pedro Road, is "rapidly increasing." He gave no statistics.

He suggested that if a patrolman were hired on a 24-hour baiss, persons would be discouraged from burglarizing the area.

Mrs. John Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court said that there is "strong evidence to believe that youngsters park on Highland Avenue and spot people leaving their homes, so they would also spot a patrolman."

She went on to suggest that additional lighting be provided.

One residence in the area has been burglarized 10 times. All were daytime incidents, according to Lee.

The club voted to establish the patrol system and to solicit the 74 residents of the area who are not dues-paying members of the organization, since they would also benefit from the patrol system.

In another key issue, the group authorized Lee to retain and attorney to draw up a petition to the City of San Rafael to seek fire protection.

The Country Club area falls under county fire protection, but, residents maintain that county fire department is not sufficiently equipped to handle structural fires. Members also pointed out the county station is too far away from their properties.

The possibility of the Country Club area being annexed by San Rafael in order to provide fire protection was mentioned. In an earlier poll, however, 47, members had voted against anexation with only 11 in favor.

State College Freedom Urged

The 16 students at St. Patrick's Seminary in Menlo Park to the south made public yesterday a 177-page report they had written after a classroom study of the seven-month series of strikes and confrontations at the college.

"There is hope for our state colleges if power to change and implement is restored to people in education and wrested from those who would use education to their own political advantage," the report said.

Adult, Teener Arrested In Petaluma

A stockton man and a teenage escapee from a youth camp were arrested yesterday in Petalumna on suspicion of burglary after an attempt was made to steal a car.

Roger H. Rossington, 35, was booked into Sonoma County Jail on the burglary charge as well as violation of parole from a drug conviction. Police said Rossington was treated for drug withdrawal symptoms at the jail and would be arraigned tomorrow in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Larry W. Blake, 17, of Stockton, was sent to juvenile hall in Santa Rosa to be held for the California Youth Authority as an escape and burglary suspect.

Police accused the pair of attempting to steal a car owned by Dr. Wayne Lewis from a parking lot on Fourth Street at 2:30 p.m. They were stopped a half hour later at D and Second streets where the doctor's stethoscope was found in their car.

Crucial Bay Control Bills Hearing Set For July 10

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The major hearing in the legislative battle to keep controls over filling San Francisco Bay has been set at 9 a.m. on July 10 in Room 4203 in the Capitol.

An aide to the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, said no other matter probably would be scheduled for the hearing, thus the four bills to extend the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission would be heard as soon as the committee convened.

The hearing, and the backstage maneuvering preceding it, are the last chance for opponents of the bills to defeat or emasculate the bills because the surviving bill will go to the upper house floor, where at least a majority is widely reported to favor a strong bill.

Bills by Sens. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, and Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, and Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, would extend the life of the commission and extend its jurisdiction to the shoreline. The fourth, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, only would extend the life of the BCDC, due to expire late this year under current law.

California Jet Forced To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — The United Air Lines jet forced to Cuba last night with 59 aboard was hijacked by "an individual armed with a pistol," Radio Havana reported today.

The Communist broadcast did not list the man's nationality or otherwise describe him. A witness at Havana's Jose Marti Airport, however, said the skyjacker was a man wearing a white sweater. He was taken into custody by Cuban officials.

The pilot veered southeast from a regular course on the scheduled Los Angeles-to-New York flight over Riverside, Calif., less than 16 minutes after he was airborne.

The DC8, United Flight 14, carried 51 passengers, including several United employes from New York, and a crew of eight. It boosted to 1,612 the number of persons detoured to Cuba this year on commercial liners.

Oceanic Properties Silent On Bolinas Bill

Oceanic Properties Inc. of San Francisco was incorrectly identified by the Independent-Journal on May 28 as one of the opponents of pending legislation to transfer jurisdiction over Bolinas Lagoon from the Bolinas Harbor District to the County of Marin.

Neither Oceanic Properties nor its parent company, Castle & Cooke, has made any representation either in writing or verbally to anyone in the Legislature concerning this measure.

Massive Bay Filling, Higher Smog Linked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two meteorologists warn that massive filling of San Francisco Bay could produce radical changes in the region's weather, including an increase in smog.

The scientists, Albert Miller and C. A. Riegel, both professors at San Jose State College, told a news conference yesterday sponsored by the Save the Bay Committee that earlier opinion linking by fill and more smog were at least understated.

Miller said that if up to 25 per cent of bay waters were replaced by fill, the region would lose enough of its "thermostat" to alter average temperatures by five to six degrees.

The loss of that much Bay water would also significantly reduce wind speeds, the major force in dispersing air pollution, Miller said.

"It is necessary to maximize the surface area of all the waters of the Bay, not only to avoid displacing the center of sea breezes, but to avoid temperature inversions," Miller said.

Inversions occur when warm air near the ground is pressed downward by cold air above. Inversions in the Los Angeles Basin are a major cause of smog since polluted low level air is prevented from flowing out.

In the Bay Area, such inversions might result in thick, nearly motionless fogs which could be filled with pollutants, the scientists said. They called for regarding the Bay as "one package."

Holey Pipe May Improve Water Taste

Plans to try harder to improve the taste and odor of Marin Municipal Water District water were revealed yesterday during district budget discussions.

The project, small in relation to the district's planned overall expenditures of almost $4.7 million, will involve a full-time engineer to work on water quality control, some chemicals and a holey piece of pipe.

A budget of $26,700 was projected for the "water quality control, lakes" account, up from last year's $7,800.

Part of the money will go for a piece of plastic pipe, three-quarters of an inch in diameter and 75 feet long, with a lot of holes punched in it, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger reported.

The pipe will be placed in Bon Tempe Lake by the dam and air pumped through it in an effort to keep the water from stratifying. He explained that when hot weather heats water on top of the deeper cold water, it creates an algae problem.

The algae, in turn, is responsible for the sometimes foul tasting water which brings a rash of complaints and which stood as the sole reported black mark against the district in the 1968 Grand Jury report.

Seeger said the air bubble program is being used by other districts, including North Marin County Water District, and seems to be working, not only to improve the taste of water but also as an enhancement of the environment for fish.

The district board approved the program, along with the rest of the "fiscal plan" without comment after a 47-minute dissertation by Seeger.

The district uses a fiscal plan instead of a budget so money can be transfered from account to account if necessary without approval by the board.

Seeger said the district tries to remain within the amounts allotted to each department and when there are transferrals, the fact is noted in the monthly financial report to directors.

The fiscal plan calls for expenditures 3 per cent in excess of anticipated revenue with the difference to be drawn from existing funds, making total income and expenditures each $4,631,880, compared to the current amount of $3,876,200.

Capital work to be paid by the district was approved at $514,990. Seeger said staff requests had totaled $1.4 million.

A major line at Tamalpais Valley, estimated at $40,000; materials totaling $197,611; tank improvements and replacements of $150,000, and various water line extensions and enlargements are among the capital items included.

Seeger said he expected a 4 per cent increase in revenue and again warned the directors a rate increase is imminent.

Seeger also said he has begun reducing inventory to provide for more cash on hand.

He also reported several new employees, with annual salaries totaling about $80,000 were included in the budget.

About $100,000 was included for salary increases expected during the year. (The water district traditionally grants an across-the-board increase just before Christmas.)

Seeger reported the district is making a profit off the county schools bus maintenance agreement. The county is paying about $37,000 for care of the buses; the district estimated it will spend $27,000.

Board Prohibits Fires In Most Mount Tam Areas

Fires in most of the areas of Mount Tamalpais controlled by Marin Municipal Water District were prohibited yesterday by the district board.

The order, effective immediately, was made at the request of Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom who said heavy vegetation is a potentially dangerous fire hazard.

The district agreed to permit fires in the Lake Lagunitas and Phoenix log cabin areas because both are continually patrolled by district personnel. In addition, fire fighting equipment is located permanently at Lake Lagunitas, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger told the board.

Seeger said Bloom had originally recommended prohibiting all fires but modified the recommendation for the special situation at Lake Lagunitas.

Seeger said the state is expected to follow suit in the areas it controls.

Marin Municipal Water Directors Also:

PIPE — Bought $64,916 worth of cast iron pipe from U.S. Pipe and Foundry of Union City and $20,611 worth of asbestos cement water pipe from Certain-teed Products Co. of Santa Clara.

PIPELINE — Approved a pipeline extension for a multiple family development, Bon Air Subdivision No. 8, with the total cost of $39,227 te be paid by the developer, Eliseo Land Co. of Larkspur.

FIRELINE — Granted a fireline extension on Montecillo Road, San Rafael, to serve a park being developed there by the City of San Rafael, with the city and the district to pay $1,800 each.

Police Called To Quiet Noisy Meeting Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police reserves were called last night to quiet a board of education meeting concerning the transfer of administrators and plans for a school with a heavy Negro student body.

Because a noisy crowd of 1,000 turned out for the session, the police squad was enlarged from four to 25. There were no fights and nobody was hurt.

Many protesters opposed a $111.9 million budget which is under consideration.

Nearly 50 Negro youngsters were on hand to protest a plan to give Polytechnic High School more ethnic balance.

Deputy Inspects Marijuana Plot

Tiburon Deputy Sheriff Angelo J. Mecchi reported yesterday he discovered a neatly tended marijuana garden in a vacant lot in Tiburon yesterday.

Mecchi said about a dozen plants, ranging in size from 3 inches to 2 feet, were found in the "definitely cultivated" garden in an empty lot in a residential area on Silverado Drive near Stewart Drive.

A San Rafael engineer who had surveyed the lot for possible construction had first noticed the plants, Mecchi said, and had notified deputies because he was unsure what they were.

Anti-Drugs Medicine: A Stable Home Life

A stable home life is the "greatest bulwark against mental illness and emotional illness in the world," Dr. Patricia Hallinan, assistant health officer, Marin County, told the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilman last night.

Dr. Hallinan was one of four speakers in a four-pronged program on drug abuse.

Children who become involved in drugs can be placed in three categories, Dr. Hallinan said . . . the thrill seeker, the oblivion seeker "who wants to escape from responsibility," and "the kid who wants to change his basic personality."

These children are disturbed and a lot come from broken homes or homes where there is an alcoholic mother or father.

As for marijuana, the youths "smoke it, chew it, and make Brownies out of it," she said.

Marijuana is becoming more expensive and more scarce in Marin but now a more powerful version is coming in from Mexico, a type that causes hallucination, she said.

"Young people are turning to heroin," she advised, noting eight youths under 17 have been treated for heroin and all wound up in institutions.

Youths are still using LSD and are still injecting drugs, she said.

On the ages of users, Dr. Hallinan reported that "we treated a boy, 13, for marijuana."

She also told of girls, as young as 13, being treated for venereal disease, and made a plea for sex education.

For the older groups, she warned that alcohol and tobacco are "the two greatest" sources of addiction in the world.

Law enforcement isn't the answer to the drug abuse problem, but it can deal with the supply, Dr. Hallinan commented. Others in the community will have to deal with the demand, she said.

Novato Police Chief Robert DiGrazia told of the work of the Marin County Drug Abuse* Bureau, which he emphasized doesn't supplant local police authority, but supplements it.

The intent of the bureau is to get the major drug sellers and drug producers with the cooperation of the district attorney's office.

During the period from February, 1968, through May 31, 1969, there were 804 adult arrests, "and that very easily could double in juveniles," he reported.

Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager and chairman of the centralized Police Services Council, reported on the disposition of drug arrests last year.

Usher explained that he was using tentative figures prepared by Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales that were "perhaps reflective."

During 1968 there were 531 adults arrests, with 133 still pending and disposition made on 398.

In 210 cases, 53 per cent, there wasn't any penalty, Usher reported. Of these 120 weren't brought to court, 19 were judged not guilty and 71 were dismissed.

There were 71 (18 per cent) confined either in county or state jail or medical facility, 64 (16 per cent) received probation, and 53 (13 per cent) (borderline cases between juvenile and adult) were certified to juvenile court, Usher reported.

Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instructional services, Marin County Schools Office, told of the drug abuse education program in schools.

Youths already out of school, and those who drop or "tune out" are more susceptible "to the drug abuse society," Lindberg said.

Drug abuse education requires the efforts of all segments of the community, he stressed.

28-Cent Extra Tax For City Dwellers

City taxpayers would get a cut in their tax rate, estimated at 28 cents per $100 assessed valuation, if they were relieved of paying county taxes for services they don't receive.

Mill Valley Mayor Dean N. Meyer, a strong opponent of "double taxation," gave this message last night to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera.

Eliminating the tax inequities would alleviate a "serious burden" on city taxpayers, Meyer said.

He referred to a letter from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, who estimated the city tax rate reduction of 28 cents if the unincorporated area alone paid for services which primarily serve them.

Mitchell estimated the cost of services in the 1969-70 county budget, primarily for the unincorporated area, would require $1,514,000 in property taxes and $342,000 in nonproperty tax revenue.

"For all practical purposes, the population and assessed valuation ratio for Marin County is approximately two-thirds in the 11 cities and one-third in the unincorporated area," he pointed out.

He listed the cost of services primarily for unincorporated areas at: sheriff's patrol, investigation and identification, $1,162,350; fire, $195,057; planning, $191,374; engineering, $179,540; building inspection, $86,840; indirect overhead, $36,422; and justice court, $4,417.

One of the major expenses is the operation of the sheriff's patrols and cities have been pushing for residents in unincorporated areas to pay for police services they receive beyond the responsibility of the county to provide.

Meyer said the Marin City-County Services Committee has been working on tax inequities "But too little has been accomplished."

"Twenty-eight cents in double taxation is a severe tax rate load for paying for people in unincorporated areas," Meyer asserted.

Meyer contended that the city-county services committee composed of two city councilmen and two supervisors should have a fifth member "to break the logjam."

He recommended that the fifth seat be assigned to the auditor-controller saying it would bring to the committee "an elected official who could be objective."

Councilmen then voted to ask supervisors to add the office of the auditor-controller to the committee.

After a short skirmish about voting procedures, the council elected Fairfax Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson as its delegate to the Association of Bay Area Governments Executive Committee by a 6-5 margin over Corte Madera Councilman Holmes S. Norville.

Mrs Wilson, who has been alternate delegate, was backed by Belvedere, Fairfax, Mill Valley, San Anselmo, Sausalito and Tiburon.

Voting for Norville were Corte Madera, Larkspur, Novato, Ross and San Rafael.

Mrs. Wilson will succeed Larkspur Councilman Earl J. O'Grady.

Norville was unanimously elected as alternate delegate after gaining nine votes in the first ballot, with San Anselmo backing one of its council members, James F. Reed, and Tiburon undecided. Reed moved that the vote be unanimous.

The cities also voted 9-2, with Ross and San Anselmo dissenting, to join in the countywide animal control program for one year.

Reed said the program would perpetuate double taxation since cities would be contributing to the county's share of the program as well as their own.

Brixon said the cities couldn't provide the enforcement program on their own and animal control in needed. Sausalito Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said the largest part of the animal control problem is in the cities.

With a two-month vacation schedule, the council adjourned until Sept. 24 in Fairfax. Corte Madera was the host city.

Mayors, Councilmen Rip Finance Disclosure Bill

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen by a voice vote last night unanimously opposed AB 325 which would require them to make public the full extent of their financial investments.

Ross Councilman Roy Farrington Jones said the proposed law extended to investments of the wives and children of public officials.

Jones said if he were subjected to such a law, he wouldn't be a candidate for office.

The bill, Jones reported, covered not only state officials, but also county, city and district officials of any subdivisions of these agencies, except advisory bodies.

The bill also would require financial disclosure by local officers, either elected or appointed, and civil service employees "who are of the highest civil service class employed by that agency."

It would require those covered by the proposed law to file by April 15 of each year "a statement describing the nature and extent of his investments and ownership of shares of any corporation."

Candidates for state or local public office would have to file a statement within 10 days after filing his delcaration of candidacy, and violation of the proposed law would be a felony.

Councilmen authorized a telegram to Gov. Ronald Reagan urging that he veto the bill if it passes the legislature, and a telegram to State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, urging that he oppose the bill, now before the Senate for a vote.

Safety Checks Of Buses Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Striking Greyhound Bus lines mechanics are asking the California Highway Patrol to make safety checks on Greyhound buses.

Maintenance was transferred to other garages in Northern California and Nevada, but union business representative Fred Martin said equipment has not been inspected.

Meantime, talks between company and union representatives continued today.

Savings Stolen

Two piggy banks were emptied of about $38 in change by a thief who apparently entered through an open bedroom window at the home of Marilyn Valmassoi, 724 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley sometime Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

DDT Foe Planning Compromise Offer

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. John A. Nejedly, the Legislature's No. 1 prosecutor of DDT, is prepared to win his case by offering a compromise.

The Walnut Creek Republican wants to ban DDT in California next Jan. 1.

But it is clear the Senate Agriculture Committee doesn't completely agree.

So Nejedly, former Contra Costa County district attorney and the Senate's newest member, disclosed yesterday he plans to offer a compromise amendment proposing a 1971 cutoff date for use of DDT and other "hard" pesticides.

In the interim, alternatives to such pesticides must be developed and put into use, he said in an interview.

But Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, the committee chairman, said he believes it is unlikely the committee will accept a final cutoff.

Marler, while declining to predict what the committee will do with the proposal, said he preferred to see "the day to day regulatory power be within the Department of Agriculture under a strong legislative mandate to regulate, limit the use of and eliminate the use of hard pesticides as soon as possible."

The committee, which last week delayed a final vote on the bill and held it for additional study, meets again late today.

At a six-hour hearing, almost 30 witnesses—many of them scientists—warned of the dangers of DDT to the California environment, fish and wildlife. Other expert witnesses defended DDT and said it posed no threat to human health.

It became clear that Nejedly lacked the five votes necessary to win the endorsement of the nine-member committee, several of whom represent farming areas.

Later Nejedly discussed his bill with representatives of the University of California and the state departments of fish and game, agriculture, and public health.

He said he agreed to offer the amendment calling for a 1971 cutoff. But he said the modification must be accompanied by a declaration that hard pesticides shall be phased out as soon as alternatives are available.

In a related development, the state Department of Agriculture announced yesterday that two dangerous pesticides will be placed on its restricted list. That means a permit will be required for their use. One is dangerous to humans, while the other has killed birds.

They are the new bugkiller Temik and azodrin.

CIGARETTES

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The author of a Senate-passed bill to ban all cigarette advertising in California predicts the fate of the measure will be decided in an Assembly committee.

"If it gets out of committee, I think it has a pretty good chance." Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson said yesterday. "It should do alright on the Assembly floor.

Beilenson's comments came after the Senate voted 28-7 to pass his sweeping prohibition on the advertising of cigarettes.

Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, who assigns all bills for committee hearing, said he was unsure whether the measure would go to the health and welfare committee or the commerce committee.

Beilenson indicated the measure stood a better chance of gaining approval in health and welfare.

The far-reaching ban would apply to all newspapers and magazines published in California. National publications with regional editions would have to substitute ads in California.

Cigarette commercials on television or radio would also be forbidden. Local stations airing network programs would have to replace cigarette spots with local commercials.

SMUT LAWS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan climaxed a three-year legislative battle yesterday when he signed bills making it harder for smut merchants to peddle pornography to children.

The governor's signatures marked the first revision of the state's antismut laws since 1961 and the first major strengthening of obscenity laws since their original enactment in the gold rush days of 1858.

The two-bill package is a Legislative triumph for Reagan and is viewed as one of the major pieces of legislation to come from the 1969 session.

One law establishes a separate standard for judging what is obscene for youths under 18.

The second incorporates a "pandering" concept, so the method of advertising can be used as a legal tool to determine whether the material is obscene.

The new law will become effective sometime this Autumn, 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Shoplift Suspects

Two 13-year-old San Rafael youths were cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of shoplifting yesterday after the manager of the Purity Store in Northgate Shopping Center stopped them with a gallon of wine they had apparently not paid for, police said.

Guilty Plea To Desertion Of Mail

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 53-year-old San Rafael man who had worked almost 16 years as a mail carrier pleaded guilty yesterday to desertion of the mails in U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Bruno Simontacchi of 30 Novato Street was placed on three months probation on each charge.

Simontacchi had been accused of two counts of delaying the mail, a felony, after he dumped advertising circulars in his garbage can instead of in his customers' mail boxes last January.

The charges were reduced to two counts of desertion of the mails, a misdemeanor charge which can be used whenever a mailman fails to deliver the mail, according to Jerrold M. Ladar of Mill Valley, chief of the criminal division in the U.S. Attorney's office in San Francisco.

Simontacchi, who carried mail in the ridge area in west San Rafael for about 12 years, resigned Jan. 20 after postal inspectors caught him putting circulars in his garbage can.

Mill Valley Woman Denies Dope Count

Karen Elaine Gowel, 23, of 147 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing cocaine. A preliminary hearing was set for July 8.

Miss Gowel is accused of having the drug with her when she was booked into Marin County Jail May 5 on traffic warrants.

Drug Seller's Probation Revoked For New Arrest

A disgusted Marin Superior Court judged today revoked probation for a 24-year-old drug seller whom he said "had been given every consideration" and sent him to state prison for five years to life.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said that Jan Daniel DeBruyn of Tamalpais Valley "deserves as long a sentence as the law provides."

DeBruyn, who was convicted of two large sales of marijuana to narcotics agents in 1967 and 1968 after a trial before Judge Gardiner, had been placed on five years probation.

He served a 30-day sentence in the county jail and then the judge reduced the terms of his sentence from every weekend in jail for a year to one weekend a month.

In May, DeBruyn was arrested at his Tamalpais Valley home by federal narcotics agents who accused him of being a large scale heroin dealer.

In his home the agents said they found cocaine, hashish, LSD and 57 seconal capsules. He is also accused of selling an agent $400 worth of heroin, which would sell on the streets for as much as $7,000.

He is still awaiting trial in federal court in San Francisco on that charge.

DeBruyn's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, today said that if convicted for the heroin sale, he will face a five-year-to life sentence in federal prison.

Judge Gardiner today said he plans to write to federal authorities suggesting that such a sentence run consecutively with the state prison term. He stayed execution of the state term until the federal proceedings are concluded.

Poisoned River Cleanup Begins

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Millions of fish killed in the Rhine River over the weekend by what is believed to have been an insecticide are being burned and buried in a massive cleanup operation, health officials said today.

Reports from four river test stations say the river is now clear of poison and surviving fish are healthy.

TOO DISTRACTING FOR SIGHTSEERS?

Mary Ann Boyer, 18, of Camp Hills, Pa., is having troubles on her summertime job as a guide in the State Capitol in Harrisburg — her boss has told her her miniskirt costumes are too short. Since the state provides uniforms for permanent guides but not the summertime help, Mary says she'll just have to buy her own, longer skirts. (AP Wirephoto)

San Anselmo Schools Budget, Tax Rate Up

The San Anselmo School District board last night approved a preliminary 1969-70 budget of $1,902,471 and noted that the tax rate may be increased between 9 and 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The board also approved non-teaching salary increases ranging from 6.66 to 8.33 per cent.

The proposed budget is up $66,121 from this year's $1,836,350.

The tax rate, now $3.295, is expected to increase by 9 cents, mainly to pay for increased costs for the seventh and eighth grade program and for medical and dental benefits, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

He said the added tax for the junior high program is estimated at 8 cents but that the board has requested him to submit figures on a possible additional 5 cents for the program.

Library teachers aides will be increased 8.33 per cent on the salary schedule, receiving a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase and 3.33 per cent increase for a two-range increase on the schedule.

All other nonteaching personanel, except kindergarten teacher aides and educationally handicapped teacher aides, will receive a 5 per cent pay hikes plus an increase of one range placement on the salary schedule, or 1.77 per cent increase.

Nonteaching employees were also granted an increase in medical hospital benefits from $11.69 to $13.79 per month and initial dental benefits of $6.12 per month and were given the day before Thanksgiving as a board-declared holiday, Parodi said.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Keith C. McPherson, former principal of Beard School in Modesto, as principal of Isabel Cook and Yolansdale Schools at $15,794 and Albert H. Nelson, former Hanford Elementary Schools director of instruction, as district director of instruction at $16,357.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Russell L. Reade, Red Hill science teacher who cited inadequate salary and fringe benefits and Margaret Herbert, Brookside School teacher aide.

ADJOURNED MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, at Red Hill School to organize the board for 1969-70.

DEAD MAN'S VOTE

Congress Demands Answer On Mistake In Roll Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman is listed in the Congressional Record Thursday the day of his funeral—as having voted on a bill three days after his death.

The measure carried by a vote of 204-195.

Bates died Sunday. He was buried today in Salem, Mass.

The office of the tally clerk, which calls the roll, blamed the error on the Government Printing Office, which prints the Record.

The office said Bates's name was removed from the official roll call shortly after his death, and that his name was not read during either of yesterday's two roll calls.

The clerk's office asked the printing office for an official explanation to be inserted in the Record tomorrow.

Rep. James C. Cleveland, R-N.H., sponsor of a bill calling for installation of an elecronic voting system, said the error is incredible.

"This is absolute proof we need reform," he said.

The error was made exactly one week after the House ethics committee reported it found no evidence of complicity in a series of roll-call errors disclosed last September.

The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct called the errors the result of physical strain on the tally clerk and of the roll-call system itself.

Those discrepancies involved listing on roll calls the names of members who were known to have been absent or out of town at the time. The committee staff said the errors had no effect on legislative results because the results were one-sided.

Their report called for a modernized voting system to minimize the possibilities of human error inherent in the present system.

The House Administration Committee is currently studying several proposals, but hasn't come up with any recommendations.

Fulbright Raps Nixon East-West Trade Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said today he understands the Nixon administration favors tightening restrictions on trade with Communist Eastern Europe. And he asserted this will add regrettably to East-West tensions.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said there had been a consensus between the Senate and previous administrations to relax trade rules with such nations as Romania and Bulgaria.

"I thought it was a matter of course until I heard recently it would not be continued by this administration," Fulbright said. "I regret it. I think it adds to suspicions and tensions."

Fulbright's comments came during committee questioning of President Richard M. Nixon's nominee for assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, Phillip H. Trezise.

Trezise said he personally believes trade limitations should be eased in the future but the timing "is very much a political issue" which should be left to the President.

Present East-West limitations under the Export Control Act state the administration must decide, before granting export licenses, whether the trade would help Communist nations economically and militarily to the detriment of the United States.

Congress is considering legislation which would drop the economic consideration and require only judgment on the military consequences of East-West trade.

Trezise said he thinks restrictions could be relaxed because the size of the Soviet Union's economy and the limited United States control over Western European nations make the regulations largely ineffectual.

"We can do only limited economic harm to the countries of Eastern Eruope," he said.

The comment irritated Fulbright, who asked, "Why should we want to injure the Eastern European economy even if we could?"

Trezise did not give a direct answer. He said that attitude was conveyed in the Export Control Act passed by Congress in the early 1950s and reflected the judgment of the then president.

"Regardless of policies in the 1950s," said Fulbright, "what is the justification now?"

Trezise said only that changing the policy should be at a time politically advantageous to the United States.

"But is it in the interest of the country to continue a policy I gather you say is futile anyway?" asked Fulbright, adding "Russia is happy to have us treat countries in Eastern Europe harshly."

Fulbright said Romania is urgently requesting closer relations with the West and particularly with the United States, and the Soviet Union strongly opposes this.

"I regret the obsession with ideological aspects that interferes with our national interests," Fulbright said.

Cabin Burgled

Stolen Tuesday from a cabin on Lucas Valley Road belonging to Rexford Benson were an old oak ice box, two kerosene stoves and a lantern, sheriff's deputies said today.

Sacramento Schools Sued On Race Violence Injuries

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two couples—including former State Treasurer Bert A. Betts and his wife—have filed lawsuits asking $7 million in damages because of reported beatings of their sons at Sacramento High School.

The school has been the scene of intermittent violence and incidents among white and black students in recent years.

The suit names Gov. Ronald Reagan, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, state schools chief Max Rafferty, the State Board of Education and city school officials.

Mrs. Betts said the main purpose of the suit is to make "Sacramento High School once again a safe place for both black and white students."

Her son by a former marriage, J. Chauncey Hayes, 15, suffered head injuries in a gang attack May 24, they said.

The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Biggers, said their son, Calvin, 17, was so severely beaten June 4 that his heart and breathing stopped and he had to be revived by a school nurse.

The suit said school officials failed to provide a safe campus and "no one of any race can attend school without being subjected to verbal obscenities and abuses."

The Biggers seeks $6 million in damages and the Betts seek $1 million. The couples also filed a third suit asking for at least six trained guards at the school, fencing the campus and locking out nonstudents and suspended students.

The suits listed several incidents, including:

The plaintiffs also said the school officials permitting writing in the school newspaper "advocating revolution, violence and inciting racial strife;" permitted assemblies honoring "Malcolm X, Huey Newton and Eldridge Cleaver" and "urging the blacks to arm themselves with guns; . . . Allowing faculty and school administrators to lay their lives on the line every day as 'guards' without any means to provide protection for themselves."

Bootzin House Will Go To His Keepers

Two young women who lived with a Mill Valley octogenarian for four and a half years before he died will be able to keep the house and property he gave to one of them, a Marin Superior Court judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson took under submission, however, the women's requests for additional money from the estate of Max Bootzin for services, companionship and household expenditures.

Winners after a trial lasting 26 days were Charmaine Klenman, now 36, and Joan Saylor, 30, who still live at the house at 8 Robertson Terrace.

FILED IN 1965

The suit to regain the property and cash he claimed he gave them following a four-year campaign to gain his affections was filed in 1965 by Bootzin.

Bootzin died in 1966 at the age of 83 after asking his attorney, Vincent Hallinan to drop the suit. Hallinan did not do so however, and later as executor of the estate, continued the case on behalf of Bootzin's three children.

Bootzin's daughter, Mrs. Adeline Rodriguez of San Francisco, yesterday was led from the courtroom by her husband, when she cried out to the judge, "You're going to believe them (the women) and not me!"

Mrs. Rodriguez had testified during the trial that her father had believed that Miss Klenman was going to marry him.

Judge Wilson said yesterday that it was a matter of "which witnesses to believe" of the 33 persons who presented the great deal of conflicting testimony.

FIT OF PIQUE

He concluded, however, he said that Bootzin's relationship to the women had been one of uncle and boarder and that he had filed the suit in a fit of pique after an argument in the Mill Valley home.

He also decided, he said, that testimony had shown Bootzin to be a man not capable of being fooled for four years.

Miss Klenman and Miss Saylor testified at length how they had remodeled the house, mixing cement, carrying flagstones, tearing down walls and ripping out plumbing.

They claim that Bootzin's estate owes Miss Klenman $56,574, of which $25,000 is for companionship and the remainder for her labor and money she put out for household expenditures and materials.

Miss Saylor has asked for $53,651, also with $25,000 for companionship.

The judge indicated yesterday that he would probably not grant them any money for companionship.

Burglary Reported

Jerry D. Crews of 8 Doris Avenue, Novato, reported to sheriff's deputies that someone broke into his home and walked off with a stereo and radio combination valued at $40. He said the theft took place between Friday and Sunday.

Set Fires Plague Sleepy Hollow

San Anselmo firemen fought four grass fires Tuesday all of which, according to Fire Chief Francis A. Sousa, were believed to have been deliberately set.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the Sleepy Hollow area to attempt to find the incendiarists, but no one was found, said Sousa.

The fires were at 1:25 p.m. when an acre of grass burned behind Sleepy Hollow Stables, at 2:32 p.m. when another acre of grass burned but a short distance from the first fire; at 6:53 p.m. at the end of Hidden Valley Lane burning two acres and at 9:08 p.m. at the end of Butterfield Road, burning three acres.

The chief said that the last fire was called in while firemen were still out on the third one. In addition, firemen assisted the Marin County and Fairfax fire departments in the Oak Manor grass and brush fire.

Five Months Savings Bond Sales Tallied

U.S. Savings Bonds sales in Marin County for the first five months of this year were $768,293, according to William P. Murray Jr., county savings bond chairman.

California sales for the same period were $30,407,658 and Murray says increases in sales are predicted during the remainder of the year.

Commute Buses Given Franchise

Chartered commute bus service, operated in Marin by the East Shore Lines of San Francisco, has been granted a permanent route franchise by the state Public Utilities Commission.

William Billings, secretary-treasurer of the bus lines, said that the Marin-San Francisco routes they approved yesterday have already been in use on a temporary permit.

The line has operated a commute bus out of Terra Linda and Marinwood since 1967. The San Marin Improvement Association commute committee, headed by Wayne Bulette, organized a commute club and the service was started on Nov. 1 of last year. Bulette said that the bus has been filled to its 41 passenger capacity and that there is a waiting list of 20 persons for a second bus, which may be put into operation.

Just Why She 'Hates To Cook'

By BETTY FROST

GALLEY PROOFS of her newest book, "I Didn't Come Here to Argue" require Peg Bracken's concentration in the recently completed studio office which affords the writer a well arranged work center in her Bolinas home.

"That's why I hate to cook," Peg Bracken sputtered. "The dog-goned timer stopped!"

The author, who attained national and international fame with "The I Hate to Cook Book" was in her own kitchen in her Bolinas home. In the oven was an experiment — coffee can bread. Even as you and I, she was trying out a recipe she had clipped from a magazine.

Actually, the bread, baked in a two pound coffee can, was delicious, and such an interesting shape, exactly like a chef's hat, that our I-J photographer immortalized the near-failure in his photograph.

"I HADN'T MADE BREAD in over 14 years, and now this!" Peg Bracken exclaimed. The amusing results of baking a loaf in a coffee can created a bread shaped exactly like the chef's hat on the dust cover of the Marin woman's famous "The I Hate To Cook Book." The cooking spree took place in her own kitchen in Bolinas.

THE SPACIOUS modern kitchen of the "I Hate to Cook" author is accented by one wall displaying her collection of hand-painted plates. It is a busy center of family living and contains the normal amount of clutter of any kitchen where a baking project is underway and a friendly pot of coffee is ready for sharing with guest or neighbor. The slender brunette, who went on to further confessions of a casual housekeeper in "The I Hate to Housekeep Book," does have a lived-in home, with a large cheerful living room oriented to the ocean view off Bolinas.

However, her own recently completed office, while it features decorative earth tones spiked with bright gold, and convenient appointments, is a no-nonsense sanctuary. In the work center bordered by open book shelves, she has three work levels. The highest is "so I can stand up and ponder"; she does her writing on the comfortable mid-level, and typing at the low desk, sitting in a comfortable leather arm chair. Light from the skylight is reinforced by controlled lighting from panels over the working area. In this studio-office in her home she is now occupied with the galley proofs of her newest book, "I Didn't Come Here To Argue," which will be released Oct. 21.

WHAT IS the new book about? "It concentrates on what I have been saying between the lines of my other books," Miss Bracken said. "It's about sin, sex, the little town where I live, men and women, women's role today. . . ."

The approach of Betty Frieden in "The Feminine Mystique" urging women to assert themselves, Peg Bracken considers too harsh. "More and more this is a woman's, not a man's world," the author, who is the wife of Parker Edwards, an illustrator, asserted. "Women have more freedom and less ultimate responsibility. Society still looks to the man to keep the ship afloat. It's the man who gets the blame if things go badly. Men, for instance, get an unfortunate deal in alimony.

"If a woman does not work today and marries a man who can provide adequately for the family, the woman has a more carefree and therefore more frustrating existence. In essence she can 'retire' at the age of 30."

TO PREVENT A boring and non-productive existence, she suggests that women "have to set their own standards and their own deadlines." Her books, with their light-hearted approach to domesticity, she hopes will free them from "a kind of compulsion, an ultra-perfectionism around the house and in preparing for parties. Sometimes a can of salted peanuts is adequate. You don't have to put out hors d'oeuvres that would surpass the chef at the Waldorf."

Taking away the guilt feelings of women who find themselves falling short of their goals in the "day-to-day coping" she thinks is important. She felt highly complimented when she learned that a New York mental institution gave women patients copies of her "Hate to Housekeep," and "Hate to Cook" books when they were released.

PEG BRACKEN grew up in St. Louis, Mo., and was graduated from Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio. She received her degree in literature, and began a career of free-lance humorous writing. She disclaims any preparation in home economics other than practical experience. "I always had a house to keep." She had many articles, stories and verse published in national magazines. For 14 years she had a syndicated feature published in 75 newspapers six days a week. The feature involved "a cheerless cherub named Petunia," she said. "I would get Petunia into trouble, then get her out of it, giving readers some little hint on household or personal conduct by this device."

Her real ambition was to be a verse writer in the humorous vein. "But then I discovered Phyllis McGinley, whom I admire greatly, had done it all."

THE "HATE TO" books were followed by "I Try to Behave Myself" an up-dated etiquette emphasizing both a kind and a light heart.

The speaker's role has been added to that of the writer for Miss Bracken, who has just returned from addressing the American Association of Booksellers in Washington, D. C. Four times a year she goes to Hollywood for five days of filming commercials.

Now it looks as though Peg isn't the only author in the household. Her daughter, Johanna, 13, who will enter San Domenico Upper School in the fall, finished her first novel this spring. Jo's 63 page effort, "Many Roads to Travel" was not for publication, but for her an "A" grade in her last semester at Marin Country Day School.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Wedding Travels And Surprise Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Rice of Corte Madera and their daughter Shelley have returned from a driving trip to Colorado and Kansas. Their daughter Sandra was married in Pueblo, Colo., to Ronald Gene Myers of Pueblo on June 14.

The Rices attended the nuptials at Monte Vista Christian Church and the reception there afterward. Mrs. Kenneth Whitney of San Rafael was matron of honor for Sandra, who attended Redwood High School and College of Marin. She is working as a dental assistant in Pueblo and her husband is attending Southern Colorado State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Myers of Pueblo.

After the wedding the Rices drove to Kansas to visit Mr. Rice's family. The two Rice sons, David and Stephen, remained in Corte Madera.

This is a Monday skinny dress.

You know how it is about weight. Stays where it should until the week-end. Then it climbs. Lots of outdoors. Lots of appetite. Sandwiches instead of salads. Desserts instead of grapefruit. Cocktails before lunch. Cocktails before dinner. Wine with. Marvelous week-end. Not so marvelous Monday, when you're three pounds over and everything feels it. Well, we not only understand—we've done something about it. We've put together a special group of dresses that we call Monday skinny dresses. And what they do is suggest your figure without making a big point of it. And what this does is make you look pounds skinnier than you are. In other words, the Monday skinny dress tides you over til Wednesday, by which time the cottage cheese has done its job and all is back to normal. If you identify, come let us find the exactly right Monday skinny dress for you. On Monday, of course. The only day you can be sure.

Students Narcotic League Shows Support Nationwide

DEAR HELEN:

I am an eighth grader in north New Jersey. And I want to tell you more about SLANT (Students League Against Narcotic Temptation).

This organization recently had a former drug addict tell the parents here about this type of life, with its prostitution, stealing and misery.

She made such a big impression, that the parents asked SLANT to have her talk to students. She told us the true facts and they weren't sweet or nice. She made drugs look stupid.

This is the first step our township has ever taken in this direction. In fact, up till now, if reproduction was mentioned in a classroom the board of education is informed by upset mothers who don't want their babies to learn about reality.

I'm really bursting with pride that our town is finally waking up. This is the kind of education program kids need, because we sure hear a lot from the sellers about how great drugs are!

Up with SLANT! Down with the "high" society! — FAYE

DEAR HELEN:

After reading about SLANT in your column, we want to start a chapter in our town. I have a personal reason. I was on durgs all last year. I started for curiosity and kicks, and I kept on because they make you float away from your problems. But you can't stay "high" all the time, and when you crash, you get a glimpse of where you're going . . . and you see your straight friends turning away . . . and you know you've got to make a choice.

Several others are coming down. We figure we can keep a lot of kids from trying drugs with an organization like SLANT. Can we have more information about it? — JERRY, CALIFORNIA

DEAR JERRY:

For a packet of information on SLANT (Students League Against Narcotics Temptation), write to Len Ford, SLANT coordinator, Hudson County Court House, 596 Newark Avenue, Jersey City, N.J.

This organization has 10,000 members in North New Jersey schools alone, and is catching on all over the country. It assembles latest research and true facts about illegal drugs, distributes informational brochures, arranges for speakers who inform more than they frighten, and generally deflates the "high" society.

Good luck to your west coast league! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I was 14 I made a terrible mistake. I thought if I "proved my love" to the boy I liked I could hold him. Boy, was I wrong! He dropped me so fast I didn't know what happened. It took me a long time to get over it.

I'm 17 now and I've been dating a great boy for the past few weeks. He seemed to like me a lot until a few days ago. When I asked him what was wrong, he said he had heard about me. He wouldn't tell me what, but from the way he was acting, I'm pretty sure.

How can I get things straight between us and keep his friendship? — UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY:

Tell him ancient history should be kept in its place, and no one deserves two punishments for the same long-ago "crime." If your guy can't accept this, he isn't so "great" after all. — H.

Mrs. Arrigoni Is Installed President Of Alumnae Group

Vacationing at the beach, travel and meeting interesting people are what the new president of the Marin Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association, Mrs. Peter R. Arrigoni, enjoys most.

Patricia Arrigoni has been a member of the alumnae for 10 years. The sorority is celebrating its centennial this year.

Nationally the alumnae benefits work in rehabilitation, and will award $500,000 in scholarships to women interested in working and training in that field.

A college of Marin scholarship is awarded locally, and members will participate in the Grape Festival and the Panhellenic fashion-luncheon of the Northgate Group series this summer at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Mrs. Arrigoni is a member of the board of trustees of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. She is also active in the museum guilds and has served as director of guilds and president of the Fairfax guild.

An eleven-year-old resident of Marin, Patricia and her husband, a stockbroker and a member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, representing the second district, have two sons: Jimmy, 8, and Bobby, 5. She is on the Parents' Board of Marin Country Day School and is a Cub Scout Den Mother for Den 2, Pack 7 in Fairfax, where the family lives.

Tennis, modeling, art, writing and adult education classes are favorite pastimes for the former University of Arizona student.

Other new officers for the alumnae association are Mmes. John C. Abney, secretary and Austin Forward, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Mmes. Robert A. Mills community services; John W. Nixon, Panhellenic; John Marr, publicity; Benjamin R. Ostlind, hospitality; Paul Ogden, magazines; and Thomas L. Shaw, nominating.

ON THE AGENDA

Project 'Give A Damn' Cause For July 4 Sausalito Fair

The Mill Valley branch of the American Association of University Women will participate in the O'GAD Fair to be held on July 4 at the Martin Luther King School in Sausalito.

Participation will be in the form of a used book booth to be maintained between noon and 6 p.m. at the school. Coordinator for the project is Mrs. Quinn Millar of Sausalito. It was brought to the attention of the branch by Mrs. J. Bruce McCubbery, community problems area representative for the branch.

Members wishing to donate books may take them to the home of Mrs. Robert Alexander at 75 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, or that of Mrs. William Wallace at 121 Sunnyside Avenue, Mill Valley.

O'GAD is an acronym for "Operation Give a Damn," derived from the frustrated expression of those concerned who say that someone has got to "give a damn" about black children on the verge of giving up on life.

One approach to the problem is to find those who can share a meaningful relation with these children. A young black man or woman who is "making it" in society shares meals, home work, ball games and other activities with the children, and small amounts of money are needed to allow these companions to do things together and to give minimal compensation to the helping persons.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the newly organized O'GAD.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coletto in Tiburon will be the scene of the annual cocktail party hosted by the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. Mrs. Donald Stephens is chairman of the annual event for members and their husbandsor escorts set for 7 p.m. tomorrow.

MARIN ALUMNAE of Scripps College will be assisting at the Palace Antique Show and Sale being presented by the Northern California chapters of the Scripps College Alumnae Association noon to 10 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

The event will benefit a scholarship fund for Bay Area students. The weekend display and sale will begin with a preview brunch at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Gold Ballroom.

Mrs. Gerald Gunn of Mill Valley is Marin chairman and reservations chairman; Mrs. Peter H. Empey of Mill Valley, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Gilbert Powers of Ross, hostess chairman.

"THE DEVELOPMENT of Marin Transportation" will be the topic discussed by Joseph A. Casoly at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program on Friday.

The cocktail hour begins at 6 p.m.; dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program at 9 p.m. John Cutler is chairman.

Berkeley To Be Home For Tom Pattersons

Marriage vows were exchanged by Christie Alaire Bellingall and Thomas C. Patterson at noon on June 14.

MRS. T. C. PATTERSON

The wedding ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric L. Bellingall in Belvedere, and was followed by a reception in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Leigh Elizabeth Bellingall of Belvedere was her sister's maid of honor. Nancy Donnell of Sonoma and Marie Eckstein of Ontario were the bridesmaids.

Robert Patterson of Belvedere was best man for his brother. The bridegroom's two other brothers, George A. Patterson of Palo Alto and Mac Kenzie C. Patterson Jr. of Berkeley, were the ushers. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Kenzie C. Patterson of Belvedere.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. John J. Burleigh of San Francisco. She is a graduate of San Domenico Upper School and completed her junior year at Scripps College in Claremont.

Tom was graduated from Redwood High School and is attending the University of California, where he will continue his studies one more year.

After a wedding trip to Mendocino, the couple will live in Berkeley.

Weekend Food Shoppers Given Hints On Most Abundant Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good supplies of meat and poultry and some choices in fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets this last weekend in June.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the most abundant meats. Good supplies of beef are roasts, steaks, and ground. Pork items in best supply include bacon, roasts, and smoked picnics. Some areas may feature chops, fresh and smoked hams, and spareribs.

BEST BUYS IN fish include fish sticks and portions, Maine sardines, and fish fillets, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in best supply are cabbage, corn, lettuce of all kinds, onions and potatoes. Cantaloups and watermelons should be abundant in all areas.

USDA's official plentiful foods list for June features milk and dairy products, canned and frozen sweet corn, canned tomatoes and tomato products, turkeys, and rice.

IN THE WEST:

Poultry prices are generally higher in all West Coast markets except Seattle.

Most choice beef cuts are generally down in all markets. Eggs and butter remain unchanged.

Ham is higher in California markets, but bacon is lower in all markets.

Calf and veal are largely unchanged, except for San Francisco, where veal is higher. Spring lamb is higher in California.

In San Francisco, broiler-fryer chickens weighing 2½ pounds and over are higher.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: apples, apricots, bananas, cherries, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, cabbage, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, potatoes.

Story Hours Set For Larkspur

Summer story hours are underway at the Larkspur Library for children aged 4 to 6 with the next story hour to be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with both a nature talk and walk.

The story hours, which began yesterday with an informal talk on police by officer Raymond DeLeon, start at the library, then usually are followed by a field trip. They are sponsored by the Larkspur Friends of the Library, chairman Joi Losee reported.

Themes of the upcoming story hours which are held each Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. are: the seashore, July 16; high school volunteers story hour, July 23; Lark Theater tour, July 30; musical instrument demonstration, Aug. 6; visit to Larkspur Lumber Co., Aug. 13; pet learning, Aug. 20; and finger play stories, Aug. 27.

Fairfax Sing Along

A sing-along, featuring the Red Garter Band of San Francisco, will be held July 18 in the Fairfax Pavilion. The event is sponsored by the Patchwork Players of Fairfax, a Marin little theater group which is now rehearsing its first production.

Puppets Turn On Stanford Festival

By LEIF ERICKSON

STANFORD (AP) — Bill Baird's Marionette Theater abounds with crisp wit, sharp satire, marvelous production and performing skill.

Baird's troopers, transplanted for the first time to the West Coast from their Greenwich Village home base, opened the sixth Stanford Summer Festival Tuesday night in Stanford's Memorial Auditorium.

Their show is called "People is the Thing That the World is Fullest Of." It is a revue of fast-paced sketches embracing all techniques of puppetry.

Some are as pungent as the one-liners on television's Laugh-in. They identify the writing and directing of Burt Shevelove, creator of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The changes in popular music and social dancing climaxes in a brilliant conception of rock by two writhing fluorescent skeleton figures.

A mask of Abraham Lincoln ponders whether the center can long endure to prove the proposition that all men are created art-lovers.

London's famous Pall Mall was named for a form of croquet called Paille Maille played in France more than 300 years ago.

Former Ambassador In Africa To Talk

Robert L. Payton, U.S. ambassador to the Federal Republic of Cameroon from 1967 to June 1969, will speak Monday at 7:30 p.m. on "How Africa Feels about the United States' Problems," in the Guzman Lecture Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Payton, who holds a Masters of Arts Degree from the University of Chicago, has also been editor of the Burlington, Iowa, Herald and the National Real Estate Journal.

The mighty Colorado River has taken 600 million years to chisel the Grand Canyon's 4,000-foot cliffs. Water wears through the stone at an average of less than an inch a century.

Hospital Dedicates New Units

Petaluma's Hillcrest Hospital yesterday dedicated its new intensive care and coronary care unit and honored Mrs. David B. Strauss for whom the unit is named.

Mrs. Strauss's son, Leon, donated $99,000 in stocks toward construction of the new unit that will provide four intensive care beds and three private rooms for coronary cases.

The donation was made in 1967 in honor of Mrs. Strauss' 99th birthday. On Sept. 28 she will be 101. Spry and alert, Mrs. Strauss yesterday unveiled the dedicatory plaque and was the first to tour the new wing. She was a Petaluma resident from 1869 to 1906 when she moved to San Francisco.

Guided tours were offered during the afternoon and evening. Patients are expected to be admitted early next month.

Why is rubber called rubber? The International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers, Inc. points out that in 1770 Dr. Joseph Priestley, an English scientist, used hardened latex (liquid rubber) to rub pencil marks off paper and joined the name "rubber."

Session Set With Clausen On Hamilton

A meeting of Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and Marin County officials has been quietly arranged to discuss the future of Hamilton Air Force Base.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Room 400 of the Civic Center.

The congressman's office in Santa Rosa said it did not want to publicize the meeting because the discussion was intended to be informal. Also, Clausen may be called back to Washington for a vote on the surcharge tax and the meeting may have to be canceled, said Raymond Paschke, Clausen's admininstrative assistant.

Members of the board of supervisors, county aviation commission and county adminინistrative staff will meet with Clausen "for an informal briefing on the status of Hamilton Air Force Base," Paschke said.

"As far as we're concerned, it's a public meeting," said Mario Balestrieri, deputy director of public works and budget officer for the aviation commission.

The Pentagon announced recently it will move the headquarters of the Fourth Air Force and the Western Region of the North American Air Defense Command from Hamilton this fall. Benjamin R. Ostlind, a former member of the aviation commission, has repeatedly advocated civilian preparation for use of Hamilton Field in anticipation of reduced military use.

Balestrieri said David B. Vail, chairman of the aviation commission, has called a meeting of that group following the session with Clausen to discuss staffing at Gnoss Field, the Marin County air port at Novato.

Teacher Accused Of Misdemeanor

Only a misdemeanor charge or resisting arrest was filed Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court against George Lee Hilton, 44, a Novato school teacher who was arrested Monday.

Police were called to the Hilton home by a daughter during a family fracas.

Geodesic Dome For Housing Library Eyed

The possibility of a geodesic dome to house a new school library for the Bolinas-Stinson school district was discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of District Supt. C. B. Larison, two school trustees-elect and four other citizens, Larison said today.

The meeting at Bolinas School was to discuss various ways of providing space for a new library, Larison said. The geodesic dome was considered an inexpensive and attractive way to house a library that would fit into the present campus as well as a redesigned campus in the future, he said.

Trustees-elect Warren Fairbanks and Eric Lund attended the meeting, according to Larison.

Another meeting for all interested citizens will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Balinas School.

Lawyer Faces Suit On Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A wrongful death suit has been filed against Harold W. Tobin, a San Francisco lawyer convicted in Mexico of using excessive force in self defense.

The action in Superior Court asks $2 million in the death of Miguel Cibrian Rodriguez, who died of gunshot wounds in July 1968 after a dispute in a Chapala bar.

Plaintiffs are the victim's mother, widow and four children.

Hearing Slated

A preliminary hearing has been st in Marin Municipal Court for July 24 for Robert Alfred Porter, 19, of San Francisco, who is accused of possessing marijuana when arrested in a stolen car April 22, 1968 on Shoreline Highway.

Hearing Will Open Tuesday On Houseboats

A hearing, expected to last three days, has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Marin Superior Court in the continuing battle between Gate Five houseboat dwellers and the County of Marin.

Under discussion in the courtroom of Judge E. Warren McGuire will be two requests for preliminary injunctions by landscape architect Piro Caro, leader of the houseboat residents, who lives on the ferry boat San Rafael.

Caro has filed a new suit asking that the county be restrained from demolishing, destroying, relocating, removing, changing or abating any buildings, houses, houseboats, wharfs, pilings and debris at Waldo Point.

LAND QUESTION

He said in the suit that he considers his ferryboat an "antique with historical interest" and that the county plans to remove it to clear rights-of-way through the Arques property.

Tuesday the board of supervisors rejected the only bid recived for the work when it was more than double the $50,000 estimate Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest had attributed the high bid in large part to threats made against any contractors seeking the work.

Yesterday Forest said that Tuesday the supervisors will consider plans for having county employees do the job possibly using rented equipment. The county's contract to clear the underwater streets expires Aug. 25.

LIGHTING ISSUE

Also to be considered by Judge McGuire next week will be a request for a preliminary injunction to stop the county from shutting off electricity at Gate Five. The houseboat dwellers already have an order stopping the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. from disconnecting the electricity but this order did not preclude the county from stopping electrical service.

The county has maintained that wiring to the houseboats is faulty and dangerous and that residents have not obeyed orders to repair it.

The injunction issued against P. G. and E. by Judge McGuire earlier is only until the case is heard on its merits.

Second Son Is Sentenced For Refusing Draft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A second son of Mrs. Evelyn Whitehorn has been sentenced to prison for refusing induction into the military.

The mother was in tears May 28 when her son, Eric, 18, was ordered behind bars. But she was calm as Robert, 23, was sentenced yesterday to two years in prison.

Mrs. Whitehorn had argued in Eric's case that he was legally too young to be allowed to make some decisions without parental consent—such as marriage—so she had decided for him that he shouldn't go into service. Eric was sentenced to an indeterminate term, not to exceed six years.

Democrat Panel Members Resign

Healy, a psychologist with the Mill Valley School District, resigned because he is moving from the county to take a position in Napa, according to S. Robert Politzer, committee chairman.

Jack Felson of Forest Knolls, director of Forest Farms Camp, was named to replace Healy.

The committee also made plans for a cocktail party for Rep. John V. Tunney, D-30th District, on July 20. Time and place will be announced later.

Dumping Of Poisons Into Sea Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have recommended the Army destroy 27,000 tons of obsolete chemical munitions on government installations rather than haul the material across the country for burial at sea.

A 12-man committee of the National Academy of Sciences said yesterday some of the agents could be dumped into the sea if there were no better means. However, it suggested chemical means, burning or demolition as better methods.

The recommendations should be carefully studied by the Army and "appropriate action" should be taken, said Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. An aide said this means Laird wants the Army to follow the committee's suggestions.

A storm of congressional opposition was raised when it was learned the Army had planned to transport nerve gas and other chemical warfare agents by rail from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado to the Naval ammunition depot in Earle, N.J., then ship it out for burial in the Atlantic Ocean.

The committee said the government should set an example "to private organizations and individuals of minimizing risks to humans and damage to the environment, even though this may complicate and make more costly its own operations."

The scientists recommended a study of methods of disposing of chemical warfare material on military installations, "involving no hazards to the general population and no pollution to the environment," should be undertaken by the Pentagon.

They added: "It should be assumed that all such agents and munitions will require eventual disposal and that dumping at sea should be avoided."

Federal Help For Mentally Sick Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —An expert in the field says mental illness among U.S. children has jumped 150 per cent in the last 10 years, pointing up an urgent need for action by the President and Congress.

Michael Gorman, executive director of the National Committee Against Mental Illness, said the nation has at least four million emotionally disturbed children.

He told a meeting sponsored by the city's health department yesterday at least a fourth of the mentally ailing children need treatment. But, Gorman said, 15 states have no facilities, public or private, for treating mentally troubled juveniles and another 24 states have no public institutions to take in children from low- and middle-income groups.

He said two-thirds of all afflicted youngsters "are quite literally lost, bounced around from training schools to reformatories, to jails, and whipped through all kinds of understaffed agencies until they vanish."

Gorman previewed a report prepared by the Joint Commission on Mental Health of Children, representing 53 national organizations, for presentation soon to Congress.

A study showed that admission of teen-agers to state hospitals has risen one and a half times in the last decade, he said.

Silverthorne Held Guilty Of 'No Crime'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Carlos Silverthorne, who headed the now-defunct San Francisco National Bank used his personal account as a "clearing account" but is guilty of no crime, his defense maintains.

Silverthorne, 69-year-old Tiburon resident is being retried in U. S. District Court on charges of illegally diverting $200,000 of the bank's funds for his own use.

George Martinez, his attorney yesterday said Silverthorne sometimes used "extremely bad judgment" and followed practices "not accepted by the banking community, but "had no intention of diverting bank funds to his own use."

Silverthorne, who headed the bank when it folded in 1965, is named in an 11-count embezzlement indictment. He was found guilty of similar charges on Feb. 18, 1966, but a federal appellate court overturned the verdict, saying publicity prejudiced the outcome.

Construction company operator Douglas Christensen told the court yesterday he paid the bank a $65,000 fee for a $500,000 loan. He said he arranged the loan through William S Bennett, who he "assumed" was the bank's loan procurer.

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A request by Black Panther Warren Wells for a writ of habeas corpus was denied yesterday by a 4-3 vote of the California Supreme Court.

However, the three dissenting judges said the court should issue a writ of mandate ordering the superior court in Oakland to "give trial preference" to Wells and show cause why his case was not tried yesterday.

Wells, 22, San Francisco, is being held on two counts of attempted murder and two assault with a deadly weapon on police officers in connection with a 1968 shootout between Oakland police and Black Panthers.

Meeting Canceled

The Marin City Council has canceled its meeting scheduled tonight because chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. is out of the state today. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday, at Manzanita Center, when the council will discuss details of its application for a federal planning grant for development of Marin City.

Senate To Nixon: Let Congress Share Military Commitments

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A message to the President of the United States: The Senate wants Congress to share with you the decision to make military and monetary commitments to foreign powers

Please.

Frustrated by the Vietnam War and seeking to assert its constitutional role in foreign affairs, the Senate yesterday adopted a "sense of the Senate" resolution asking affirmative action by Congress before commitments or promises of commitments are made.

The resolution was passed by a bipartisan vote of 70-16.

But the resolution—strongly opposed by President Richard M. Nixon—is in no way legally binding on the Chief Executive. He can, if he wishes, ignore Senate sentiment and go ahead with commitments on his own.

The resolution defines a national commitment as "the use of the armed forces on foreign territory, or a promise to assist a foreign country, government, or people by the use of the armed forces or financial resourses of the United States, either immediately or upon the happening of certain events."

A last-minute effort engineered by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen to make the resolution more palatable to Nixon failed.

The Senate defeated 40-36 a substitute resolution that would have limited it to only "hot war" situations with exemptions when there was a threat to the national security; when armed forces were needed to repel an attack; or to protect American lives and property.

There was no question the Vietnam War was an underlying motive for the resolution. Other agreements—notably the negotiations for U.S. bases in Spain—also were cited in arguments for passage of the resolution.

$1 Million Is Asked In Slaying

BOSTON (UPI)—The estate of a Boston College student killed last August filed suit yesterday for $1 million against the parents of two youths found guilty in the killing.

The body of Robert D. Phelps, 20, of Wethersfield, Conn., was found beside a highway in Middleboro, Mass. He had been stabbed 23 times.

The suit in superior court charges that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Simoni of Birmingham, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. George Whitthoeft of Beverly Hills, Mich., failed to "properly supervise and discipline" their sons.

The Simoni's 17-year-old son, Craig, originally charged with murder in the Phelps killing, was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison. The Whitthoefts' son, Ross, also 17, was sentenced to 5 to 10 years as an accessory.

Soon-To-Be Centenarian Finds Long Lives Common Among Kin

By PATRICK SULLIVAN

Arthur Palmer of Terra Linda will be 100 years old July 3. Except for "working hard" and "being temperate," he really did not have much to do with reaching the milestone. Long lives sort of run in his family.

The first thing the alert resident of the Northgate Convalescent Center shows a visitor is a neatly folded year-old clipping from a new Haven, Conn., newspaper. Pictured is his brother, Frank, sitting behind a cluttered desk. He is 103.

"He was a railroad man. Station agent for the New Haven Railroad for 47 years. His son became president of the New Haven for 14 years," Palmer said.

Born in 1869 on a farm in East Sumner, Oxford County, Maine, Palmer took over the operation ("a little bit of everything") in his early 20s, after his father was incapacitated.

100 YEARS YOUNG — Arthur Palmer, a Terra Linda resident who will be 100 on July 3, comes from a family which boasts of several members over 90, including a brother who is now 103. Palmer came to California from Maine in 1919 when it took him six days to make the rail trip.
(Independent-Journal photo)

He remembers the oxen teams used for plowing and the kerosene lanterns and tallow candles that lit the farmhouse.

In 1901, at the age of 31, Palmer suffered a leg injury while working with the oxen. He had to give up farmwork, but won an appointment as postmaster of East Sumner.

He held the government post until 1919 when, because of the injury, he and his wife left Maine and its hard winters for Mountain View. It took six days to make the cross-country rail trip.

Gov. Ronald Reagan was 8 years old then, and President Richard M. Nixon 6.

Palmer became Mountain View's city librarian and was elected city-treasurer in 1920. He held both posts until his retirement June 1, 1944. He and his wife lived with their son, Chester, now 68, in Southern California for eight years, but moved to San Rafael in 1952.

Palmer has been at the convalescent home about five and one-half years, where his son is able to visit from his home, now in Sonoma. The younger Palmer formerly worked at the Sausalito laboratory of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

As a hobby over the years, Palmer has traced his geneology back to the Pilgrims and beyond.

In his browsings he discovered he had relatives who lived to be 83, 92, 94, 95 and three who came within weeks of 97.

Would he like to start all over again?

"No," he grinned. "Once is enough." Even if he did, he said, he would have no formula for a long life.

"I have never used tobacco or liquor in any form —or any of my folks that I know of," he said.

"Of course I don't know if that had anything to do with it."

Pistol Among Items Taken By Burglars

San Rafael police yesterday reported three thefts and three burglaries.

Police said items including a short wave radio, a transistor radio, a .45-caliber pistol and holster and $50 in cash were stolen yesterday from the home of Paul J. Girard of 77 Highland Avenue. A rear window was broken and the screen removed to enter the home, police reported.

Three gas engines, a water pump, other equipment valued at $450 and 30-foot lengths of canvas firehose valued at $50 were reported stolen between Sunday and yesterday from the storage barn of the Peacock Country Club, 333 Biscayne Drive. Police said the building was entered after boards were removed from the door on the west side of the barn.

Police reported the following items stolen between Saturday and today from the Installation Shop at 509 Francisco Boulevard: a large drill valued at $85, small drill valued at $20, 10 screwdrivers at $10, soldering gun, $20, and about 100 other small tools valued at $150.

Police also said $50 was stolen yesterday afternoon from the shelf behind the counter at the Walden Book Store, 505 Northgate Mall.

Stolen Monday were two bicycles, one taken from Steven Sanders' home at 182 Belvedere Street and the other from Eric Newlin of 134 Alder Avenue, San Anselmo, while at 5 Shaver street.

Permit Approved

The Larkspur Planning Commission Tuesday approved a variance application for Gary V. Dye to permit him to build a carport within 18 inches of his property line the carport to have an eave overhang within six inches of his property line at his home at 28 Monte Vista Avenue.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Reprinting Book On Span: $37,500

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District proposed today that up to $37,500 be spent reprinting a 1938 book about the building of the bridge.

The book "has great public relations value," said district director Lowell Edington of Napa County, sitting as a member of the district legislation-public relations committee. He noted that in the past, before the original printing of 6,000 was exhausted, that the district always sent copies to all newly elected public officials in the six-county district.

The $37,500 price tag would be for 5,000 copies at $7.50 each, directors were told by Richard Clark, district administrative assistant. The original lithographic negatives are still available at the Diamond National Corp. in San Francisco, he said.

Several directors suggested that copies be sold at $20 a piece to help offset the printing costs, but the district's attorney, Jerome B. White, said, "The merchandising business is not part of our charter."

The 10 directors present all clearly favored the proposal, which was kept in committee temporarily so that the details of a contract for the printing could be worked out.

The committee, also without dissent, recommended that the district again appropriate during the 1969-70 fiscal year $25,000 to the Redwood Empire Association, $8,500 to the San Francisco Visitors and Convention Bureau, $25,000 for lobbying in Sacramento and $5,000 for direct mail and display advertising.

Edington, supporting the REA appropriation, said REA had been a "great help to us for over 30 years." The REA's total budget is about $140,000 a year.

Director Dean N. Meyer said he had "strong misgivings" about the lobbying appropriation and that he would oppose the annual hiring in December of a Sacramento lobbyist.

The recommendations will go to the full board when it meets at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in district offices at the toll plaza.

Does Mass Transit Hold Real Key?

A deputy state highway engineer declined today to accept fully the belief that mass transit is an alternate solution to more freeways.

Speaking in San Rafael, engineer Sam Helwer said there was a need for some form of mass transit in some of the state's larger cities, but added:

"Unfortunately, some people, especially some public officials, are being panicked into believing that mass transit is an alternate solution to the need for more freeways."

He said that unless additional sources of revenue are found, it was only a matter of time before voters are asked to vote for diversion of highway user funds to other forms of transportation.

Helwer's remarks were delivered at a seminar conducted by Citizens for Freeways and Highways at the Holiday Inn and co-sponsored by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

Another speaker, Arthur L. Elliott, a bridge engineer for the state Division of Highways, said, "Without spending an unreasonable amount of money we have adopted good appearance and reasonable beautification into our highway planning."

Landscaping and grading have improved and a lot has been done to make structure more interesting and attractive, he added.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer of the Division of Highways, reported on progress of state highway construction in Marin.

He reported that property was being purchased for the $13 million Highway 101 bypass at Novato, with construction expected to start in two years. Highway 17 plans are on the shelf, he said, while the state awaits the results of Marin County's balanced transportation study.

LOCAL CONTROL STRESSED

Marin City Told How Help Is Due

By ALAN JONES

The governmental ins and outs of a proposed development planning program in Marin City were presented to the Marin City Council yesterday by state, federal and county officials.

Council members hammered at the point that the program must be under council control rather than outsiders.

"The concern of the Marin City Council literally is to do its own thing," chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr. said. The community has had disunity in the past because of programs run from outside, he said.

"The community elected us," Collie B. Gaines said. "We should do it."

The council has received a $76,500 planning grant from Marin County and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for a two-year program to seek out available funds for Marin City development of jobs, commercial facilities, recreation, home improvement and similar matters.

The program is to revise the Marin City master plan, survey the community's economic potential and present resources, and develop community improvement programs. A full-time coordinator will be hired to advise the council.

Planning will be done by the county planning department, which will also pay the council's coordinator.

Council members objected this would make planning subject to county supervisors' wishes instead of the council's, but Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the planners will serve as consultants to the council without interference from the supervisors.

"We report only to the council, not to the county," Zucker said. " . . . . all I can say is that my history with the board is not one of knuckling under."

Federal law requires the program funds be funneled through the county, Zucker said, but the supervisros intend to let the Marin City Council develop the program without interference.

As outlined by Zucker, candidates for coordinator would be screened by Zucker, the county redevelopment agency, and the Marin City Community Services District, with the council choosing a final candidate for ratification by the supervisors.

Zucker was blunt when councilmen objected to the red tape involved in the grant.

"We all recognize there's a lot of crap in the regulations," Zucker said. "You can't get rid of it overnight. . . . What do we do? We play the game to get the money."

Banks said the community is fighting for its existence and development is needed "So the people can have hope we are part of the mainstream of the county."

Representatives from housing and urban development, the Association of Bay Area Governments and the state intergovernmental agency outlined their departments' roles in the program.

Auto Stolen

A 1962 red and white Pontiac, license CHE 551, was stolen yesterday while it was parked at 11 Tiburon Street, San Rafael, the owner Armand Louis A. Elizondo of 528 Boxwood, Petaluma, told police.

Bearded Robbers Raid Sausalito Restaurant

Two bearded young men last night robbed the Tortilla Tree carry-out restaurant at 815 Bridgeway, taking approximately $90, Sausalito police said.

Clerk Deborah F. Perry told police the two men came in at 5:50 p.m. When she had her back turned filling their order, the taller of the pair told her, "turn around alowly and don't make a sound or I will blow your mind."

She turned and found he had one hand under a coat carried over his arm, as if he had a pistol pointed at her. He then reached over and opened the cash register.

Spotting a canvas money bag under the counter, he ordered her to put the bills in it. When she complied, he put the bag in a white paper sack and handed it to his accomplice. They crossed Bridgeway and headed south on foot.

Police said the pair got $63 in bills and about $30 in coin rolls.

One robber was described as approximately six feet tall, 20 to 25 years old, and wearing a bushy full beard.

The other was described as five feet eight to nine inches tall, 20 to 25 years old, with a full beard. Both were Caucasians.

TOPPING THE TALL CORN

June is bustin' out all over, and so is the tall corn planted two months ago by 3-year-old Chrisi Davalos and David Hax, 5. Big Chrisi, as he's known to David, needs a boost from his buddy to check the corn's progress. David, son of Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, who caught the action yesterday, is four feet, one inch tall. Chrisi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Davalos of Novato is a commanding three feet. Combined, they muster just enough height for the time being, to see what's going on.

Grass Fires Continue To Plague Marin City

Incindiarism continued for the third straight day in Marin City yesterday as 12 grass fires were set in the afternoon and evening, sheriff's deputies said.

Eight grass fires were set Tuesday and about 20 on Monday night.

Today the Marin County Fire Department began a controlled grass burn in the community to get rid of the dry grass hazard.

Fires were set yesterday afternoon at 1:16 p.m. near St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church and at 2:14 p.m. on a hill near Guy Circle.

Fires were then set at 7:37 p.m. in 200 block of Drake Avenue, at 9:14 p.m. at the ball park and at Hayden's Market, at 9:29 p.m. at the ball park and at 68 Cole Drive, 9:34 p.m. at the ball park, 9:37 p.m. in the 400 block of Drake Avenue, 10:25 p.m. at 69 Cole Drive, 10:32 on Drake Avenue, 10:59 p.m. at Donahue and Park Circle, 11:12 p.m., 301 Drake Avenue and at 11:41 p.m. in the 400 block of Drake Avenue.

Louis Bloom, Marin County fire chief, said the Marin City station will have three firemen on duty throughout the summer season instead of the usual two. There are two fire trucks at the station.

Messy Vandal Invades Home

A San Rafael dentist returned yesterday from a short vacation to find his home at 192 San Marino Drive thoroughly vandalized.

Theodore Nciholas Preovolos told police he and his family had been away since Friday.

Officers said tomato sauce had been poured into the piano, a tape player, a television and on rugs; soap powder and liquids were dumped on rugs; a flour sack stabbed repeatedly, walls stained with shoe polish; a sink plugged and the water left running, overflowed onto carpeting; and electric toothbrush left running, and other damage done.

Man Awakens To Burglar In Bedroom

Cybuiski, of 40 Sonoma Street, told police he awoke at 3:15 a.m. and saw a man prowling his bedroom. He said he first in his bedroom. He said he first noticed the bedroom had been ransacked and heard a second person in another room.

Joyce A. Thompson, owner of Marin Metal Salvage, reported yesterday that $330 worth of autmotive equipment had been stolen from the firm at 718 Francisco Boulevard Monday an Tuesday nights.

Thompson reported burglars had pried a tin door and had taken transmissions, linkages, valve covers, a set of tools and other equipment.

John Ernest Slovak of 23 Brandcliff Court reported $20 in change from piggy banks and two six-packs of beer were taken from his home during the day yesterday.

Bolinas Board Hires Secretary

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board emerged from a closed hiring session last night and picked Jane Phillips as secretary to replace Katherine Martin, who is on a six-month leave for illness. Mrs. Phillips, who has been acting secretary for three months, will receive $445 a month.

The board also held a working budget session on the 1969-70 budget, Mrs. Phillips reported, but a budget total will not be available until the next board meeting July 9.

The 1968-69 budget was $94,565 with a district tax rate of $1.755 per $100.

The July 9 meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 270 Elm Road.

Fire Commission Cuts Tax Rate For Novatans

A $485,550 budget for fiscal 1969-70 was adopted last night by the Novato Fire Protection District board, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

This budget is $8,175 less than the $493,925 preliminary budget.

Changes in the budget include an increase of $10,449 in salaries and a decrease of $19,000 in capital outlay, eliminating a tanker and expansion of the fire alarm system.

The tax rate will decrease from 53 to 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, Kidder said.

The Novato Fire District board also:

POSITIONS —The board approved the creation of two more captain positions for a total of three, and two more lieutenant positions for a total of seven; promoted Lt. James Berthinier to captain in charge of trainging; set July 25 for examinations for lieutenant positions and Aug. 25 for examinations for the captain positions. These will be filled from district personnel, Kidder said.

ASSISTANT CHIEF — Capt. Richard Beyer who was severely burned in a fire in Marinwood last July 19 and who has since been promoted to assistant chief, will return to work Tuesday, Kidder reported.

COUNTY CONTRACTS — Approved contracts with Marin County for radio maintainence and the purchase of gasoline next fiscal year.

Pool Victims Still Critical

Two tiny residnets of Rancho Olompali who fell into a swimming pool there Monday were reported still in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Under care in the hospital's intensive care unit were Nika Carter, 2, and Audrey Keller, 3.

Inspector Bowen Bridges of the Marin sheriff's department said today that investigation of the accident is continuing.

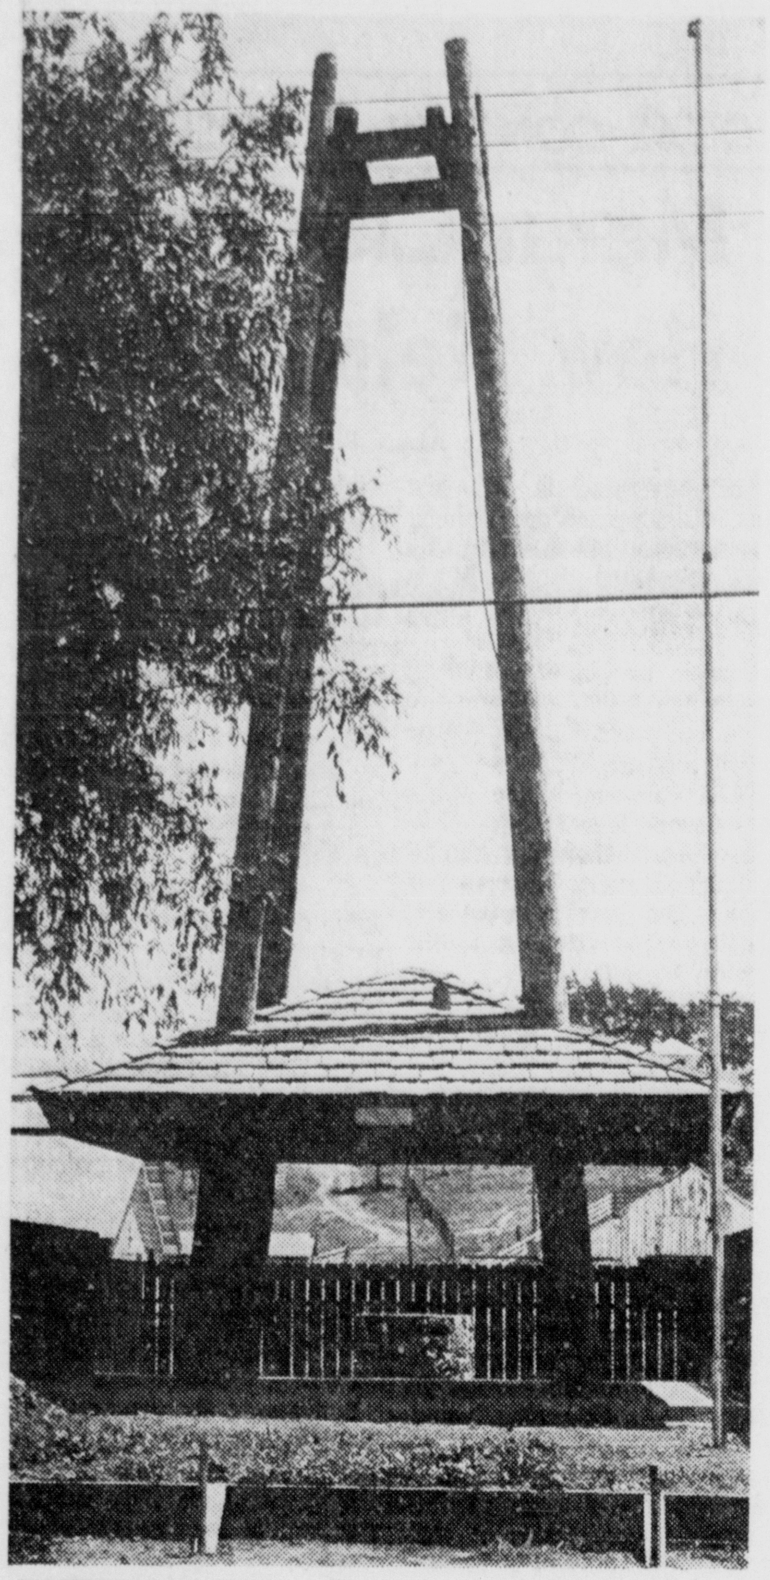
BLOOMFIELD'S BELL

Ding-Dong Feud Over

By LARRY D. HATFIELD



WAITING FOR BELL — The bell tower in Bloomfield, near the Marin-Sonoma line, which has been standing empty for more than a year, will be housing the cast iron bell, center of a community feud, but nobody is sure just when.

A tiny hamlet of 80 or so souls, Bloomfield nestles a few hundred yards north of the Sonoma-Marin line amongst steep, smooth hills interrupted by clutches of trees that seem to huddle together against the wind.

Bloomfield is the kind of town where people wave to each other as their cars pass, and the people like it that way.

It has a tavern, a firehouse, a Masonic hall and an abandoned schoolhouse and a cemetery on the hill.

Its streets — lined by only a few houses — are neatly laid out, attesting to greater pretensions for the future held by earlier residents than those held by today's residents.

Bloomfield also has a tower without a bell. It's that tower- and that bell that's not there that has sparked a new era of harmony among the community's once bitterly divided residents.

At least most of the people in and around Bloomfield are hoping that the battle over the bell —which has given the community much more notoriety than it ever desired — is over.

The battle started five years ago when the Bloomfield School was absorbed by the Tomales Bay School Distirct. The district claimed ownership of the bell, which was brought around Cape Horn late in the last century and was used in a church for many years before it called Bloomfield youngsters to school.

But the bell had disappeared. Although missing, its ownership was disputed by the Bloomfield Community Club, which insisted it belonged to the whole community, and by the volunteer fire department, which wanted it for the firehouse.

During the dispute, which skipped in and out of the courts and inflamed bitter feelings, the bell remained hidden — one story has it that the 24-inch, 190-pound cast iron relic lay hidden in a farmer's well while the battle raged on.

The community club said it had possession of the bell but only one man knew where it was. And he wasn't telling.

Last April, faced with court action, the community club delivered the bell and the same week, the school board gave it to the fire department which agreed it would be hung in the community-built bell tower which has stood empty for exactly a year now.

The agreement apparently has left most people happy, a sampling of sentiment shows.

Mrs. Ellen Blankenship, a friendly woman whose bouffant hair-do is dyed jet black, runs Stormy's Tavern. She is called Stormy, she says, because of her temper and because she was a tomboy in her youth.

"The whole thing was just a misunderstanding," she says of the origin of the battle which few villagers care to talk about but apparently stemmed from a very personal feud among a very few persons on either side of the fight.

Mrs. Blankenship, a member of both the community club and the volunteer firemen as most other Bloomfield citizens are, thinks it unfortunate that the tower, across from her tavern, has stood idle for so long. "It should have been up all the time so everyone could enjoy it. That's what the tower was built for."

The tower, which she, her teen-aged son and most of the other residents built with labor and material, is situated in a vest pocket park which also has a wishing well and eventually will have picnic tables. "It was all donated," she said as she sat on the curbing in front of it. "It took a lot of money but also a lot of good will, more than anything."

She also thinks the less said about the fight, the better. "It's best to let sleeping dogs lie."

As she talked, Malcolm Pierce, the ruddy-faced, gray-haired husband of the head of the community club, stopped by the tower. Pierce is the kind of man who talks at you like he's talking from a pulpit and his gospel is community togetherness. He puts his face close to his listener's when he talks.

"You can do a lot of things if everyone works together to get our little old village fixed up" he said, his arms raised in a Nixon-like gesture. "It's the grass roots . . . we the people."

Pointing to the bell tower, then to another community park being built down the street, he continued: "All of us feel this way about it." He tells of donations from area merchants for the parks and of the many hours of work donated by the townspeople, waving about invoices without prices on them to back himself up.

"Not a one of them is interested just in self," he lectures. "They're all interested in community. Nobody's unhappy.

Down the street at their home, Mrs. Pierce, a pleasant but tired looking woman who looks like a Midwestern farm woman, was less evangelical about the community's spirit than her husband, but also convinced the community is now pulling together.

Asked if there were lingering hard feelings, she began thoughfully, "I don't know whether I should say it or not . . ."

"I don't think we should talk about that," Malcolm Pierce interrupted. "After all, everyone is feeling good, now."

"The last few weeks we've been seeing a different attitude on the part of everybody," Mrs. Pierce continued after the interruption. "People are looking at it more sensibly. It was more or less a private feud anyway . . ."

Her husband chimed in again, cutting off the sentence, "The bell is going to be hung and that is the main thing."

At the other end of the city's main street, Richard Irvin, a swarthy man who thinks long before talking, then talks so slow you think he is taciturn, also talks of new harmony among the townspeople.

Emphasizing that he is a member of both the community club and the volunteer firemen but is speaking for neither, Irvin said, "Past grievances have been put aside. We're starting to work together instead of being a community divided."

Observing that Bloomfield townspeople took the controversy much more seriously than glib reporters writing in city newspapers, Irvin thought long again and said: "Feelings have been soothed. Things are working out to where there will be harmony in the community.

"All of us want that. We want the community to progress and it can't with two factions. People realize that."

Other residents, from both sides of the original division, agreed with Stormy, the Pierces and Irvin. "It's over," said one, "And let's leave it at that."

It will be over within a "reasonable time," which is the time given the fire department by the truce to put it up in the year-old belltower. It could be a week, a month or a year.

The bell currently is in storage in Santa Rosa and no one is quite sure when it will be hung, but when it is, as one of the participants in the battle put it. "It will toll for all of Bloomfield, not just part of it."

COMMUNITY BOOSTER — Malcolm Pierce, whose wife is president of the Bloomfield Community Club, considers the split over the bell is past history and believes the community will pull together to help the village.

INNOCENT BYSTANDERS—Two of Bloomfield's more placid inhabitants during the battle over the bell perked up enough to show interest in having their picture taken during an otherwise routine day.

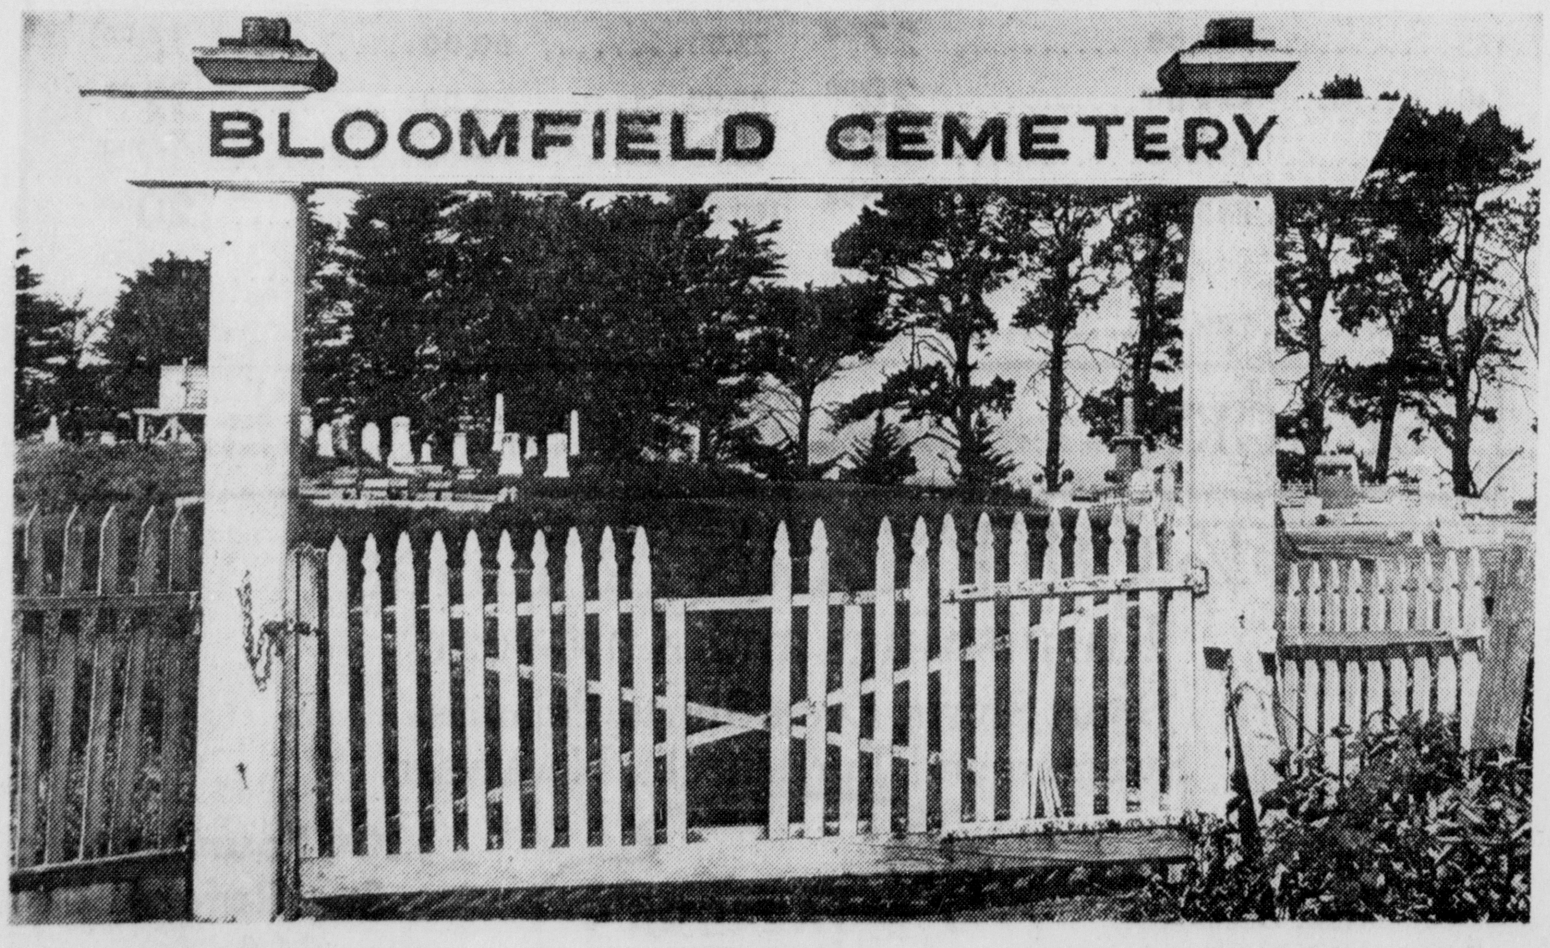
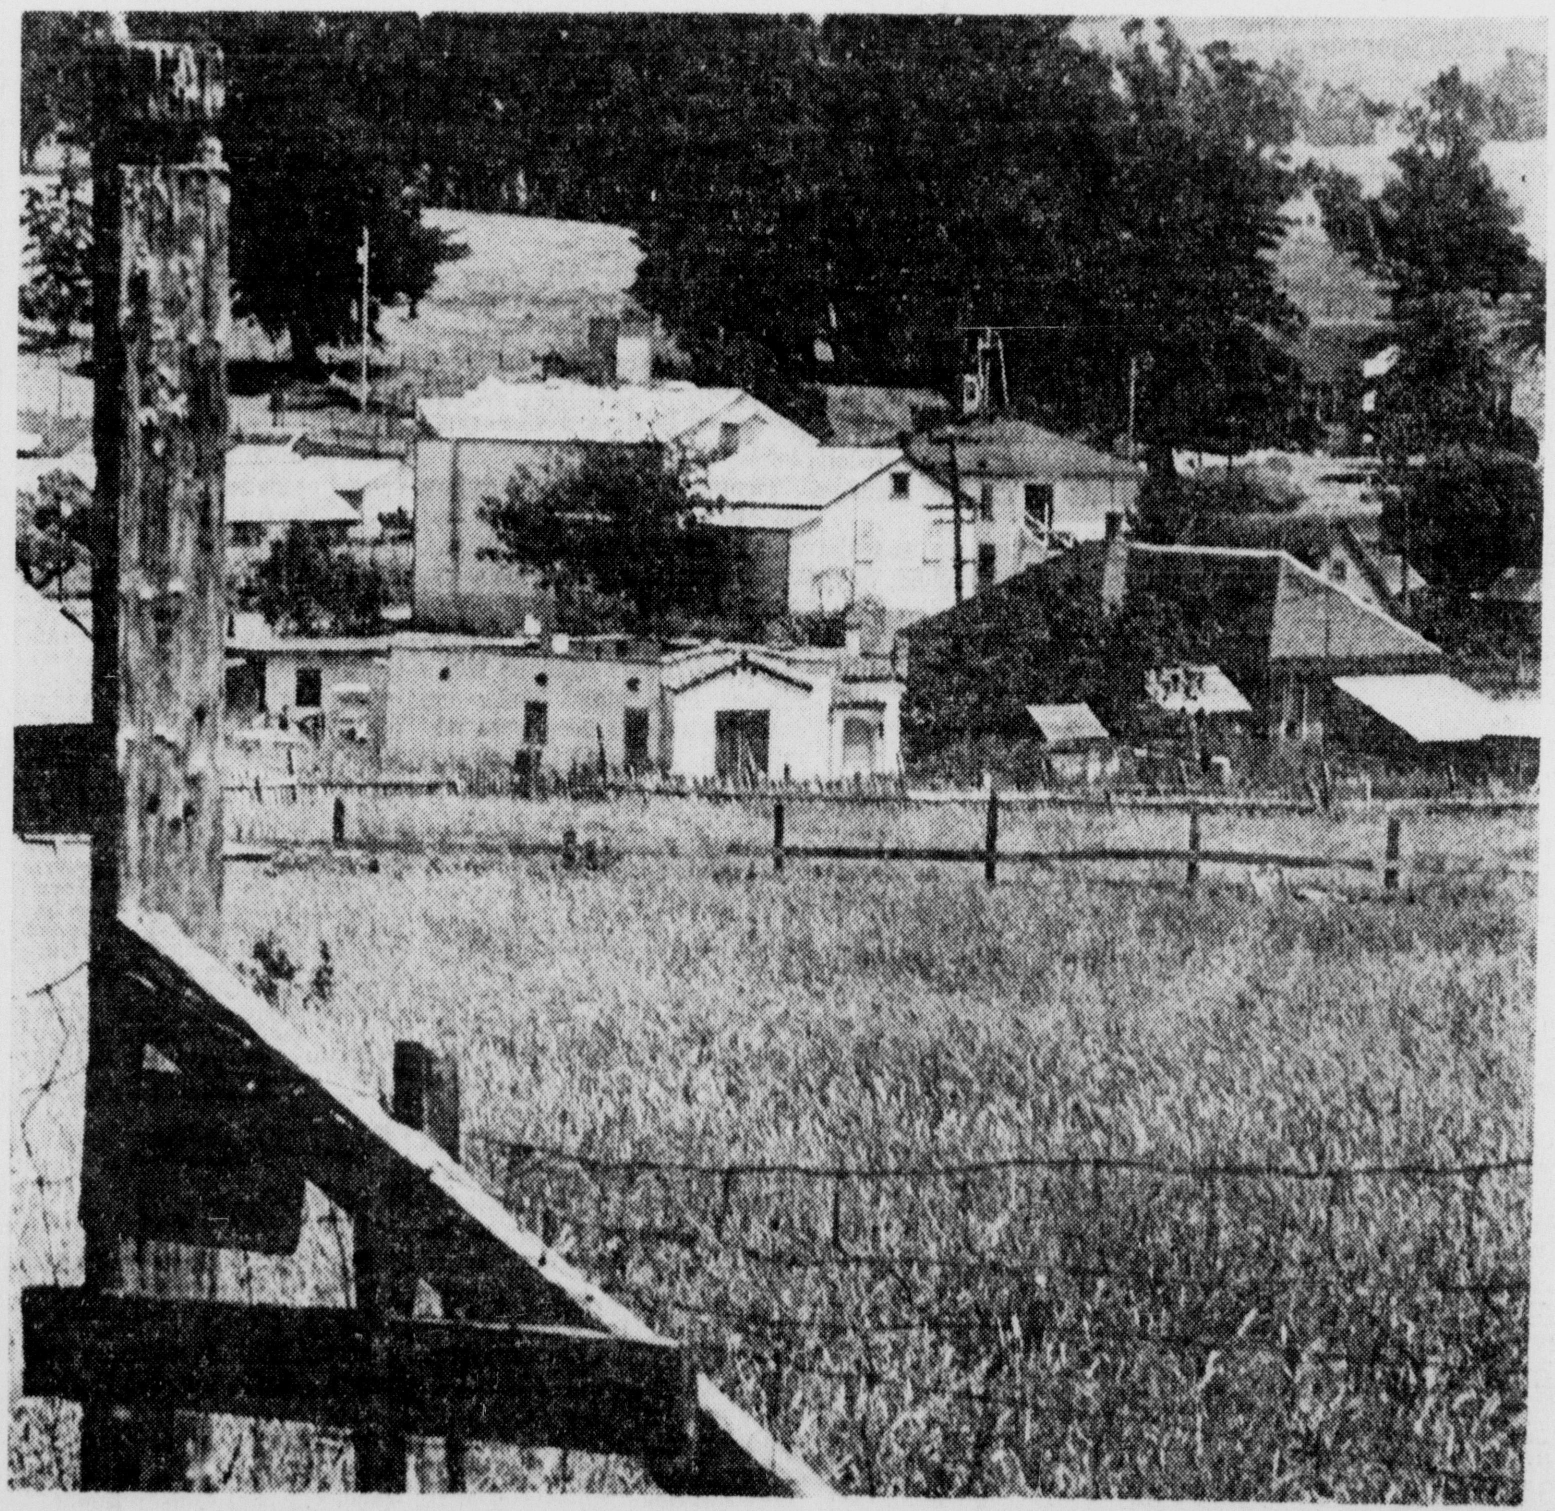
TOWN TAVERN — Standing at the corner of Bloomfield Road and College is Stormy's Tavern, operated by Mrs. Ellen Blankenship, who thinks the bell should have been in the tower, across from her tavern, long ago.



A COUNTRY GRAVEYARD — Standing on a hill in rural serenity is the simple cemetery which serves the small village of Bloomfield which has about 80 residents, a few homes, an abandoned schoolhouse and a tavern.



RURAL CLUSTER — Nestled among the hills is a portion of the Village of Bloomfield where rural peace has been uneasy during the past year in a dispute over bell brought around Cape Horn late in the 19th Century. (Independent-Journal Photos by Jackie Hartman)

NOTICE TO BIDDERS SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969
PROJECT NO. 69-017
CITY OF NOVATO
MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Finance Director, City of Novato, California, until 4:00 o'clock p.m., on Monday, July 7, 1969, for the furnishing of all plant, labor, materials, tools, equipment and machinery necessary for the construction of SLURRY SEAL RESURFACING 1969, PROJECT 69-017

The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the office of the Finance Director on the date and at the time mentioned above. Plans and Specifications (but not including City Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and proposal forms, may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer upon payment of a printing and service charge in the amount of Three Dollars ($3.00) which amount shall not be refunded. All checks shall be made payable to the City of Novato, and should be mailed to the Public Works Department, City of Novato.

The work to be done includes, but is not necessarily limited to: Slurry Seal resurfacing of existing streets and all appurtenances necessary for the successful completion of the project as shown on the plans and specifications.

Notice is hereby given that on May 13, 1969, the City Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done, which shall be the minimum rates paid on this project, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in a bid, and to make award as the interests of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Novato, California.

No bid will be received unless it is made on proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. Each of said bonds shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the price stated in the proposal. In addition to the above, and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

The contractor shall complete the construction of the total project within fourteen (14) calendar days, the first day of which shall be July 14, 1969.

DATED: June 25, 1969.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Ladder Accidents Can Cause Long Period Of Recuperation

VAN DELLEN

"My brother fell off a ladder and injured both legs. The real blow came when his doctor told him he would be off work for more than six months. Isn't this a long time to be disabled from this type of accident?" No, this is par for the course. A survey made in the United States of 3,157 ladder accidents revealed that the average duration of disability following these mishaps was 195 days.

Many thousands have fallen in this way without sustaining serious injuries. But, the situation is different when bones are broken or joints are crushed. A fractured heel, for example, takes months to mend and is tender for some time thereafter making walking difficult. The same can be said of an impacted hip or crushed vertebrae.

FALLING FROM a ladder usually is caused by thoughtlessness or foolishness. The victim often tells of using an unsafe structure with missing or loose rungs. The fact is, he was aware of these imperfections before he used it. Now and then the victim was weary from overwork or distracted by a noise. Or perhaps the ladeer was not strong enough to carry the worker or his load.

The janitor or homeowner exercises poor judgment if he climbs a high ladder without having someone hold the bottom securely. In addition, it is risky to reach too far to the left or right when atop the structure. Climb down and move the device.

WHEN WORKMEN are doing home repairs indoors or outside, caution the children against walking or playing beneath the ladder. This has nothing to do with superstition. Many youngsters have been injured when tools or other objects are inadvertently dropped.

There is no substitute for a good ladder. It is much safer than standing on a box or a kitchen chair. Make sure it is firmly placed and braced at the foot.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SUSCEPTIBLE TO CARIES

Mrs. B. writes: What do you mean by caries-prone children?

REPLY

Some youngsters develop more than the average number of cavities. While the exact cause is not known, dentists have found that many of these boys and girls have more than their share of acid-producing germs (lactobacilli) in the mouth. These organisms act on carbohydrates eaten, to form lactic acid, which in turn dissolves the cementing substance of the teeth. Other children have softer enamel that is more susceptible to the cavity producing acids. Fluoridation is most helpful in these boys and girls.

AGE NO BARRIER

E. P. writes: I consulted an ear specialist about a new hearing aid and he thinks he can restore my hearing through an operation. Could surgery for otosclerosis be done successfully in a 68-year-old man?

REPLY

If your ear specialist made tests that show you to be a suitable candidate for this operation, take his advice or ask for a consultation with another specialist. No one can guarantee good results but if there is a chance that your hearing will be improved, your age should be no barrier.

DERMOID CYSTS DEFINED

A. A. writes: Can men have dermoid cysts?

REPLY

Yes, except those that develop on female organs such as the ovary. These cysts are congenital in origin but may not manifest themselves or grow until later in life. They occur on the skin, in the mouth, and on other organs. Some contain cheesy material; others have bits of hair or a tooth.

Council, Board To Meet Again On Courthouse

The San Rafael City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet for the second time in less than a month Monday to discuss disposition of the courthouse square.

The meeting, also called to consider South San Pedro Road widening, will begin at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The city has expressed renewed interest in buying or leasing the courthouse square from the county. Appraiser Edward P. Morphy has estimated the land to be worth $750,000.

The city and county are jointly financing the South San Pedro Road widening project. The next phase will be from Lochinvar Road at Knight Drive. Threatened cuts in the county contribution were dropped after strong resident opposition.

Official Clarifies Brown Act Issue

The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in quoting Deputy County Counsel Thomas Hendricks as saying the unannounced special meeting of the Tamalpais Fire Protection District board, Monday would violate the Ralph M. Brown Act. Actually, Hendricks said the meeting could violate the act.

He said the violation could occur in the absence of 24-hour notification to the Independent-Journal which has previously filed a request for such notification.

As to whether or not actions taken would be invalidated if the meeting is found to be in violation, Hendricks said, "The law is not clear on that point." Yesterday's story implied that Hendricks declared a violation had taken place.

Two Drunken Drivers Fined

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has sentenced two persons for drunken driving and placed both on one year probation.

Violet Lillian Lenschmidt, 48, of 17 Circle Drive, San Rafael was also fined $240. She was arrested May 22 on Highway 101.

Alexander M. Young, 59, of San Francisco, who was arrested June 4 in Sausalito, was fined $302.

Realty Board Asks Shoreline Road Study

The Marin County Real Estate Board has asked the board of supervisors to reactivate studies of a new route for Shoreline Highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Sonoma County line.

The realty men, in a letter to the board, said that realignment of Shoreline Highway was delayed in 1963 until the West Marin master plan was adopted. Now that the plan has been approved, the letter said, the county should promptly ask the state division of highways that plans and studies be "immediately reactivated."

Reds Beaten By Laos Units

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Government forces drove off six Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese battalions after a two-day battle for an important government-held outpost in northern Laos, Army Chief of staff Oudone Sananikone said today.

General Oudone said government troops began sweep operations around the outpost at Muong Suoi, 55 miles southeast of Luang Prabang. He estimated the enemy suffered 350 dead. No government casualty figures were reported.

Oudone said heavy bombing helped scatter the enemy forces.,

Canoeing Classes To Start July 14

Basic and advanced canoeing classes, co-sponsored by the American Red Cross and the Marin Canoe Club, will be offered weekdays, starting July 14.

Instructional classes are held p.m. and 7 p.m. with preregistration required by calling the Marin County Red Cross Chapter. Those enrolled must be at least 12 years of age and able to pass a survival swim test which will be given July 6 at 9 at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 3 p.m., 5 a.m. at the Terra Linda Community Center Pool.

Blood Bank To Be Closed For Holiday

The Marin Blood Center at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will be open July 3 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and closed July 4. Usual hours will be observed Mondays and Wednesdays.

By joint announcement of the American Association of Blood Banks and the American National Red Cross, Americans in good health can be blood donors until their 66th birthday. The California Health and Safety Code, however, stipulates that blood donors over 60 must have written authorization from their personal physician.

New Members Of Grand Jury Seated

Two of the members of the 1969 Marin County Grand Jury have resigned and been replaced by other persons whose names were drawn from the original proposed list, according to County Clerk George H. Gnoss.

Noel O'Connell, who resigned because of illness, was replaced by Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips of Sausalito. Irving Links, who left the panel because he was going abroad, was replaced by Mrs. June Weden of San Anselmo.

Decides Against Using A Wildcat

DENVER (AP) — Merle Bernhardt rented a caged wildcat to advertise a brand of tires at his filling station. He considered turning the wildcat loose in the station office at night to discourage burglars.

But he changed his mind, explaining the cat might not know "the difference between burglars and Bernhardt."

Admitted Weed Smuggler Takes Werber Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An admitted marijuana smuggler has testified that Frank N. Werber, former Kingston Trio manager, was one of his customers who demanded "quality stuff that would be sold to quality people."

Werber, whose home is on DaSilva Island on Richardson Bay where he was arrested Oct. 15, is on trial on charges of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana from Mexico into Marin County.

Stanley Mulligan, 35, Sausalito, said that before he flew to Laredo, Tex., to pick up a quantity of smuggled marijuana Werber told him he "didn't want garbage to be sold in the Haight-Ashbury," a San Francisco district once filled with hippie-types.

Mulligan admitted yesterday he agreed to testify for the prosecution for "some consideration."

Originally he and Charles Barrett, 45, who are co-owners of the Lattitude 38 bar in Sausalito, were charged with conspiracy, but that charge has been dismissed and they now face only smuggling charges.

Barrett is scheduled to testify later.

Pay Hike Ends Utility Strike

OAKLAND (AP) — East Bay Municipal Utilities District workers received wage and fringe benefit increases totaling 7.4 per cent and have returned to work.

They were on the job yesterday, ending a strike that began June 13.

The agreement raised the lowest salaries from $486 per month to $518 and the highest from $1,665 to $1,788 monthly.

Peace Restored Between King, Mays

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — All was peaceful today between Willie Mays and his manager, Clyde King of the San Francisco Giants.

Mays apologized to King for his stormy dugout actions prior to the game between the Giants and the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

King accepted the apology and levied no fine against the star outfielder. Although peace was restored, the Giants still lost to the Astros 3-2, last night.

Mays and King had engaged in a shouting match after Mays discovered his name was not on the starting line-up Tuesday.

"Willie called me and said he wanted to talk," King said last night. "He apologized and said he was sorry for what he did and what he said.

"I told him that if he was big enough to apologize, I was big enough to accept his apology. I'm very happy the incident has been resolved peaceably and amicably."

King said he and Mays had a "friendly talk after that.

"Naturally, we talked baseball. This incident could bring us all closer together for a drive to the top. The teams at the top now are sputtering around ready to be caught."

The Giants, who have been the also-rans of the National League for many years, moved to Cincinnati for tonight's game, with Bob Bolin, 3-4, facing the Reds' Tony Cloninger, 4-9.

After last night's effort, Mays now stands in 17th place on the all-time hit list with 2,877. His single and a double put him ahead of Mel Ott on the list.

Mays also played in his 2,504th game — good for 10th place, one ahead of Babe Ruth.

Mays earlier had said the incident was a spur of the moment thing and said it could happen on any ball club.

"As soon as we start back winning, everything will be all right," Mays said.

King had said Tuesday he planned to "let it sit for a day" before deciding about the possibility of a fine.

Mays, at 38, plays when he feels in condition and King said this policy will continue.

"Once again," King said, "I made it clear to Willie that I won't push him when he feels tired and unable to play. Hereafter I will check with him daily."

JOE AND HIS FANS

Joe Namath stopped to sign autographs for young fans at Monticello Raceway where he was helping raise money for a seminary yesterday. Joe is scheduled to meet with pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle this week to discuss his retirement from football. Rozelle told Joe to sell his interest in a New York bar which has drawn "undesirable characters" and Joe said no. (UPI Telephoto)

Thief Makes Return To Scene Of Crime

The thief has returned to the scene of the crime. But, more importantly, if paradoxically, to the Dodgers, the statue in the team shrine is stealing second again.

For Dodger believers, it was as if St. Francis were back feeding birds, Joan of Arc were back leading the troops, St. Christopher were carrying travelers across a raging stream.

The Dodgers were sniffing penant again. It was like 1959 all over when a next-to-last-place team suddenly was making noises like a real live contender, and the front office sent down to Spokane for a punch hitter who had spent so many years in the deep minors, he gawked at two-story buildings.

Today, whenever Dodgers fans gather to discuss the good old days, they get teary-eyed when they talk of "Zack," or "Jackie," or "Sandy," or "Dazzy," or "Duke," "Newk," "Campy" or "Pee Wee."

Then They Have Good Cry

And then someone says, "Remember 'The Mouse'?" And then they have a real good cry.

When Maurice Morning Wills first led the Dodgers to a pennant in '59 after a lackluster minor league career, there were those who thought he was Mickey Mouse in cleats. They kept telling each other, the first time they saw a tiny girl with wings and a wand flying around his shoulders, they would protest to the league. But when he stole 104 bases in 1962, they thought he was even less mortal than that.

It's hard to say trading Maury Mills was the biggest mistake ever made. But it ranks somewhere between Russia selling Alaska and the Red Sox selling Babe Ruth.

The pennant and the playoffs and the world championships rolled with Maury — '59, '62, '63, '65, '66. When you went to the ballpark and someone said, "Which one's Wills?" You said, "You see that cloud of dust over there?" Maury's legs were a strawberry patch. You could tell it was September because Maury was sliding headfirst. He slid headfirst because he didn't want to get blood on the bags. They tagged him so hard you cold read "Warren Giles, Official National League Baseball" backwards on his forehead.

Hard To Defend Against

If they played him deep, he bunted. If they played him in, he slapped the ball just over their reach. They used to say of Babe Ruth, "He hit home runs where nobody went in the next county. Maury's went clear to the left field tarpaulin. A bunt single was the equivalent of a home run, anyway.

It wasn't entirely that he was so fast. It was just that he knew how to cut the distance between bases from 90 feet to 75. Maury could run the first five yards faster than a kid who hears a noise in the cemetery. There wasn't a pitcher in the league could hold him on. If he got back safely by a yard on a pickoff attempt, he took 35 inches more on his second lead.

They used to criticize Maury for stealing when his team led 8-0. But Maury felt, like every good thief, that when the lights were out, that was the time to

Joe Louis Collapses On Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Louis, the former world heavyweight boxing champion, collapsed on a street today of an apparent heart attack and was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

Louis collapsed shortly before noon in front of 51 Williams Street in downtown Manhattan. He was taken to Beekman-Downtown Hospital for treatment.

His condition is described as "good."

55 YEARS OLD

Louis, 55, was in New York yesterday to announce the formation of the Joe Louis Food Franchise Corporation; an interracial fast-food company of which Billy Conn, former world Light-heavyweight champ, is vice-president.

The Brown Bomber won the heavyweight title in 1937 by knocking out James J. Braddock and held it until he retired in 1949. He made a comeback after retiring and was beaten by Ezzard Charles in 1950 and knocked out by Rocky Marciano in 1951, his last regular fight.

25 TIMES

Louis successfully defended the title 25 times, the most of any champion in the long history of the ring. In all, he appeared in 27 championship matches, including the night he beat Braddock to win the crown and his comeback attempt against Charles. The Marciano fight was not a title match.

Moffat Wins Tennis Match In State Meet

Andy Moffat of Mill Valley won his match yesterday in the 69th annual California State Junior Tennis Championships, but two Marin County girls were knocked out of competition.

Moffat defeated Joe Wade of New York, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1 in Boys 18 action of the tourney, being played at the San Jsse Swim and Racquet Club.

In girls 16, Bee Kilgore of Tiburon lost to Barbara Downs of Alamo, 6-1, 6-0, and in girls 14, Leslie Airola of Tiburon lost to Susan Mehmedbasich of El Cerrito, 6-1, 6-3.

LEACH TIES FOR NCAA GOLF LEAD

Ray Leach of Novato, representing the Brigham Young University team, was one of four golfers tied for the lead in the NCAA golf tournament after yesterday's first round.

Leach, former star for the Novato High School golf team and a sophomore at Brigham Young, fired a four-over-par 74 on the wind-swept Broadmoor West Course at Colorado Springs.

Annex Nine Gives Toby's First Loss

Toby's Truckers lost their first game of the season last night in Marin area Joe DiMaggio League action, falling to Annex Motors, 8-6.

Jack Burman with four hits and Steve Pond with a pair of doubles paced the Annex attack. Tom Olson had a two-run homer for Toby's.

In other games, Herb's Pool Service tied Italian Club, 6-6 (game to be replayed if it would have bearing on final standings), Holiday Magic downed Presidio 12-4 paced by Bruce D'Ambra's three-run triple, and San Anselmo nipped Healdsburg 2-1, with Joe Blum hitting a double and single and scoring both runs for the winners. Mill Valley had a bye.

Track Meet Slated For Lake Tahoe

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — An international track meet called the Indian Summer Games will be held here Sept. 13, city officials announced yesterday.

The national AAU team to be selected this weekend will be invited, along with teams from Kenya and Canada, as well as individual NCAA and foreign stars.

FOR CATFISH

It's Long Time Between Wins

OAKLAND (AP) — "I've never gone this long between victories," Jim "Catfish" Hunter said after beating the Kansas City Royals 3-1 last night.

It was the first victory for the Oakland pitcher since May 11, when he beat the New York Yankees. Hunter had a no-hitter until the seventh, but left the game when Kansas City collected three hits and its only run in the eighth.

WORRIED

"I thought I might lose this one too," Hunter said. "When Taylor hit the ball in the eighth, I thought it was gone for a home run."

The hit Hunter was talking about was a long drive by pinch-hitter Bob Taylor that Oakland left-fielder Tommy Reynolds caught against the fence.

There were two Royal runners on base at the time.

The A's concluded their series with Kansas City this afternoon when Chuck Dobson, 8-5, was to pitch against the Royals' Roger Nelson, 4-6.

ENCOURAGED

Manager Hank Bauer was encouraged by Hunter's performance last night but didn't want to wait six more weeks for "Catfish" to win again. "He has to win if we are going anywhere," Bauer said.

Bauer was pleased with the relief pitching of Rollie Fingers, who hurled the final 1 2-3 innings in his fifth relief appearance in the last six games. He earned his fifth save of the season.

"It's a lot to ask of a 22-year-old kid," Bauer said of Fingers' relief work. "Our bullpen went haywire, but Fingers has straightened it out."

UNEARNED

The A's scored two unearned runs off losing pitcher Wally Bunker. Reggie Jackson continued his unusual season with a pair of doubles. He now has 27 homers, 16 doubles, two triples and only 18 singles among his 63 hits.

Sal Bando drove in a run for Oakland with a double in the first inning and Larry Haney scored one with an infiel dout in the second.

Gonzales, Ralston Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP — Pancho Gonzales, showing no ill effects from his 112-game victory over Charlie Pasarell yesterday, returned to the Wimbledon tennis courts today and scored a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 second round victory over Ove Bengtsson of Sweden.

In another match, Gonzales' protege, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, also gained the third round by beating Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-2, 6-4.

The fourth day of the All-England Tennis Championships began in overcast, muggy weather. No rain was forecast.

Bengtsson, who won the Kent County title a couple of weeks before Wimbledon, had little in his armory to trouble Gonzales except a booming service.

The 41-year-old Los Angeles pro had a certain amount of trouble collecting Bengtsson's service in the opening game, and was within a couple of points of dropping his own. But he took a 2-1 lead and never from then on looked in trouble.

A service break in the first set and another in the second put him way ahead, and he clinched the match by taking Bengtsson's service for a 5-3 lead in the third and then holding his own.

A BIRTHDAY (102) RUNNER

Larry Lewis, 102-year-old waiter, jogs around Cox Stadium in San Francisco carrying the tools of his trade before running a 100-yard dash in 17.3 seconds, quite a way to celebrate his birthday. His daily schedule begins with a six-mile run in Golden Gate Park and then he walks five miles to the St. Francis Hotel where he's been a waiter since the age of 80. (AP Wirephoto)

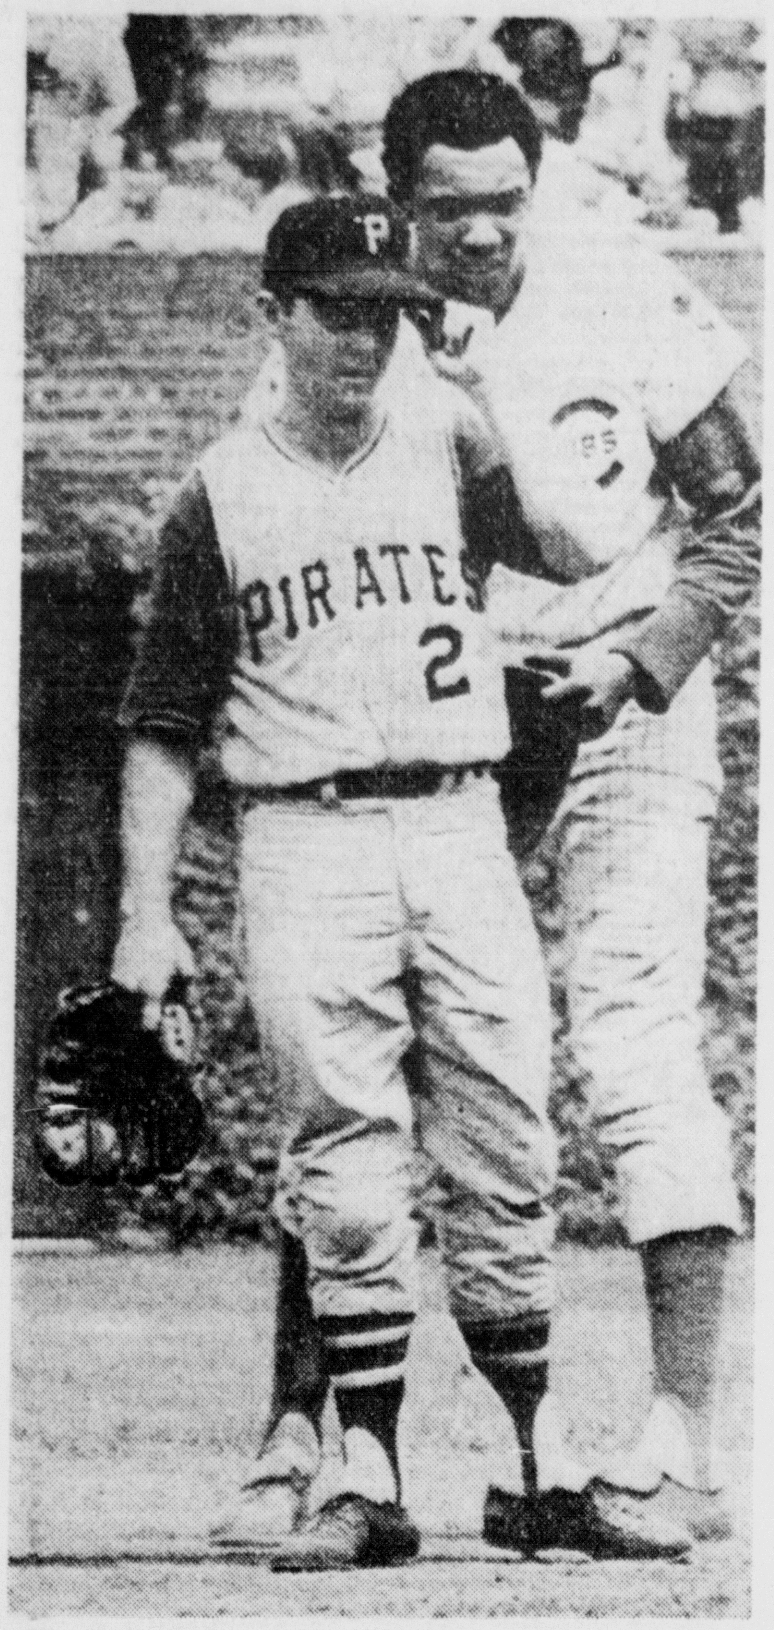
Astros Continue Hot Pace



BIG AND LITTLE—Pitcher Ferguson Jenkins (6-foot-5) of the Cubs towered over Pittsburgh's shortstop Freddie Patek, the smallest man in the majors at 5-foot-4 during this scene at second base yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Houston Hard To Beat On Its Home Grounds

The Astros, playing at their dome home which is cooled by 6,600 tons of air conditioning, edged San Francisco 3-2 last night and extended their various marks to:

—Nine straight victories, eight of them at home.

OTHER SCORES

In other National League games, Cincinnati handed San Diego its 11th straight defeat 4-0, Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 5-2, Atlanta stopped Los Angeles 5-3, Philadelphia edged New York 6-5 in 10 innings and St. Louis swept Montreal 8-1 and 8-3.

Jim Wynn was the hottest Astro last night, rapping a two-run homer in the fifth inning that provided the margin of victory.

"This team never gave up on itself, not even when we were 4-20 the first month," said Wynn, in the cool Astrodome. "Now we're two games over .500, and I say we've got a chance to win our division."

The Astros' division is the West, and they currently are in fifth place but just 5½ games behind the first-place Braves.

LAUDS PITCHING

"Our pitching staff has done a great job," Wynn continued. "That's why we're winning. All they've got to do is keep us close, within one to three runs of the opposition, and we've got a good chance."

The Astro pitchers have been particularly brilliant in the ing allowed just 11 runs.

Tom Griffin had the Giants blanked on four hits through eight innings, but San Francisco rallied for two runs in the ninth and reliever Fred Gladding had to halt the threat.

George Culver was even tougher on San Diego for the first six innings, holding the hapless Padres hitless. San Diego eventually got two hits—but no runs. Alex Johnson homered for the Reds in the sixth.

Ferguson Jenkins stopped Pittsburgh on two hits and struck out 10 for his ninth victory. The Cubs were aided by Bob Veale's run-scoring wild pitch and errors by Jose Martinez and Fred Patek.

TO FIRST

Atlanta jumped over Los Angeles into first place in the West Division as Hank Aaron snapped a 3-3 tie with his 19th homer in the eighth. The hit made Phil Niekro the majors' first 12-game winner even though the Dodgers battered him for 10 hits.

Philadelphia, without Richie Allen again, stopped the Mets' four-game winning string. Rookie Dave Watkins tied the Mets 5-5 in the eighth with his first major league homer, then tripled in the 10th and scored as John Briggs singled.

FOUR HITS

Tim McCarver collected four hits and drove in three runs as St. Louis whipped Montreal in the opener of their doubleheader for Bob Gibson's 10th victory against four defeats.

Then in the second game McCarver scored the tie-breaking run on Phil Gagliano's double in the eighth. The Cardinals added four runs in the ninth, one on Lou Brock's homer and three on Mike Shannon's.

The Expos pulled off the league's second triple play of the season in the second inning of the nightcap. Vada Pinson lined into it.

Brodie, The Golfer, Wins In State Play

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Everybody is used to watching John Brodie play quarterback for football's San Francisco 49ers.

On the Monterey Peninsula, people are watching Brodie the golfer. He battled his way into the second round of the California State Amateur Golf championship yesterday by beating Richard Dick of Long Beach with one-over-par golf.

(None of four Marin County hopefuls made it through the 36 holes of qualifying to advance to the match play competition.)

FAVORITE

The burly Brodie today is only a slight favorite over fiftyish, balding, stoop-shouldered Bob Roos of San Francisco, although the 49er star could probably throw his opponent over the football crossbars.

Roos is a magician with his putter and dropped three difficult par putts on the final three holes to outlast young Jim Bradford of Downey in a 19-hole win during opening-round play.

BEST GOLF

Best golf in the initial round was played by Los Angeles attorney Dick Runkle, twice a finalist in this event, who was one-under-par while beating Steve Cook, Long Beach, 3 and 2.

Also advancing to today's second round were medalist Ted Lyford, and three former champions—Ernie Pieper Jr., San Jose; Verne Callison, Sacramento, and John Richardson, Long Beach.

SCORES

Redland's Lyford bested Bill Daugherty, Woodland, 4 and 3; Pieper outlasted W. A. Monahan, Manhattan Beach, 20th; Callison sidelined Rob Ashman, Bellevue, Wash., 2 up, and Richardson beat W. H. King, San Mateo, 4 and 2.

It was Pieper who made the shot of the day when he tanked a two iron shot for an eagle two on the 425-yard, eighth hole.

Novato Nine Wins; Crucial Tilt On Tap

Novato, now 7-2 in standings, takes on league leading Napa (8-1) hoping to tie for the first half title Saturday on the field at Yountville Veterans' home.

Russ Dillon, who hit a 425-foot home run last night against Vallejo, will do the pitching Saturday for Novato. Other big hitters for Novato last night were first baseman Barry Berringer, a triple and two singles, catcher Wally Campbell and second baseman Mark Newsom, each with three hits, and shortstop Dee Fedrick with a pair.

Novato 003 100 511—11 13 3
Vallejo 002 000 300— 5 9 2

make your move. "Is Henry Aaron not supposed to try to hit a home run because his team is ahead?" Maury demanded logically.

Thrown Out Stealing Home

Maury stole on his own. That finally was the trouble. He got thrown out for stealing home — by Walter O'Malley for stealing home from Japan in 1967.

It was as melancholy as the Vatican cutting Santa Claus adrift, or giving an Old Master to the mailman. What they got for Maury couldn't lead the 1927 Yankees to a pennant.

Walter O'Malley went scouring through the attics and trashcans of baseball for his petulantly-discarded treasure this month. He has found it, dusted it off, restored it, put No. 30 back on it, and has it in its fitting showcase, the Louvre of Baseball, Dodger Stadium.

Not everyone is an art connoisseur. "What's he want him for?" grumbled the newer fans. They said that in 1959, too.

Palmer Fires 64 In Tuneup

By BOB GREEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Well," Arnold Palmer said, "I can't say I'm satisfied. You're never satisfied unless you're winning. But maybe, just maybe, I'm on the way to being satisfied. Maybe so. Maybe."

The muscular man with the putty face made the comments after shooting a six-under-par 64 in the amateur event preceding today's first round in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course.

The 39-year-old idol of the galleries needs a victory perhaps more than ever before.

NEEDS VICTORY

It's not that he needs the money. He's the game's first millionaire. He's made more out of it than any other person. But he needs a victory—in the worst way.

For the first time since 1955 he does not hold a title.

His last one went by the boards last week in the Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C., where he was the defending champion.

Now it's been more than a year since he won and his defeat last week marked the first time since he won the Canadian Open in 1955 that he didn't hold a championship somewhere.

"I've been working on my game quite a lot," he said.

WITH DAD

"My father and I worked o some things before the National Open in Houston two weeks ago.

"It helped. I played better, but not good enough.

"Then last week at Charlotte, I played pretty well, but I didn't putt at all for the first three rounds. A friend of mine there, Dick Tiddy, helped me a little on my putting.

"The last round I started getting some putts to drop. But I still had 30 putts. That's not good."

He closed with a final 66, six under par, in the Kemper but it wasn't enough and he finished in a tie for fifth behind winner Dale Douglass.

PUTTING WOES

"I'm driving the ball well," he said. "I think I led the Kemper in greens hit in regulation, and I missed only two fairways today. It's been the putting. But that seems to be improving.

"You have to be encouraged after a 66 and 64."

The 64 was even more remarkable because the four-time Masters champ took a double bogey 6 on his first hole. He pushed his tee shot into the woods at the right, chipped back to the fairway then three-putted from 25 feet.

He missed a two-footer on his second putt, tapped in, turned his back to the gallery and muttered, "that's not it. That's not it at all."

RIMS CUP

He rimmed the cup on a 15-foot birdie putt on the second and said, "Well, at least I hit it."

He hit the back of the cup with an 18-foot bird on the third hole, retrieved the ball and said, "That's a little more like it."

He got another from 23 feet on the next hole and was off and running, finishing with eight birdies.

"It's better," he said. "But I'm not satisfied. I won't be satisfied until I'm winning."

And he's in the longest dry spell of his career.

Red Sox Pitchers Give Away Runs To Indians

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Mike Nagy and Vicente Romo are music lovers, you can bet that Walkin' My Baby Back Home isn't on their personal Hit Parade.

The two Boston pitchers issued four consecutive bases-loaded walks last night that helped Cleveland to a 7-3 victory after the Red Sox won the afternoon portion of a day-night doubleheader 3-1.

Lee Gets Chance

Pitcher Bill Lee of Terra Linda, called up by the Boston Red Sox from their farm club in Pittsfield, Mass., just Tuesday, got his first chance on the mound yesterday in the second game of a doubleheader against Cleveland. He pitched four innings and gave up two hits and one run, walked three and struck out five.

Despite the split, the second-place Sox gained one-half game on Baltimore, which lost to Washington 11-8, and trail the Orioles by 9½ games in the American League East.

Elsewhere in the A.L. Detroit whipped the New York Yankees 6-1, Minnesota edged California 3-2, Oakland beat Kansas City 3-1 and Seattle topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Boston and Cleveland were locked in a 1-1 tie in their night game when Nagy walked Duke Sims with one out in the third. Singles by Tony Horton and Ken Harrelson loaded the bases before the giveaway began in earnest.

Lou Klimchock walked. Russ Snyder walked. Mike Nagy walked—to the showers. Enter Vicente Romo. Ken Suarez walked. Stan Williams walked. Jose Cardenal, the spoil sport, ended the inaction with a sacrifice fly for the final run of the inning.

"The first couple of innings were so slow, I found myself getting lazy," said Williams, who pitched a five-hitter.

Siebert, who hurled his first complete game of the season, yielded a leadoff homer to Cardenal in the day game. Larry Brown singled and the Indians didn't get another hit until Horton singled in the ninth.

Linzy Admits He's Not Doing Job This Season

HOUSTON — Frank Linzy is described in the Press-Radio-TV guide of the Giants as a relief ace who gets the job done "in tight situations when the game is in balance."

During the past four seasons Linzy did get the job done in tight ball games. His record of 32 games won, plus 50 saves, from 1965 through 1968 is the best evidence of that.

"I HAVEN'T been doing the job this year," Linzy frankly acknowledged following two losses to the Braves at Atlanta in the four-game series that opened the current road trip of the Giants.

"I haven't been doing my job and Jim Ray Hart hasn't been doing his," said Linzy. "If we had we'd be in first place now."

Linzy pinpointed with refreshing honesty the two primary reasons the Giants are not leading the western division of the National League. When he was complimented for his objective analysis of the situation and particularly for not trying to cover up his early season failures with alibis, Linzy said:

"I WOULDN'T be kidding anybody, least of all myself. It is quite apparent that if Hart had been hitting and I had been pitching effectively, we'd be on top."

Linzy is 4-4, with six saves, at this stage of the 1969 campaign. The six saves seem impressive but this season a relief pitcher is credited with a save just for finishing a game and maintaining a lead which could be 10-0. Heretofore a relief pitcher was credited with a save only when he faced a winning or tying run and prevented it from scoring.

THREE OF LINZY'S four losses have been to the Braves in Atlanta. In addition to losing the opening and closing games of the four-game set last weekend in Atlanta Stadium, Linzy lost the opening game of the season there.

In the season opener Marichal had been lifted for a pinch hitter during a three-run seventh inning rally that put the Giants in front 4-3. But Linzy failed to save the win for Marichal. In the ninth the Braves rapped him for single, triple, single and a 5-4 decision.

THE SINGLE, triple, single in the opener off Linzy were solid shots. So was a 12th inning homer last Friday night by Bob Billman off Linzy for a 4-3 decision.

In the nightcap of last Sunday's doubleheader, the Braves roughed up Linzy for the third time. Three singles, three walks of which one was intentional and a wild pitch added up to four runs in the eighth inning.

NATURALLY, Linzy isn't happy with the way things have been going for him. But he isn't about to panic. Anybody who takes an objective look at his work as Linzy does without alibiing has half the problem licked. The other half for Linzy? To get his sinker working the way it did the past four seasons.

Louis Praises Joe Frazier

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, Cassius Clay need not bother getting back in the ring—he is no match for Joe Frazier, the current champ in six states, Mexico and Argentina.

"Frazier is too strong for everybody," Louis said yesterday. "Clay has been out too long. It would be no contest."

Louis, announcing he has entered in the chain restaurant business with former boxer Billy Conn, said Frazier also could beat Jimmy Ellis, recognized by the World Boxing Association as the heavyweight titlist.

"Frazier would break him in two," Louis said. "Ellis can't stand the pressure in the ring. Frazier is the best heavyweight in boxing today."

New Head Man At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Robert S. (Bob) Gunderson yesterday was named vice president and general manager of Bay Meadows Race Track, succeeding Joe Cohen, who is retiring at the age of 76.

Cohen, associated with the track since it opened in 1934, will remain a director of the California Jockey Club, which operates the course.

Gunderson has been general manager of Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan for the past several years.

Aaron Rising Fast On Home Run List

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has closed to within only four of 600 career homers, but the player who has made the most rapid advance near the top of the all-time home run list this season is Atlanta's Hank Aaron.

Aaron, 35 and in his 16th big league campaign, has walloped 19 homers in 1969, lifting his career total to 529. Since the start of the season, he has moved past Mel Ott, who hit 511, Ed Mathews, a former teammate, who had 512, and Ted Williams, 521.

Aaron is second among the active players, behind only Mays, and fifth on the lifetime listings. Mays, San Francisco's star outfielder, has nine homers this year and a total of 596. He is 38 and in his 18th year in the majors.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs is third among the actives with 486 homers, followed by Frank Robinson of Baltimore with 435 and Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, 414.

Banks, 38 and in his 17th season with the Cubs, has climbed into 10th place on the all-time list. His 12 homers this year have moved him past Stan Musial, the former St. Louis Cardinals' standout, who slipped to 11th place with 475.

Robinson, 33, a 14-year big league veteran, holds 12th place among the all-timers. He has 17 homers so far in 1969. Killebrew, who will be 33 next Sunday, has 17 homers and they enabled him to move up one place to 13th in the career rankings. Duke Snider, the one-time Dodger slugger, dropped to 14th at 407.

Babe Ruth heads the home run sluggers with 714. In third place behind Mays comes Mickey Mantle, whose uniform No. 7 was officially retired by the New York Yankees earlier this month, 536. Jimmy Foxx, who starred for the Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox, is fourth with 534.

Mays has led the National League in homers four times. His one-season career high was 52 circuit blows in 1965. Aaron has also paced the N.L. four times. His top figure was 46 in 1959.

The lifetime home run leaders:

1. Babe Ruth	714

Hockey League Talks Expansion

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Hockey League's board of governors, buoyed by the significant progress shown in talks held the last two days, will meet again in Chicago Aug. 13 to further contemplate expansion of the present two, six-team divisions.

Vancouver, Baltimore and Buffalo are high on the list of cities which are being considered for NHL franchises with the target date the 1970-71 season.

In a joint statement, William Wirtz, chairman of the board's expansion committee, and League President Clarence Campbell said "We have been authorized by the board to say meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday produced excellent and encouraging results after many long hours of deliberation on the many problems which are involved in any further expansion of the NHL."

The league formed a West Division of six expansion teams to join the six established teams in the East for the 1967-68 season. Of the new franchises only Oakland and Pittsburgh were not doing as well as expected. Several attempts were made to move the Oakland team to Vancouver but opposition from Montreal, Toronto and Los Angeles, which felt the Seals provided a natural West Coast rivalry, blocked the move.

Which is Best??
GOODYEAR POLYGLAS and all it's many cousins or The MICHELIN X Steel Radial Tire

Cain's has been selling the Goodyear Polyglas and the Jetzon Fiberglas Belted Tire, made by GOODYEAR thru a subsidiary, for a year and a half or since they came out. Cain's, as you know, is one of the largest Michelin dealers in the Bay Area. So, since we sell both, we have been able to observe both on our customers' cars with no bias in our minds.

Sincerely, people, the Michelin X is so superior to Polyglas that in our observation Polyglas won't even come close to Michelin X mileage. As for the handling characteristics, the difference is even greater. Michelin is so superior in stopping, cornering and generally stabilizing your car. The rubber companies who are pushing Polyglas tell their distributors to sell their customers hard on the fact that the Radial tire is not made for American cars and rides too rough for them.

HERE IS THE TRUTH ON THAT: ANY TIRE that is belted will ride firmer than a non-belted tire. It makes no difference whether it's Polyglas or one of the other 14 brands of Goodyear's Polyglas base they make under another label — or if it's Pirelli - Dunlop - Michelin Radial — they all firm-up your ride, which most people feel is an asset.

What Really makes MICHELIN X so much a better deal than Goodyear Polyglas is the fact that THEY COST NO MORE.

Size	Goodyear Polyglas	MICHELIN X Steel Ply Radial
6.50-13, 7.00-13	$36.00	$36.00
6.95-14	38.00	38.00
7.35-14	39.50	39.50
7.75-14	42.00	42.00
8.25-14	47.00	47.00
8.55-14	52.00	52.00
7.35-15	42.00	42.00

9.00-15	54.00	54.00
9.15-15	58.00	58.00

But only Michelin X will add 10% to your gas mileage. Talk to anyone who has had them and they will tell you about it everytime.

The simple fact is — Michelin X will out-perform, out-ride and out-wear a Goodyear Polyglas by such a wide margin, that it's still NO contest!! But, nice try Goodyear.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Desperate Discard Is Used Only In A Desperate Situation

A certain kind of throw-in play works in the averag game because the average defender cannot bring himself to make a desperate discard without giving himself away. A strong opponent learns from experience that desperate situations call for desperate measures.

DUCKS CLUB

South took the king of spades and ducked a club to East's jack, hoping to develop a club trick. East returned a diamond to the ace. Declarer led his other club to the king, and East's spade discard told him the bad news. Now South led a heart from dummy, trying a finesse with the jack.

West won with the king of hearts (trying to conceal his queen) and returned the jack of diamonds, which held the trick. Now West shifted back to spades, and South won with the ace. When South next led the king of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 break, West discarded a spade. South promptly led a spade to dummy's queen.

SHORT-SIGHTED

Seeing no farther than his nose, West discarded a club. This made things easy for declarer. He cashed the ace of clubs and put West in with the queen of clubs. Down to two cards, West had to lead from the Q-5 of hearts, giving South the last two tricks with the ace-ten.

West should have seen this coming. His only chance was to discard the five of hearts instead of a club when South led the third spade to dummy's queen. Then South would be unable to stage the throw-in since West would take two club tricks.

SOUTH'S QUESTION

South would have to choose whether to take another heart finesse or play the ace of hearts in the hope that West had blanked the queen. South would have a difficult choice if West made his heart discard casually and without undue hesitation. But if West agonized over throwing the low heart, South might well suspect what was going on.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened one heart, partner has responded one spade, and it is up to you again (opponents are silent), holding:

♠ A K 3
♥ A J 10 4
♦ A K 9 2
♣ 5 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

If partner bids 2-no-trump, you will raise to three, if he bids two hearts, you will then bid two spades. If partner passes two diamonds you probably don't have a game and have not missed anything. The alternative is to jump at once to three spades, which is a slight overbid and should promise four-card support for spades. Many experts would prefer this, especially with a conservative partner.

McDivitt Hangs Up Space Suit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James A. McDivitt hung up his space suit yesterday and moved behind a desk—the fourth veteran of the Apollo program to end active space flying.

McDivitt, an Air Force colonel who commanded the flight of Apollo 9 in March, quit active space flying to assume the managership of Lunar Landing Operation Studies at the Manned Spacecraft Center here.

In his new duties, the two-time space flight veteran will be responsible for decisions connected with lunar landing missions following the first planned moon touchdown next month.

Four New Shops Planned For Sausalito's Lincoln Apartments

Extensive remodeling now going on at the Lincoln Apartments, 589-595 Bridgeway, Sausalito, by York Construction Co. should see four new shops occupying the ground floor here by the middle or latter part of July.

Planned are a Spanish gift shop; a women's apparel store called Rondi; another men's and women's shop, with some antiques, called Chelsea Gear — a branch of a San Francisco store, and a mod clothes shop.

Remodeling of upstairs apartments will be done later.

TWO SAN RAFAEL BROTHERS, George and Sinclair Moreno, who went to work for Bank of America on the same day, are celebrating their 45th anniversaries with the bank this month. Actually they went to work on a part-time basis on the same day in 1921, and both became full-time employees three years later.

Sinclair

Moreno

For the past nine years George has been manager of the Clay-Montgomery branch in San Francisco. Sinclair entered the Timeplan administration in 1955 and became a vice president in 1962.

T. G. AND Y. DEPARTMENT STORE in Rohnert Park has reported May sales 25 per cent higher than for the same month a year ago. It was the largest percentage increase of any T. G. and Y. store throughout the country. The Rohnert Park store has the third largest growth rate of any store in the chain in California, according to manager John S. Kaufman.

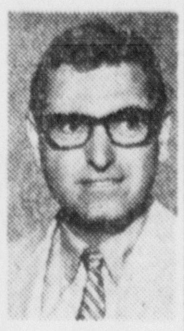
OPPORTUNITY for a tax deduction on an unused piece of property is being suggested by the Atheneum Arts Foundation which must give up occupancy of the old Robert Dollar Estate in San Rafael by Sept. 1. So far, the foundation has not found another address it can take over after that date — and it is still looking.

The foundation does not need 14 rooms and the extensive grounds it now has at the Dollar mansion, but it does require accommodations for a staff of three, meeting rooms for the Marin Civic Ballet, Shakespeare Festival, Marin Symphony Guild, Junior Theater and other non-profit groups without a home — and storage space for its many props.

The idea, of course, is that the foundation would like to have quarters that are rent-free, and believes that this could be used as a tax deduction by the owner of some old mansion not now being occupied. In return for this the foundation would furnish the house, provide labor for the maintenance of the property and make certain repairs.

JIRI HERRMAN of Kentfield, founder and retiring president of Baby News children's department stores, has been cited for more than two decades leadership of the franchised group. He opened the first Baby News store in San Francisco in 1948 and published the first Baby News catalog the same year. He still owns and operates stores in San Francisco and Westlake.

Herrmann



Blake

LEROY J. BLAKE of Sleepy Hollow, regional director for Career Academy, national occupational organization, has returned from a three-day conference in Milwaukee, participating in simulated classes in post-high school training offered by the company.

MICHAEL A. BURKE of San Rafael has joined the San Francisco investment securities firm, Edelstein, Campbell and Co. He was previously with the International Business Machines Corp.

Wall Street Stalls For Tax Vote

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks declined today, but volume lagged as many investors moved to the sidelines to await congressional action on the surtax extension. The House is expected to vote on the measure Monday.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 0.31 per cent on 1,535 issues on the tape. There were 787 declines and 501 advances.

Motors showed scattered weakness following an unfavorable industry report.

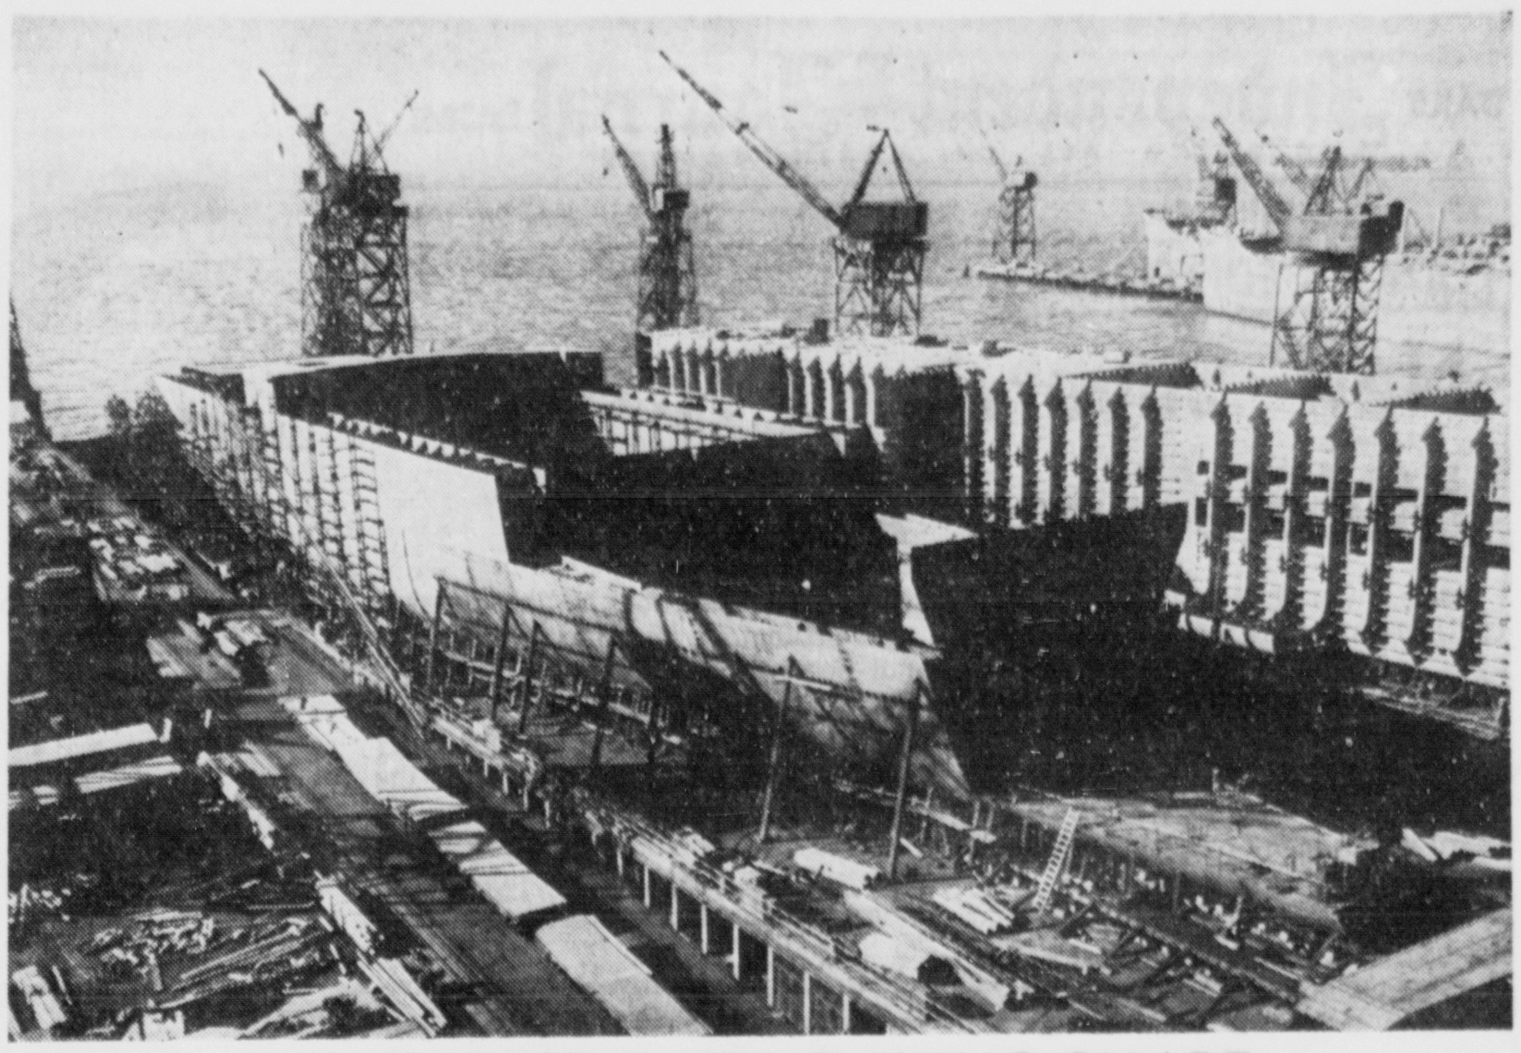
Conglomerates gave ground in many instances, but generally in fractions. Chemicals and steels moved in both directions and in rather narrow ranges.

Aircrafts also trended irregularly, while KLM worked lower in the softer airlines.

Electronics were mixed, with IBM on the upswing after sliding 5 in the previous session. Burroughs also gained.

There were several point-sized movers in both directions among the oils.

Among the most active issues were Martin-Marietta, Mead Corp., Raytheon Co., Benguet, Thiokol Chemical, Scientific Resources, and Natomas.



CONTAINER SHIPS TAKING SHAPE

The embryo of the first of two 33,000-ton, 23-knot container ships being built for Matson Lines intermodal freight services in the Pacific takes shape at Bethlehem Steel Corp. shipyard at Sparrows Point, Md. First vessel is scheduled to be launched next spring for delivery in December. Keel for the second ship was laid Feb. 1 with completion scheduled for March of next year. Cost of the two ships is extimated at $40 million.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Annuity Is Best Choice When Safety Important

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a paid-up insurance retirement program with a cash value of $5,000. Starting at age 65 it will pay me $50 a month. Until that time it will earn only 4 per cent interest. I believe I would be better off to take the money out and invest it in a sound mutual fund. I want something secure as I am alone and don't want to take any chances. — P.T.

A. Since you do not say how soon you will be 65, it is difficult to assess the possibility of your being able to increase your capital sufficiently to achieve the kind of return your policy guarantees. Unless you have at least 10 years prior to retiring, I would not advise making the change.

A recent study of 200 mutual funds reveals that on a $10,000 original investment with all distributions reinvested, at the end of 10 years the value of only 50 per cent has reached $20,000.

Q. I am just a housewife starting to invest. I have a small sum that I would like to use buying stocks. Could you suggest a stock for me? — S.W.

A. Hamilton Cosco, trading over the counter, has through acquisitions expanded its product line to include lighting fixtures, kitchen and bathroom wares and small appliances, as well as its original extensive line of metal furniture for home and office. Sales have expanded regularly in the past five years but earnings trended lower until last year when a substantial rebound was achieved.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

New Supervisors Take Middle-Road Approach

Marin County's new Board of Supervisors has gone through its baptism of fire, including a long and tedious budget hearing climaxing six months of decision-making.

The verdict after the first half year of work: Not bad, particularly by a board which many predicted would be split into two battling camps.

When the three new members of the board took their seats at the Civic Center in January, there was considerable talk about the "leanings" of the various supervisors and speculation on how the board may line up over one of the paramount issues in the county — conservation vs. development.

COMMENTATORS WONDERED out loud how new Supervisor Louis H. Baar of San Rafael might align himself with his former colleague on the San Rafael City Council, John F. McInnis, and vote the straight anti-conservation line.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. were tabbed as conservation oriented, with Supervisor William A. Gnoss as the swing vote.

The voting record of the supervisors during the first six months of the new board, however, does not fall into that pattern. There have been one or two instances when "swing vote" Gnoss found himself in the middle, but in the vast majority of cases, the votes have criss-crossed the conservation-development categories in which the individual supervisors had been cast.

Furtunately for Marin, there has not been, at least so far, a hard and fast polarization into two opposing camps. Each supervisor is apparently judging each issue on the merits of the evidence presented before them.

You find Baar leading a delegation from Marin to fight for acquisition of more land for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

In the long struggle by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, the Marin Youth Commission, and the Probation Officer to have a youth coordinator stationed in the probation department, it was Baar who broke the ice by moving to accede to the requests of the three groups.

On yet another issue, the county's supplement to welfare aid, it was Supervisor Michael Wornum who took the hard-line and moved for rejection of any increase in the county supplement. His reasoning (and his colleagues fully agreed) was that the county should not be burdened with increased taxes to support the influx of transient welfare seekers who were freed from the residency requirement by federal courts.

Thus far, the collective decisions of the supervisors indicate, not a drift to opposing poles, but a converging toward the center.

As long as they hew to the center and moderation, county government will be in good hands.

Chinese Houses And Owl Clover

On the hills overlooking Paradise Drive in Corte Madera this June, Chinese houses and owl clover are blooming in large numbers. Both have highly imaginative names and require a little fanciful thinking to see how they got them.

Owl clover is quite small, about six inches tall. Its very profuse yellow or pink blossoms grow on a stalk and some persons see in them a series of very tiny owl heads. The blossoms are very beautiful and complex when studied with a magnifying glass.

The Chinese house also is a stalk plant, growing about a foot tall with many white blossoms which can be seen to resemble pagodas with a little stretch of the imagination.

Both are common late spring wildflowers in Marin.

Computer Technology Could Speed Up Legislative Function

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — California's legislature was another step toward modernization today with the approval of a sub-committee report of the joint committee on legislation, which contained a recommendation to implement the California legislative information program.

Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, R-Cool, is chairman of this committee, and Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, the chairman of the sub-committee, which has had a program under study for some years contemplating application of electronic data processing to many legislative functions.

The application of computer technology to legislative business," said Teale, "will expedite the flow of essential information, and also cut costs."

THE PROGRAM will provide, he said, for immediate searching of statutory documents, improvement of bill drafting procedures, and instantaneous access to the status of any bill moving through the legislative process.

Also, according to Andrew R. Lolli, driector of general services, the program will improve the service of the state printing plant, and cut costs significantly.

The department of general services, Lolli said, presently is taking bids for the installation of photo composition devices in the printing plant which can utilize the advantages of electronic data processing by accepting automatically the output of the legislative program of information for offset printing.

Senator Teale explained that the computer program recommended will permit the legislature to utilize the vast information data banks already accumulating through the use of computers m various state departments.

THE COMPUTERS would produce millions of immediately accessible facts which would be programmed into the machines, and thus provide a system whereby legislation could be based on fact rather than fancy.

As a side observation, it might also be supposed that time of debate might be reduced materially in both houses of the legislature, as members of the senate and assembly, with this vast set of facts available on an instant's notice, might be constrained to limit arguments to facts, instead of dreaming up matters which do not pertain to the measure being debated.

When the system gets working, which by its very nature is a long time in the future, the legislature might also shorten the sessions a great deal, thereby saving taxpayers a large amount of money now spent in expenses and other outlays necessary to keep the 120, $16,000-a-year lawmakers on the job, as the facts they need to pass laws would be immediately available rather then a subject of long research.

USE OF COMPUTERS for legislative information, as Chappie explained, is not a new idea. In fact, it is more than four years ago that experts in the computer field first started studying ways and means to put this development to work for the legislature.

But with the usual legislative disregard for new innovations, the state's solons have dallied on the subject, and even at this time, electronic data processing is far distant from becoming a part of the legislative process.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Do Not Establish A State Religion

"Readers Say" had an interesting letter on June 19 entitled "Catholic Schools Offer Examples."

This letter is a perfect example of superficial thinking upon one of the most important subjects facing us today — the training of our children. The primary and admitted reason the Roman Catholic Church maintains its own schools is to make its students believers in Catholism.

The First Amendment forbids the establishment of religion. Can you think of a better way to establish Catholism as a state religion than to educate our children as Catholic? Public education has its faults, to be sure. But let us work to eradicate the faults, and not to destroy our priceless Constitution.

Teachers Deserve Some Benefits

John Cascone's letter on teacher pay raises would be absurd if it were not a tragic symptom of what is wrong with our society. During the years I have lived in Terra Linda and San Rafael, I have had many opportunities to observe teachers in and out of action, and on the job teaching kids. Not math, French or history, but kids. A more dedicated lot of professionals probably can be found in other school districts in Marin County.

On June 16 to 20, there was a conference at Dominican college: The Community and the Contemporary Arts. Among my classmates are teachers from San Rafael schools and from other parts of the county as well as from other counties. The total enrollment is well over three hundred.

"Oh, but they are there because they get an increase in pay for attending," you might say. Or, "oh, they are there because they have nothing better to do during the week before the start of summer school." Nonsense.

The teachers are there to draw pictures and inferences, they are there to knit, to listen, to think, to read, to discuss, and to exchange opinions and ideas. They are there to learn. Teachers I know are not in teaching because of the munificence of the salary schedules. As an observer, a parent, a taxpayer and a volunteer on community projects, I resent Mr. Cascone's implication that the school board is putting something over on each taxpayer.

Teachers pay taxes.

Teachers get sick.

Why should they not obtain some of the benefits accorded to many workers in private as well as public industry? Why should they not get salaries commensurate with their ability to teach, so they can continue to afford to take courses to stimulate professional growth?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

June 26, 1959

President Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth II dedicated the St. Lawrence Seaway and opened the inland ship channel with a cruise.

Ingemar Johansson of Sweden stunned boxing fans by defeating Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight boxing title.

20 YEARS AGO

Marin County supervisors planned a $90,000 county health center to house offices and facilities of the county health department.

Tiburon Tardy In Budget Discussion

Ever since Tiburon incorporated (on June 24, our city was five years old), the annual salary schedule and the budget have been presented and discussed at the last minute. It has never been discussed before the summer vacation period and has always been at the end of a very long agenda.

Last year, the salary schedule was adopted on June 10. This year, on May 26, a special last minute "Urgency Ordinance No. 32 N.S." (not on the agenda) extended the June 15 deadline until July 31. I assume the discussion of the rest of the budget will not start until some time after that date. This will mean that, as usual, the entire county will be waiting until the last minute for Tiburon to adopt its budget before all the tax rates can be established. What should have been several leisurely public meetings on the budget will become the normally rushed through "HAVE TO-GET-IT-PASSED - TONIGHT" session. There will be very little, if any, time for the local tax payers (those who are not on vacation) to comment or ask questions.

It seems to follow a definite pattern:

The later it comes, the fewer the meetings.

The fewer the meetings, the fewer the questions.

And, the fewer the questions, the easier it slides through.

In contrast, I read in the I-J that many of the cities and other taxing bodies have had some, if not most, of their scheduled sessions at this time.

I do not think this situation is the fault of the city council. They can not discuss publicly what they have not seen privately. During the May 12 meeting, one council member noted that the consideration of the budget was three meetings or six weeks behind. This makes it over twelve weeks behind, as of today.

TRY AND STOP ME

THERE GOES THE MAYOR OF DUBLIN
26

A lady from Brooklyn was watching a big parade on Fifth Avenue. "There goes the Mayor of Dublin," a friend told her, "and beieve it or not, he's Jewish." The Brooklyn lady nodded with approval. "Where else could such a thing happen?" she exclaimed. "Only in America!"

How many of you remember Harry Houdini, the incomparable lock picker and escape artist? His good friend Fulton Oursler steadfastly maintainted that Houdini was the slowest man in history to pick up a luncheon or dinner tab. Just one time, however, Oursler and two other gentlemen outfumbled him. "Houdini," said Oursler, "we have a brand new trick to show you. Just put both your hands on the table, palms down." Houdini, intrigued, obeyed the order just as the waiter hove into view with the bill for the dinner.

On the back of each of Houdini's hands, Oursler now set two glasses of water, filled to the brim. Then, as Houdini scowled helplessly, his friends rose from the table, proposing, "Let's see you get away without paying THIS check!" — and exited contentedly.

Clark Clifford 'Confessional' Spurs Vietnam De-Escalation

WASHINGTON — No one could have been more surprised by President Nixon's hot-and-cold reaction to Clark Clifford's proposal for phasing out America's ground forces in the Vietnam War than Clifford himself. It can nevertheless be said that Clifford has made a major contribution to de-escalation.

He had thought of the article written for Foreign Affairs magazine as a confessional — an account of how one man had moved from a fixed belief that the war had to be fought to a conclusion to the conviction that the Americanization of the conflict was no longer either feasible or morally defensible. There was not the slightest intention to cast aspersions on the cautious policy of the Nixon administration.

A careful reading of the article bears this out. It was, above all, put forward as an objective analysis of the profound change in the circumstances that had led the Johnson administration to make such a massive commitment to a small war.

In 1965 the regime in South Vietnam was on the point of collapse. The training and equipment of the army of the south had been sadly neglected. The choice put up to Lyndon Johnson was between withdrawal and acceptance of defeat and a communist take over or the addition of large numbers of American fighting men to hold the line.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES in South Asia supported the theory that the collapse of South Vietnam would touch off Communist triumphs elsewhere. In Indonesia the communists with the sanction, if not the encouragement of the mercurial Sukarno were consolidating their hold. To divert attention from his failures at home Sukarno was whipping up fervor for a war against Malaysia. Such a war could only serve the cause of chaos and communism.

Events have moved so swiftly in the intervening four years that the most profound change seems an emprobable piece of history. In 1965 Red China and the Soviet Union were to all intents and purposes united in support of Hanoi and the communists. The warning signs of a possible break were so small as to be irrelevant. Soviet material for Hanoi was flowing across China without serious interruption.

Today the two communist giants are at each other's throats.

At the same time the non-communist nations of Asia have shown definite gains. Having wiped out the communists in a fearful blood bath, Indonesia is struggling to find a way out of the mess left behind by Sukarno. Japan has become the world's No. 3 producing nation in an upsurge with few precedents. Taiwan and Korea, the former in particular, are making impressive strides toward economic independence.

THE MOST IMPORTANT change of all is in South Vietnam itself. Discounting the claims made for the army of the south by half, the difference between 1965 and 1969 is tremendous. One of Clifford's contributions in his year as secretary of defense was to push the equipment of the South Vietnamese with the M-16 rifle and other modern weapons, as well as to spur their training. President Nguyen Van Thieu is saying with every outward show of confidence that they are ready to take over a major role.

In short, the nation's security is no longer involved in the outcome of the war in South Vietnam. The initial objective — to give the Vietnamese people an opportunity to choose their own form of government without outside intervention — is close to attainment. That being so, American boys can no longer be asked to die in Vietnam.

IN LIGHT OF this elementary proposition, cogently and clearly set forth, Mr. Nixon's attack on Clifford was harder to understand. He might have praised the Clifford formula as an evidence of bipartisan support. And indeed he ended by saying that his hope was to beat the Clifford timetable and remove all American ground forces in 1970.

Reports coming from those most sympathetic to the President tell of a rising tide of discontent with the slowness of the Nixon pace. Withdrawal of 25,000 troops is a token that is both too little and too late, not for the professional antiwar crusaders but for middle America and the President's own constituency.

India Ideally Suited To Peace-Maker Role

BY PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A spurt of Indian diplomatic activity has led to speculation that India may be about ready to attempt a peace-maker role in Vietnam as she once did in Korea.

This week Mrs. Indira Gandhi is to hold important meetings with Japanese leaders in Tokyo and goes on from there to Indonesia.

Enroute, she is to receive in Bangkok a report from India's foreign affairs secretary, T. N. Kaul, on his just-completed mission to Hanoi.

Lending further weight to the speculation is the fact that in recent weeks Mrs. Gandhi has conferred in Afghanistan with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and in New Delhi with U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The subject of Vietnam is believed to have been high in all these meetings.

INDIA IS in a particularly good position to play an arbiter's role.

She has relations with both North and South Vietnam, and is said on occasion to have acted as a transmission line between the United States and Hanoi.

She also is chairman of the International Control Commission set up to police the 1954 Geneva agreement dividing former French Indo China into independent states.

The commission has been largely inactive in recent years, partly because support money has dwindled and because of a Communist veto on inspection of treaty violations.

Nonetheless it remains in existence, with Poland and Canada as its other members.

A NEW FACTOR is believed to be a changed attitude on the part of the Soviet Union.

In Afghanistan Kosygin discussed with Mrs. Gandhi an Asian security plan to include the nations ringing Red China, a plan also brought up by party leader Leonid Brezhnev at the Moscow conference of 75 world Communist leaders.

At the same meeting, he is said to have given Mrs. Gandhi the go-ahead to take soundings on a possible peace role in Vietnam.

In Korea, in 1953, India played an important role in bringing a cease-fire.

Politically, India would find it difficult to join in any Asian security plan or to permit stationing of foreign bases on her soil.

Japan's no-war constitution also would bar her from any such set up. But both Japan and India have a vital interest in Asian peace and stability.

So it will be more than simple economics that Mrs. Gandhi and Japan's Premier Eisaku Sato will be discussing. And it will be more than U.S. aid to India that Indian Foreign Affairs Minister Dinesh Singh will be discussing when he goes to Washington next month.

Kids Stand On Their Heads, Grownups Turn Kids On July 4

There's something going on these days in Larkspur and Corte Madera which makes small kids stand on their heads and grownups turn into kids. It's called Independence Day.

Scoutmaster George Daum has borrowed a cannon from Robert Keefe to set off at flag raising ceremonies at the Corte Madera Town Hall. The cannon is 10 inches tall and, by lanyard, fires a 10-gauge blank shot. "I hope I can wake a few people up," says Daum.

Less cacophonous will be the church bell rings of four churches, exactly at 9 a.m. July 4. How will the bells be coordinated? "We go by the clock," said Father Howard Rasmussen of St. Sebastian's in Kentfield. No ropes to pull, he said he simply pushes a button.

PARADE MARSHAL Al Kogler said that he started running the parade — which this year has 61 entries — four years ago. Though it has grown a lot, he is proud that it remains very local.

Three Lions Club men, Bill Thomas, John McDermott and Al Jones work at the starting line to see that units don't crowd together and don't march out of turn. Kogler shoots up and down and stops off at reviewing stands to solve problems. "I love a parade!" he said.

The annual firemen's ball game will be at Joe Wagner Field, Larkspur, and Fire Capt. Richard Benz won't play this year. "I'm on duty. Somebody has to fight fires," he said. Benz said men in their 60s always show up to play ball, that Larkspur won last year and is also going to win again this year.

FOURTH OF July general chairman Don Beacock says he has watched the two towns "come alive" as a total community and said "you can feel the excitement." "It seems to be going in the way of a real family type celebration," he added.

Many people will be bringing picnic lunches, he said, and spending the day.

Charles Bradley of the Optimist Club says the best deal in food is the free pancake breakfast and that it's the best place to get pancakes in shapes of doughnuts, hot dogs and flowers.

Larkspur's street fair will have a French cafe in addition to craftsmen who make their own wares such as candles, wedding trousseaus and things of leather.

AT THE CORTE Madera Recreation Center will be the Lions' Club spaghetti feed and the food is good, according to Vince Mulligan. "It's a Dago's recipe," he said, "made by Bob Artegiani."

Rock band manager Rick Crandall of Tiburon is getting bands for the street dance in Corte Madera's Village Square. He gets them free.

Crandall can do this, he explained, for two reasons. One, he's been around for a while and has come to know band people on a close basis. Secondly, while most bands need and want money for performances, they also exist to play for people, said the promoter. This year he has "Glass Thunder"—basically a Marin group—and hopes to get the Phananganang and Beefy Red groups too.

HAROLD KELLY, volunteer fireman and a licensed pyrotechnician, has been the fireworks man for 10 years. As a kid, he said, he used to be able to go to a store and pick out any kind of fireworks — cherry bombs, torpedoes or a package of fire crackers for a nickel. "It was one of the most fascinating things in a boy's life," Kelly said.

From Piper Park, Larkspur, Kelly will aim just this side of Corte Madera Creek, he said. His favorites: "The salutes, all they do is shake the ground and go off."

"It's one of the greatest things in the world the way two communities get together and put this on out of the goodness of their hearts," said Barbara Packard, committee secretary. "I love it," she added.

ART BUCHWALD

J. Edgar Would Never Wire-Tap Unless He Got Written Order

WASHINGTON — I have been trying to make head or tail of the Martin Luther King-FBI fire-tapping controversy. There are still many unanswered questions, but as one of J. Edgar Hoover's greatest admirers I am sure that the FBI director would never undertake a wire-tapping job unless he was forced to do it.

No one knows the anguish that Hoover has gone through every time a new attorney general has been sworn in. I can see the scene now:

"Mr. Hoover, I have decided that Raquel Welch must be wire tapped. I am giving you authorization to do the job."

"Oh, sir, please don't make me do it. The thought of listening in on someone else's conversation fills me with despair."

"I'm not interested in your personal feelings, Mr. Hoover. As attorney general, I have to worry about the security of this country; if it means tapping Raquel Welch, then we must do it."

"BUT IT'S SUCH a nasty business. Why can't we live and let live?"

"Don't go soft on me now, Mr. Hoover. We're in a tough business, and we can't allow emotion to enter into it."

"It isn't just me, sir, it's my agents. They just cringe when they have to wire tap an American citizen. If the person says something personal that we're not supposed to hear, it will be on our consciences for the rest of our lives."

"I admire your ethical stand, Mr. Hoover, but there are times when the Justice Department must be kept informed as to what is going on in this country, and the FBI is the only organization equipped to do the job."

"That's true, but we have to think of other factors. Suppose Life magazine or the newspapers got hold of our wire taps? Wouldn't we be violating the person's constitutional rights?"

"HOW COULD Life magazine or the newspapers have access to the FBI wire taps? After all, we're not going to let them out of our hands, are we?"

"But you don't know how persistent the press can be. They just keep calling and calling, asking for the transcripts of people we've tapped, and after a while it's hard for us to say no."

"I admit it is a hazard, but I should think that after all your years as head of the FBI, you'd know how to keep the wire taps confidential."

"I can see why you would think that. But sometimes I get so mad at something written about me that I just lose my temper and release the taps to Life magazine."

"I WOULDN'T ask you to tap anyone, Mr. Hoover, but we have to find out what Miss Welch is up to. And while I am sympathetic to everything you say, I must insist that you follow my orders."

"Oh the shame of it. What have I done to be forced into such a distasteful assignment.

"Now please, Mr. Hoover, don't get overwrought. I'll tell you what, I'll sign the authorization for the wire tapping so that you can keep it in your files, and then in later years if anyone accuses you of wrongdoing, you can blame it on me."

"I'd be so grateful if you would, sir. I want to go down in history as a man who never tapped another person's phone unless ordered to do so from above."

"You're a good man J. Edgar, a good, good man."

Park Preservation Deadline Is Near

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Campers who want to reserve summer space at state park campgrounds must have their applications in the mail by June 30, the Department of Parks and recreation said today.

After that date no more reservations will be made until 1970.

Applications must go directly to the park where space is desired, and must be accompanied by the correct fees, the department said.

Tools Stolen

Jules E. Chorre of 31 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow reported to the sheriff's department Monday that while he was on his vacation someone stole a propane torch, $3, a hammer and a wrench from his home, officers said yesterday.

Capital Charter Plan Is Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Voters of the state capital yesterday rejected overwhelmingly a new city charter proposing a pay raise for councilmen and direct election of a mayor.

The plan went down to defeat 11,918 in favor to 18,785 against in the final unofficial tabulation. Nearly 29 per cent of Sacramento's 107,000 eligible voters went to the polls.

Council salaries would have been hiked from $100 to $550 a month under the plan. The mayor would be paid $825 monthly.

The proposal also would have replaced the current at-large system by splitting the city into 10 council districts. The voters would have selected the mayor who currently is chosen by the council.

Athletic League Gets Run's Funds

The $210 proceeds from the ridge run have been given to the Marin Athletic League which sponsored the run, John Regan, president of Western Weekend Country Fair, announced yesterday.

A statement on the financial outcome of the celebration is expected from Treasurer Casey Van Gronigan by the first of next week, Regan said.

A committee was named to see if future celebrations should have a parade or not, he said. The committee members are Lavonne Lewis, Terry Bonner, Jackie Monestier, and Edward W. Adams.

Dear Hugh:

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thank for the wonderful job that K T I M is doing in broadcasting the license numbers of vehicles stolen in the City of San Rafael. I think this public service is a tremendous asset to local law enforcemnt agencies who are benefited by this service.

We have had several reports that people have heard this broadcast and advised us that these vehicles were abandoned at certain locations. On Sunday, May 11th K T I M broadcast the license number UYS 141, a 1962 white, Chevrolet Impala. A lady driving in Marin County was listening to K T I M when this stolen vehicle was broadcast. To her surprise she noticed the vehicle in front of her was the vehicle in question. She followed this vehicle and it stopped at a residence in Marin County and a young fellow got out of the car. She noted the description of the young fellow and the address of the residence into which he entered and reported this information to our office. With this information Officer Brobeck of this Department was able to clear this case with a minimum of investigation and the suspect was apprehended. This suspect had been involved in other similar incidents.

Again thank you for your cooperation and excellent service to this community.

Very truly yours,

Chas J. Chiesa
